He has known of [redacted] Lincoln Downs Race Track, Lincoln, Rhode Island, for a number of years. During 1961 [redacted] had invested money in the Berkshire Downs Race Track in the western part of Massachusetts and, after some time, needed an additional $214,000 as working capital to improve the track and get it in shape for the races.

Sometime after July, 1961, JOE KIRK of Providence, Rhode Island, who is a good friend of [redacted] and is also known to FRIEDMAN, came to FRIEDMAN and stated that [redacted] had tried to obtain a loan of $214,000 from a person named [redacted] of New York; that [redacted] had prepared an agreement wherein [redacted] the Campanella and Card Construction Company in Warwick, Rhode Island, [redacted] the Berkshire Downs Race Track, had signed, in order to borrow this money from [redacted]. For some reason, [redacted] did not sign the agreement and the loan did not go through.

This agreement, dated July 27, 1961, was shown to FRIEDMAN by JOE KIRK and, since JOE KIRK is considered a salesman and wanted a finder's fee, he contacted SAUL FRIEDMAN and told him that [] was interested in finding someone who would loan this track $214,000 and, in return, he would also give that person ten (10) shares of Common A stock and five (5) shares of common stock and the loan of $214,000 would be paid with interest.

KIRK asked FRIEDMAN if he would be interested in loaning this money, at which time FRIEDMAN said he told KIRK that he could not raise that kind of money but would look around for someone interested in such a proposition.

FRIEDMAN said that he has a wealthy friend named [] of Boston, Massachusetts and now of Florida; that he contacted [] and told him of the proposition and that [] was willing to give away fifteen (15) shares of stock, as a gift, if someone would loan the track the $214,000.00. He said that he told [] that it seemed like a good deal and that [] was an experienced horseman, in that he was presently operating a successful race track at Lincoln, Rhode Island, and that it appeared a profit could be made by such an investment.

FRIEDMAN said that he thought the deal was so good that he told [] that he, FRIEDMAN, would be interested in putting in about $30,000.00 if [] would put up the rest of the money. By putting up the money, FRIEDMAN stated that he would go to the Industrial National Bank of Providence and borrow the $214,000.00 and put up stocks and bonds belonging to [] and stock and bonds plus his savings account as collateral for this loan.

When [] told him that he would be willing to loan this money, FRIEDMAN contacted [] and [] at which time FRIEDMAN drew up the same agreement that had been drawn up for [] wherein it was stated that 75 per cent of the losses were to be borne by [] and 25 per cent of the losses were to be borne by the [] group.

This agreement was signed and FRIEDMAN borrowed this money from the Industrial National Bank of Providence, Rhode Island. On August 10, 1961, the [] group signed a note in the amount of $214,000.00 plus interest that would be paid to the [] group.

He said he is not interested in horses or horse racing, but he requested and was granted the request to be placed on the Board as a Director, and he requested this as he wanted to be in the group, in order to be in a position to know if the track was making any money so that [] could get his money and interest that would be due on the note.

Thereafter, the track was involved in many difficulties and later on the track became involved in all types of litigation and accusations and counter-accusations, wherein a person named [] and Mr. FURCOLO, father of the former Governor of Massachusetts, had accused each other of underhanded deals, which accusation finally went into court.

Sometime in 1962, he contacted [] and asked for interest on the note, but at that time [] told him that there was no money to pay off the note or any interest.

Shortly thereafter, a person named [] came into the picture at this track; how he came into this picture was not known to FRIEDMAN. He said that it was his belief that [] had bought the stock belonging to [] and/or FURCOLO and that [] had gained control of the stock and, therefore, became the President of the track.

When [] took over this track, he also spent a considerable amount of money fixing up the track. However, at no time did this corporation pay either him or [] any money or interest on the loan of $214,000.00. He said he asked [] for some money and interest on the loan, but did not get any. In the meantime, [] said he was paying for the interest on the loan to the Industrial National Bank of Providence, Rhode Island, out of his own funds.

He said that he finally got about three months' interest, which he applied to the loan at the bank.

After [redacted] he went to [redacted] and on November 30, 1962 [redacted] assumed the note of $214,000.00 that had been made with [redacted]. On this occasion, [redacted] gave him the three months' interest which he applied to the loan at the bank.

By the end of 1963, both FRIEDMAN and [redacted] were concerned over the affairs of this track in that no money had been paid back on the loan. Shortly thereafter, the track went into bankruptcy, at which time FRIEDMAN called [redacted] and said that he would have to make good the loan at the bank and at that time [redacted] authorized him to sell all of his bonds and securities that had been pledged against this note. This authorization was given on December 23, 1963 and in January, 1964, the bank sold these securities of [redacted].

FRIEDMAN said he sold some of his stock and securities and presently owes a balance of about $20,000.00 to the bank, which he is slowly paying off.

He said that, even though he and [redacted] have lost their money in this venture, he intends to sue [redacted] for the money. He said he plans to do this on the basis of the agreement he signed with them when he first invested this money, and in the agreement it stated that the [redacted] group would suffer 75 per cent of the losses and the FRIEDMAN group would suffer only 25 per cent of the losses.

He said that at no time did RAYMOND PATRIARCA invest any money in the Berkshire Downs Race Track and he has no knowledge or information that PATRIARCA has or had anything to do with this track.

He said that JOSEPH KRIKORIAN, also known as JOE KIRK, had nothing to do with this track and that JOE KIRK's only interest in the track was obtaining a finder's fee when he obtained someone to take up the loan. He said KIRK is considered a finder's fee man and makes a living in that manner.

In regard to the Warwick Musical Theatre on Bald Hill Road, Warwick, Rhode Island, FRIEDMAN stated that this organization was started about ten or eleven years ago by about 150 businessmen in Rhode Island who invested money in the increments of $125.00, some investing $125.00, while others invested more than that amount.

It started off very slowly; [] was made [] theater and has been acting in that capacity ever since. He said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has not invested any money in this company and has no interest whatsoever in it.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
ANTI-RACKETEERING

A confidential source advised on September 10, 1964 that Raymond L. S. Patriarca had sent two of his associates to Hull, Massachusetts in order to beat up [redacted] of Paragon Park, an amusement section of Nantasket Beach, Massachusetts. The reason for this beating was unknown to the source.

[redacted] was not beaten up because the individuals sent there by Patriarca were stopped by the Metropolitan District Commission Police while in the vicinity of Paragon Park waiting for [redacted] to come out of the Park. The Metropolitan District Police thought that these individuals might be attempting a holdup of Paragon Park and consequently scared them away.

Patriarca later instructed his men to forget beating up Stone because of the inquiry by the Metropolitan District Commission Police Department.

On September 15, 1964, Raymond Patriarca ascertained that [redacted] New York City, loaned [redacted] also N.Y., of New York City, $5,000. [redacted] in turn, put this money "on the street in Boston" as shylock money. Patriarca was incensed at [redacted] for allowing this to happen.

On September 15, 1964, in connection with the Indian Meadow Country Club in which Patriarca has an interest, source reported that the club is still losing money.

In order to put the club on a paying situation, Jerry Angiulo placed [redacted] in charge of the club. Since that time the losses have decreased substantially but the club is still not "in the black."

ENCLOSURE

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

In connection with Patriarca's libel suit against the "Boston Herald Traveler," the source pointed out on September 24, 1964 that Patriarca is adamant in testifying on his own behalf in connection with this case.

Patriarca stated that he has a real bombshell in that he was in jail at the time Joseph Valachi alleged that he met Patriarca.

In connection with the murder of Paul Colicci and Vincent Biseisi, both of Providence, Rhode Island, source advised on September 24, 1964 that the murder was committed by [redacted] and with Samuel Granito present.

The reason for the murder was not known to the source; however, he ascertained Patriarca gave $150 to both DeSciscio and Russo for the murder as a gift from him. The money was furnished by Patriarca to Granito, who turned same over to [redacted].

Patriarca was incensed at [redacted] also known as [redacted] inasmuch as he believes [redacted] is attempting to cause unnecessary trouble for "Ronnie" Cassessa. Both Cassessa and [redacted] are from Boston, Massachusetts, and Patriarca thinks Cassessa is a "pretty good kid."

On September 24, 1964, Gennaro J. Angiulo and Raymond Patriarca attempted to furnish money to the campaign of Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti who was running as a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts. Bellotti would not accept this money. However, Angiulo finally did furnish same to Governor's Council Patrick "Sonny" McDonough who allegedly turned same over to Bellotti's campaign fund in the names of various individuals.

This money was furnished by Angiulo, unknown to Bellotti.

On October 6, 1964, source advised that Raymond Patriarca was instructing all of his associates not to do any business with family members of the Joe Bonanno family. The reason given was that Bonanno was asked to appear before the commission but failed to show up.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

Patriarca stated to the source that he has called every shot around New York for the last several years, indicating that he is very powerful in the policies set forth by La Cosa Nostra.

On October 9, 1964, source was advised a few days previous of a stick of dynamite being placed in the car of [redacted] known gambler in Rhode Island. The dynamite failed to go off. Patriarca denied to the source that he knew anything concerning this attempted bombing.

Source advised on October 20, 1964 that Patriarca was contacted by Nick Bianco of Brooklyn, New York. This concerned a possible "hit" on an individual in New Jersey. [redacted] had been contacted by Nick but he had failed to complete the assignment, although he was "pretty successful." Nick had spent some time in New Jersey in an effort to line up this individual but was unsuccessful. The source did not know the reason for this activity.

In connection with the racing dates for the Berkshire Downs Race Track, the source advised on November 3, 1964 that Patriarca advised that a sum of $25,000 was put "in escrow" to be paid to Senate Majority Leader John Powers of the Massachusetts Senate in the event he was successful in pushing through the Legislature a bill to increase the racing dates for Berkshire Downs. Inasmuch as Powers failed to get the bill through, the sum was not paid to him.

Source advised that Patriarca is still interested in the booking operation of Worcester, Massachusetts and does exert some control in the operation of same.

Another confidential source advised that the mother of Anthony (believed to be Anthony Santaniello, deceased) recently died. Patriarca instructed that arrangements be made through Jerry Angiulo to have [redacted] give Tony's [redacted] $250 from the $500 he [redacted] receives every month from [redacted]

On November 25, 1964, Patriarca advised another confidential source that Joe Bonanno "went away himself." Patriarca received this information from Nick Bianco of Brooklyn, New York, and also sent Sam Granito to New York in an effort to ascertain what actually did happen to Bonanno.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

Bianco told him that Bonanno went away by himself.

Patriarca guessed that the reason Bonanno "went away by himself" was that they threw him out of the commission of La Cosa Nostra, in addition to Bonanno not wanting to appear before the Grand Jury in New York City, for which he was scheduled to testify the day after he was kidnaped.

ES 92-118

The doctor told [] that he did not owe over $4,000 but that in fact [] owed him approximately $500. The doctor then requested [] assistance in straightening the matter out.

[] and told him to lay off the doctor.

[] denied knowing that [] PATRIARCA's [] had accepted part of the bets. [] denied any further implication in this gambling debt and apparently PATRIARCA believed him.

PATRIARCA asked [] to obtain from an individual in Fitchburg, Mass., whose number is probably "President 2-3078," a debt owed by him to LOUIS FOX of Providence, R. I.

[] advised that this individual does business with him (probably referring to bookmaking) and that his name was []

In relation to another gambling enterprise which the informant did not know, PATRIARCA questioned [] as to what exactly happened when the money from this gambling operation was split up.

[] stated that he did not make any statement derogatory to PATRIARCA as was alleged, but that he did say to one of his partners that he (the partner) should take care of PATRIARCA financially. He was emphatic in stating that this was the only time that PATRIARCA's name occurred during the conversation

[] stated that "PINKY" PANARELLI of Worcester, Mass. had obtained some bootlegging records from New York and was attempting to sell same.

[] Providence, R. I., advised that he had contacted SAUL FRIEDMAN, PATRIARCA's attorney, concerning two financial deals. The first was that a lawyer named (FNU) [] or [] was very close to the Governor of Arizona. Attorney [] was in a position to operate gambling concessions in Arizona, plus obtaining a license permit to operate a dog and a horse track.

PATRIARCA told [] to obtain additional details from FRIEDMAN concerning this venture.

The second financial venture was that FRIEDMAN told [] that he (FRIEDMAN) has a friend who was coming in from New Mexico sometime before Christmas. This man has a scheme whereby legitimate silver Mexican money is imported from Mexico and melted and thereafter sold for a 40% profit.

RAYMOND was also interested in this deal and told [] if the deal was as profitable as FRIEDMAN indicated it was, they could cut out the friend from New Mexico and operate the business themselves.

During the conversation PATRIARCA mentioned that $110,000 is needed for the silver deal.

[] stated, "Since it is our money," he would go and see the guy from New Mexico.

PATRIARCA advised that FRIEDMAN's [] (LNU) and FRIEDMAN have made a substantial amount of money in the oil fields in Ohio. [] is making $100 a week on a $200 investment, and FRIEDMAN is making $1,000 a month on a $4,000 investment.

PATRIARCA explained that prior to the time FRIEDMAN and [] hit oil he was in this venture with them, but they blew all his (PATRIARCA's) money.

PATRIARCA advised that he questioned SAUL concerning the Virginia Dare stock. He was disturbed because the stock was not doing well and it appeared the stock is actually owned by PATRIARCA.

RAYMOND explained the [] gambling debt mentioned above with [] and instructed him to collect the money from [].

JERRY ANGIULO and PETER LIMONE of Boston, Mass. contacted PATRIARCA.

BS 92-118

Arrangements were also made for [] (INU) to meet PATRIARCA at the Canteen Restaurant, Providence, R. I. on any day except Monday. RAYMOND specifically warned ANGIULO to warn [] that he is to make sure that he is not being tailed when he comes to Rhode Island for the meeting.

ANGIULO stated that he received the $9,000 from "The Jew" at the Sherry Biltmore Hotel, Boston, Mass.

Informant had no further details concerning this transaction.

ANGIULO furnished PATRIARCA $1,090 as his share of the profit from the gambling operation in Boston.

On 12/11/64, no pertinent activity took place.

On 12/14/64, UNMAN from Worcester, Mass. discussed a gambling operation in which [] "PINKY" PANARELLI, [] and two "outsiders" are involved.

PATRIARCA was critical of [] in that he contacted him a few weeks ago and [] made no mention of the profits being derived from this gambling operation but did state that he [] mentioned that he (identity unknown) could give a piece to PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA then told UNMAN (who possibly is []) that he (PATRIARCA) is to have a piece of this operation. He was also critical of [] in that the two "outsiders" whose names are [] both (INU), were brought into the operation without PATRIARCA's OK.

THE SENSITIVE NATURE OF THE INFORMANT'S POSITION NECESSITATES THAT EVERY EFFORT BE EXERCISED TO MAINTAIN HIS SECURITY.

PATRIARCA was concerned as to how [redacted] would know the interest of the Sheriff's Office in [redacted]

HENRY TAMELEO discussed a "beef" between [redacted] of Boston and members of PATRIARCA's family. It appeared that [redacted] had been called by a merchant in the North End to evict a troublesome patron who was carving up the leather chairs. [redacted] immediately went to the establishment and threw this individual out.

The merchant asked him how much he desired and [redacted] at that time said, "nothing"; however, the following day he did accept $100 for eviction of the patron.

Some time elapsed and JOE BURNS, who was friendly with [redacted] was called in by JOSEPH LOMBARD. BURNS was warned by LOMBARD to have [redacted] stop shaking down the merchants in the North End.

BURNS knew nothing about this and called in HENRY TAMELEO.

TAMELEO, after listening to both sides of the story, took [redacted] and JOE BURNS to the merchant. The merchant denied that [redacted] was shaking him down but did admit giving him $100 for the favor.

When told by HENRY that he did nothing further, PATRIARCA was critical of him because he should have bought [redacted] and BURNS to JOSEPH LOMBARD to settle the issue then and there.

It appeared that PATRIARCA was very complimentary of [redacted]

The above robbery of [redacted] of Newton, Mass. was mentioned. TAMELEO mentioned that CASSESSA and MARTIN were implicated and CASSESSA knew where the diamond was and he is making every effort to sell the diamond to the original jeweler.

TAMELEO also stated that MIKE ROCCO of East Boston, Mass. had contacted [] and told him to tell his wife to clam up to the police and not to identify ROMEO MARTIN who was under $25,000 bail in instant case.

A [] (LNU) has a health problem (according to TAMELEO).

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA during which time PATRIARCA told him that he was with JERRY ANGIULO and [redacted] the previous day at the Canteen Restaurant. UNMAN stated that he was there, also.

RAYMOND explained that he had the owner of the restaurant set up in the back room and that they were there from 12 noon until 5:30 p.m.

On 12/28/64, HENRY TAMELEO advised that a couple of individuals from New York (identities unknown) desired to sell some jewelry which they had stolen. They desired $20,000 but TAMELEO read in the "Boston Record American" that the jewelry was stolen from a Chelsea, Mass. pawn shop and that the recorded value was only $12,000. PETER LIMONE contacted PATRIARCA.

ANGIULO advised that he spent a very short time visiting his mother in Miami, Fla. He also contacted [REDACTED] and the Doctor concerning their subpoenas by IRS in connection with the IRS investigation of ANGIULO.

PATRIARCA indicated that the meet between JOE BURNS, ANGIULO and LIMONE concerned BURNS's criticism of [REDACTED] in that he did not show proper respect to him on several occasions.

PATRIARCA went to the Canteen shortly after one o'clock with ANGIULO and LIMONE.

On 1/2/65 no pertinent activity took place.

On 1/4/65, [] Pawtucket, R. I., discussed various contracting jobs with PATRIARCA.

[] contacted PATRIARCA on PATRIARCA's orders. PATRIARCA questioned him concerning disrespect shown by [] to JOE BURNS (true name JOSEPH ANSELMO).

[] explained that one night at the Coliseum Restaurant, Boston, Mass., he was sitting with an individual having a drink; that JOE BURNS came in with RONNIE CASSESSA and sent the waitress over to him telling him that he should go to BURNS's table and have a drink with BURNS. RAYMOND agreed with him that inasmuch as he [] was in the cafe first it was not necessary for him to be ordered by BURNS to his (BURNS's) table for a drink.

He further explained to him that he should have sent a drink over to BURNS's table to show him some respect but that it was not necessary for him to leave his table as he was the first one in the cafe.

In explaining why he [] did not speak to BURNS at the club on Hanover Street, [] told PATRIARCA that he did not see him when he first came in and, therefore, did not speak to him.

[] PATRIARCA discussed at length the respect [] should have for BURNS and pointed out to him that if this respect is not shown among themselves, the people who are not in the organization (La Cosa Nostra) would observe same.

[] advised that [] Boston hoodlum who was recently released from the Massachusetts State Prison, had gone to Arlington, Va. to visit GEORGE (NORMAN) ROCKWELL. [] explained that while [] was in jail he read a lot and apparently is an avowed follower of GEORGE NORMAN ROCKWELL. Lincoln

On 1/5/65, [] requests RAYMOND to locate a job for him in Phoenix, Ariz., as his son has a very bad case of asthma.

RAYMOND advised that he would contact [] and have him call somebody in Phoenix to get him a job.

Another UNMAN discusses taking over a gambling operation in a club, location unknown. RAYMOND furnishes him permission.

On 1/6/65, [] advised that his firm lost out on a demolition job in Central Falls, R. I. to the Rhode Island Building Wreckers Co. [] is particularly angry at the Rhode Island Building Wreckers and indicated he might do some damage to this company's property because of underbidding.

[] was going to see [] (PH) over some trouble resulting from the Urban Renewal Agency job.

PATRIARCA told [] (INU) (who apparently is the connection with the Urban Renewal agency in Rhode Island).

[] indicated there might be trouble and, if so, he would bring two guys in from Springfield to beat them up. Informant did not know who was going to be beaten up.

PATRIARCA was contacted by UNMAN who apparently was the person who accompanied [] from Chicago to see RAYMOND on 12/30/64. During the conversation with this individual, PATRIARCA told him that a friend of his, whose son was sick, was going to Arizona and that he was going to line up a job for him through Attorney SAUL FRIEDMAN of Providence, R. I.

PATRIARCA indicated that "we" (probably referring to FRIEDMAN and himself) owned a motel in the Phoenix area and approximately 500 acres of land. PATRIARCA further stated that [] (INU) was in the Phoenix area and saw []

PATRIARCA discussed the Dunes and the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas with this individual and stated that the two operations were saved by FRANK COSTELLO of NYC. PATRIARCA added that COSTELLO was responsible for the election of different Congressmen and Judges but did not indicate the identities of same.

Informant was not able to ascertain further details concerning the information relative to COSTELLO.

PATRIARCA contacted SAUL FRIEDMAN to ascertain whether FRIEDMAN heard from [] (PH), who was in Tucson, Ariz. Informant did not know whether FRIEDMAN did actually contact []

HENRY TAMELEO told PATRIARCA that he had seen JOE ANSELMO in Boston the previous day. ANSELMO desired to borrow $4,000 from PATRIARCA to purchase land.

PATRIARCA advised that the money would be available to ANSELMO the following day.

Re New York tel 1/20/65, reporting on that date Patriarca met three individuals, identities unknown, at D'Angelo's Restaurant in New York City. Retel states that he greeted these three individuals as [redacted] "Sal" and "Sam."

Attention is called to Boston airtel 1/14/65, on page 5 of which it is reported that Patriarca on 1/13/65 indicated that in a "week or ten days" he intended to go to New York to discuss a matter involving a disputed three points in the Dunes Hotel Casino, Las Vegas, Nevada. Patriarca indicated that he would contact [redacted] and [redacted] and attempt to exert some pressure through Sam Giancana of Chicago in connection with resolving the Dunes matter. It is noted that on 1/20/65 Giancana was in New York City.

New York should explore the possibility that the [redacted] and the "Sam" met by Patriarca were [redacted] and Giancana. Persons by the name of Salvatore, of course, are very numerous but it is suggested that "Sal" may be Salvatore Celenbrino of the Genovese "family" who is a known associate of [redacted]

Re NY teletype to Director and Boston, 1/20/65.

Subject arrived Grand Central Station, NYC, 1:33 p.m., 1/20/65, aboard NY - New Haven Railroad train number 9, "The Mayflower". Subject departed from the train and proceeded via taxi to the Park Sheraton Hotel, 56th Street and 7th Avenue, NYC, arriving there at approximately 1:50 p.m. Subject departed from his taxi at the 56th Street entrance to the hotel, walked to 7th Avenue and down to 55th Street, where he entered the hotel via the 55th Street entrance. He remained in the hotel for several minutes and then proceeded West on 55th Street to D'Angelo's Restaurant, 252 West 55th Street, NYC, arriving at the restaurant at 1:54 p.m.

At 2:15 p.m. two NYO agents entered the restaurant and observed subject sitting at the bar in the restaurant alone at that time. At approximately 2:20 p.m. one man walked to the restaurant from 8th Avenue, entered, and joined subject. This man, Unsub #1, is described as white, male, approximately 60, 5' 11", 200 lbs., gray hair, balding on top, but with strands of hair, prominent nose, full round face, well tanned. At approximately 4:18 p.m., Unsub #1 of whom identifiable photographs were also obtained departed from the restaurant and proceeded to the Park Sheraton Hotel where in the lobby he met an unknown white female, described as age 30, 5' 6½", 135 lbs., dark hair, medium length. Unsub #1 and this girl had coffee in a drugstore where they could look out the window and after approximately 10 minutes a 1963 black Oldsmobile bearing Massachusetts license X45 597 driven by an unknown male appeared and Unsub #1 and the female entered this car.

Unsub #2 remained in the restaurant and departed at approximately 4:50 p.m. after he was joined in the restaurant by an unknown white male, who was driving a 1962 white Cadillac convertible bearing New York license 1K3429, which arrived at the restaurant at approximately 4:40 p.m. NY MVB records reflect this car registered to [redacted] Brooklyn, who is known to the NYO as a person who in the past has associated with known NY "La Cosa Nostra" members, including MIKE MIRANDA, ANTHONY CIRILDO and ANTHONY SALERNO. Due to the darkness in the area identifiable photographs [redacted] NYO.

The NYO will forward by separate communication photographs of Unsub #1, who entered the Massachusetts car, to Boston in an effort to identify this individual.

The NYO is attempting to identify all three Unsubs and when identifications are effected will advise the Bureau and Boston.

this individual as SAL and told him "one of the things he (subject) had to do is find out about the case (or your case) I have to talk to Chick". SAL then joined subject at the bar.

At approximately 2:25 p.m. a second individual, Unsub #2, entered the restaurant. This person joined subject and SAL at the bar and is described as white, male, age 60; 5' 9", 200 lbs., prominent nose, completely bald on the top of his head with gray hair cut very short around the edges. This individual was addressed as either SAM or [redacted]

Approximately two minutes later a third individual, Unsub #3, entered the restaurant and joined subject and the other two individuals. This man, Unsub #3, is described as 5' 10", 170 lbs., full head of gray hair, sharp pointed nose, pointed chin. On entering the restaurant this individual was also addressed as either SAM or [redacted] and agents state that while they cannot connect the SAM or [redacted] with either Unsub #2 or #3 they feel one had one name and one had the other name. As Unsub #3 entered the restaurant he suggested to the group that they move to the rear of the restaurant and eat. All four then retired to a table and proceeded to order and eat a meal.

Almost as soon as the meal was finished Unsub #3 departed and left in a somewhat abrupt manner at approximately 3:06 p.m. This individual walked to 55th Street and 8th Avenue and South on 8th Avenue.

Identifiable photographs of Unsub #3 were obtained by the NYO and these photographs are being exhibited to agents and confidential sources in an effort to identify.

Subject departed from the restaurant at 4:12 p.m. and walked East to the intersection of 55th Street and Broadway where he entered an office building lobby and immediately turned around to watch all persons on 55th Street. After remaining here for several minutes he entered a taxi and departed from the area.

The surveillance of subject was discontinued at that time for security reasons.

It should be noted that PATRIARCA did leave at 9:54 a.m., 1/20/65, and would arrive in New York at 1:20 p.m.

Agents of the Boston Office surveilled PATRIARCA to New York where the surveillance is to be taken up at Grand Central Station by New York Agents.

The NYC was telephonically advised on 1/20/65 of the above.

UNMAN advised that there was a "beef" in East Boston, Mass. concerning a bookmaker who took over booking at some "joint" with UNMAN's permission.

Mass An individual named [redacted] (PH) made a "beef" to UNMAN. UNMAN attempted to contact MICHAEL ROCCO but ascertained he was in Florida. UNMAN then contacted [redacted] (PH) who advised that he had gone to the local police, and they did not desire the individual to take over bookmaking in that particular joint. UNMAN then requested the new bookmaker to leave the "joint" permanently.

[redacted] (ENU), who is described as an individual recently arrested by Officer [redacted] in connection with the theft of a TV set in which another individual, named [redacted] was also involved. [redacted] is presently out on $1,000 bail for receiving $822 worth of stolen merchandise. The merchandise was given to him by [redacted]

[redacted] also, prior to his arrest, had some dresses which he placed in his son's car which he parked in his brother's garage to avoid detection.

HENRY (probably ~~TAMELEO~~) had contacted him on the night of 1/16/65 and asked him to come to Revere, Mass. [redacted] went to Revere, Mass. where "they had a load of cigarettes." They desired [redacted] to obtain a drop for these cigarettes which he had discussed previously with HENRY.

[redacted] told them that he had checked the location of the drop and they were unable to get a trailer in there. Because of this, they postponed the theft for two weeks.

HENRY contacted him again and asked him to line up a drop for two weeks later. He advised that he contacted [redacted] had shown him where to place the stolen trailer (apparently on the grounds of the sand and gravel pit). He told PATRIARCA they could leave the trailer there indefinitely as it never would be located by police or disturbed by any suspecting citizen.

There is also talk about [redacted] being connected in some way with this load, but the informant did not know the exact details.

After considerable discussion it was decided by PATRIARCA that [redacted] should dispose of the stolen trailer somewhere in Connecticut to avoid any "heat" by law enforcement in the Rhode Island section.

UNMAN advised that he had just returned from California where he saw [redacted] is still operating in the fight racket despite all the bad publicity he has received recently.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA discussed the political situation in Massachusetts and advised that he favored BELLOTTI to become the Governor of Massachusetts in the recent election. He further stated that "SONNY" MC DONOUGH, Governor's Executive Councillor, had contacted him relative to the recent election and that he, too, favored BELLOTTI.

MASS ~~W~~
HENRY TAMELEO advised PATRIARCA that he had recently contacted [redacted]. It appeared to the informant that PATRIARCA and TAMELEO are critical of the actions of JOSEPH MODICA who apparently is their "front" in the American Finance Co., State Street, Boston. They complained that although they furnished a substantial amount of money to the company, RAYMOND only got $500 and TAMELEO got $300 from the amount they invested.

MASS ~~JOSEPH MODICA~~
The reason for TAMELEO contacting [redacted] was to attempt to obtain some of the money that is owed to them from the American Finance Co. prior to its liquidation.

It should be noted that this group has formed another finance company known as Pirahna, Inc., located at the same address.

MASS
According to TAMELEO, [redacted] has gotten the green light to operate in Biddeford, ME, both from the locals and the State. (This apparently refers to a gambling operation there.)

MASS
[redacted] is having trouble with MODICA in that MODICA will not agree with [redacted] in the various aspects of the operation of Pirahna, Inc.

Informant advised that when the American Finance went in to liquidation, various individuals owed them money, both on legitimate type loans and loan shark type loans. PATRIARCA felt that many of these loans could be collected even though the company has been liquidated.

TAMELEO is of the opinion that they should move in on the new finance company inasmuch as [] is an excellent promoter "but is not handled right" by JOE MODICA.

[] told TAMELEO that he has a banker in Beverly, Mass. who has already furnished him $80,000 during the past week. (The reason for this was not known to the informant, but it was probably in connection with loans outstanding by the finance company.) [] is making arrangements to obtain another $50,000 within the next few weeks. He also has a dentist lined up for $50,000 and another fellow for $18,000.

The details of the above were not known to the informant.

According to TAMELEO, MODICA dumped [] (PH) for taking $6,000 off the top of some deal. PATRIARCA became incensed when he was told that so much money is going through the finance company and instructed TAMELEO to make arrangements to get their piece of the profits.

TAMELEO mentioned that "that no good Irishman" (not further described) asked him to change money at the rate of $650 for $1,000 because he, the IRISHMAN, felt the money might have been marked.

TAMELEO stated that they were to bring the whole bundle (amount not known) but only bought $5,000 and stated they would bring the rest later. The money included two $100 bills and the rest of small denominations. The "Irishman" stated that he would bring the rest of the money back later, at which time TAMELEO made arrangements to have the "Irishman" and his associates robbed of the remaining part of the loot.

He described his accomplice as being the "best of thieves, a young college looking kid, blond hair who sometimes dyes it black and who comes from Milford or Milton." He also described him as "top notch."

The name of [] (PH) was mentioned (it MASS possibly could be the "Irishman" referred to above).

NEV [] contacted PATRIARCA. [] had just returned from Las Vegas with [] Providence R. I. [] stated that he had contacted [] in an effort to obtain the kid (probably [] Boston, Mass.) MASS NEV a job in a Las Vegas casino. [] explained that he would do anything for the man in Rhode Island but, because of his position in the casino, was unable to obtain a job unless the kid was a stick man or such. Inasmuch as he had no particular qualifications, the only job he would be able to get would be in the kitchen of the casino, which the kid did not desire.

NEV ✓ According to [] he received information from [] that the gambling (probably in one casino, not named) was doing $600,000 a month.

[] contacted Major RIDDLE at the Dunes Hotel in an effort to resolve three points that is allegedly owned by PATRIARCA and his group in the Dunes. NEV

[] was told by RIDDLE that he had nothing to do with the operation of gambling at the Dunes Hotel and that it was actually the M&R Corporation which was the operating company for gambling at the Dunes.

As far as Major RIDDLE was concerned, PATRIARCA's group did not own three points.

[] told him that they had furnished the money for three points to [] prior to the time he sold it and [] pointed out that [] had sold the interest (apparently in the gambling phase of the hotel) for $16 million. At the present time the M&R is made up of [] and Major RIDDLE, and RIDDLE is the front for [] as well as his own portion of the company. [] claimed that he had 38 1/2% of the place and he is not going to give any of this interest to anybody. III NEV

[] stated that RIDDLE did not want to talk to him and only met him a few minutes in the lobby of the hotel. [] became so arrogant that [] almost slugged him. [] who was also at the Dunes at the time and tell [] that he (RIDDLE) has nothing to do with the three points in question and that it was [] responsibility to settle the matter.

[] then explained again that they furnished money for eight points to [] originally five of which were actually [] and three were PATRIARCA's group. [] agreed with RIDDLE that PATRIARCA's "beef" with the M&R Corp. and not with RIDDLE but with [].

During the conversation RIDDLE admitted that [] gave him a half million dollar loan to assist him in purchasing this company.

[] stated that this is the portion of money with which RIDDLE is fronting for []

[] met RIDDLE the following morning in the coffee shop and asked RIDDLE if he had contacted [] RIDDLE advised that [] had flown back to Chicago, whereupon [] again became incensed.

[] thought that he was getting the run-around and so told RIDDLE.

NEV
According to [] conversed, the three points in the Duñas are presently worth $135,000 to $150,000. [] told RIDDLE that in the event none of "the boys" are interested in this company he and PATRIARCA were contemplating legal action to recover the three points.

I/I
I/I
[] agreed with PATRIARCA that they will take one of two courses - PATRIARCA will contact [] in New York and [] and attempt to exert some pressure through [] of Chicago who, in turn, would exert pressure on [] is very close to [] (PH).

PATRIARCA feels that if enough pressure is put on, [] will be forced to return the value for same. The other course of action is to bring the case to court with the evidence they have, but they do not believe they will be too successful in this venture.

PATRIARCA stated that he would go to New York in a week or 10 days to discuss the situations with [] [] advised that the gambling operation lost $11,007 during the month of December and that in the year 1964 they lost $38,000.

The names of the booking agents employed by [] in which operation PATRIARCA has an interest, are [] and ANGELO.

On 1/21/65, BS 837-C* advised that "TEDDY" FUCILLO, Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA. There was mention that "they" were going to try to get [redacted] Local #25 of the Teamsters Union, Boston, Mass. (This apparently refers to the [redacted] group inasmuch as informants had indicated the [redacted] group were antagonistic towards [redacted] because of the fact that he was assisting their arch-enemy, [redacted])

FUCILLO advised that [redacted] of the Abbott Engineering Co. was supposed to come up with some money for PATRIARCA and his group, but, as yet, he has not done so.

FUCILLO explained that "they" (probably referring to himself and associates) were attempting to set up some sort of a corporation which would deal in canning fish in the northeast area. FUCILLO explained that a Jewish guy (not named) was supposed to put up $5,000.

[redacted] Atlantic Fisheries, was also interested in investing some money in this venture.

FUCCHILLO furnished PATRIARCA an undetermined amount of money. The reason for same was not known to the informant.

[redacted] explained to [redacted] a device which, when used by both parties talking on the telephone, would put the message through the telephone lines in a scrambled fashion. The person on either end must have this device in use in order to unscramble the words.

PATRIARCA indicated an interest in this device, but the informant did not know whether [redacted] had access to this device.

On 1/22/65, PATRIARCA told HENRY TAMELEO that he went to New York the previous day. He was to meet TOMMY RYAN and THOMAS LUCHESE but was told by [redacted] (LNU) that they are under surveillance, and the meet was never made.

He did have a meet with SAM CUFARI and [redacted] the latter arriving at the meet at 1:30 p.m. [redacted] arrived about 2:30 p.m., according to PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA advised that he left New York after the above meet and met JOE KIRK on the train and returned with him to Providence, R. I.

TAMELEO asked PATRIARCA the location of BONANNO.

PATRIARCA replied that "He went to the old country."

TAMELEO explained that the situation in East Boston (apparently referring to the placing of a bookmaker in an unknown club in East Boston, Mass.) had not been presented to them correctly.

HENRY talked to [redacted] partner who advised they would try to "iron the situation out" themselves.

[] primary reason for contacting PATRIARCA was to obtain from him permission to put a few extra thousand dollars on the street as loan shark money. He stated that he has furnished to [] Boston hoodlum, a few thousand dollars which he [] has now on the street in Boston for []

PATRIARCA gave him permission to put an additional few thousand out as loan shark money providing that it did not interfere with his (RAYMOND's) people.

[] stated that he is closely associated with GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, the American Nazi Party leader. He pointed out that the U. S. Army now has 30% Negroes, and that the draft boards are taking many more Negroes than whites. He estimated that in a few years the armed services will be comprised of over 50% Negroes, and warned PATRIARCA that at this time the Negroes, having control of the armed forces, will take over the United States.

He stated that ROCKWELL has intentions of running for Governor of Virginia. He is well received in Virginia and has high hopes of becoming Governor there.

[] had just returned from ROCKWELL's headquarters in Virginia and described to PATRIARCA the physical layout. He stated that there are many individuals dressed as storm troopers upon entrance in to the headquarters.

[] intends to travel to Dallas and Los Angeles in the near future in behalf of the American Nazi Party (ANP). He has been to Canada and Chicago during the recent past. He told PATRIARCA that [] desired to furnish funds to the ANP and in order to avoid any complications and tax problems, ROCKWELL has requested [] to find a location in Maine where the ANP can open a seminary and thereby become known as a religious organization. In this way, [] could furnish a substantial amount of money to the seminary which, in turn, would be used for the ANP.

GENNARO J. ANGIULO and PETER LIMONE contacted PATRIARCA. ANGIULO stated that LARRY BAIONE, Boston hoodlum, had contacted him when he (BAIONE) was released from prison concerning the loan shark business of []

BAIONE misinterpreted ANGIULO's statement and contacted [] for a piece of his business.

ANGIULO was concerned that he (BAIONE) misinterpreted his statement, but BAIONE took the interest in a nice way without causing trouble. Both ANGIULO and PATRIARCA agreed that the situation remain as it is.

ANGIULO also stated that he had a "beef" with BAIONE and [] (NY) who is also another loan shark. [] had been with TONY (possibly SANTANIELLO of Boston, Mass.) for many years and when BAIONE went to jail four years ago he gave [] the names of loan customers. One of these customers reneged on a bet and BAIONE, according to [] should pay the remaining part of the debt. It was agreed that BAIONE did not actually "OK" this individual and, therefore, was not responsible for the debt.

ANGIULO was very critical of BAIONE in that prior to the time he went to jail he had been very powerful, and now that he is out with little income he is spending too much money in bars and on women.

PATRIARCA advised that EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT and [] both of Boston, contacted him. This contact was arranged by RONNIE CASSESSA, and ANGIULO had knowledge of same.

PATRIARCA stated that the word was that "we" (meaning PATRIARCA and his group) wanted [] and "WIMPY" for something and consequently they both arranged the meet.

There was a discussion as to whether [] was half Irish, but ANGIULO knew his family and stated that both his parents were Italian.

"WIMPY" BENNETT was feeling PATRIARCA out as to whether or not he (PATRIARCA) could affect a peace in the gang war in Boston in the event [] Top 10 Fugitive, "was killed."

RAYMOND's reply was not known to the informant.

BS 92-118

RAYMOND indicated to BENNETT that he (RAYMOND) thought BENNETT was "OK."

BENNETT also advised that [redacted] had sent word back to RAYMOND PATRIARCA through TEDDY FUCCELLO that "that guy (not further identified) owed $10,000" and that the "other was for numbers, 16,306."

ANGIULO stated that he had been contacted by "WIMPY" sometime ago and "WIMPY" was concerned with the gangland slayings in Boston and said he was disgusted with the situation and did not know what to do. He pointed out that hoodlums are coming in from New York and he did not know who was going to be killed or when; or, further, what side to take in the argument.

According to ANGIULO, he told BENNETT that he had to choose a side and stick with his decision.

According to ANGIULO, [redacted] told PETER LIMONE that [redacted] "Don't worry about PUNCHY MC LAUGHLIN," (indicating that he knew PUNCHY MC LAUGHLIN was going to get hit.).

ANGIULO also stated that prior to the time of the killing of HAROLD HANNON of Boston, HANNON complained to ANGIULO about [redacted] HANNON stated that [redacted] was crazy and was going to get everyone associated with him killed.

ANGIULO stated that the Indian Meadow Country Club at Westboro, Mass. was still for sale.

An individual, name unknown to the informant, had contacted ANGIULO and stated he represented the Bank of America and that he would be willing to sell the club for finders fee.

PATRIARCA advised that [redacted] former [redacted] had contacted him. [redacted] has sent his family to Phoenix, Ariz. and has requested RAYMOND to attempt to find a job for him in either Las Vegas or Phoenix for approximately $125 a week.

ANGIULO asked PATRIARCA, "What do you know in New York?" PATRIARCA advised that "Joe is just holding out, that's all," and further mentioned something about going to New York and being charged with "contempt." (Informant did not know exact details of same.)

PETER LIMONE told PATRIARCA that [] and another Italian kid have gotten a club in East Boston, and they desire to obtain a charter. They asked LIMONE how he got his charter.

LIMONE replied he received same through RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

[] wanted clearance through PATRIARCA to get the charter.

PATRIARCA furnished the "OK."

PATRIARCA inquired of ANGIULO if he knew the loan shark that has a loan out to an individual who is related to the [] kid, lives in Seekonk (Mass.) and has a green Cadillac.

It appears that the individual is paying $100 interest per week for the loan and that the shylock is giving him "a hard time."

ANGIULO did not know the loan shark but would attempt to find out the identity of same for PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA advised that he sent $4,000 to JOSEPH ANSEIMO so that he (ANSEIMO) could purchase a piece of land.

ANGIULO advised that [] (PH) (possibly [] of Quincy, Mass.) came back to him and stated that he had been contacted by [] one of the Federal Agents working on ANGIULO's case. [] stated that they cannot find any fraud in connection with the ANGIULOS' IRS investigation and because of the fact that they cannot "come up with income they cannot ask for a consultation."

Once [] submits his recommendation, [] (U. S. Attorney, Boston) will "put it on the shelf." IRS is not interested in the contempt charges against ANGIULO and ANGIULO cannot understand why USA [] is pushing the contempt charge.

[] also told [] that there was a bug in the club in the North End section of Boston. This, according to ANGIULO, refers to JOE ANSELMO's club located on Hanover Street, Boston, where ROMEO MARTIN and RONNIE CASSESSA were hanging out.

ANGIULO, therefore, surmises that the information concerning ROMEO MARTIN and RONNIE CASSESSA being involved in the robbery of [] of Newton, Mass. several weeks ago was furnished to the Boston PD by IRS. He stated that the Boston PD, immediately after the robbery, arrested ROMEO MARTIN and were attempting to locate CASSESSA for the robbery of [].

It should be noted that MARTIN is presently out on bond in connection with this robbery.

The above information is not being disseminated at this time in order not to compromise the informant. This information will be furnished to the Bureau by letterhead memorandum on 2/15/65.

Concerning GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, ANGIULO mentioned that [] has a machine gun, as he has shown JERRY this gun.

PATRIARCA advised that the seminary that is to be opened by [] in Maine will be called the White Church of America of Maine.

[] also stated that as soon as EDWARD W. BROOKE, Negro Attorney General of Massachusetts, runs for Governor for the State of Massachusetts, the ANP will infiltrate Massachusetts.

PATRIARCA advised that he was contacted by a former resident of Rhode Island who now lives at 8215 Glade Ave, Canoga Park, near Los Angeles, Calif. This individual contacted PATRIARCA inasmuch as his partner, in an unknown business, had swindled him out of the business.

PATRIARCA advised that he would attempt to help him through mutual friends in Los Angeles, but did not identify same. LA ANGIULO advised that [redacted] has not been working at the after-hours joint, [redacted] North End, Boston. His partners, NICK GISO and SAMMY GRANITO, all of whom are La Cosa Nostra members, are critical of [redacted] because he is drawing the same amount of money from the business. They have ascertained that [redacted] is out every night to different cafes and night clubs in Boston but never shows up at the [redacted] to assume managerial duties.

JERRY advised that one of his associates told him of a club (probably in Dorchester, Mass.) which is running 23 or 24 hours a day as a gambling operation.

JERRY sent the associate to the club to ascertain what type of activity is taking place.

The individual reported to JERRY that there is a heavy card game, blackjack, etc., and is running wide open. The club is protected by double doors at the entrance and it is is very difficult to enter unless you are known.

JERRY sent for one of the partners of this club named [redacted] explained to him that he owns the joint with two nephews and three other Jewish individuals.

ANGIULO also ascertained that [redacted] has several car washes going for him, plus the fact that he is in the numbers business with [redacted] (PH). ANGIULO explained to [redacted] that he has three good things going for him, and that his group (meaning the Italian element) has been hard pressed financially because of the numerous investigations being conducted by law enforcement.

He added that on several occasions it is necessary for the Italian group to spend money on legislation bills which affect their operations and that he (ANGIULO) could not see why [redacted] would not contribute to this fund.

[] told him that he would do anything he (ANGIULO) desired.

ANGIULO suggested that he put [] as a 7th partner and also furnish to JERRY $500 a month from the operation.

[] at first indicated that the partners will probably not go along with both demands; whereupon ANGIULO called [] in and asked him whether or not he desired to become a partner in this operation. [] advised him that he did not care to assume this interest at the present time.

[] then stated he would send JERRY $500 a month through [] (LNU).

On New Year's Eve [] did send $500 through [] to JERRY ANGIULO.

ANGIULO then explained that recently he obtained a telephone call from [] known bookmaking agent for ANGIULO.

[] asked him to wait at the location until he contacted him and not to talk over the telephone to anybody. Shortly thereafter, [] contacted him and told him that [] Boston PD Detective, had contacted [] at his home.

[] learned in his duties as [] with the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office, that a [] had owed $4,000 in shylock money to somebody unknown to [] and that the District Attorney's Office was investigating same.

ANGIULO ascertained that [] actually won $3,500 in [] Club one night and returned later and lost $4,000. He did not know whether this $4,000 was the $4,000 referred to by [] as loan shark money.

[] called the fellow that runs the club and told him to stop running because of the District Attorney's Investigation.

ANGIULO advised that he recontacted [] and told him to recontact [] and find out what the exact details are concerning this incident.

JERRY ANGIULO stated he knew [] better than [] and described him as a "bold s.c.b." He made mention of the fact that he, himself, went for $600 a month in the station where the club is located.

It was ANGIULO's opinion that [] went to his partners and they decided to ease ANGIULO out of his $500 interest in the club every month by a complaint to the District Attorney.

ANGIULO stated that he intends to fly to Miami, Fla. the week of 1/10/64, exact date unknown. He asked [] to accompany him. [] was agreeable with the father's permission.

Concerning the bumper business, in which ANGIULO has an interest, [], he pointed out it was set afire by unknown persons. The manner in which the fire was set interrupted their production and was very costly from the standpoint of repairing metal tanks which are used in the re-chroming of automobile bumpers.

ANGIULO also stated that the District Attorney's Office is conducting a 24-hour surveillance of LARRY BAIONE because of the fact that he moved in on [] in the loan sharking business.

On 1/8/65, UNMAN, who has known PATRIARCA since 1938, stated that he saw [] (possibly of the Pawtucket, R. I. PD) and learned that [] was a liar.

There was some conversation concerning a crap game that the State Police wanted stopped but the Pawtucket PD wanted to let it run.

Because of Col. STONE of the Rhode Island State Police, they closed the game as they did not want STONE to come in, raid the place, and make them "look like bums."

Attorney [] of Boston and Providence sought RAYMOND's advice on a business deal.

[] intended to form a corporation and cut this corporation five ways. (It probably concerned the manufacturing of cans, but the informant was not positive of this fact.)

[] asked whether RAYMOND can promote the other guy (probably meaning SAUL FRIEDMAN, Attorney, Providence, R. I.)

RAYMOND stated that he would promote him; warned him that every time he (PATRIARCA) entered a business deal with FRIEDMAN, he would lose money.

If [] needed any finances, PATRIARCA would furnish him with same.

PATRIARCA told [] that the worse thing a person could do is gyp somebody who trusts you and pointed out that money does not mean a thing compared with principle.

[] Providence, R. I. hoodlum, advised RAYMOND that he has some authentic treasury paper money. This paper is available through a friend (not named) who, in turn, was told by an individual, who tests such paper for the government, that the paper is authentic.

RAYMOND instructed [] to contact JOSEPH MOLICONE of the County Finance Co. and abide by MOLICONE's decision as to whether he should purchase the paper.

There was mention of the individual who has the paper as stealing a thousand pounds of same during the course of the last three years.

[] friend who has access to the paper is named [] (INU).

PATRIARCA also advised that [] should not give over "$70 a 100," but offer "$60 a 100" for this paper.

BS 92-118

On 1/11/65, UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA concerning [redacted] of Worcester, Mass. in connection with an agreement to operate for a week. (Informant did not know details of same.)

UNMAN furnishes RAYMOND $4,500 stating that $735 of this was "make-up money" for the month.

No other pertinent information took place.

Rebosaairtel, 1/26/65.

BS 837-C* advised on 1/25/65 that JOE MODICA, Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA specifically concerning the Berkshire Downs Race Track in which RAYMOND PATRIARCA allegedly has a financial interest.

PATRIARCA told MODICA to contact his friend who is allegedly extremely close to Attorney General EDWARD W. BROOKE of Massachusetts and have him arrange to release the $100,000 bond that is being held by the Massachusetts Court in connection with civil suits that have been heard in Massachusetts courts.

PATRIARCA told MODICA that it was necessary for [redacted] (of Boston, Mass.) to put an additional $300,000 in to the track in order for it to open for the 1965 season. In the event the $100,000 bond mentioned above is released by the courts to SALVATORE RIZZO, PATRIARCA assured MODICA that he would get his $5,000 back, which he loaned to RIZZO, plus an additional $5,000 interest.

PATRIARCA explained that [redacted] in NYC had indicated that he had a prospective buyer for the track for $900,000, but the deal fell through.

MODICA mentioned [redacted] (PH) located in East Boston and his connection with some crap game located there. (Informant was unable to ascertain details concerning same.)

GENNARO J. ANGIULO and PETER LIMONE contacted PATRIARCA. ANGIULO discussed in detail his pending case involving the assault of a federal officer in the North End section of Boston.

It will be recalled that an Internal Revenue Service undercover man was questioned by ANGIULO and his associates, PETER LIMONE and [redacted] concerning his true identity and was told to get out of the North End section of Boston.

ANGIULO stated that he had contacted Attorney [redacted] a former Assistant United States Attorney, and requested him to defend him. [redacted] asked for $25,000, plus an additional $5,000 in the event it went to the Supreme Court. ANGIULO refused but subsequently did agree on a fee of $10,000, plus $5,000 in the event the case went to the Supreme Court.

Their plan of defense is to attack the words noted in the indictment, "wilfully and forcefully assaulted," and point out that they did not know the identity of the individual, nor did they actually forcefully eject him from the location in which they talked to him.

Their alibi is to contact [redacted] who is a "90% blind man" and request him to testify that he asked ANGIULO to question a sailor who lived in his house concerning the rape of a girl in the North End.

It is to be noted that the undercover man was posing as a sailor and resided in the North End section.

They intend to get another stand-up witness who will testify that he overheard [] ask ANGIULO the above, but that he did nothing about it and just walked away. In this way they feel that [] testimony will be substantiated.

PATRIARCA indicated he would assist in this.

[] close associate of Top 10 Fugitive [] contacted PETER LIMONE and requested that arrangements be made for him to see PATRIARCA. The reason for the request was to make arrangements that [] could contact PATRIARCA telephonically. A lengthy discussion took place as to the best procedure and the tentative arrangements were that [] was to call PETER LIMONE. He, in turn, would give a number of a public phone. Fifteen minutes later [] would call the public phone number; during which time LIMONE would attempt to contact PATRIARCA and make arrangements for him to go to another public telephone. The telephone number would be relayed to [] as to the phone number PATRIARCA could receive a call and, thereafter, he would call PATRIARCA. (The reason for this contact is not known to the informant.)

During the conversation concerning [] PATRIARCA asked ANGIULO whether he heard that [] "wanted to get in with []" (This apparently occurred some time ago when HAROLD HANNON was involved in efforts to arrange [] "getting in with []".) There was also a comment that [] according to HANNON, was trying to frame the [] and the [] were very apprehensive of []

According to ANGIULO, [] bought the diamonds from the kids (no further description) for $29,000. (This probably occurred in Miami, Fla. as JOHNNY FOTO, who allegedly is presently in Florida, was the individual who brought the kids to NY.)

ANGIULO stated that when he was recently in Miami, SANTO (TRAFFICANTE) introduced a lawyer for HOFFA to [redacted]. He described [redacted] to the lawyer as the owner of the [redacted]. [redacted] denied same emphatically in front of the lawyer.

[redacted] of Providence, R. I., presently vacationing in Miami, Fla., received a franchise for juke box machines with a small television attached thereto, whereby an individual can actually see the recording artist singing and dancing, for Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Michigan.

ANGIULO stated that the crap game in Boston has a bank of $15,200, and they decided to cut up $6,000 of the above.

An individual named [redacted] whose first name is possibly [redacted] was the original owner of this crap game which was taken over by PATRIARCA and his group.

LARRY BAIONE, recent releasee from Massachusetts State Prison, requested permission to open another crap game, and PATRIARCA refused same inasmuch as [redacted] did request permission from ANGIULO to give a certain percentage of the crap game to [redacted] when he was in prison and renewed the offer when he was released.

PATRIARCA agreed to [redacted] furnishing 5% of his take of the crap game directly to LARRY BAIONE but warned that BAIONE's piece was not to come off the top.

RAYMOND also advised that during his recent visit to NYC he was to meet TOMMY BROWN and TOMMY RYAN. However, when [redacted] walked in to the restaurant he told them that there was "a 24-hour watch" on both BROWN and RYAN.

[redacted] was mentioned as being scheduled to attend the meeting, and it was not clear to the informant if he actually did attend same. One of the individuals probably who did attend, named [redacted] was recently made a "capo regime." SAM CUFARI of Springfield, Mass. also attended. Because of the warning by [redacted] of the 24-hour surveillance of BROWN and RYAN, they became particularly alert to any surveillance.

They did observe an individual wearing a hearing aid, and all suspected him of being "a Fed."

PATRIARCA warned ANGIULO to be cognizant of any individual wearing a hearing aid and instructed ANGIULO to warn the individuals around Boston.

On 1/26/65, LOUIS TAGLIANETTI of Providence, R. I., advised PATRIARCA that he was worried about the FBI inquiries made concerning him in Brooklyn, N. Y. He believes that his troubles with IRS created an FBI interest in him.

PATRIARCA, in the discussion, stated that CARLO (possibly GAMBINO) was related to the man in Springfield (possibly referring to SAM CUPARI).

TAGLIANETTI told PATRIARCA about a scheme that he has been working on for approximately two years. It appears there are two associations - one in Brooklyn, N. Y. and one in New York, N. Y., consisting of 100 and 300 members, respectively. The president of one of these associations is married to the daughter of "a boss." TAGLIANETTI could not recall his name. The president of the other association knows a "friend of ours."

TAGLIANETTI and [REDACTED] (LNU) attempted to bring them together as the New York association has "a little weight" and is hurting the Doctors in Brooklyn.

Arrangements were made for the two Doctors to meet with TAGLIANETTI and [REDACTED] however, the Doctor in New York kept postponing a meeting, the last time his excuse being that he was going to Michigan.

TAGLIANETTI intends to cause dissension and then had threatened one of the Doctors by having someone else make threatening calls to him.

When TAGLIANETTI met one of the Doctors he (the doctor) "knew who we were and what it was all about." TAGLIANETTI apparently intends to shake down the Doctors in these associations and made the comment that "We'll get in there somehow."

PATRIARCA cautioned him to be very careful as he could not trust the Doctors involved.

TAGLIANETTI stated that one Doctor called him and agreed to make LOUIS' Doctor friend from Brooklyn president of the association, but arrangements have not been finalized in this direction. LOUIS desires that [] get someone to threaten the Doctors, as "You can't get money from nothing," and further points out that the Doctors scare easily.

[] (LNU) called LOUIS the previous night and stated that one Doctor had changed his mind. LOUIS made mention of the fact that the associations cost the Doctors $100 to join the organization. (Possibly Chiropractors Association).

[] (LNU) from Boston, Mass. contacted PATRIARCA and discussed the recent underworld killings in Boston.

RAYMOND tells [] to keep off the street as much as they can because of the recent roundups of criminals in Boston by the local police.

[] stated that all the people are getting scared of [] (apparently referring to [] and asked RAYMOND to talk to [] and impress upon him that there should be no more killings in Boston.

RAYMOND agrees to talk to [] and made a statement that "If the killings don't stop I'll declare martial law."

PATRIARCA indicated that he thought very highly of []

Subject arrived Grand Central Station, NYC, 1:30 p.m., 2/1/65, aboard NY - NH Railroad train 9, "the Mayflower". Subject departed from train and as usual proceeded to the Park Sheraton Hotel, 56th Street and 7th Avenue, NYC, via taxi.

In view of information set forth in Boston airtel to Director captioned as above dated 1/28/65, concerning an individual wearing a hearing aid, which subject observed in NY, two NYO agents observed subject depart from the train but no surveillance between Grand Central Station and the Park Sheraton Hotel was attempted by the NYO.

Subject was observed entering the Park Sheraton Hotel shortly after 2:00 p.m. An individual identified by NYO agents as SAM CUFARI, who is also identical with Unsub #1 set forth in NY airtel to Director captioned as above dated 1/21/65, was observed entering D'Angelo's Restaurant, 252 West 55th Street, shortly before 2:00 p.m. Subject proceeded from Park Sheraton Hotel and entered D'Angelo's Restaurant shortly after 2:00 p.m. Two NYO agents entered the restaurant shortly after subject and observed CUFARI and subject seated at the bar. As agents entered they observed a man now identified as [redacted] NYCPD B# [redacted] removing his coat and then proceed to the bar to greet subject and CUFARI. The three then adjourned to a table at the rear of the restaurant. After approximately 15 minutes CUFARI and subject departed from the restaurant and walked to the intersection of 55th Street and Broadway where they entered a taxi. No surveillance of CUFARI and subject was attempted by the NYO in order to avoid compromising Boston source and the fact that D'Angelo's Restaurant was known to the NYO. [redacted] remained inside the restaurant until approximately 3:00 p.m. When he departed no surveillance was conducted of [redacted] for the reasons set forth above.

It is to be noted that NY 3986-C* reported on 2/1/65, that THOMAS EBOLI in a conversation with MICHAEL GENOVESE stated that he had a meeting with "RAYMOND from Boston", but did not mention the time, date or place of such a meeting. EBOLI also noted that [redacted] might attend the meeting.

NYO obtained photographs of [redacted] and CUFARI entering D'Angelo's Restaurant and photographs of subject and CUFARI as well as [redacted] departing from the restaurant.

BS 837-C* advised on 2/2/65 that UNMAN and RAYMOND PATRIARCA discussed RAYMOND's trip to New York on 2/1/65. PATRIARCA expressed concern about being observed in New York.

UNMAN tells RAYMOND to fly the next trip and land in LaGuardia Airport, go through the gate, jump on a bus and then ride in to a subway. He explained that this way is less dangerous.

PATRIARCA said they put the "heat" on the other fellows but he gets in to town alright, but they are following the other people and see him. He pointed out that he has seen people wearing ear pieces and he is sure they are radios and the persons following are talking to each other.

UNMAN discusses a business contract involving vending machines with PATRIARCA (significance not clear).

UNMAN also mentions that "the kid" (not further identified) was pinched with a hot car, and the "joint was loaded with hot stuff."

PATRIARCA reminds UNMAN that everything in New York is checked and cautions UNMAN not to take a car to the restaurant but to take a cab.

Another UNMAN enters (possibly LOUIS TAGLIANETTI) and PATRIARCA tells him to be sure and tell another UNMAN to "keep his mouth shut" that he is talking too much. LOUIS tells PATRIARCA that the UNMAN they are discussing got back Sunday and started a "big stink" with [redacted] (LNU) (possibly [redacted] of Rhode Island). The UNMAN they refer to is staying at the Viking Hotel, Newport, R. I., and RAYMOND angrily says that this man was sent for to go to New York and should be there today since he was given the word on February 1st.

PATRIARCA again tells LOUIS to get a hold of this young man and tell him to keep his mouth shut or he will be getting out of here.

RAYMOND said that UNMAN has been instructed to ask for and deal through him (RAYMOND) since [redacted] (LNU) is too soft. RAYMOND instructs LOUIS to call the Viking Hotel and see if UNMAN has gone to New York.

RAYMOND said that there is nobody coming here from Boston to work for UNMAN, but if there is any work there are men in Providence who will do the work.

Another UNMAN and RAYMOND told him that the people in New York are under investigation, everyone is in trouble - garments and everything - the whole situation is very bad.

UNMAN explains that he is owed 100,000 from someone; 150,000 from LA LA (PH) and $40,000 to $50,000 worth of jewelry - $300,000 all told.

PATRIARCA tells them that it just means trouble with income tax.

He said the investigation in New York with UNMAN could have been tailor made for the people in New York; however, that has changed now.

UNMAN tells PATRIARCA that all of the jewelry he has are "score pieces."

BS 92-118

UNMAN then discusses getting one [] (LNU) in on a deal with him.

PATRIARCA tells him to bring [] down with him next week and RAYMOND will discuss the deal with [] [] entered and PATRIARCA tells him that he was in New York yesterday. He told [] that the guy in Newport will have to see them. [] said that he saw this man and the man talks too much - too much Cosa Nostra talk, and if he keeps it up the government could step in.

PATRIARCA said that he was going to make that guy put his truck to work.

PATRIARCA said that "that guy wanted to hire people from Boston to work on the Newport job," but PATRIARCA put a stop to that.

[] said that "they" (not further identified) are spreading the bids all over the country rather than confining them to the Rhode Island group.

[] suggested to RAYMOND to see SAUL FRIEDMAN and set up the Ace Dumping Corp., then RAYMOND could rent equipment to the guy in Newport.

PATRIARCA said that this man is shooting off his mouth too much. RAYMOND also mentions that he (RAYMOND) has a speedboat which this fellow would need.

[] schemes as to how they will rent equipment to this man, and RAYMOND tells [] this man was with [] brother.

RAYMOND said that when he was in New York yesterday they asked him if he wanted this man "thrown out of Rhode Island." RAYMOND told him this was not necessary, but he does not want him to make a move until he speaks to RAYMOND.

PATRIARCA told [] Sullivan's Steak House, needs some trucks. RAYMOND asked [] to call [] because he is a good friend of his.

On 2/3/65 informant advised that PATRIARCA and [] (LNU) had a discussion concerning a demolition situation on Goat Island. [] indicated he got in Monday night and said that he is in on the Pawtucket deal (significance not known to informant).

PATRIARCA said that someone in Newport is causing trouble and told [] to keep his eyes and ears open. PATRIARCA mentioned that [] is "in hock" to him up to his life.

Another UNMAN entered and there was a discussion about a theft at Woonsocket, R. I. which involves 16 people (the significance not clear to the informant).

JOE KIRK (true name JOSEPH KRIKORIAN) entered and KIRK told PATRIARCA that he had talked to [] of the Rockingham Race Track to discuss the racing dates, and [] was very mad. He said that [] told him that the Green Mountain, which is another track he operates in Vermont, is opening on May 30 and will operate through June 30, 1965. [] said that he is unable to do anything about the dates.

KIRK said that [] who was interested in the Lincoln Downs Race Track and the Berkshire Downs, is very dissatisfied with the situation on dates.

The abstract submitted with referenced communication was improperly prepared since it contained the statement "Justification for Continuation of Technical or Microphone Surveillance." You must insure that all abstracts for "June" communications are prepared in accordance with existing instructions.

NOTE: Boston Office recommends that misur coverage of subject be continued for an additional 90-day period. Raymond Patriarca is the leader of La Cosa Nostra activity in New England. This coverage, which is in his office, is one of the most productive sources currently being utilized in connection with the Criminal Intelligence Program. It consistently furnishes information regarding a wide range of criminal endeavors on the part of Patriarca and his associates. During the recently authorized period, source provided information concerning Patriarca's discussion with Jerry Angiulo, his chief lieutenant in Boston, concerning Joseph Bonanno's dispute with the "commission." This source has also provided detailed information concerning other La Cosa Nostra activity in New England. In view of the proven capability of this source to produce a large volume of criminal intelligence information, recommend that the request of SAC, Boston, be approved.

(A) On November 18, 1964, the informant advised that PATRIARCA told his "chief lieutenant" in Boston, Massachusetts, GENNARO J. ANGIULO, that JOSEPH BONANNO "took it on the lam himself" and, further, that [redacted] was with him. He added that [redacted] (phonetic) and all the underbosses are meeting later that week to ascertain what they could do with the BONANNO family.

Informant also advised that, according to PATRIARCA, BONANNO put a great act on in front of the lawyers but "did put them on the spot." He indicated the lawyers knew nothing concerning the alleged kidnaping of JOSEPH BONANNO.

On November 25, 1964, informant advised that PATRIARCA indicated that he had sent SAM GRANITO to New York to ascertain what the circumstances were concerning BONANNO's alleged kidnaping.

He also questioned a kid from New York who happened to come in to Providence, Rhode Island concerning this incident. (The kid from New York is probably NICK BIANCO of Brooklyn, New York, who is a constant visitor to PATRIARCA.)

The reason that BONANNO "went away by himself" was that he was thrown off the "commission" of La Cosa Nostra and, in addition, did not want to appear before the Federal Grand Jury in New York to which he was subpoenaed.

This informant also furnished considerable information concerning various members of La Cosa Nostra in the Boston and New York areas during the last 90 days.

(B) The confidential source has indicated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is the leader of the criminal element in the Rhode Island and Massachusetts areas, and also has some control in Maine and New Hampshire.

The informant has furnished various information confirming this fact and his continuation will serve to crystallize information which may lead to prosecution.

UNMAN (probably [redacted] of Springfield, Mass.) was instructed by SAM CUFARI of Springfield, Mass. to contact PATRIARCA and ascertain what story he would tell in the event they were observed by "the Feds" in NYC where they met recently.

PATRIARCA told UNMAN that he would tell "the Feds," if questioned, that he travelled to New York to attend a fight and happened to meet SAM CUFARI who was there with his wife.

CUFARI apparently will then furnish his story that he was in New York with his wife to attend the fight.

[redacted] from Worcester, Mass. complained that "the deal" was unfair. Apparently [redacted] (INU) was in partnership with [redacted] when they broke up "at the lot." FREDDIE demanded a large sum of money. [redacted] gave him $26,000 and this individual is still pressing him for more money. He appealed to PATRIARCA to settle the dispute; however, PATRIARCA appeared to favor [redacted] and indicated that he would back [redacted] if [redacted] did not pay his fair share.

FROM : SAC, BOSTON (92-118) (P)

SUBJECT: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, aka

Rebosairtel to Bureau dated 1/12/65.

Reairtel indicated that a letterhead memorandum concerning information relative to IRS Agent [redacted] furnishing information to an individual named [redacted] who, in turn, furnished same to GENNARO J. ANGIULO, top hoodlum in the Boston Office, would be submitted.

Special Agent [redacted] of IRS, Boston, Mass., in general conversation indicated that [redacted] an IRS employee from Norwood, Mass., and [redacted] a [redacted] of Winchester, Mass., both attached to the Boston Office of IRS, were arrested on 1/8/65 and charged with "soliciting and accepting a $3,000 bribe from a Bookline, Mass. firm" in connection with an IRS investigation. According to [redacted] both employees have been fired and are awaiting trial on this charge.

[redacted] was under his supervision and worked on the ANGIULO case until approximately five or six months ago, at which time he was reassigned to the Collection Division. This reassignment was caused by a reduction in force in connection with the ANGIULO investigation.

In view of the fact that [redacted] is presently awaiting prosecution in connection with another bribery case, it is not believed advisable to disseminate information as set out in reairtel and, therefore, no letterhead memorandum concerning same is being submitted.

Rebosairtel, 2/9/65.

On 2/9/65, BS 837-C* advised that GENNARO J. ANGIULO of Boston, Mass. contacted PATRIARCA. ANGIULO explained in detail the circumstances surrounding his arrest for assault and battery on an IRS officer. His defense will be the attack on the alleged statement that same was "wilful."

ANGIULO explained that he was in contact with COLUMBO in relation to the fish business. (It appeared that this pertained to the importation of all squid into the New York area.)

ANGIULO has contacted representatives of fish companies in the Massachusetts area and they indicated they will be able to furnish the necessary amount of fish as consumed in the New York area. The squid is now being imported from the California area.

COLUMBO is "in with some wealthy Jews" and they are willing to put up sufficient capital to enter this business.

RAYMOND suggests that they would be able to open up a company in the Massachusetts area and move in on the shipping and trucking of this company, with the permission, of course, from COLUMBO.

JERRY indicated that he would be in contact with COLUMBO in the near future and make arrangements to call a meeting between PATRIARCA, ANGIULO and COLUMBO.

[] recently has offered for sale 4,000 packages of razors (the description and exact quantity unknown to the informant).

In connection with the fish business, RAYMOND indicated that it would be the same situation as the lobster business is in Gloucester (the significance of this is unknown to the informant).

ANGIULO discussed the recent gangland slayings in Boston, none of which information was pertinent to this investigation.

Information furnished by the informant relative to these gangland slayings was a recap of information previously furnished.

ANGIULO advised that Attorney General EDWARD W. BROOKE is attempting to have a bill enacted in the Massachusetts state laws which would enable police officers to arrest on the spot individual drivers of automobiles who do not have their license and registration in their possession at the time they are stopped by the officers.

PATRIARCA pointed out that this was a bad bill inasmuch as it would furnish the officer the right to search the car, based on a search incidental to the arrest.

PATRIARCA asked ANGIULO whether he had been in touch with [redacted] the Uniform Branch of the Massachusetts State Police. ANGIULO advised he had contacted him about three weeks ago requesting information from him. [redacted] told him that the FBI had put so much pressure on him that he had lost all his contacts.

ANGIULO discussed in detail the financial condition of the Indian Meadow Country Club, Westboro, Mass., in which club both ANGIULO and PATRIARCA allegedly have a financial interest.

JERRY stated he was attempting to refinance this club and issue 51 shares of stock to [redacted] and 49 shares to [redacted]. When this is done he will attempt to borrow money from banks by pledging the stock for collateral.

ANGIULO stated that the barboot game in Boston netted $6,700 last month and furnished PATRIARCA his 10% cut, or $670. In addition to that, he gave him $1,862 from another gambling operation (not specified) and other monies (the amount not known to the informant).

HENRY TAMELEO entered and told ANGIULO and PATRIARCA that he played cards until 6:00 a.m. in Revere, Mass. the previous night and won $140. TAMELEO said he was with [redacted] (PH) for several hours the previous night. [redacted] is allegedly [redacted] the Licensing Board in Revere, Mass.

It appeared that TAMELEO was attempting to obtain a motel license on behalf of [redacted] and LARRY BAIONA in Revere, Mass. TAMELEO was of the opinion that [redacted] would assist him in this matter.

TAMELEO stated that LARRY BAIONA and [redacted] have recently bought out [redacted] apparently in a loan sharking business.

NICK BIANCO of Brooklyn, N. Y. also contacted PATRIARCA and stated he was returning to New York. During a short conversation BIANCO indicated that [redacted] had 4,000 packages of blades for sale but that NICK BIANCO ascertained that he could purchase the same type of blade cheaper than what [] was selling them for.

NICK was somewhat perturbed because [] was selling them "right under his nose."

[] Providence, R. I., told PATRIARCA that [] was in the other day and asked if any help was needed on the Newport job.

There appears to be trouble between [] and that if the sum of $15,000 is not paid, one of the individuals is going to the Attorney General and the Redevelopment Authority in Rhode Island and tell of the fix in this job.

On 2/10/65, informant advised that UNMEN apparently was having some difficulty, the facts of which were unknown to the informant, with the Electrical Union.

UNMEN and PATRIARCA discuss a situation on Goat Island, which is located off the Rhode Island coast. It appears that [] is stealing a lot of material from this island, such as cable and other material underwater. [] requests permission from UNMEN to remove this cable, etc. and that he would split same with UNMEN who, in turn, would furnish some monies to PATRIARCA.

An individual by the name of [] (PH) has a dredge in the vicinity of the island and is also stealing the cable.

According to UNMEN, the cable is not owned by the owner of the island. [] told UNMEN that there is other materials underwater, such as defective torpedoes, etc., and that they should be able to obtain approximately $15,000 worth of salvage of these materials. He intends to bring a boat from Japan to the island in order to sell and transport the scrap metal.

PATRIARCA furnished his "OK" to remove the above scrap metal.

On 2/11/65, no pertinent activity took place, although PATRIARCA was in his place of business during that day.

HENRY TAMELEO told PATRIARCA that he was to meet "PINKY" PANABELLI of Worcester, Mass. at 1:30 that afternoon in connection with the Gilt Edge Corporation of New York (the informant did not know the details of same).

TAMELEO was advised by another UNMAN that [] subject of case entitled, "[] aka: FUGITIVE, UFAP-LARCENY," Bosfile 88-3415, was out on $8,000 bail in Miami. Further, he is going to fight extradition to Hartford, Conn. where he is to be tried for this larceny.

With PATRIARCA's permission, TAMELEO intended to call [] in an effort to "pull a few strings" in connection with this case.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA and stated that he had talked to HENRY TAMELEO concerning the proposed hijacking of a truck (the details of which were unknown to the informant). This restaurant was recently renamed from "The Donut Center," is a hoodlum and gambling hang-out, and is in close proximity to the location of a gambling joint and to another location where a wire service had previously operated.

SA [] observed that 8 to 10 male individuals were inside this restaurant and overheard that the general conversation centered around gambling matters.

SA [] conducted a discreet surveillance of the aforementioned Buick automobile, from a distance, and observed that at 9:30 A.M., 2/25/65, two men left the restaurant, entered the Buick and drove indirectly to the Mohawk Motor Inn, 55 Troup Street in Rochester.

Because of the distance between SA [] and the two individuals, the SA could not obtain a description other than that the two were wearing dark clothing.

On 2/26/65, [] Mohawk Motor Inn, (established source), reviewed "check-ins" from Rhode Island and located one registration card reflecting that two persons, [] Providence, Rhode Island, representing the [] Fall River, Massachusetts checked into Room 102, without luggage, at 5 A.M. on 2/25/65 and vacated that room early during the morning of 2/26/65 without paying a $14.00 room bill. No automobile registration was reflected on this registration card.

[] said he determined from [] that one of the individuals who occupied the aforementioned room, was young, dark complexioned, black hair, in his 20s and of an apparent Italian extraction.

The other male appeared older and was stout. Both were wearing either very dark or black overcoats and hats.

[] had determined that the Providence address given by these individuals is fictitious.

[] was not positive but from a review of his records it appeared that mentioned [] were possibly identical with the two occupants of the aforementioned Buick.

It is interesting to note that [redacted] Syracuse, New York, a known burglar from Syracuse, New York, was on trial for arson at Rochester, New York as of 4/25/65 and had been registered in the Mohawk Motor Inn for several days.

The Don-Lee Restaurant has been reported as a former hang-out of DOMINICK RICHARD ALLOCO, aka Donald Richard Alloco, "The Dealer," FBI Number 1120587 (Buffalo 165-234) whose tied body was found in a Penfield, New York field near Rochester, early on 4/24/65 with a bullet hole through his head. No leads have been developed in that slaying and it has been characterized as a "gangland type murder attributed to outsiders."

A Rochester policeman acquainted with ALLOCO at 10:30 P.M., 4/23/65, observed ALLOCO in a local diner with an unknown male, aged approximately 48 to 50, 5'10" to 6', 215 pounds and wearing a dark overcoat.

The possibility exists that one or both of the two individuals using the name [redacted] could have been involved in the murder of ALLOCO, although it is noted there is a lapse between the time when ALLOCO's body was found and the time [redacted] checked into the motel.

BS 837-C* advised on 3/9/65 that HENRY TAMELEO contacted PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA told HENRY that some UNMAN had asked PATRIARCA to intervene with him for HENRY in order to force HENRY to pay a couple of thousand dollars that HENRY owes him. TAMELEO indicated that he would make every effort to do so.

During the discussion HENRY admitted that he owes PATRIARCA at least $12,000.

UNMAN probably is connected with a gaming operation, as he offered PATRIARCA a piece of the profits which PATRIARCA refused.

JOE MODICA, according to HENRY, sent for him the other night and asked him if he had seen MIKE ROCCO. (This apparently referred to a gambling operation in East Boston, Mass., but the informant did not know the details concerning same.)

HENRY said that he has 25% but that everybody "plays on the arm" and he has not, as yet, derived any income from same.

HENRY advised that he had talked to JOE NOLLYCONE of the County Finance Co., Providence, R. I., in connection with changing or depositing money at the banks. NOLLYCONE talked to the "big guy" with the Industrial National Bank, Providence. He said a new law went in to effect a couple of weeks ago. This law requires all tellers at banks to obtain the name and address of any individual who deposits or changes under $2,500. HENRY appeared somewhat disturbed about this new requirement.

PATRIARCA advised HENRY that [redacted] lost $30,000 at the races in Florida and that [redacted] had hit a twin double for $37,000. RAYMOND stated that [redacted] has 50% of [redacted] and he hopes that there will be no misunderstanding in connection with this hit as there was the previous year.

UNMAN (apparently from Boston) contacted TAMELEO. UNMAN stated that an unidentified person came to his house last Sunday and stated that he had someone to put up the money to purchase the bonds and securities, the total value of which amounted to $188,000. This individual was willing to pay 15% to 18% of the value of the bonds, some of which were negotiable and which included one bearer bond. The individual was not interested in the bonds that came from Boston but did desire the other bonds which were previously referred to as GE, Telephone and Zenith stock certificates.

After a lengthy discussion, TAMELEO stated that inasmuch as there were five individuals involved in this security transaction, he did not think it would be sufficiently worthwhile to get involved.

[redacted] and JOSEPH BARBOZA contacted PATRIARCA, and they explained that they are having a problem with TEDDY DEEGAN and desired to get the "OX" to kill him.

They told PATRIARCA that DEEGAN is looking for an excuse to "whack" [redacted] who is friendly with [redacted]

It should be noted that DEEGAN was the individual who killed [redacted] several months ago. Recently, DEEGAN, while intoxicated, walked in to the Ebb Tide night club, Revere, Mass., in which night club TAMELEO has an interest. He was accompanied by three or four individuals and created quite a disturbance with [redacted] who were in the night club at the time.

At approximately 4:00 a.m., after [redacted] returned home, a girl knocked at his door. He looked out the window, observed the girl but also observed a car with three or four individuals in it, and one of them was DEEGAN. He felt that DEEGAN was going to kill him that night, so he did not come out of the house.

[redacted] stated that DEEGAN is an arrogant, nasty sneak and should be killed.

PATRIARCA instructed them to obtain more information relative to DEEGAN and then to contact JERRY ANGIULO at Boston who would furnish them a decision.

PATRIARCA stated that Atty. [redacted] who is representing former Top 10 Fugitive [redacted] went to JERRY ANGIULO with $3,000. ANGIULO professed ignorance of the situation (the details of which the informant did not know). ANGIULO, according to PATRIARCA, told him that if he had acted in any way but professing ignorance, the FBI would be in on him right away. PATRIARCA added that [redacted] is a heavy drinker.

[redacted] advised that EDDIE MC LAUGHLIN is moving to California as he wants to get away from the trouble in Boston.

According to [redacted] told him that he could have stopped the "hit" (probably relating to the murder of JOHN FRANCIONE) if he, [redacted] had known about it in time.

On 3/10/65, UNMAN requested permission from PATRIARCA to contact [redacted] in order to obtain the assistance of [redacted] in relation to the arrest of [redacted] (PH) in Brookline, Mass. on 3/8 or 9/65.

PATRIARCA instructed UNMAN to contact JERRY ANGIULO first in connection with this request,

LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, Providence, R. I., told PATRIARCA that he had received a call from [redacted] (PH). [redacted] was in Florida but his home (apparently in Rhode Island) had been broken into by [redacted] during the course of the robbery, scared [redacted] was seeking TAGLIANETTI's assistance in "straightening out."

[redacted] of Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA. [redacted] was seeking PATRIARCA's "OK" to open up a gambling establishment in East Boston, Mass., which he would operate from a restaurant he now owns there.

It will be recalled that [redacted] had started this operation several months ago, but was told by MIKE ROCCO of East Boston that the local police would not allow him to operate any gambling there.

PATRIARCA told [redacted] that he would contact MIKE ROCCO and then give him the answer as to whether he could operate from this establishment. [redacted] pointed out that he could see no trouble with the police because the individual who would front for him would have no record.

[redacted] stated that he wanted to be on PATRIARCA's side and offered PATRIARCA a piece of the game.

PATRIARCA pointed out that all crap game revenue is "trouble money" and is not shared by anyone. He said that this money is for lawyers, defense funds and necessary funds to handle certain legislation that they are vitally interested in.

[] stated that he is the type of person who cannot "stand the law." He pointed out that he cannot even pay the law off as it is "against his grain."

It will be necessary for [] therefore, to have the man who fronts for him take care of the law.

[] also stated that he wanted to establish himself with not only PATRIARCA but with [] and JERRY ANGIULO of Boston, Mass.

PATRIARCA pointed out that ANGIULO is his representative in Boston and anything he says will be backed by PATRIARCA.

[] advised that he would like to send some funds to GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL in Virginia. He stated that ROCKWELL has warned [] that anything he does of an illegal nature he, himself, will call the FBI and notify them of [] or any of his associates' illegal activities. Because of this, [] pointed out that he cannot allow ROCKWELL to learn of any of his illegal enterprises.

[] praised ROCKWELL and pointed out that ROCKWELL is going to beat the Jews at their own game, namely, the stock market. He stated that ROCKWELL is considering issuing a declaration nationalizing the colored people." In this way he believes that the stock market will be vitally affected and the Jews will lose considerable money.

[] also pointed out that [] of Egypt intends to furnish funds to the party by furnishing donations to a seminary they are opening in Maine. In this way [] cannot be criticized as he will be furnishing funds to a religious order.

[] stated that ROCKWELL at the present time has the west side of Virginia with him and that he is going to conduct a preliminary poll of all Virginia to ascertain whether he has a chance of becoming Governor of Virginia. [] is of the opinion he has a definite chance.

If he is elected Governor, ROCKWELL has promised [] the Norfolk, Va. area. In this way [] feels that he can take over the illegal activity in Norfolk. If this does occur he will ask PATRIARCA's assistance in operating same and, in turn, furnish him a portion of the proceeds derived therefrom.

PATRIARCA mentioned to [] that he has an interest in a hotel in Florida but he did not identify same.

In connection with the request for gaming in East Boston, Mass., PATRIARCA told [] to contact TEDDY FUCCILLO, who would advise him as to RAYMOND's decision.

[] also indicated that he is attempting to locate a heavyweight fighter whom he could promote.

On 11/24/64 the New Haven Division furnished the following information:

[redacted] advised on 11/10/64, in connection with FRANK L. PICCOLO of Bridgeport, Conn., that he was a big man in this area, working under RAYMOND PATRIARCA from Rhode Island. Informant was certain that PICCOLO is a member of La Cosa Nostra and is in the same family as RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and that PATRIARCA is the biggest man in the "East", as far as the rackets are concerned. However, whenever there is "a beef", "they" will go to New York to see "the old man". Informant will obtain the name of the old man as well as dates and places of future meetings in New York.

Informant also said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is a very close associate of [redacted] the Darbury Room in Boston, Mass. [redacted] "Vernon Downs" in Massachusetts (or possibly New York) and the talk is that PATRIARCA and [redacted] are partners and that all races will be fixed and the complete operation of "Vernon Downs" will be run for the sole purpose of profit making for PATRIARCA and [redacted]

b6
b7C

It is noted that there is no "Vernon Downs" in the State of Mass. or Rhode Island.

New Haven requested that the above information be maintained in confidence due to the excellent potential of this informant.

On 12/7/64 [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that TEDDY FUCILLO of Boston, Mass. met [redacted] at [redacted] garage in Somerville, Mass. and FUCILLO told [redacted] that he had seen RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and that PATRIARCA has agreed to see [redacted] a week from Tuesday, 12/15/64, in Boston as he, PATRIARCA, was coming up to Boston that day.

CAR:po'b

On January 13, 1965, BS 837-C* furnished the following information:

[redacted] had just returned from Las Vegas, Nev. where he contacted [redacted] on a personal matter as they are old friends.

While in Las Vegas, Nev., [redacted] contacted [redacted] at the Dunes Hotel in an effort to resolve three points that are allegedly owned by RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and his group in the Dunes.

[redacted] he had nothing to do with the operation of gambling at the Dunes Hotel, and it was actually the M&R Corporation which was the operating company for gambling at the Dunes.

As far as Major RIDDLE was concerned, the PATRIARCA group did not own three points.

[redacted] explained to RIDDLE that the money for three points was furnished to [redacted] prior to the time he sold it, at which time [redacted] pointed out that [redacted] had sold the interest (apparently in the gambling phase of the hotel) for $16 million. At the present time the M&R Corporation is made up of [redacted] and Major RIDDLE, and RIDDLE is the "front man" for [redacted] as well as his own portion of the company. RIDDLE claimed he had 38 1/2% of the place, and he is not going to give any of these interests to anyone.

[redacted] mentioned that RIDDLE did not want to talk to him and only met him a few minutes in the lobby of the hotel.

[redacted] told RIDDLE that money for eight points had been furnished in the Dunes Hotel; that the money for the eight points was furnished to [redacted] and that originally five of the points were actually [redacted] and the remaining three points were from PATRIARCA's group. [redacted] decided his "beef" was with [redacted] and the M&R Corporation.

CAR:po:b

[redacted] that three points in the Dunes Hotel is worth $135,000 to $150,000. [redacted] is thinking of taking legal action to recover three points in the Dunes Hotel.

Informant said that before [redacted] takes any legal action, PATRIARCA may contact [redacted] in New York and [redacted] and attempt to exert some pressure through [redacted] of Chicago who, in turn, would exert pressure on MURRAY HUMPHREYS, as HUMPHREYS is very close to [redacted] lawyer, [redacted] (PH).

The other course of action, if the above is not followed, is to bring the case to court.

On 1/20/65, BS 837-C* advised [redacted] (LNU), who recently was arrested in connection with the theft of a TV set in which another individual named [redacted] was also involved, is presently out on $1,000 bail for receiving $822 worth of stolen merchandise. The merchandise was given to him by [redacted]

According to informant, HENRY (probably HENRY TAMELEO) had contacted [redacted] on the night of 1/16/65 and asked him to come to Revere, Mass. [redacted] went to Revere, Mass. where "they had a load of cigarettes." They desired [redacted] to obtain a drop for these cigarettes which he had previously discussed with HENRY.

[redacted] told them he had checked the location of the drop and they were unable to get a trailer in there. Because of this, they postponed the theft for two weeks.

HENRY contacted him again and asked him to line up a drop for two weeks later. He advised he contacted [redacted] [redacted] had shown him where to place the stolen trailer (apparently on the grounds of the sand and gravel pit). He told PATRIARCA they could leave the trailer there indefinitely as it never would be located by the police or disturbed by any suspecting citizen.

CAR:po'b

It was decided by PATRIARCA that [] should dispose of the stolen trailer somewhere in Connecticut to avoid any "heat" by law enforcement in the Rhode Island section.

Based on information previously furnished by BS 837-C* to the effect that PATRIARCA and [] now known as [] were possibly associated in some way, the Phoenix Office advised that the only financial interest which could be located for [] was real estate holdings, which information was set out in the report of SA [] dated 1/29/65, captioned, [] aka, AR."

Massachusetts

Efforts to locate any identifiable real estate holdings under PATRIARCA's name were made with negative results.

By letter dated 1/14/65, the Miami Office advised as follows:

The Miami Office, following a conference with the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of Police, Nassau, Bahamas, submitted to the Bureau a list of known hoodlums who were believed most likely to frequent the Miami and Freeport, Grand Bahamas, area. The subject's name was included in this list. The Miami and the Bahamas Police have no information available at this time to indicate any plans on the part of subject to visit this area.

For the information of the Boston Office, the Monte Carlo Casino, Lucayan Beach Hotel, Freeport, Grand Bahamas, is supported by the hoodlum element. Information has been received that MEYER LANSKY and FRANK COSTELLO, notorious hoodlums, controlled a major financial interest in the casino. It is expected that the casino and the Lucayan Beach Hotel may be used by hoodlums. The Miami Office will advise Boston should information be received that subject is in this area.

BS 837-C* advised on 1/4/65 that RAYMOND PATRIARCA settled a complaint by JOSEPH ANSELMO of Boston, Mass., who stated that [] Boston, Mass., did not show proper respect for him at a restaurant in Boston. PATRIARCA called [] at his business and lectured him relative to showing proper respect in the future.

BS 92-118

On 1/7/65, [] of Boston, Mass. requested permission to put a few extra thousand dollars on the street as loan shark money. PATRIARCA gave him permission for this.

On 1/25/65, PATRIARCA advised, according to BS 837-C*, that [] of Boston put an additional large sum of money into the Berkshire Downs Race Track in order for it to open during the 1965 season. PATRIARCA was making efforts to obtain the return of a $100,000 bond from the Massachusetts Courts. This $100,000 bond was retained by the court during the trial of several officers of the Berkshire Downs Race Track, including CHARLES FURCOLO, father of former Gov. FOSTER FURCOLO.

On 1/28/65, BS 837-C* advised that HENRY TAMELEO Massachusetts had made contact with [] of Boston, Mass. [] told TAMELEO, who, in turn, told PATRIARCA that he would arrange to pay off the State Police in Maine in order to open a gambling operation. However, prior to the time the game was to commence, the actual operators of the game were tipped off by the State Police of the interest of the FBI.

On 2/8/65, informant advised that NICK BIANCO New York of Brooklyn, N. Y. was instructed by PATRIARCA to contact JERRY ANGIULO of Boston in connection with the fish industry. ANGIULO has been in contact with COLUMBO in relation to this business and it appeared to the informant that it pertained to the importation of squid into the New York area. The squid is now being imported from California.

PATRIARCA contemplates commencing a trucking business in the Massachusetts area in order to move in on the shipping of fish from this company with the permission of COLUMBO.

The following investigation was conducted on the basis of information previously furnished by BS 837-C* to the effect that a person from New York and a member of the New York family of La Cosa Nostra is engaged in demolition work at Goat Island (off Newport, R. I.).

CAR:po'b

Further, BS 837-C* said that PATRIARCA had gone to New York to see members at New York to make certain that this individual does not hire men from Boston, Mass., but hires the men from Rhode Island.

On 2/16/65, [redacted] AUSA, Providence, R. I., advised the following information had come to his attention:

[redacted] the Rockaway Boulevard Wrecking & Lumber Co. of New York [redacted] the Goat Island demolition project at Newport, R. I. for redevelopment purposes.

According to [redacted] the Redevelopment Agency at Newport, R. I., [redacted] was hospitalized about two weeks ago after suffering a minor heart attack and his brother, [redacted] the job in his absence.

It was also reported that more heavy equipment will be brought in to speed up the job which includes the demolition of about 100 buildings.

On 2/16/65, [redacted] City Clerk's Office, Newport City Hall, Newport, R. I., advised that on 6/17/64 the United States of America deeded over to the Redevelopment Agency of Newport, R. I. all embraces to Goat Island and two parcels of land comprising Fleet Landing on Long Wharf. This information is recorded in Volume 211, page 286, of the Land Evidence Book of Newport, R. I.

On 2/16/65, Capt. [redacted] (NA), Newport, R. I. PD, advised the Newport Redevelopment Agency, Newport, R. I., took over control and custody of Goat Island, Narragansett Bay, on 6/16/64. Further, he told SA [redacted] that the contract to dismantle the machines and buildings on the island had been awarded to the Rockaway Wrecker & Lumber Company, 3467 Hampton Road, Ocean Side, Long Island, N. Y., whose officers are:

[redacted] now staying at the Viking Hotel;

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 1/25/651

On January 20, 1965, a physical surveillance of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was conducted from Providence, Rhode Island to New York City, New York, and return on the same day. Travel was performed via the New Haven Railroad.

PATRIARCA left Providence, Rhode Island at 9:54 a.m. and arrived Grand Central Terminal, New York City, at 1:35 p.m. He immediately departed from the train and the station on foot. He left the station and walked north on Vanderbilt Avenue to 43rd Street.

Boston Agents discontinued the surveillance at this point as they were relieved from the surveillance by Agents from the New York Office, Federal Bureau of Investigation.

At 4:50 p.m., January 20, 1965, PATRIARCA was observed boarding the 5:00 p.m. train at Grand Central Station, New York City. He departed from the train at Providence, Rhode Island, at 8:30 p.m. in the company of JOE KIRK, whom he had met on the train from New York and with whom he sat during the trip. KIRK and two young men who met them at the front door of the station took PATRIARCA home in a 1963 Ford Convertible. He entered his home on Lancaster Street at 8:55 p.m.

By communication dated January 21, 1965, the New York Office advised as follows:

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA arrived at Grand Central Station, New York City, at 1:33 p.m. on January 20, 1965 aboard the New York, New Haven Railroad train #9, "The Mayflower." Subject departed from the train and proceeded via taxi to the Park Sheraton Hotel, 56th Street and 7th Avenue, New York City, arriving there at approximately 1:50 p.m. Subject departed from his taxi at the 56th Street entrance to the hotel, walked to 7th Avenue and down to 55th Street, where he entered the hotel via the 55th Street entrance. He remained in the hotel for several minutes and then proceeded west on 55th Street to D'Angelo's Restaurant, 252 West 55th Street, New York City, arriving at the restaurant at 1:54 p.m.

At 2:15 p.m., two New York Office Agents entered the restaurant and observed subject sitting at the bar in the restaurant alone at that time. At approximately 2:20 p.m., one man walked to the restaurant from 8th Avenue, entered, and joined subject. This man, UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1, is described as a white male, approximately 60 years of age, 5'11" tall, weighing 200 pounds, has gray hair, balding on top, but with strands of hair, prominent nose, full round face and well tanned. On entering the restaurant subject addressed this individual as [redacted] and told him, "one of the things he (subject) had to do is find out about the case (or your case) I have to talk to [redacted] then joined subject at the bar.

At approximately 2:25 p.m. a second individual, UNKNOWN SUBJECT #2, entered the restaurant. This person joined subject and [redacted] at the bar and is described as a white male, age 60, 5'9", 200 pounds, prominent nose, completely bald on the top of his head with gray hair cut very short around the edges. This individual was addressed as either [redacted]

Approximately two minutes later a third individual, UNKNOWN SUBJECT #3, entered the restaurant and joined subject and the other two individuals. This man, UNKNOWN SUBJECT #3, is described as 5'10", 170 pounds, full head of gray hair, sharp, pointed nose, pointed chin. On entering the restaurant this individual was also addressed as either [redacted] and agents state that while they cannot connect the [redacted] with either UNKNOWN SUBJECT #2 or #3, they feel one had one name and one had the other name. As UNKNOWN SUBJECT #3 entered the restaurant he suggested to the group that they move to the rear of the restaurant and eat. All four then retired to a table and proceeded to order and eat a meal.

Almost as soon as the meal was finished UNKNOWN SUBJECT #3 departed and left in a somewhat abrupt manner at approximately 3:06 p.m. This individual walked to 55th Street and 8th Avenue and south on 8th Avenue.

Subject departed from the restaurant at 4:12 p.m. and walked east to the intersection of 55th Street and Broadway where he entered an office building lobby and immediately turned around to watch all persons on 55th Street. After remaining here for several minutes he entered a taxi and departed from the area.

The surveillance of subject was discontinued at that time for security reasons.

At approximately 4:18 p.m., UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1, of whom identifiable photographs were also obtained, departed from the restaurant and proceeded to the Park Sheraton Hotel where in the lobby he met an unknown white female, described as age 30, 5'6½", 135 pounds, dark hair, medium length. UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1 and this girl had coffee in a drug store where they could look out the window and after approximately 10 minutes a 1963 black Oldsmobile bearing Massachusetts license X45 597, driven by an unknown male, appeared and UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1 and the female entered this car. (This car was later ascertained to be registered to SAM CUFARI of Springfield, Massachusetts. UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1 was also identified as being identical with SAM CUFARI.)

UNKNOWN SUBJECT #2 remained in the restaurant and departed at approximately 4:50 p.m., after which he was joined in the restaurant by an unknown white male who was driving a 1962 white Cadillac Convertible bearing New York license 1K3429, which arrived at the restaurant at approximately 4:40 p.m. New York Motor Vehicle Bureau records reflect this car registered to [redacted] also known as [redacted]

By communication dated February 2, 1965, the New York Office advised as follows:

RAYMOND PATRIARCA arrived at the Grand Central Station, New York City, at 1:30 p.m., February 1, 1965, aboard the New York, New Haven Railroad train 9, "The Mayflower." Subject departed from the train and, as usual, proceeded to the Park Sheraton Hotel, 56th Street and 7th Avenue, New York City, via taxi.

Subject was observed entering the Park Sheraton Hotel shortly after 2:00 p.m. An individual identified by the New York Office agents as SAM CUFARI, who is also identical with UNKNOWN SUBJECT #1, who was previously mentioned, was observed entering D'Angelo's Restaurant, 252 West 55th Street, shortly before 2:00 p.m. Subject proceeded from the Park Sheraton Hotel and entered D'Angelo's Restaurant shortly after 2:00 p.m. Two New York Office Agents entered the restaurant shortly after the subject and observed CUFARI and subject seated at the bar. As Agents entered they observed a man, who was identified as [redacted] New York City Police Department Number B 156714, removing his coat and then proceed to the bar to greet subject and CUFARI. The three then adjourned to a table at the rear of the restaurant. After approximately 15 minutes CUFARI and subject departed from the restaurant and walked to the intersection of 55th Street and Broadway where they entered a taxi.

[redacted] remained inside the restaurant until approximately 3:00 p.m. When he departed no surveillance was conducted of [redacted] for the reasons set forth above.

JERRY attempted to contact [] directly but [] told him it would not be wise to meet since [] recent arrest.

Arrangements were made for ANGIULO to send his associate [] to ascertain all details concerning his IRS investigation and his recent indictment by IRS for assaulting an undercover man of IRS.

ANGIULO related to PATRIARCA the details concerning his investigation and also the actions of IRS employees when the undercover man reported that he had been threatened in the North End section of Boston.

ANGIULO discussed the possibility of attempting to fix the Honorable Judge FORD, U. S. District Court, Boston, but decided against same inasmuch as "he's too old. If we get a younger fellow to intercede with FORD he would probably swallow the money." (If this were the case, the attempted fix would be of no value.)

ANGIULO had a lengthy discussion concerning the financial arrangements of the Indian Meadow Country Club, Westboro, Mass., the details of which are not pertinent to this investigation.

ANGIULO advised that he sent LARRY BAIONA to contact [] concerning the monies he is sending to TONY SANTANIELLO's [] each month. When TONY died several years ago he was instructed by PATRIARCA to send $250 a month to the [] and $250 a month to the [] without the knowledge of PATRIARCA, apparently reduced this amount of money to $125 a piece. PATRIARCA advised that several weeks ago he received word that [redacted] desired to see him but that he, PATRIARCA, refused to meet [redacted] under any conditions as he did not want to be seen "near those guys."

GRANITO advised that his Coliseum Restaurant was raided last week end. He had been tipped off prior to the raid by an unknown individual; however, the doorman allowed two undercover men in the restaurant where they were served after hours.

[redacted] of the Boston, Mass. PD entered the premises last Saturday and ordered several of the employees to appear before the Boston Licensing Commission. GRANITO was very perturbed because he has always taken good care of [redacted]

PATRIARCA told GRANITO that JOE BONANNO is probably in Italy. §

UNMAN received permission from PATRIARCA to file a libel suit against the "Boston Record-American" (the details of this libel suit were not known to the informant).

HENRY TAMELEO advised that he "grabbed the kid" and got the story. He called his man in New York and criticized him for making a promise that there was $1,250,000, which later dropped to $250,000, and is now $180,000. He told his contact that he did not even know the people, so that he should not have talked that way.

About six or eight months ago there was a "horse guy" involved and because of a telephone call he was tailed. He left the car and when he returned three or four hours later the stuff was still in the bumper of the car.

"PINKY" (PANARELLI of Worcester, Mass.) arrived with the stuff at approximately 12 noon. He (TAMELEO) had put his car down town.

TAMELEO stated that he got $107,000 from the [redacted] kid in Boston. He was supposed to meet him at the Statler Hilton yesterday but because of some activity there, the meet did not take place until later in the evening, at which time he got the $107,000."

He made an agreement with POWERS that he (TAMELEO) would "get him 10 but that he should understand that HENRY TAMELEO would take a piece of the 10." (Informant did not know whether the 10 meant $10,000 or 10%.)

TAMELEO made the statement that "this 107,000 is separate stuff." (Informant was unable to identify this stuff.)

TAMELEO further pointed out that [redacted] of New York could not move the stuff and that [redacted] was in Providence apparently awaiting the stuff to be delivered. He pointed out that [redacted] both of Syracuse, N. Y., were partners in this deal.

TAMELEO stated that the stuff will be delivered to the Donut Center in Rochester, N. Y. and that "We will not have to worry about receiving payment as the deal has been made."

The meet with [redacted] will take place at 9:00 a.m., 2/25/65.

From the above it appears there was actually $188,000 worth of "stuff"; $107,000 worth being obtained from [redacted] in Boston, the identity of whom is not known at this time. There was mention also of a score in Buffalo, N. Y., but the informant was not certain whether part of this above loot came from this score.

There was also mention of the name [] as being involved at one time in this deal, but the informant could not ascertain details concerning same.

The above information was furnished telephonically to Albany and Buffalo.

TAMELEO also mentioned an apparent swindle involving a contractor from East Greenwich, Conn. This contractor apparently desired some counterfeit money or express money orders. His contact was a [] (apparently from Providence, R. I.) [] commenced to work a swindle with this contractor with an individual named [] (PH). [] an associate of PATRIARCA, who also became involved in the swindle.

[] apparently became afraid to complete the swindle which he had started approximately three or four weeks ago because of [] involvement.

[] decided to pull out of the swindle as he is on nine years parole and thought that the contractor would run to the law after he was swindled of $25,000.

There was also another swindle concerning "stuff" of 29 different types with "his" or "her" names on it. The kids involved would get only 10%. (Informant did not know whether this stuff related to the [] score or some other swindle by [] and his group.)

[] was called into the office by HENRY TAMELEO and explained his position in the swindle of the East Greenwich, Conn. contractor. After a lengthy discussion, [] with the OK of PATRIARCA, decided to discard any further plans for the swindle because of his parole situation.

There was a lengthy discussion concerning the setting up of a business connected with the fish industry. It appeared that RAYMOND PATRIARCA eventually will have 125 shares allocated to him. The Atlantic Fisheries, [redacted] of the Fishermens Union, and the Portuguese fellow in Fall River (Mass.) are co-operating in this fish industry. (This probably relates to canning of fish, which was discussed previously.)

FUCILLO stated that he would get the necessary "zone" Massachusetts licenses.

PATRIARCA also indicated an interest in getting into the drag racing venture with [redacted]

There was mention by FUCILLO of somebody from Winthrop, Mass., who was to be taken for a ride from the Little Building in Boston; however, he, in turn, killed his two "would be" executioners. (Informant had no further details concerning same.)

On 3/4/65, [redacted] (LNU) attempted to interest PATRIARCA in loaning $3,500 to a politician in order to build property. PATRIARCA refused, stating he preferred to stay clear of politicians.

UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA and stated he had brought down [redacted] and another individual (who was later identified as JOE BARBOZA from East Boston, Mass.) It appeared that [redacted] Boston hoodlum, was giving orders to [redacted] to "hit this guy and that guy."

RAYMOND appeared infuriated at [redacted] giving such orders without his clearance and made arrangements to meet [redacted] and BARBOZA in a garage shortly thereafter. He pointed out that he did not want [redacted] or BARBOZA contacting him at his place of business.

GENNARO J. ANGIULO contacted PATRIARCA on 3/5/65. ANGIULO discussed a case in which a "kid was picked up." JERRY sent [redacted] to the kid to act as his attorney. He told [redacted] to immediately ask for a hearing before the United States Commissioner in order to ascertain where the information came from. USC FRANCIS H. FARRELL, Boston, refused to grant the hearing immediately. He pointed out that FARRELL "wouldn't take a quarter."

In connection with his own case relative to the "assault and battery on an IRS agent," ANGIULO stated that it would be impossible to get to a Federal Judge; however, he is making efforts to get next to Judge FORD's [redacted] one of whom is [redacted]. He conducted investigation relative to both the Negro and [redacted] and found out that [redacted] is not the type of individual who could be bribed, and consequently he is going to stay away from [redacted]. He is still making inquiries concerning the Negro law clerk but, as yet, has not completed his check on the Negro.

A lengthy discussion took place concerning LARRY BAIONE, La Cosa Nostra member of Boston, having a 20% piece of [redacted] (PH).

[redacted] of Springfield, Mass. apparently put in a "beef" that BAIONE was getting a piece of [redacted] and sent for BAIONE. BAIONE went to Springfield, Mass. and contacted [redacted] in SAM CUFARI's absence. BAIONE denied knowing that the Springfield group had also a piece of [redacted].

On the basis of this, JERRY told BAIONE to discontinue accepting 20% from [redacted]. JERRY did suggest, however, that [redacted] get a piece of [redacted] and in order to facilitate the takeover of the 20%, he, JERRY, called in [redacted]. He told [redacted] had taken a bunch of numbers as layoff action from Franklin, Mass. and that he had no business doing so.

It appeared that [redacted] cut the price of layoff numbers and JERRY indicated to him that if he continued this practice there would be trouble. He suggested to [redacted] that he would forget the [redacted] deal but suggested that he should take into his operation an individual who is in close contact with JERRY and would be able to advise him as to what he can do and what he cannot do concerning the numbers operation.

[redacted] apparently went along with JERRY and a meeting is set up between [redacted] and BAIONE so that BAIONE can take a piece of [redacted] operation.

According to JERRY, LARRY BAIONE gets $1,000 a month from [redacted] in connection with his operation.

During the discussion JERRY indicated that he obtained the information concerning the layoff of Franklin numbers through [redacted] a booking agent of ANGIULO's. [redacted] in the Massachusetts State Police, who is a contact of ANGIULO's.)

JERRY also complained about a woman who is taking numbers and horse action. The woman owes a considerable amount of money as she has not been turning it in to the pickup man.

The name of [redacted] of Revere, Mass. was mentioned, as well as FRANK CUCCHIARA, in connection with this operation. It appeared that both CUCCHIARA and [redacted] owned a portion of the woman's gambling business.

ANGIULO got the "OK" from PATRIARCA to put pressure on CUCCHIARA who, in turn, would put pressure on the woman so that they could collect the $6,000 or $7,000 that she owes.

It also appeared that JERRY ANGIULO had originally furnished this "batch" of numbers to CUCCHIARA so that he could derive a living from same. Since the time CUCCHIARA took it over, ANGIULO and PATRIARCA have received only approximately $3,600 a year, and they do not believe it is worth all the aggravation.

CUCCHIARA indicated to ANGIULO that he would have the man who collects the numbers make sure he gets the money from the woman.

ANGIULO gave PATRIARCA $4,637, part of which came from the following operations: $787 to [redacted] from the barboot game; $500 to [redacted] from the club; $440 also to [redacted] for another gambling operation (not indicated).

ANGIULO did not indicate where the remaining portion of the money came from. He did, however, state that $5,000 is coming in from Milford, but he has not received it yet. [redacted] owes $1,107, but he has not been able to pay it because he had a $1,500 "hit."

ANGIULO was told by [] of Revere, Mass. that two Feds were living at the Fenway North Motel watching the joint and desired to know whether HENRY TAMELEO had any interest in this location in Revere, Mass.

PATRIARCA indicated that TAMELEO did have a piece of the Ebb Tide night club but did not know whether he was interested in any operation in or near the Fenway North Motel.

ANGIULO told PATRIARCA that [] was with JOE BARBOZA when he, BARBOZA, killed JACKIE FRANCIONE in Revere, Mass. several months ago. It appeared that [] Boston hoodlum, had ordered the "hit." PATRIARCA again became enraged that [] had the audacity to order a "hit" without RAYMOND's knowledge.

PATRIARCA told ANGIULO that he explained to [] that he was to tell [] that no more killings were to take place unless he, PATRIARCA, cleared him.

JERRY explained that he also had a talk with [] He pointed out that PATRIARCA has a high regard for [] but that he, PATRIARCA, thought that [] did not use sufficient common sense when it came to killing people.

ANGIULO gave [] a lecture on killing people, pointing out that he should not kill people because he had an argument with him at any time. If an argument does ensue, he should leave and get word to RAYMOND PATRIARCA who, in turn, will either "OK" or deny the "hit" on this individual, depending on the circumstances.

[] indicated to JERRY that "WIMFY" BENNETT has an extremely high regard for both ANGIULO and PATRIARCA and that he, BENNETT, would do anything for ANGIULO or PATRIARCA.

JERRY pointed out that BENNETT has been with them a long time and that he was glad to hear BENNETT's sentiments.

According to PATRIARCA, another reason that [] came to Providence to contact him was to get the "OK" to kill EDDIE DEEGAN of Boston who was "with []" Top 10 Fugitive. It was not clear to the informant whether he received permission to kill DEEGAN; however, the story that [] had concerning the activities of DEEGAN in connection with his, DEEGAN's, killing of SACRIMONE was not the same as JERRY ANGIULO's.

HENRY TAMELEO told ANGIULO and PATRIARCA that he received a call a few nights previous and immediately went to Revere, Mass. to meet Mayor PETER JORDAN and an unknown person. It appeared that [] has two Jewish individuals, one of whom is a lawyer, and both partners in a meat business in Chelsea, Mass., who desire to sell $91,000 in $1,000 bills.

TAMELEO questioned [] as to the origin of this money. [] pointed out that the Jews were in the meat business and accumulated this money during the early 1940's. JERRY indicated he would buy this money for 80% of its value; that he would take it, put it away, and "slip one or two in at a time." HENRY TAMELEO advised that he will recontact [] and ascertain whether they can purchase the above-mentioned money.

Upon questioning by ANGIULO, HENRY TAMELEO stated that [] had burglarized [] brother's house. ANGIULO was quite antagonized with [] and indicated there might be some repercussions.

[] of Worcester, Mass. at this time entered. TAMELEO told him that he had sent back the GE telephone and Zenith stocks to New York as he could not get rid of them. [] apparently knew nothing of same. TAMELEO told him that "FINKY" PANABELLI had these stocks but he, TAMELEO, was unable to move them.

On 3/8/65, [] indicated to PATRIARCA that [] (all phonetic) had cut him out of $7,000 on the deal and that they had taken an innocent man's life. There was mention of counterfeit money, but the informant was not able to ascertain details of same.

[redacted] of Providence, R. I. advised that [redacted] (LNU) apparently had an argument over a gambling operation. [redacted] was probably in Florida at the time.

[redacted] stated that he had a piece of the book of [redacted] at the horse tracks at Miami, Fla. and that they beat one customer for $80,000. [redacted] stated he, himself, had lost approximately $30,000 and [redacted] had also lost a considerable amount on his own betting.

[redacted] stated he had been in contact with [redacted] and that they had a very interesting deal for PATRIARCA.

It appeared that a casino in Las Vegas (probably named the New Frontier) had been purchased by a syndicate who were willing to lease the gambling operation of the casino out for $1,200,000 per year. The gambling operation would cost $5 million and [redacted] indicated that they would have to get up one quarter of a million dollars.

According to [redacted] is backed by [redacted] and that a meeting was to take place in two weeks between [redacted] PATRIARCA and [redacted] in order to iron out all the details concerning the purchase of this operation.

Tentative agreements have been made whereby [redacted] and [redacted] would take 10 points each and that the other points would be sold with a maximum of three points to any individual.

PATRIARCA, JOE KIRK and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI discussed the racial situation. PATRIARCA feels that the Negroes should be given the right to vote, but they and white sympathizers should not be allowed to make a battleground out of a place like Selma. He believes the Negroes should be educated and that they are making many demands without trying to help themselves.

RAYMOND stated that he has lived among Jews for 36 years and never has encountered any prejudice. He believes that there is no prejudice on his part because of the fact that the Jewish people with whom he deals are educated.

[redacted] Providence, R. I. hoodlum, told RAYMOND that they (apparently referring to the police) were in the joint last night. They asked [redacted] how RAYMOND, apparently a nice man, could be involved in all the things that are credited to him. He told him that RAYMOND would jump into a cage full of lions "before he would hurt anyone." They told [redacted] that the next time something happens in Providence, R. I. they will pull up a police wagon and empty PATRIARCA's place of business of all thugs and hoodlums hanging around.

On 3/17/65, SAMUEL GRANITO furnished PATRIARCA $1,450. Informant did not know the reason for furnishing PATRIARCA this money.

PATRIARCA advised he was interviewed by police the day previous. He pointed out that they had questioned him concerning his associations with [redacted] who was seriously wounded by gunshots on Monday, 3/15/65.

PATRIARCA was perturbed that the police knew [redacted] had contacted him. He denied, however, ever seeing [redacted] and pointed out that many customers visit his place of business and he does not know all of their identities, nor does he talk to everyone that enters the business establishment.

After a lengthy discussion it was agreed by GRANITO, and later by HENRY TAMELEO, that [redacted] had talked too much when he returned to Boston after speaking to PATRIARCA.

It should be pointed out that the Boston PD had learned of [redacted] visit to Providence through an informant (probably one of the [redacted] brothers of Roxbury, Mass.).

GRANITO stated that [redacted] had had an argument with [redacted] and was speculating as to whether or not [redacted] was responsible for the murder.

It should be pointed out that information from informants indicate that [redacted] definitely was not responsible in any way for the shooting of [redacted]

A lengthy discussion took place concerning a [redacted] who apparently "took" somebody in Somerville, Mass. for ten grand. [redacted] owes PATRIARCA $12,000. PATRIARCA instructed GRANITO to tell [redacted] to bring the money to JERRY ANGIULO.

It appeared that [redacted] when he heard that this individual from Somerville, Mass. was "taken for" ten grand, attempted to see GRANITO and JOHNNY (possibly WILLIAMS) concerning the "beef." Being unable to contact them, he discussed it with [redacted] who, in turn, discussed same with GRANITO.

According to PATRIARCA, someone "took" $80,000 from some people around Worcester, Mass. and ANGIULO is inquiring into the matter to ascertain who was responsible.

[redacted] South Boston, Mass., contacted GRANITO recently and stated that he had ascertained some information which might be of interest to GRANITO around Christmas time. He made an effort to locate GRANITO at the Coliseum towards the end of December, but was unable to make the contact. Informant did not know what the information was, but it apparently was connected with information received (probably from some PD source of [redacted]) in connection with either a gambling operation or the after-hours joint which GRANITO owns.

PATRIARCA indicated that he had received a call from New York and was instructed to proceed there last week. Because of the "heat" in New York, PATRIARCA did not proceed there. He told the New York group that he was not going to visit New York until the "heat" was over for he feared the issuance of a subpoena to him there.

PATRIARCA advised that he has a "beef" involving [redacted] JERRY ANGIULO, and JOSEPH LOMBARDO, and they are coming down to see him concerning this "beef." Informant did not have the details of same.

Two UNMEN entered and GRANITO was introduced as a capo regime. The conversation took place in Italian, the results of which will be set out later.

JOSEPH KRIKORIAN and PATRIARCA discussed the Berkshire Downs Race Track. PATRIARCA is perturbed with "the Jew" stating that they have too many on the payroll there. PATRIARCA stated that "the Jew" talks too much and has got to be dismissed.

PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO and [redacted] (PH) have a lengthy discussion concerning an individual who comes from Centerdale, R. I. but who is now up in Maine. This concerns a "batch" for which the individual apparently paid $5,000 in front and $15,000 in back. His own father considers him no good. (Informant was unable to ascertain the details concerning this.)

TAMELEO told PATRIARCA that he was contacted by SA [redacted] in connection with the burglary of the [redacted] estate in Milton, Mass. during the past week. According to TAMELEO, he was asked to furnish information to the FBI concerning this theft if same came to his attention.

It should be pointed out that TAMELEO was asked by PATRIARCA what REPPUCCI wanted him for. TAMELEO never made any mention of money being offered to him to act as an informant and did not appear too concerned at the contact. TAMELEO told PATRIARCA that he knew nothing concerning this theft and did not indicate whether he would inform the FBI if knowledge came to him concerning this matter.

PATRIARCA stated that the Rhode Island State Police and the Providence, R. I. PD are fighting with one another. He said the Rhode Island State Police knew [redacted] was in his place last week but HENRY claimed that [redacted] was talking too much in Boston, Mass. concerning this visit.

PATRIARCA then discussed his recent meetings in NYC and claimed that the leak is definitely in NYC "as we know we are secure here."

PATRIARCA advised that [] owes him (not identified) $75,000. "The Jew" went to see [] but PATRIARCA did not know the results of this contact.

According to TAMELEO, [] told his brother that if anything happened to him that [] was going to avenge him.

The load would be stolen at 7:00 p.m. one night and driven immediately to Providence, R. I.; thereafter, the truck would be returned, either to the garage from which it was stolen or in the immediate vicinity of same.

According to TAMELEO, the sets are all Consoles.

Consistent with the complete security of BS 837-C*, you should make whatever inquiry is necessary, if any, and advise the Bureau the identity of the business in Old Orchard Beach, Maine, reportedly [redacted] (phonetic), which was a matter being considered by Patriarca as reflected by your airtels of 3/16 and 23/65.

It is possible that hoodlum activity designed to take over this business might result in a violation of law for which prosecution could be entertained. For this reason, your office should be alert for any further information in this regard.

BS 837-C* advised that HENRY TAMELEO and UNMAN discussed being "all set for the job" (which apparently referred to a burglary in which they would use a "shot gun" type of tool). They expected a "take" of $20,000 and those involved would be TAMELEO, [redacted] (LNU), [redacted] and [redacted] (PH). (Informant was unable to ascertain any further details concerning same.)

HENRY TAMELEO asked RAYMOND about an individual named [redacted] (PH) who was formerly an inmate at Massachusetts State's Prison with PATRIARCA. [redacted] allegedly killed a Chinese girl in Reading, Mass. many years ago and now owns a business (probably a night club and juke box business) in Old Orchard Beach, Me. This business is under [redacted] daughter's name. [redacted] has a partner in these businesses by the name of [redacted] (PH) from Centerdale, R. I. PATRIARCA advised he remembered this individual and regarded him as smart and being "OK." He had the idea that he was a professional man, probably a doctor at one time.

TAMELEO proposed that they buy [] out of his interest in these businesses and, thereafter, put the pressure on [] and probably "win" all of the business.

PATRIARCA did not know [] but stated he would find out about him and let TAMELEO know what plans they intend to carry out in this regard.

HENRY TAMELEO is angry at some unknown individual who had pushed him out of a deal involving "99 pieces" (probably jewelry). [] bought them for $8,000 and HENRY was of the opinion that he could have made $25,000 on the deal. HENRY said that he went to [] Buck Wagon to make the deal but dropped out of it when they saw something of a mike in the car.

HENRY TAMELEO and PATRIARCA then discussed a money "beef" between [] of Boston, [] (INU) and his brother []. According to the informant [] is now in Miami and was associated with SAMMY GRANITO. PATRIARCA stated that he would contact GRANITO and let TAMELEO know concerning this "beef."

HENRY TAMELEO also discussed the possibility of moving in on the juke box business in Revere, Mass. [] the late LOUIS FOX, is apparently connected with the juke box business and has been having financial trouble. He owes [] $5,000 to $6,000 and has made no effort to pay him back.

PATRIARCA told TAMELEO that LOUIS FOX's [] is no good as he told the FBI that PATRIARCA was trying to move in on the cigarette vending machine business.

On 3/31/65, BS 837-C* advised that HENRY TAMELEO asked permission for ROMEO MARTIN of Boston, Mass. to burglarize the home of a man who married a millionairess. This woman allegedly has $100,000 in jewelry in a hide, and ROMEO was not sure whether the man she married was in any way connected with PATRIARCA. This man had been in trouble with IRS and settled the case for a large amount of money.

TAMELEO told PATRIARCA that JOSEPH BARBOZA of East Boston, Mass. had asked him to ascertain whether a [redacted] (PH), who is from a town believed to be Suffolk, N. J., located 10 miles north of Philadelphia over the Camden Bridge, was in any way connected. TAMELEO called that fellow in Camden, N. J. (name unknown to the informant) in order to ascertain if [redacted] has any connection. The fellow in Camden, N. J. is checking [redacted] out and will notify TAMELEO of the results in a few days.

When PATRIARCA asked why BARBOZA was interested in [redacted] TAMELEO told him that he, BARBOZA, is very friendly with a [redacted] who is in the automobile financing business. [redacted] $60,000 and asked BARBOZA to collect this money from [redacted] "any way he can."

PATRIARCA told TAMELEO that if [redacted] is not connected, it would be alright for BARBOZA to accept the job.

-A [redacted] whose home telephone number is Jackson 1-0631, contacted PATRIARCA. He had just returned from California where he met "all the mob," including SINATRA. [redacted] was interested in buying some sort of a recording device.

On 4/1/65, JOSEPH KRIKORIAN advised that [redacted] the Lincoln Downs Race Track, has property at Ocala, Fla. consisting of approximately 400-500 acres. [redacted] is looking for "show money" and desires that some legitimate person buy this property from him "on paper."

[redacted] explained in detail an interview by a "Fed" while in Miami Beach concerning his gambling activities and acquaintanceship with the various hoodlums in Florida. [redacted] apparently refused to answer any questions concerning his acquaintances and stated that he was merely a bettor at Florida race tracks. This "Fed" was particularly interested in his acquaintanceship of [redacted] denied knowing him.

[redacted] also advised that while in Florida he met Judge PAOLINI of Rhode Island. The Judge was looking for a table at the Fontainebleau the last night FRANK SINATRA was appearing there. [redacted] arranged to have a table reserved for Judge PAOLINI and took care of the tab.

[] also advised PATRIARCA that he was offered the Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut territories for the distribution of TV juke boxes. The company is being backed by FRANK SINATRA and DEAN MARTIN, in addition to top hoodlum [] of Philadelphia and other top hoodlums not known to the informant. They are presently forming a corporation and are issuing 500,000 shares to be sold at $4 a share.

At this point HENRY TAMELEO of Providence, R. I. entered and they discussed in detail the operation and distributorships being offered by this company.

[] stated that they should obtain the services of a good front man and are to operate this business in the three New England states.

[] stated that PATRIARCA will obtain 50% of the net profit and the remaining portion will be distributed between the legitimate operator [] and HENRY TAMELEO.

PATRIARCA was of the opinion that it was a sound financial investment, pointing out that they will probably have to put up $50,000 to $60,000 for the purchase of these machines to be placed in various cafes and night clubs. PATRIARCA indicated that more details concerning this financial investment would have to be obtained before a final decision is made.

On 4/2/65 no pertinent activity took place.

On 4/5/65, [] of Providence, R. I. discussed his gambling losses with PATRIARCA during the past two or three months while in Florida. PATRIARCA told him that he intended to visit NYC on two different occasions during the past two months but because of "the heat in New York" he refused to attend the meetings.

[] told PATRIARCA that WILLIE MARFEO of Providence, R. I. had threatened to kill [] brothers inasmuch as he thought that the brothers had placed a bomb in his [] car. in connection with your request regarding feasibility of monitoring BS 837-C* at a different location, the following should be taken into consideration with respect to the technical aspects of your inquiry.

The Laboratory has perfected a device which is currently available for the remote control switching of misurs such as BS 837-C*. While remote control switching of this installation can be accomplished technically, the following factors would be involved if existing misur coverage of Patriarca were to be monitored at the central plant of the Boston Office:

1) Running a microphone conversation over long telephone lines necessarily increases the number of points at which telephone servicemen have access to the line, and therefore correspondingly increases the possibility of accidental or intentional discovery of the installation (since microphone sounds are distinctive, easily recognized and not normally present on telephone lines).

2) Any disruption of the long telephone lines would not only interrupt our microphone coverage but could result in inability to restore subject's telephone service, resulting in a telephone service complaint by the subject.

Unless the Bureau is in a position to promptly detect any such malfunction and promptly remove our equipment from the subject's line, a check by telephone company personnel could readily uncover our installation and compromise our investigative technique.

In view of the above, the security problems inherent in having our coverage of BS 837-C* monitored over long telephone lines make it inadvisable to monitor the Patriarca reason for this is that AUSA [] was "out snooping around" the North End section of Boston.

Informant also advised that ANGIULO is of the opinion that EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT and [] are "stool pigeons." He advised that shortly after [] was released on bail he contacted LARRY BAIONE at the El Morocco night club requesting that he, BAIONE, get in touch with him, ANGIULO, immediately for a meet with []. ANGIULO met with [] that night at the El Morocco a few hours after closing time and after taking many precautions not to be observed meeting [].

[] told ANGIULO that BENNETT is a "stool pigeon" because anything that happens the law immediately knows about it if it involves "WIMPY."

He pointed out that [] of the Boston PD were both subpoenaed to New York in connection with $100,000 worth of phony money orders and testified before the Grand Jury hearing this case recently.

[] also told him that [] obtained $1,500 from the sons of the owner of [] in Park Square, Boston, Mass., for disposing of the body of a girl killed by the []. According to [] the brothers killed the girl because of her involvement with the father. In order to dispose of the body they called [] and gave him $1,500 to accomplish same. [] removed the body to another room in the same building and, thereafter, left. Shortly thereafter the Boston Police entered the building ostensibly on a search for stolen material and found the body of the girl. The only one who could furnish them such information, according to []

After the conversation with [] JERRY immediately summoned [] and swore him to secrecy. He told him that [] and his brother over the week end of 4/3/65.

At 12:30 a.m., on 4/3/65, [] rushed in to JERRY's place of business and demanded to see JERRY. When JERRY appeared, he blurted out that [] had tried to kill "WIMPY" at his house, but missed. He added that "WIMPY" was very thankful to ANGIULO for warning him of the possible "hit."

JERRY became incensed that [] did not maintain his confidence and told "WIMPY" of the possible hit. The more [] attempted to defend himself "the deeper he got with JERRY." He finally admitted that he was very friendly with Det. [] of the Boston PD.

[] also told JERRY that three shots were fired at "WIMPY" BENNETT as he left his house. He, BENNETT, was armed and was able to fire back. One of the assailants of BENNETT rode off in a car and the other went off on foot.

[] also admitted that TOMMY CALLAHAN and [] both of Boston, had requested his assistance in killing [] asked for compensation he was allegedly sent to [] noted Boston bookmaker.

It should be noted that other sources reflect that a meet was set up between [] or [] of the Boston PD.

ANGIULO also stated that apparently shortly after the [] the Boston Licensing Board contacted ANGIULO concerning some card game, the details of which were not known to the informant. During the course of this conversation [] asked specifically as to what type of fellows the [] brothers are as they were trying to move on []

JERRY told CALLAHAN that they were "not bad kids." CALLAHAN replied that [] is going to back away from them.

Informant also advised that ANGIULO stated that [] told him that [] had stated that the "guineas down the North End" had given [] and the [] faction $500 to keep going.

[] was very perturbed that the North End group, which consisted of ANGIULO and his associates, would furnish funds to [] ANGIULO also told PATRIARCA that when "WIMPY" was shot he called [] of the Boston PD and was unable to immediately get in touch with him. He did leave his name and number requesting that [] immediately contact him.

This, according to ANGIULO, is listed on the complaint form at headquarters. It appeared that ANGIULO might have obtained this information from [redacted] Detective, Boston PD, who contacted him on 4/7/65.

From [redacted] he ascertained that [redacted] had reported to his superiors that he had proof that ANGIULO and his group were inciting the gang war. [redacted] was very critical of [redacted] and told him that [redacted] went to NYC together in relation to the $100,000 worth of phony American Express Co. money orders five or six months ago.

HENRY TAMELEO, who was also present, made reference to the meet between PATRIARCA and BENNETT sometime ago. The only individuals who knew of the meet were PATRIARCA, BENNETT and TAMELEO. Shortly after the meet, many individuals in Boston, as well as the law, were aware of the meet.

PATRIARCA made the statement that he had told ANGIULO sometime ago that BENNETT was not to be trusted and said that this bears him out.

Concerning [redacted] PATRIARCA stated that he has not been able to form an opinion relative to [redacted] because of the fact that he has only met him once. He did indicate, however, that he did intend to summons [redacted] to Providence concerning the gang war in Boston.

ANGIULO also stated that LARRY BAYONE had contacted TOMMY CALLAHAN concerning the attempted assassination of CALLAHAN. CALLAHAN went in to detail concerning this and is of the firm opinion that [redacted] is his assailant.

Informant also advised that ANGIULO spoke of a large debt owed by [redacted] (PH) who runs a supply house and resides in Melrose, Mass. The amount of the debt was $384,000. However, [redacted] has paid back $84,000, leaving a balance of $300,000.

There are indications that the Worcester, Mass. group, namely [redacted] and "FINNY" PANARILLI were involved in this loan.

On 4/9/65, UNMAN told PATRIARCA that there was a score in Providence, R. I. of $50,000. Informant could not ascertain whether the score was being contemplated or had already been made; however, the "FBI got a hold of it" and questioned the man in New York. The man is an acquaintance of PATRIARCA's brother, JOE, and apparently, during the questioning, indicated that he was friendly with PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA emphatically denied any association with this individual and indicated that he would "put the man in the hospital."

However, they believe that if [redacted] this track it would be much easier for them to obtain the interest of others to invest in this track.

PATRIARCA asked KIRK what he thought of obtaining a legitimate loan from [redacted] in connection with his [redacted] business, the [redacted] business.

KIRK told him that [redacted] claims his money is all tied up. He pointed out it cost him $200 a week just to pay the rent for his girl friend, and further, he spent over $25,000 in Florida.

On 4/14/65, TEDDY FUCILLO and UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA. FUCILLO had just returned from a trip to Europe with [redacted] of Somerville, Mass., [redacted] and (FNU) [redacted]. One of the men met a friend of PATRIARCA's while in Europe and [redacted] (PH). 41.5

FUCILLO gave PATRIARCA $2,000. (the reason for same is not known to the informant). He also arranged to meet [redacted] on 4/15/65 at Badways Garage. 41.5

They discussed the murder of [redacted] but neither appeared to have any knowledge of who was responsible for the murder.

PATRIARCA told FUCILLO to put the property in Waterville, Me. in his, FUCILLO's, name.

It appeared that PATRIARCA might have $5,000 invested in this enterprise.

[redacted] of Worcester, Mass. contacted PATRIARCA, apparently on PATRIARCA's request. PATRIARCA expressed great dissatisfaction on the manner in which the Indian Meadow Country Club (IMCC) of Westboro, Mass. is being operated. PATRIARCA stated he has $56,000 to $60,000 invested in this club and, in addition, his friend [redacted] of Providence, R. I. has $200,000 invested.

MASS

PATRIARCA criticized [] for not selling the IMCC when they had an offer of $400,000. [] explained that he was told by JERRY ANGIULO that the price of this club was $550,000 and, for this reason, he, [] refused the offer of $400,000.

[] stated that he contacted [] at the Worcester Merchants National Bank who agreed to loan [] $400,000 to purchase the IMCC, providing that the money be repaid in five years. [] wanted a 10-year mortgage and, as yet, has not accepted the offer of the five-year mortgage loan.

[] stated that he sent to PATRIARCA the sum of $10,000. PATRIARCA became incensed and stated it was only $3,000. [] pleaded with PATRIARCA to be given an opportunity to continue running the IMCC, pointing out that the reason for the failure thus far of this club was due to the actions of JERRY ANGIULO. When ANGIULO went in to voluntary bankruptcy it cost the club $160,000 more than it should have.

PATRIARCA told [] that he did not care what happened to the club, but the only thing he was interested in was obtaining his original investment back. He ordered [] to contact ANGIULO and make arrangements to settle this matter.

Investigation, Portland and Old Orchard Beach, Me., reflects Chequinn Corporation, [redacted] Winchester, Mass. florist, [redacted] in 1963 applied for liquor license at Tide Inn Hotel Cocktail Lounge, East Grand Ave, Old Orchard Beach, Me. The town council denied the license and the owners applied for a writ of mandamus to issue license through State Supreme Court Justice [redacted] Portland, Me. Public testimony against the issuance of the license indicated HENRY MC CUE, father of ARTHUR MC CUE, one of the officers in the Chequinn Corp., had been convicted for rape in Massachusetts in 1931 and sentenced to 15-20 years; also convicted of abortion in 1941 and sentenced to two years.

Testimony further indicated RICHARD GABRIEL, one of the interested parties, had been indicted but never convicted for bookmaking.

Newspaper accounts of the hearing indicate the Old Orchard Beach Council was accused of being arbitrary and some of its members of refusing the license to avoid competition in their own business operations.

Justice TAPLEY, after three days of hearings, ordered granting of victulars license and liquor and entertainment license to the Tide Inn Cocktail Lounge, unless the town should elect to appeal to the State Supreme Court, but found evidence to warrant denial of such licenses to the Barn, another Old Orchard Beach establishment in which the same parties were interested.

The newspaper articles indicate the Old Orchard Beach Town Council agreed to give the Chequinn Corp. a victulars license and to approve an entertainment permit for its Tide Inn Hotel Cocktail Lounge on 7/6/63.

News articles in the morgue of the Portland, Me. Press Herald indicate victulars license issued in 1964 and State Liquor Commission approved sale of liquor at the Tide Inn Hotel Cocktail Lounge. Interested parties were indicated to be CHARLES ANDERSON of Old Orchard Beach, Me., RICHARD GABRIEL and ARTHUR MC CUE, President of the Chequinn Corp.

Applications by Chequinn Corp., [redacted] for license of the Tide Inn Cocktail Lounge was tabled by the Old Orchard Beach Town Council on 4/12/65 to 4/26/65. A victulars license application for the same establishment by [redacted] was previously tabled by the Town Council until 4/26/65.

Reurlet 3/31/65, in captioned matter.

The Laboratory has reviewed the details of captioned installation and because of the peculiar nature of the technique employed, will make an on-the-scene survey to determine the parts necessary to effect the remote control installation requested in referenced letter. Accordingly, Supervisor [redacted] will arrive Boston, via Eastern Airlines Shuttle, 9:13 A.M. Tuesday, April 13, 1965, to review, in detail, cable prints and to discuss installation possibilities with the sound trained personnel of your office and established contacts with [redacted]

If it is not possible to set up the contacts with the appropriate officials on April 13, the Bureau should be advised.

NOTE: Relet recommends transferring the present monitoring plant from St. Margarets Home for Working Girls to the Providence Resident Agency and requests Laboratory assistance in effecting the move. The Special Investigative Division concurs with Boston's recommendation. The Laboratory has developed special equipment for such an installation, however, there are certain unique technical problems to be overcome in effecting this move. Because of these unusual problems, an on-the-spot survey is considered essential.

As a result of the review of relet and also a survey conducted by me on 3/30/65 at Providence, R.I., the following is my recommendation:

It is agreed that an attempt to run this source [redacted] would increase the possibility of accidental discovery and in the operation of the source and therefore it appears inadvisable to attempt to monitor this source in [redacted]

It is recommended that this device which has been perfected by the Laboratory be installed in connection with this source at the earliest possible time. A survey reflects that this source could be monitored with [redacted]

-- No. 1 - We would not have to continue monitoring this by the use of one agent per day? We would, therefore, be able to utilize this agent on investigative activity. No. 2 -- The source could be monitored by an approved clerk and the cost to the Bureau in this operation would be at least half the cost of an agent's salary. With the extremely high caseload in the Providence RA, the addition of one agent per day would enhance greatly the opportunity to perform the Bureau's work and to show more accomplishments as a result of our work.

BS 837-C* advised on 4/15/65 that HENRY TAMELEO advised PATRIARCA that the Ebb Tide nightclub, Revere, Mass., is getting to be too much of a hangout for the hoodlums in the Boston area. TAMELEO, who has a financial interest in this club, has advised all the hoodlums to stay out of the club until such time as the "heat is off."

He advised that [redacted] who is employed at the club, approached him one night last week and told him that two kids who were hanging around the club, namely, [redacted] and (FNU) [redacted] had "cased a score" involving furs. The score was in a business location in downtown Boston. After hearing the facts TAMELEO advised [redacted] to tell the kids not to attempt this score as it would be too dangerous.

He later learned that these two individuals borrowed [redacted] car and pulled the score. He asked [redacted] why his instructions were not carried out.

[redacted] advised that the two individuals were told not to pull the score but that they apparently got drunk and borrowed [redacted] car to effect the robbery. When they threw the furs in the car a witness observed same and noticed that it had a parking tag on the car.

Investigation was immediately conducted and the car was stopped in East Boston, Mass. shortly after the robbery. The car contained two of the subjects, [redacted] and [redacted] and, through investigation, numerous furs and jewelry were recovered.

Because of the above, HENRY TAMELEO is not assisting the individuals involved in any manner.

TAMELEO also advised that (LNU) [redacted] (PH) set up a score of jewelry from individuals who lived in the same apartment as [redacted]. The location of this robbery is not known to the informant. Allegedly there is $150,000 worth of jewelry, but when TAMELEO observed them he stated the jewelry was not worth more than $3,000 or $4,000 and would not purchase same.

On 4/16 and 18/65, no pertinent activity took place.

[redacted] had viewed Public Safety Department, Dade County, Florida Photograph No. 01357.

[redacted] described the second male only as "younger than the first man," 5' 10", slim build, black hair and of Italian extraction.

[redacted] said she could possibly identify the first individual if she saw him again, but not the second.

[redacted] further observed photographs of HENRY TAMELEO (Pawtucket, R.I. PD No. 8497-2), COSMO PANARELLI (born 4/1/20, Worcester, Mass.), [redacted] (NYSF No. [redacted]) but did not recognize any of those as possibly identical with either of the two individuals previously mentioned who stayed at the Mohawk Motor Inn.

A photograph of [redacted] was not displayed to [redacted] inasmuch as Buffalo is not in possession of one. It is noted that Albany advised Boston by airtel 3/19/65, in the case captioned, [redacted] aka; AR" (Albany 92-102), that a photograph of [redacted] was being obtained and would be furnished to Boston.

Albany advised Boston by communication dated 3/29/65, that [redacted] had been previously reported as traveling into the Boston and Buffalo Divisions on numerous occasions. Albany further advised that a highly confidential source of the Syracuse, N.Y. PD, who is closely aware of [redacted] daily activities, had no information indicating the presence of [redacted] in Syracuse, N.Y., from 10:30 AM, 2/23/65 through 8:30 AM, 2/27/65. It was determined, also by that source, that [redacted] were in contact with [redacted] at Syracuse, N.Y., 2/22/65, or early 2/23/65, and further that [redacted] was in contact with [redacted] during the period 2/20-22/65, and again between 2/27-28/65.

Boston by communication dated 3/30/65, advised that Rhode Island registration XX 349 had apparently been issued 1/27/65 to [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island.

Files of the Rhode Island Bureau of Criminal Identification, Providence, Rhode Island, and files of the Providence PD, contained no record of [redacted]

On 3/25/65, a check of the Providence Credit Bureau revealed a record concerning [redacted] wife [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island, as of July, 1964; formerly of [redacted] and [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island.

The credit record revealed that as of July, 1964, [redacted] was employed at [redacted] Washington Street, Providence, Rhode Island, and formerly employed by the [redacted] in Providence, as of February, 1964. Prior to that he worked for [redacted] in Providence.

When [redacted] left the employ of the [redacted], he owed the company money and the [redacted] has recently been making inquiries regarding him. [redacted] obtained a loan from a local bank, July, 1964, in the amount of $3,000 and in November, 1964, he still owed $2,675. The most recent inquiry on him was from a local bank, 2/5/65.

A lead was set forth in re Buffalo airtel 3/10/65, to the effect that if an identification was made, of the individuals who stayed at the Mohawk Motor Inn, to consider interview of those individuals to determine whether they may have been involved in the murder of DOMINICK RICHARD ALLOCO. Because investigation has not substantiated the possibility that the [redacted] who stayed at the Mohawk Motor Inn, Rochester, N.Y., on the nights of 2/24, 25/65, might be identical with [redacted] who possibly were in Rochester on 2/25/65, no interviews are being considered at this time.

Because Boston is Office of Origin in this case, and because the information initially received in this matter was obtained through a Boston highly confidential source, Buffalo is leaving it to the discretion of Boston as to whether further identification of [redacted] the owner of Rhode Island automobile registration XK 349 is necessary, and whether this individual's name should be furnished to the NYSP at Rochester, in connection with the [redacted] who left the Mohawk Motor Inn without paying their bill and thereby defrauding an innkeeper. It is noted this amount is $12.00 and would be a misdemeanor only. It is felt that Buffalo could appropriately disseminate that information to the NYSP, without jeopardizing the confidential source in this matter, and no mention would be made of individuals other than [redacted] and [redacted].

Albany is requested to furnish a photograph of [redacted] so that Buffalo may display it to [redacted] at the Mohawk Motor Inn for a possible identification.

On 4/26/65, BS 837-C* advised that [] (probably []) told PATRIARCA that he is attempting to get additional members on the Executive Board of the International Hod Carriers Common Laborers Union of America.

According to [] they intend to get five of the seven positions on the Executive Board and thus be able to control the union.

SAM (probably CUFARI) contacted PATRIARCA relative to the Indian Meadow Country Club (IMCC). Informant advised that PATRIARCA told CUFARI that some individuals (names not mentioned) were to place a downpayment on this club but inasmuch as he has not seen ANGIULO for the past two weeks he does not know whether the sale was actually consummated.

In order to sell the club they had to repurchase the stock from the Doctor and paid him $40,000, $10,000 of which was "under the table."

According to PATRIARCA, both he and JERRY have over $400,000 in this club and the only thing he desires is to get out of the operation without losing any money. He blamed the FBI for causing the failure of this club, and pointed out that the lawyer was a brother of the Doctor and had talked to the FBI concerning their interest in the matter.

It should be pointed out that CUFARI had indicated to PATRIARCA that someone told him that the Feds knew PATRIARCA was financially interested in the IMCC. PATRIARCA suggested that they do not know as a matter of fact but they only surmise same.

PATRIARCA was very critical of ANGIULO and pointed out that he had lost a considerable amount of money - so much so that it has put him back 10 years financially in both the IMCC and the Berkshire Downs Race Track.

SAM stated that an individual (whose name the informant was unable to ascertain) brought [redacted] (IRS employee) to Worcester, Mass. recently (apparently in connection with JERRY ANGIULO's assault case on an IRS undercover man).

CUFARI advised that [redacted] Boston, Mass., former USA, Boston, was to be contacted by another UNMAN in connection with this assault case. [redacted] according to SAM, might cooperate because he is looking for a federal judgeship.

It was not clear to the informant how [redacted] was involved in this matter and, therefore, no dissemination is being made at this time until the informant is able to furnish more details in this matter concerning this possible fix.

The possible purchaser, according to PATRIARCA, of the IMCC was one [] who had a hock shop around the Bradford Hotel, Boston. PATRIARCA used to sell him "swag" many years ago. After a discussion, it was finally agreed that the individual who probably would purchase the club was actually [] with many other individuals.

PATRIARCA told SAM that he was supposed to go to a meeting about a month ago in New York. However, the meeting was called off.

PATRIARCA again resumed conversation concerning ANGIULO's assault case. He said it is being handled by Judge FORD who is a "very fair Judge," and CHARLIE CURRAN, who is defense attorney for ANGIULO, desires to check the background of the IRS undercover man.

PATRIARCA stated that [] from Connecticut knew the individual and arrangements have been made for [] to travel to Providence, R. I. to contact CURRAN and discuss the matter.

HENRY TAMELEO advised that he is going to Hartford relative to a $400 loan obtained by an individual who opened the "Chicken Coop," location unknown.

TAMELEO also advised that he had sold sunglasses to a [] a friend of JERRY ANGIULO, for $3,700. He also sold 14 cases of these sunglasses, which consisted of 9800 pairs, to an individual who owns some stores in NYC.

On 4/27/65, PATRIARCA advised [] DANNY (LNU) (possibly RAIMONDI) that [] had stolen 25 typewriters last Saturday night from the St. Mary's school. PATRIARCA ordered DANNY to return the typewriters as the Bishop was screaming. He was very critical of [] for stealing typewriters from a school.

[] (LNU) desires to ascertain from PATRIARCA what position he should take in running against other people for election in the union (the identity of which was unknown to the informant). [] is attending a meeting in this regard in Washington, D. C. in the near future. [] has been active in the union for 20 years.

[] received permission from RAYMOND to run against those people (identities unknown).

On 4/28/65, LOUIS TAGLIANETTI told PATRIARCA that some stocks and bonds have been put up for some unknown deal as collateral. A person (unknown to the informant) told TAGLIANETTI to contact RAYMOND and have RAYMOND contact [] regarding these stocks and bonds as partial payment. PATRIARCA stated there are two people he does not talk to and one of them is []

PATRIARCA would not have anything to do with [] "even for $30,000."

[] and an unknown female have to go to Washington where JOSEPH VALACHI is supposedly scheduled to be cross-examined.

According to PATRIARCA, [] knew all about this and [] is going to Washington to ascertain the facts surrounding same.

On 4/29/65, DANNY RAIMONDI advised that an individual named [] is building 30 houses in Newport, R. I. According to [] from Cleveland brought RAYMOND's name into a conversation at a meeting between [] DANNY, JERRY (possibly ANGIULO) and [] allegedly told [] from New York had called RAYMOND to straighten out some "beef."

RAYMOND was extremely upset at [] for making his allegations to [] and DANNY, but there were indications that PATRIARCA might also have an interest in these 30 houses.

BS 837-C* advised that on 4/20/65 no pertinent information was obtained.

On 4/21/65, SAMUEL GRANITO of Boston, Mass. contacted PATRIARCA. He furnished PATRIARCA an unknown sum of money. GRANITO stated that PETER CASETTA, who was recently murdered, had no connection "with the boys," meaning La Cosa Nostra members. GRANITO stated CASETTA was killed for holding out on two other guys (whose names were not mentioned).

PATRIARCA told GRANITO that [redacted] had contacted him relative to a possible "peace settlement" between the [redacted] groups. PATRIARCA was in complete agreement with [redacted] that it would be impossible for him to enter in to a peace settlement with the [redacted] group as they could not trust the [redacted] brothers.

PATRIARCA told GRANITO that when [redacted] is gotten rid of the situation should straighten itself out. U.S.A.

PATRIARCA also advised GRANITO that "WIMPY" BENNETT is a "stool pigeon" for Det. [redacted] of the Boston PD. He added that [redacted] told PATRIARCA that he first came in contact with "WIMPY" BENNETT through Det. [redacted]. [redacted] told him that when he was released from jail he was tailed by law enforcement authorities inasmuch as they ascertained that members of the [redacted] group were waiting for him outside the jail with shotguns. Det. [redacted] within the jail and told him that the [redacted] group were outside ready to kill him. [redacted] told PATRIARCA that he told [redacted] that he did not want a police escort to Boston from the Walpole Correctional Institution, but [redacted] demanded that he be afforded the protection. MASS.

A short time after this episode [redacted] was contacted by Det. [redacted] and asked to meet him in a restaurant. When [redacted] arrived at the restaurant [redacted] introduced him to BENNETT and, thereafter, left. Because of this, they are sure that BENNETT is a "stool pigeon" for [redacted].

GRANITO advised that [redacted] Boston hoodlum, had contacted him in relation to a loan owed by a [redacted] (PH). MASS.

GRANITO had inquired into this loan and told [redacted] that [redacted] will pay back $100 a week until the loan is paid.

GRANITO also advised that [redacted] was at his place of business, the Coliseum, the previous Saturday. GRANITO observed that [redacted] was carrying a gun and took the gun away from him while he was at the Coliseum. MASS.

GRANITO told PATRIARCA that MIKE ROCCO of East Boston, Mass. is a good friend of [redacted] the Suffolk Downs Race Track. MASS.

GRANITO also advised that former [redacted] of the Boston PD was recently appointed head of the Police Department of the MBTA, a local transportation company. Because of this they expect that Lt. [redacted] of the Boston PD will be appointed permanently to the position of [redacted] of the Boston PD. In the event this does occur they feel they will be able to operate more freely. On 4/22/65, two UNMEN contacted PATRIARCA relative to an electrical union, the identity of which the informant did not know. It appeared that there was a motion to take additional men into it by another unknown individual named [] (LNU). Many of the members were not in agreement to take on additional members. He discussed in detail his payments from 12/64 to 4/65, when apparently the club was sold. During this time he took in approximately $17,000 and explained to PATRIARCA the amount of disbursements made by him which totalled $17,000.

It appeared that ANGIULO had questioned the honesty of [] PATRIARCA appeared satisfied at [] explanation of this operation, but was somewhat angry at the fact that someone had mentioned him, PATRIARCA, as being involved financially in this club.

He instructed [] to make sure that the word was put out indicating that PATRIARCA had no interest whatsoever.

[] RONALD CASSESSA and JOSEPH BARON, aka Joseph Barboza, contacted PATRIARCA. [] told PATRIARCA that a [] (PH) and two other kids had killed PETER CASETTA over an argument involving $9. They all agree that the killing was not a reasonable killing because of the amount involved, and that he, CASETTA, should only have been given a severe beating.

[] indicated they are considering installing a telephone tap on a telephone of an individual who is closely acquainted with []. Through this telephone tap they hope to ascertain various movements of [] and use this information in an effort to line [] up for a hit.

Informant was unaware as to the location of the telephone tap.

[] in discussing the shooting of EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT by [] told PATRIARCA that BENNETT on leaving his house was shot at by [] missed BENNETT. The getaway car was driven by [] upon hearing the shots, approached the front of the house thinking that BENNETT had been killed. In doing so, he placed his car in a position so that BENNETT was in between both [] and thus they are unable to kill BENNETT (probably because of cross fire).

It appeared also that [] when he saw BENNETT still alive, became frightened and left [] in the vicinity of the attempted killing.

[] then ran from the scene and went directly home. Shortly thereafter he was picked up by the Boston Police and brought to headquarters for questioning.

[] and his associates then obtained a stolen car and a getaway car and positioned themselves in the vicinity of the Boston Police Headquarters waiting for [] to come out so that they could kill him. They waited there for several hours but [] left the police station without their knowledge, apparently by a side or rear door.

PATRIARCA questioned [] specifically about his association with Det [] of the Boston Police. FLEMMI avoided the question and entered into the above discussion concerning the stolen car and getaway car in front of the Boston PD.

PATRIARCA did not repeat his question concerning his association with []

It should be noted that PATRIARCA, according to the informant, was concerned with [] being a "stool pigeon" for []

[] also mentioned the fact that [] had referred to the Italian element (including members of La Cosa Nostra) as "guineas." PATRIARCA became enraged and stated that [] was moving too fast and should have been killed.

[] made the statement at this point that if he ever runs in to [] he will finish him off.

PATRIARCA gave his permission for this in the event circumstances permit.

[] who was recently released from State's Prison, has joined up with the [] group and three other individuals not named.

[] also advised that they are having a problem with [] Apparently [] (PH) in the operation of the old Dudley Lounge in Roxbury, Mass. They are catering to the Negroes and are pushing a lot of dope at this location.

Because of this, there is much heat by local law enforcement in this vicinity.

[] made the remark that he might have to burn the place down in order to eliminate law enforcement heat so that they can operate their business beside the Dudley Lounge without police interference.

[] was of the opinion that EDWARD "PUNCHY" MC LAUGHLIN, who was recently arrested for shop lifting in the Brockton, Mass. area, was only doing so to establish an alibi for something that was going to happen at the time he was arrested.

PATRIARCA then made the statement that EDWARD MC LAUGHLIN has always been the individual who made the snowballs and had others fire them.

[] also went in to detail concerning the shooting of THOMAS CALLAHAN, which information was previously submitted by the same informant.

[] also stated that he contacted [] an associate of former top 10 fugitive [] in an effort to set up [] for a hit. [] told him that she had not seen [] for 14 or 15 days and that she was not having anything more to do with him.

[] advised that he ascertained from another individual that as soon as he finished talking with [] she immediately contacted [] and told him of the above conversation.

[] who is recovering from gunshot wounds, has a 65 year-old man named [] "riding shotgun" with him all the time. [] spends a considerable amount of time at his farm in Maine, which consists of either 300 or 600 acres.

There was also a discussion about an unknown individual who apparently is booking at the local race tracks. This individual was having trouble laying off some of the bets and requested assistance from PATRIARCA for the layoff of these bets. PATRIARCA told them to get in touch with [] brother from New Bedford, Mass. who would accept all the layoff action.

BARBOZA and CASSESSA then left the room.

[] and PATRIARCA then discussed "WIMPY" BENNETT. [] explained that he has not made any money from "WIMPY" BENNETT but will use him until such time as [] is knocked off. When this does occur, he, [] will get away from BENNETT.

It should be noted that on the same evening, 5/3/65, [] was shot at and seriously wounded outside of his home in Dorchester, Mass. He was ambushed and received seven gunshot wounds.

According to information from other informants, he was ambushed by [] and EDDIE MC LAUGHLIN.

[] according to informants, is of the opinion that he hit one of the three when he fired back at them.

Informants also indicate that [] might have been hit by one of [] bullets and is in need of medical assistance.

PATRIARCA, in the above discussion, also indicated animosity towards BENNETT. He stated that he assisted BENNETT greatly during the early 1950's, with "FAT JOHN" BUCCELLI, but that he, BENNETT, has never given PATRIARCA any money from any of his illegitimate activities.

For information of all offices, a FGJ in SDNY is presently receiving testimony concerning the captioned matter. In connection with this investigation by the GJ leaders of various NY and Newark "families" of "La Cosa Nostra" have been subpoenaed in the past.

On April 6, 1965, during a conference between SAC WILLIAM M. ALEXANDER and USA [redacted] SDNY, it was pointed out to the USA that on several occasions in 1964 and 1965 meetings were held at D'Angelo's Restaurant and Patsy's Restaurant, both New York City, between RAYMOND PATRIARCA, THOMAS LUCHESE and other individuals. USA felt that since these meetings could be substantiated to some degree by Agent testimony and photographs, this would provide an excellent avenue for the issuance of subpoenas for LUCHESE, PATRIARCA, STEVE MAGADDINO and CARLO GAMBINO;

On 5/5/65, UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA. He advised that he had been contacted by an unnamed truck driver who desires to sell a load of cigarettes containing approximately 850 cases. According to UNMAN, the price would be $1 per case.

PATRIARCA points out that it must be a mistake as they are worth much more than $1 a case. According to PATRIARCA, the price is probably a dollar a carton, which is still an excellent price.

PATRIARCA apparently is afraid of this setup and warned UNMAN that his experience in truck thefts in which there is a giveaway has been that the driver eventually talks and implicates the purchaser of the cigarettes.

He tells UNMAN to obtain an individual who is unknown to the truck driver and make arrangements with him to buy the load. In this way, once the load is received the truck driver could not identify the purchaser or be able to ascertain where the cigarettes were taken after he turned same over.

PATRIARCA told UNMAN to keep him informed of further details regarding this matter.

HENRY TAMELEO of Providence, R. I. contacted PATRIARCA that JOSEPH LOMBARDO of Boston had told TAMELEO that he received information to the effect that JOSEPH BARON, aka JOSEPH BARBOZA, RONNIE CASSESSA, and [redacted] had gotten the "OK" to kill [redacted] of Revere, Mass. The reason for the killing was that [redacted] who was collecting the loan shark debts of [redacted] is now on the side of the [redacted] group and has furnished them a considerable amount of money so that they may continue their efforts to kill various individuals of the [redacted] group.

TAMELEO was questioned specifically by PATRIARCA and claimed he did not know the source of LOMBARDO's information. He did say that LOMBARDO told him, TAMELEO, to immediately contact JOE BARBOZA and [redacted] and instruct them to forget the hit on [redacted] as "he is connected with one of our group."

TAMELEO made efforts to contact both [redacted] and BARBOZA but was unsuccessful in doing so.

BS 92-118

LOMBARDO also instructed PETER LIMONE of Boston, Mass. to contact [] and tell him to forget the hit on []

PATRIARCA told TAMELEO that [] was down a few days ago and had asked permission to kill [] PATRIARCA told [] that he would check to ascertain whether [] in fact, did give money to [] who is one of the more prominent individuals in the [] group.

If PATRIARCA's check reflected that [] did in fact "bank roll" the [] group, he (PATRIARCA) would furnish the "OK" to kill him.

A lengthy discussion took place wherein JOE LOMBARDO was very perturbed because CASSESSA and JOSEPH BARBOZA were associating with the [] brothers; and further, that information had been put out to the effect that BARBOZA was with [] when they killed EDWARD DEEGAN.

LOMBARDO is concerned that the Italian group, because of BARBOZA's and CASSESSA's actions, might be drawn in to the [] feud. Because of this, LOMBARDO told BARBOZA and CASSESSA to stay away from []

PATRIARCA told TAMELEO that [] of Connecticut had contacted SAUL FRIEDMAN and furnished him a lot of information relative to VALACHI's possible testimony. He claimed that [] told him that VALACHI, according to the lawyer (name unknown) would testify that he did not know RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA regarding the possible setup of a "sucker" for a crap game. This probably relates to the same information as set out above.

PATRIARCA agrees to the setup and UNMAN intends to place same into operation in the immediate future.

UNMAN advised [] of Connecticut is very concerned about his impending federal trial involving gambling charges. [] is of the opinion that someone is going to testify against him, but he is not aware of the identity of this individual.

UNMAN stated that [] is probably one of the biggest bookmakers in Westerly, R. I.

There appeared to be no connection between [] and PATRIARCA.

According to PATRIARCA, he has nothing whatsoever to do with any unions and that the only individual he knows who was associated with unions is []. He further pointed out that SAUL FRIEDMAN probably has a financial interest in the spinning mills.

PATRIARCA refused to assist UNMAN in any way.

It should be pointed out that on 5/7/65, BS 837-C* advised that this contract dispute had been settled.

On 5/7/65, no pertinent activity took place.

On 5/10/65, THEODORE FUCCILLO, Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA and furnished him an unknown amount of money. PATRIARCA requested that FUCCILLO contact [] who is operating the late LOUIS FOX's interests at Revere Beach, Mass., and tell [] to contact PATRIARCA.

FUCCILLO advised that [] son is going to run for the office of Mayor of Revere, Mass. He feels that if [] son is elected they will be able to control Revere.

HENRY TAMELEO, [] and UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA concerning a swindle [] and UNMAN are perpetrating. It appears they have an individual who is a heavy bettor placing bets through [] on various horses on Massachusetts tracks. They are attempting to develop the victim to such a point that he will bet $9,000 or $10,000 on one race. At this point they intend to pay off the jockey who is a friend of theirs and have him pull the horse. In this way, having not actually bet the money, they will be able to make $9,000 or $10,000.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA and TAMELEO concerning the theft of a truck load of cigarettes. The individual who is driving the truck is the same individual who stole [] car and was "grabbed" in Massachusetts for this crime. This individual has a brother []

The driver approached UNMAN and offered him a load of cigarettes.

After a lengthy discussion, PATRIARCA and TAMELEO both felt that the driver would not stand up and would talk to the FBI if enough pressure was put on him.

They advised UNMAN to stay away from the truck driver and have nothing to do with the proposed theft of cigarettes.

explained that when JOHNNY WILLIAMS was first made a member of La Cosa Nostra (LCN) he was in bad financial straits. PATRIARCA moved in on [] lottery business and gave WILLIAMS a portion of [] business. He does not know whether WILLIAMS still has a piece of this business. If he has not, [] can take the insurance business from []

It also appeared that SHERMAN might print the tickets for [] because PATRIARCA suggested that he would be able to get the tickets printed but did not indicate the name of the printer.

PATRIARCA explained to TAMELEO that he had never given a direct approval of a "hit" on []. He told [] that as far as he was concerned it would be "OK" to kill [] however, he would want to check first prior to the time the "hit" was made to insure that none of their friends were involved with []

Because of the intervention of JOSEPH LOMBARDO, the "hit" was nullified.

JOE BARBOZA, RONALD CASSESSA, and HENRY TAMELEO contacted PATRIARCA. They again discussed the "hit" on [] and PATRIARCA explained his conversation with [] BARBOZA explained that [] was the individual who told [] Boston Attorney, that [] was on the "hit" parade with instructions for [] to tell [] [] then went to his associate, JOSEPH LOMBARDO, Boston LCN member.

JOE BARBOZA requests permission from PATRIARCA to kill some unknown person. This person lives in a three-story house but BARBOZA has never been able to line him up to kill him. BARBOZA told RAYMOND that he plans to pour gasoline in the basement part of the house and set it afire and thus either kill the individual by smoke inhalation or fire, or in the event he starts to climb out a window, BARBOZA would have two or three individuals there with rifles to kill him as he started to step out a window or door.

Upon questioning by PATRIARCA, BARBOZA said that he had planned to cut the telephone wires so that the individual could not call for assistance and also to ring false alarms in other sections of the city so that the engines could not respond quickly.

He also explained that the third floor apartment was vacant but the first floor apartment was apparently occupied by the intended victim's mother. This apparently caused no concern to BARBOZA who stated it was not his fault that the mother would be present, and he would not care whether the mother died or not.

PATRIARCA told him that he did not think it was a good idea to effect the killing in the above manner and attempted to dissuade BARBOZA from this type of killing as innocent people would probably be killed.

It was not clear to the informant whether BARBOZA accepted PATRIARCA's objections, but PATRIARCA indicated very strongly against this type of killing.

BARBOZA advised that he is associating with [redacted] both of East Boston, Mass., but he did not want them associated with the above killing.

On 5/14/65, UNMAN discussed a forthcoming election of the Laborers Union in Providence, R. I.

It appeared that this group was attempting to obtain more representation within the Union, but the informant did not know the details of same.

On 5/25/65, UNMAN, who has an apartment on 59th Street, NYC, contacted PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA told UNMAN that he has not been to New York for some time because of the "heat" by law enforcement there.

UNMAN discussed generalities with PATRIARCA which are not important to this investigation.

On 5/26/65, PATRIARCA told UNMAN that JERRY ANGIULO has been in Florida but he expects to see him very soon. UNMAN stated that the fellow JERRY used in the stock deal was a legitimate individual and never even showed capital gains in his tax returns. Re Boston airtel, 5/13/65, captioned "Raymond L. S. Patriarca, aka, AR."

Referenced airtel advised concerning information received from BS 837-C* to the effect that [redacted] of Providence, Rhode Island, advised Patriarca, New England "boss" of La Cosa Nostra, that [redacted] had met "Joe Stutz" in Boston with Joe Lombardi (Lombardo). The individual referred to by [redacted] is quite likely Tortorici. Lombardo is a highly placed influential member of the Patriarca "family," possibly holding or having held the rank of "consigliere."

The most recent report from New York in this case, dated 9/30/64, spells out rather definitely that Tortorici was involved in labor racketeering actively in connection with construction at the New York World's Fair site as well as being active in policy and shylocking in the East Harlem area. In view of this, this case should be reopened and actively and vigorously investigated in order to cover the racket activities of Tortorici.

Head of the Lincoln Downs Race Track, is holding 49% of the stock of the Berkshire Downs Race Track. 24½% of this stock belongs to PATRIARCA and his associates.

PATRIARCA is of the opinion that KIRK is attempting to form some type of a swindle and he is not in accord with the plans of KIRK in obtaining the $100,000. He pointed out that their "beef" is with B. A. DARIO and that the new owners of the track should not be contacted.

DANNY RAIMONDI and several UNMEN contacted PATRIARCA relative to the Goat Island project. PATRIARCA gave them instructions to give the names of individuals who received $1,800 from the sale of copper from this project in Newport, R. I. He claimed that the New York company who is handling the demolition expected protection from PATRIARCA and his associates. Apparently they are not receiving this protection.

On 5/21/65, UNMAN told PATRIARCA that [redacted] of Boston, Mass., operator of Sportsday Weekly, is paying $400 a week to the law. No further information was obtained relative to this by the informant.

[redacted] of Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA with [redacted] advised that one of his associates in the carnival business was questioned concerning the beating of [redacted] Paragon Park, Nantasket Beach, Mass., last summer. [redacted] pointed out to PATRIARCA that only he (PATRIARCA), DANNY RAIMONDI and himself knew of the beating of [redacted] suggested that possibly JOHNNY CANDEIMO of Providence, R. I. overheard a conversation concerning the beating of [redacted] and told somebody who, in turn, told the FBI. He added that there definitely was a leak in regards to this situation.

It will be recalled that BS 837-C* was aware of this information and that the Boston Office furnished the information anonymously to the Metropolitan District Police (MDP), indicating that there would be a holdup of [redacted] at Paragon Park, Nantasket Beach. A surveillance was instituted by the Metropolitan District Police and they observed DANNY RAIMONDI and another individual in the car in the vicinity of Paragon Park. They stopped RAIMONDI and, after questioning him concerning his activities in the Park, released him. When RAIMONDI reported same to PATRIARCA, PATRIARCA issued instructions that they cancel their plans for breaking [redacted] legs.

A lengthy discussion took place concerning possible leaks of this information. PATRIARCA stated that he ascertained that the Metropolitan District Police had received information to the effect that a holdup of [] had been planned and thus conducted the surveillance which resulted in the stopping of DANNY RAIMONDI. He stated that CANDELMO did not know of the plans to beat [] and he is positive that it was as a result of the information furnished the police concerning the holdup.

He pointed out that the FBI received the information from the Metropolitan District Police after RAIMONDI had been picked up and questioned by the police.

[] (LNU) told PATRIARCA that [] (FNU) had borrowed $29,500 from the late LOUIS FOX of Revere, Mass. [] had paid off this note to [] who, in turn, gave it to LOUIS FOX. After FOX died the attorneys located the original note for $29,500 made out to [] and told him that he must produce the $29,500. [] told the lawyers who represented [] that he had returned the $29,500 to LOUIS FOX, but they are still pressing for repayment of this loan.

[] will probably be elected Mayor of the City of Revere. If this does happen, [] is of the opinion that the city again will open wide and that he, PATRIARCA, will be able to control the City of Revere. MASS.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

RE: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
ANTI-RACKETEERING

A microphone surveillance has been in operation in the subject's place of business, Coin-O-Matic Distributing Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, since March 6, 1962. Patriarca is a long-time member of La Cosa Nostra and for several recent years has been the leader of that group in the New England area.

Our coverage has revealed Patriarca's high position and influence in organized crime in the New England States as well as throughout the country. It has also disclosed information concerning corrupting influence with law enforcement and other public officials on the part of Patriarca and his subordinates. The source has consistently furnished a large volume of valuable criminal intelligence data.

Unless you instruct to the contrary, this microphone surveillance will be continued for an additional six months.

Respectfully,

#9. (continued)

This informant for the past three months has furnished a considerable amount of information concerning the [] brothers feud with [] of Somerville, Mass. This feud has resulted in the direct or indirect killings of approximately 20 individuals, and it appears that [] is marked for assassination.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA has given "his OK" for the killing of []

PATRIARCA was consulted by [] concerning a possible "peace" between these two groups. PATRIARCA agreed with [] should not enter into a peace agreement with the [] associates as they could not trust the [] brothers of Charlestown, Mass. who are associated with []

It should be noted that informant also advised that [] and EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT had contacted PATRIARCA in relation to this feud. BENNETT, according to the informant, is believed by PATRIARCA to be a "stool pigeon" for Detective [] of the Boston, Mass. Police Department and is possibly also marked for assassination.

#17 (continued)

This informant advised daily of the activities of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and most of the people who contact him regarding criminal activities in the Providence, R. I. and Boston and Worcester, Mass. areas.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

RE: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
ANTI-RACKETEERING

A microphone surveillance has been in operation in the subject's place of business, Coin-O-Matic Distributing Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, since March 8, 1962. Patriarca is a long-time member of La Cosa Nostra and for several recent years has been the leader of that group in the New England area.

Our coverage has revealed Patriarca's high position and influence in organized crime in the New England States as well as throughout the country. It has also disclosed information concerning corrupting influence with law enforcement and other public officials on the part of Patriarca and his subordinates. The source has consistently furnished a large volume of valuable criminal intelligence data.

Unless you instruct to the contrary, this microphone surveillance will be continued for an additional six months.

Respectfully,

J. Edgar Hoover

JUNE 8 1

This memorandum recommends that the Attorney General be requested to authorize continuance of the microphone surveillance in Patriarca's office at the Coin-O-Matic Distributing Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

Patriarca is a long-time member and currently the New England area "boss" of La Cosa Nostra. He also may be a member of the "Commission," the nationwide ruling group of La Cosa Nostra, and is known to definitely have been a member of this group during a period in the past. Our coverage at this location was effected March 6, 1962.

Since this source began, it has consistently furnished voluminous criminal intelligence data. During the past six months, the microphone surveillance has continued to report information concerning many facets of La Cosa Nostra operation in the New England area as well as New York and other places. In addition, considerable detail has been furnished concerning the gangland feud between the [redacted] groups in Boston which, during the past year, has resulted in many murders in that city.

There is no prosecutable violation against subject in existence and this microphone should provide information which will aid in development of live informants and sources who can be used to develop a prosecutable case separate and apart from the microphone.

ACTION:

It is recommended that the attached memorandum be forwarded to the Attorney General requesting him to authorize continuance of the microphone surveillance of the subject.

BS 837-C* advised on 6/11/65 that UNMAN was concerned with the telephone company employee working on a pole in the vicinity of his home, which is located near PATRIARCA's place of business. UNMAN inquired of the telephone employee why he spent so much time on the pole during the day. The employee told him that because of the storm they had a considerable amount of repairs to make, but UNMAN did not believe him. He thought that they might be putting a tap on his house. J

Another UNMAN told PATRIARCA that the new owners of the Indian Meadow Country Club are making money. PATRIARCA could not understand how [redacted] the club for them, had lost so much money during the past two years.

UNMAN told PATRIARCA that he had contacted JOSEPH "PUPPY DOG" MOLICONE in an effort to obtain a legitimate loan of a thousand dollars to re-enter the booking business. "PUPPY DOG" refused the loan but stated he would furnish same if he obtained the "OK" from PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA refused to "OK" the loan, either verbally or as a co-signer, using as an excuse the IRS investigation of PATRIARCA.

[redacted] paid RAYMOND an unknown amount of money. [redacted] Restaurant, wanted to borrow additional monies from [redacted] but PATRIARCA told him not to loan any money to him as he owes everyone.

[redacted] told PATRIARCA he would like to take over the booking operation which is in bad financial straits. PATRIARCA gave his permission.

[redacted] (LNU) contacted PATRIARCA with [redacted] present. They discussed [redacted] the latter being a friend of [redacted] owed him a substantial amount of money and that he collected a large amount on some bet, but refused to pay [redacted] stated it was not [redacted] who collected the money on the bet but [redacted] who paid off other debts that [redacted] agreed to contact [redacted] and have him pay so much a week to [redacted]

JOSEPH KRIKORIAN told PATRIARCA that the individual who is interested in purchasing his, PATRIARCA's, interest in the Berkshire Downs Race Track had just gotten out of the hospital and is still interested in this purchase.

RAYMOND was very critical of [redacted] the Campanella and Cardi Construction Co. inasmuch as [redacted] the Berkshire Downs Race Track. PATRIARCA instructed KIRK to contact [redacted] and arrange for the return of his, PATRIARCA's, stock so that he can sell same. The track broke even during their last meet for the first time since it commenced operation. PATRIARCA, because of this, feels that it might be worth maintaining a financial interest in.

[redacted] (LNU) told PATRIARCA he had some stolen stocks and wanted some advice as to how to get rid of them. According to the informant, some of these stocks are Pabst Blue Ribbon stock, plus three other unknown corporations.

PATRIARCA pointed out that dealing in stolen stocks is very dangerous and, further, that the stocks may be worthless. He warned the individual of identifying these stocks to anyone by serial number. [redacted] did not have the serial numbers.

RAYMOND stated that if he is lucky he might realize $500 from them, but the best thing to do with them is throw them in the owner's mailbox and forget about them.

HENRY TAMELEO told [] that he had three bonds, the coupons of which are worth $5,000 a piece, but he could not get rid of them. He said that some time ago he had $107,000 in stolen stocks and took them to Rochester, N. Y. The stocks were forged by an expert and still HENRY TAMELEO could not dispose of them. He pointed out that the only stocks that are of any value are bearer stocks and bonds.

In Rochester, N. Y. HENRY had a connection with a banker who was "hungry for the stocks." The banker attempted to put them through the bank but had to "back off."

HENRY told [] that he should have an intermediary approach the owner to purchase the stocks back. The name of JOSEPH PATRIARCA was mentioned as an intermediary but they decided against using an intermediary.

HENRY instructed [] to write out a description of the stocks and he would see an individual in Boston in an attempt to dispose of them.

[] told LOUIS TAGLIANETTI that he had warned RAYMOND PATRIARCA about the individuals hanging around Coin-O-Matic. [] described them as all "stool pigeons" who would sell their own grandmothers. LOUIS told PHIL that he had also warned RAYMOND about these "stool pigeons" and pointed out to him that his, RAYMOND's, office is not soundproof and that the guys hanging around out front could hear everything RAYMOND has to say. He told RAYMOND that he should kick everyone out of the front office of Coin-O-Matic.

BS 837-C* advised on 6/15/65 that [redacted] Providence, R. I., discussed various bids with PATRIARCA. He has decided to collect $300 from four or five contractors which they would use (apparently for payoff purposes).

[redacted] stated that he received a call from a colored fellow who controls the Union in Pittsburgh, Pa. The colored fellow asked [redacted] to come back to Pittsburgh where they can make a lot of money in the demolition business. [redacted] told the colored fellow that he was not interested in the work at the present time.

[redacted] (LNU) contacted PATRIARCA concerning the coming elections in the Laborers Union, Local 271, Providence, R. I.

It appeared that PATRIARCA's name was brought in to the election by the President, HAROLD E. COIA who is being opposed by PAUL DE FALCO. PATRIARCA is very critical of COIA for bringing his name in to the elections. He pointed out that he had nothing whatsoever to do with the Union or with PAUL DE FALCO.

UNMAN, who possibly owns a brokerage house in the Worcester, Mass. area, told PATRIARCA that he has in his employ one [redacted] who formerly worked for the Worcester County National Bank for 33 years. This individual works in the front office (possibly in their Brockton, Mass. branch).

One of the individuals employed in this brokerage firm made $60,000 in March on commissions alone and $75,000 in April. The name of this firm is possibly the Norfolk Brokerage Company.

One of the employees, a [redacted] made a big hit in the stock market. He purchased stock under an assumed name and never declared the taxes on this large profit. [redacted] of Boston is also involved in this and he [redacted] has a side deal whereby he makes $25,000 a month.

UNMAN wants to contact JERRY ANGIULO in order to shake down these individuals.

UNMAN, who apparently operated a cafe in Worcester, Mass., told RAYMOND that the Alcohol, Beverage Control (ABC) investigators caught two girls discotheque who were only 19 years old. Because they were underage the ABC contacted the Worcester, Mass. PD who are bringing the owners before the Worcester Licensing Board.

UNMAN contacted [redacted] of the Worcester PD who said he would look into the matter. PATRIARCA told UNMAN to see [redacted] who would be able to fix it with the Worcester, Mass. PD.

JERRY ANGIULO contacted PATRIARCA with another individual concerning a boat sold by this individual to someone in Rhode Island and when the person in Rhode Island obtained the boat he immediately resold it and failed to pay the seller.

BS 920118

After hearing the facts in instant case PATRIARCA issued instructions for the Providence buyer to immediately pay the UNMAN from Boston.

PATRIARCA's wife is considered to be in very serious condition.

On 6/16/65, PATRIARCA was contacted by UNMAN. UNMAN stated that [redacted] (PH) was shaking down [redacted] (PH). PATRIARCA's [redacted] PATRIARCA has known [redacted] for 30 years. PATRIARCA stated he had already looked into this situation and everything would be OK.

Informant advised that [redacted] PATRIARCA's [redacted] at the Worcester City National Bank concerning a loan (the facts of which the informant did not know).

HENRY TAMELEO contacted PATRIARCA concerning a loan of $7,800 which was owed by [redacted] to ABE SARKIS, notorious Boston bookmaker.

SARKIS apparently approached either JERRY ANGIULO or JOSEPH MODICA for repayment of the loan. They, in turn, contacted HENRY TAMELEO who met ABE SARKIS concerning this loan. SARKIS told him that because of his income tax trouble it was necessary that he collect all outstanding debts and that he wanted some assistance to collect this debt from [redacted]

PATRIARCA was quite perturbed that SARKIS did not go through JOHNNY WILLIAMS, LCN member who is in partnership with SARKIS in the bookmaking business.

JOSEPH LOMBARDO of Boston apparently had the same feeling and stated that JOHNNY WILLIAMS should be the individual who would make the effort to collect this debt.

PATRIARCA instructed TAMELEO that inasmuch as he is already involved he should follow through and contact JOSEPH MODICA who is in partnership with [] and make sure that the debt is repaid to SARKIS.

TAMELEO also stated that [] had bought off one of the partners in the [] for $10,000. According to TAMELEO who also has a piece of the [] this amount was very excessive but stated [] has made a lot of money on the horses recently and, therefore, was willing to pay this large amount.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA concerning a canning factory in Maine. It appeared that this individual owns the factory and is interested in obtaining blueberries for the purpose of canning. He also stated that the building he owns is being considered for a large sports arena in the Maine area. He sought PATRIARCA's advice in this business deal.

PATRIARCA told him that he should see his Attorney, SAUL FRIEDMAN, who owns the Warwick Musical Theater in Warwick, R. I., which is making a considerable amount of money. PATRIARCA stated that the only way he would invest money in this business venture would be to have SAUL FRIEDMAN "OK" the deal.

TAMELEO also advised that [] lost $8,000 to [] recently in a crap game and has not, as yet, paid up. After the game [] that the amount was only $6,000.

PATRIARCA issued instructions to TAMELEO to straighten this matter out.

On 6/18/65, a [] who stated he was from Leominster, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA. [] stated that he had run for Lieutenant Governor last year but got beaten. He requested to borrow some money from PATRIARCA inasmuch as his car broke down in the Rhode Island area.

PATRIARCA furnished him some money.

Synopsis:

Subject [redacted] interviewed at the Federal Correctional Institution, Danbury, Conn., concerning his association with JOSEPH PATRIARCA, Providence, R.I., while [redacted] of the Johnston, R.I. Branch, Plantations Bank of Rhode Island. [redacted] advised he became acquainted with PATRIARCA through introduction by [redacted] North Providence, R.I. [redacted] said that on those loans that he made that ended up "no good", the borrowers in most instances came to him and mentioned PATRIARCA's name as a mutual friend. He stated he contacted PATRIARCA by telephone to determine if the borrower was good for the money. Also, when the borrowers were delinquent in their payments, he contacted PATRIARCA and subsequently loans were made current. [redacted] able to recall only one instance when 2 borrowers, whom he identified as bookies, came to the bank and said that PATRIARCA sent them for a loan. PATRIARCA was contacted by [redacted] and said they were okay. [redacted] said in no instance did PATRIARCA ask for, or did he give him, any money from the loan proceeds. Also, he has no knowledge that the borrowers gave some of the loan proceeds to PATRIARCA.

At the outset of the interview, [redacted] was informed by SA [redacted] of the identity of the interviewing agents; advised that he could have the advice of an attorney or anyone else prior to being interviewed if he so desired; further, that he did not have to consent to be interviewed, and also that anything he might say could be used against him in a court of law.

[redacted] advised that his attorney, [redacted] Industrial National Bank Building, Providence, Rhode Island, had just visited him and advised him that Agents [redacted] and [redacted] wanted to interview him concerning his association with JOSEPH PATRIARCA, Providence, Rhode Island. [redacted] said

[redacted] said that when he had previously been interviewed concerning JOSEPH PATRIARCA, he had told the truth concerning his association with him to the best of his recollection.

[redacted] said that when he originally met JOSEPH PATRIARCA, PATRIARCA was employed [redacted] at Rossi Motor Sales, North Providence, Rhode Island. [redacted] Eastern Leasing Corporation, which was located at the same address as Rossi Motor Sales. [redacted] said that [redacted] had his business accounts at his branch of the bank. When he first met PATRIARCA it was either at Rossi Motor Sales or PATRIARCA was with [redacted] in the bank while [redacted] was making a deposit to one of his company's accounts. [redacted] said that from that time on whenever he saw PATRIARCA he was usually with [redacted] who was in the bank transacting business.

[] said that the first time he met PATRIARCA, PATRIARCA surrendered to him the fact that he had a personal savings account at another bank which he would transfer to [] said that this never materialized. [] said that on those loans that he made and which ended up "no good", the borrower in most instances came to him and mentioned JOSEPH PATRIARCA's name as a mutual friend. [] said that he would telephone PATRIARCA and ask him if the borrower was good for the money. Sometimes PATRIARCA told him that he had loaned this person money and he always paid him back. Also, if some of the loans became delinquent, he would call PATRIARCA and a couple of days later either the borrower or one of his "flunkies" would come to the bank and make a deposit to bring the account current. [] said that some of the borrowers to whom he made loans had reputations as bookies and were friends of JOSEPH PATRIARCA. He said he recalls only one instance in which [] and [] whom he had seen with JOSEPH PATRIARCA on a number of occasions, both came to his bank to borrow money. Both these individuals were bookies and the reason they needed to borrow money was because they had a "big hit". In this instance they both told him that JOSEPH PATRIARCA sent them to obtain a loan. [] said, prior to giving them the loan, he telephoned PATRIARCA and PATRIARCA told him that he had loaned them money in the past and they were okay.

[] said that he never had any conversation with PATRIARCA concerning him giving loans to any individual. With the exception of [], all of the other individuals to whom he gave loans just mentioned during the interview that they were friends of JOSEPH PATRIARCA. At no time did PATRIARCA call him and tell him to give a loan to anyone.

The individual is described as being an owner of a restaurant in the market district.

CASSESSA was clearing any action taken by him with PATRIARCA because he heard from JERRY ANGIULO that the restaurant proprietor was a friend of RAYMOND's and, in fact, RAYMOND had done some favors in the past for this individual. PATRIARCA remembered the individual and instructed CASSESSA to contact JERRY ANGIULO and have ANGIULO ascertain either through the restaurant owner himself or his close friends as to what action he contemplates against CASSESSA. In the event the report comes back to the effect that he intends to do CASSESSA some harm, then PATRIARCA stated he would "OK" the killing of this restaurant owner. However, he should instruct ANGIULO to attempt, if the occasion arises, to effect "a peace" between the restaurant owner and CASSESSA.

DANNY RAIMONDI and [] (LNU) contacted PATRIARCA concerning the placing of a crane on Fleet Landing, R. I. DANNY has told the individual that he wanted $500 for getting RAYMOND's "OK" to put the crane there. RAYMOND furnished the "OK" for this favor.

Two UNMEN, one of whom has the home telephone Union 1-0993, contacted PATRIARCA concerning the obtaining of his permission to sell fireworks in the State of Maine. It appeared that PATRIARCA might obtain a piece of this business. UNMAN desired to contact "the guy we met a few times - Chief of Detectives [] (probably of the Portland, Me. area). [] according to PATRIARCA "is a taker" and UNMAN should offer him $400 or $500 to obtain the license to sell fireworks in Maine.

PATRIARCA pointed out that [] if given some money, would not bother the sellers when they sold the type of fireworks not permitted under the Maine law. They intend to sell the fireworks in Maine and the city of Lewiston was mentioned, from June 20 to July 5, 1965.

BS 837-C* advised on 6/24/65 that PATRIARCA had been contacted the day previous by representatives of the Providence, R. I. PD. They told PATRIARCA that they knew all about the proposed killing (possibly of WILLIE MARFEO), which information was furnished several months ago to the Providence PD. They indicated that PATRIARCA was behind the killing and mentioned that a showdown was coming up with someone. The talk was vague but it appeared that PATRIARCA took this conversation as a warning from the police. PATRIARCA indicated to this man that there was a possibility that the situation with MARFEO could be straightened out. A

The details of the arrests of HENRY TAMELEO and others by IRS were discussed by PATRIARCA and others. This information was previously furnished the Bureau.

On 6/25/65, SAMUEL GRANITO of Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA. A general discussion concerning the activities in Boston of EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT and others involved in the [redacted] feud were mentioned by GRANITO. PATRIARCA told GRANITO that VALACHI had indicated in his testimony that he knew PATRIARCA as being a member of LCN, and further, that he also heard that JOHNNY WILLIAMS of Boston, Mass., HENRY TAMELEO and JOE LOMBARDO were also members but that he, himself, VALACHI, did not know any of these individuals.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA and advised that he received a call from ROMEO MARTIN the previous night, who was asking for money. UNMAN apparently operates a carnival as he has five major rides and five wheels and he is interested in selling the park. PATRIARCA advised that he would talk with HENRY TAMELEO concerning the possible purchase of this carnival.

HENRY TAMELEO and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI discussed in detail TAMELEO's arrest by IRS. TAMELEO denied to PATRIARCA being involved with the others in a gambling operation. He pointed out that he used to visit the bar room on Saturdays and he possibly watched TV. TAMELEO was concerned in that he felt he was being framed. PATRIARCA told him that it is very difficult to beat a conspiracy charge and if the undercover Agent stands up, TAMELEO would probably be convicted.

On 6/28/65, two UNMEN contacted PATRIARCA in order for PATRIARCA to settle a dispute concerning the collection by UNMAN of $700 from the other UNMAN. The matter was settled by PATRIARCA.

Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA concerning the surveillance of him by police in connection with the sale of counterfeit bonds.

BS 837-C* advised on 6/28/65 that UNMAN told PATRIARCA that he, UNMAN, accompanied by the other "kid" went to Rochester, N. Y. to meet [] (LNU) sometime last week. While travelling to Rochester he observed a surveillance. At the motel he was to be contacted by [] (LNU). He waited 30 hours but was not contacted telephonically or otherwise by []

UNMAN became very disturbed and sent the kid who was with him to a race track, which was four or five miles away. The kid is well known around the race tracks, and after walking the distance of four or five miles to the race track, met a friend of his named [] to return to the motel with him where they picked up UNMAN. UNMAN stated that he spoke to the guy in Rochester and made arrangements for another meet with him, for Saturday. After making these arrangements he took off for the airport.

He observed a surveillance and upon arrival at the airport, which was at 2:30 p.m., he went back again (apparently to the city) and was surveilled again.

He left the kid at the airport (the identity of whom was not mentioned). He then went in to the Sheraton Hotel and shook the tail in this vicinity. He kept the appointment at 2:30 p.m. (apparently Saturday) with the other kid and then went to Buffalo after eliminating the tail and flew to NYC. He arrived in Providence Sunday, 6/27/65. He is sure he was not surveilled in NYC.

He mentioned that "this kid named [redacted] (PH)", when he was interrupted by PATRIARCA who asked whether [redacted] (LNU) was there, to which he replied that [redacted] was still in Philadelphia. He added that "this guy [redacted] in New York" (the rest of the conversation not known to the informant). He also stated that the lawyer who is in the middle "looks a little weak."

He also stated that in the meantime he had talked to [redacted] wanted to get [redacted] down there (apparently to find out why he, [redacted] left UNMAN in a motel for 30 hours without contacting him). According to UNMAN, [redacted] (PH) seemed alright but [redacted] was "scarey."

In discussing possible stoolies, UNMAN suggested that it could have been "brother [redacted]" or the fact that there were surveillances at the race track relative to a narcotics situation and the surveilling Agents might have observed them there and taken up the surveillance.

UNMAN is going to call [redacted] and try to make arrangements to meet with [redacted] left him there.

[redacted] had asked UNMAN if "those people were interested in [redacted] and was told by UNMAN that he could do what he wanted to do with [redacted] (indicating that those people had no interest in him).

BS 837-C* advised on 6/29/65 that RAYMOND PATRIARCA obtained two copies of VALACHI's book and sent same to his Attorney, SAUL FRIEDMAN, for perusing.

[redacted] sent word to PATRIARCA to beware of the purchase of a 1964 Lincoln since it has a chattel mortgage on same. [redacted] was once a nominee for Governor at the Republican Party convention in Rhode Island.

[redacted] Providence, R. I., advised that he had some trouble with the registration of his trucks. [redacted] Providence, R. I., "is their friend" and also a [redacted] of Motor Vehicles (name not mentioned).

On 6/30/65, UNMAN complained to PATRIARCA about the appointment of EDWARD MC ENTREE as Federal Judge. He attacked SENATOR PASTORE for not appointing an Italian, such as former Gov. NOTTE.

JOSEPH KRIKORIAN, Providence, R. I., furnished PATRIARCA an undisclosed sum of money.

UNMAN contacted JERRY and stated that he had just talked to the New Jersey people concerning the counterfeit money.

It appeared that UNMAN did not know at this time whether there was an actual arrest in the case involving the $280,000 worth of counterfeit bonds. He is to contact the people in New Jersey later to ascertain what action will be taken.

92-2961-1041

JUL 13 1965

According to PATRIARCA, [] is employed by []

[] met MICHAEL ROCCO at Stella's restaurant last week. ROCCO was with [] the Suffolk Downs Race Track, a [] with whom MIKE is very friendly. [] asked MIKE in the presence of [] to fix it up with the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau (TRPB) so that he [] will be allowed on the track.

ROCCO was extremely angry at [] for having the audacity to approach him in front of [] and wanted GRANITO to bring the matter up with PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA told GRANITO that the race track is MIKE's department and that anything he did would be OK with PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA mentioned that [] was a fresh and bad kid and probably MIKE would be better off if he did not exert his influence with [] back on the track.

GRANITO told PATRIARCA that TOMMY CALLAHAN was still worried about [] the individual who shot CALLAHAN in an attempted gangland murder. CALLAHAN also does not trust EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT as he furnishes different stories to different individuals concerning the same set of facts.

GRANITO was contacted by CALLAHAN who wanted another assurance from PATRIARCA to kill [] as apparently there had been rumors to the effect that PATRIARCA had cancelled the "hit." PATRIARCA told GRANITO to tell CALLAHAN that the OK to "hit" [] is still on.

GRANITO went in to detail concerning the killing of EDWARD DEEGAN which had been previously reported, and the fact that the Attorney, [] of Everett, Mass., was called by DEEGAN's accomplice at the time DEEGAN was killed.

UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA concerning JOHN CANDELMO, an associate of PATRIARCA's of Providence, R. I. It appeared that CANDELMO was trying to exert pressure in order to put two or three trucks on the road hauling liquor.

UNMAN also advised that [] saw JERRY about shylocking in Charlestown, Mass., but the details of same were not known to the informant.

BS 92-118

PATRIARCA advised that [] is not taking any action in Charlestown, Mass. at the present time, Another UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA referred to the Negroes who broke in to CARIOCA's house. It was alleged that ROMEO MARTIN and RONNIE CASSESSA were probably implicated in setting this burglary up. PATRIARCA instructed UNMAN to contact JERRY to get the information concerning this burglary from [] (LNU)

On 6/4/65, [] contacted PATRIARCA. [] stated he was talking to JOSEPH LOMBARDO and MIKE ROCCO, both of Boston, Mass., who told [] that everybody should not go to the wake or funeral of the relative to []

[] stated that he met an individual who is an attorney and a City Solicitor in some city of Rhode Island. This individual is also a member of the law firm of SAUL FRIEDMAN.

A lengthy discussion takes place concerning a suit by a contracting firm which won a bid for the demolition of property in Rhode Island. [] the Hi Low Construction Co., appealed the bid and the court ruled that because of the fact that the winner of the bid did not have the proper equipment, the bid should be awarded to Hi Low. The winner of the bid then appealed the case, which appeal will not be heard for two years; thereby making it impossible for either Hi Low or any other construction firm to get the bid. [] feels that a new bid will be solicited because of the time element.

[] told PATRIARCA that this attorney did not desire any friction with RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and denied having anything to do with the appeal by the winner of the contract.

PATRIARCA told [] that this individual was the one responsible for obtaining some facts which were used by the winner of the bid in the court case, and the fact that this individual, according to SAUL FRIEDMAN, probably obtained the information from FRIEDMAN's office.

The City Solicitor denied emphatically to [] that he had anything to do with the obtaining of this information from FRIEDMAN's office. He told [] that he would like to become associated with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and that he would arrange to have any strong evidence eliminated in any case in which PATRIARCA is interested that takes place in his court.

[] told PATRIARCA that the individual was a good fellow and that PATRIARCA should at least see him as the Solicitor did not want any trouble with PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA believed FRIEDMAN's story concerning the Solicitor's stealing the information from FRIEDMAN's office, but at the same time he was appreciative of the fact that the City Solicitor would help him in any gambling case. He told [] to tell the Solicitor that he, PATRIARCA, was not angry nor did he blame the City Solicitor for the actions of the contractor who won the bid.

The Attorney is probably [] who is a young attorney in FRIEDMAN's office.

The individual who won the bid is probably named [] from Fall River, Mass. The attorney is a City Solicitor from the Sixth District Court, probably Providence, R. I.

During the conversation PATRIARCA told [] that when [] was demolishing buildings in Pittsburgh, Pa., he went into bankruptcy and because of his manipulations, he was able to recover at least a quarter of a million dollars of a book.

[] belabored the point that the Solicitor had no hard feelings and said he was a good smart boy. He said he was very close to someone named [] (PH) from IRS who handles all gambling cases.

RAYMOND told [] to 'con'this individual.

Another UNMAN comes in and stated that [] had gotten the OK from New York for a loan of $10,000, which he needs for the payroll. Since PATRIARCA is the boss in this area, [] wanted to clear with PATRIARCA to borrow the $10,000.

PATRIARCA furnished the OK.

BS 92-118

LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, Providence, R. I., told PATRIARCA that his deal with the Doctors in New York had fallen through. He explained that he was afraid of one of the Doctors, even though a son-in-law of a family boss in New York, who is a Doctor, went in to see him, the first Doctor; however, the first Doctor did not live up to the agreement, and TAGLIANETTI decided not to push any further because the group in New York wanted a percentage of the money. If the scheme worked, according to LOUIS, they would have made $10,000 to $15,000.

PATRIARCA explained that the New York families are "nice people" but emphasized that no one should go into business with them as it would cause too much aggravation.

PATRIARCA stated that he, himself, was doing well there many years ago financially when the new boss was made. The new boss grabbed all the money and RAYMOND almost wound up broke. RAYMOND said it is nice to know them, that he respects them and will help them out occasionally, but would not do any business with them.

TAGLIANETTI discussed a yard which he contemplates using in order to make a "hit." Informant did not know who TAGLIANETTI was referring to, but possibly WILLY MARFEO, which information had been disseminated previously. This group has been attempting to kill MARFEO for over one year, but has not been successful, as yet.

Another UNMAN discussed the attendance at the [redacted] wake. PATRIARCA stated that because he is a member of a good family, the people in Providence should appear.

UNMAN told PATRIARCA that [redacted] is running around with a kid who has a gun and their association should be stopped. RAYMOND is very appreciative of this fact.

Another UNMAN told PATRIARCA that he has bets of $1,000 to $3,500 on races throughout the country but that he is having trouble placing these bets on the horses.

PATRIARCA told him to contact [redacted] who, in turn, would check with the Cincinnati office to ascertain whether they would accept the bets. PATRIARCA said that the bets of this amount would not be accepted at Boston at the present time. He stated that the situation as far as gambling in Canada and New York (probably referring to upstate New York) was concerned was wide open now and that this type of bet could not be placed there.

On 6/7/65, UNMAN contacted PATRIARCA. UNMAN, upon instructions from PATRIARCA, contacted JOHNNY CANDELMO and instructed CANDELMO to appear immediately before PATRIARCA.

PATRIARCA questioned CANDELMO concerning his contact with [redacted] Truck Drivers Union, Boston, Mass., and Vice President of the International union.

PATRIARCA explained that MC CARTHY had contacted both SAMMY GRANITO and TEDDY FUCCILLO. He asked them to ascertain from PATRIARCA whether he is associated with CANDELMO who desired to have some trucks put on for hauling liquor from Indiana to Branded Liquors Co., Boston, Mass. 1

CANDELMO explained that HENRY (not TAMELEO) is apparently employed in a liquor company in Brockton, Mass. The owner of this company is a sister to the individual who owns Branded Liquors in Boston, Mass. Between these two wholesalers they receive many truck loads of Seagrams Whiskey from Indiana.

CANDELMO explained that approximately a year ago he had talked to PATRIARCA about the possibility of having two or three trailer trucks haul Seagrams from Indiana to Boston for Brandon Liquors, Inc.

PATRIARCA asked CANDELMO if he used PATRIARCA's name when talking to [redacted]. CANDELMO advised that he definitely did not use PATRIARCA's name, but that [redacted] made a comment indicating he knew who CANDELMO was.

PATRIARCA became very excited and questioned CANDELMO very closely. He pointed out that if [redacted] knew who he was, why did he bother to check his association with PATRIARCA, through FUCCILLO or GRANITO. He said he knows [redacted] very well and that [redacted] is a close associate of [redacted] and probably controls him. He, in turn, is extremely close to [redacted].

CANDELMO denied the allegation and said that he is 60 years old and was just trying to get some money by putting three trucks to work.

PATRIARCA is very critical of CANDELMO for attempting to intimidate [redacted] with a threat of a strike which CANDELMO denied.

CANDELMO blamed the incident on HENRY.

PATRIARCA stated that if three trucks were put on the FBI would know that JOHNNY CANDELMO "of La Cosa Nostra" had an interest in these trucks and, in effect, PATRIARCA would also have an interest. He did not want his name associated with [redacted] and told CANDELMO not to do anything more on this matter.

HENRY TAMELEO had contacted PATRIARCA. They were attempting to raise some money, the purpose of which was not known to the informant. They had a list of about 20 people from whom they were collecting from $50 to $300. The list included PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO, [redacted] (LNU), JERRY ANGIULO, [redacted] MIKE ROCCO, JOHNNY WILLIAMS, [redacted] PETER LIMONE and [redacted] (LNU) and seven other names, which the informant did not obtain.

PATRIARCA made the comment that "these are the best people."

RE: HENRY J. MC CUE

On 5/3/65, a review of the marriage records at the State House, Boston, Mass., disclosed that HENRY JOSEPH MC CUE, age 22, of Winchester, Mass., married EVELYN HILL, age 20, of Cambridge, Mass., on 4/17/27 in Cambridge, Mass. His occupation was listed as bricklayer and his parents are listed as JAMES P. and DELIA BURNS. The bride's parents are listed as HOWARD and MARGARET (KELLEY) HILL.

A search of the above marriage records failed to disclose a record for subject and THELMA (HARDING) MC CUE having been married in Massachusetts.

On 4/23/65, the records of the Middlesex County Registry of Probate, Cambridge, Mass., disclosed Divorce Docket #10257 as follows:

EVELYN ANNA MC CUE, Boston, Libellant vs. HENRY J. MC CUE, Winchester. Date of Marriage, 4/17/27, Cambridge. Cause of Action, Imprisonment. Date and Place of Occurrence - 3/12/31, Cambridge. Children - [redacted]

HENRY J. MC CUE, wife THELMA, residing at 114 Winn Street, Woburn, Mass. Wife is former THELMA M. HARDY of 38 Cutler Street, East Somerville. Subject's former addresses were 166 Waverly Road, Woburn; 19 Wyman Street, Woburn, and 83 Sheridan Circle, Winchester, all Massachusetts.

A report dated 9/8/61 for the Credit Bureau of Portland, Me. describes his credit record as "unsatisfactory." Employment is listed as vinegar maker. Report makes reference to numerous arrests and several jail terms.

A report dated 1/12/40 is summarized as follows: His wife is listed as THELMA H. MC CUE, age 28, residing with him at 114 Winn Street, Woburn.

Personal Reputation - Very poor.

Occupation - Grows pansies in spring and makes cider and vinegar the rest of the year. Operates from home address. At time of this report, was out on bail. He and a [REDACTED] were arrested and indicted 10/27/39 by the Middlesex County Grand Jury on charge of "conspiracy to commit serious offense re one CATHERINE DULONG" of Woburn, Mass. on 9/10/39. She disappeared, 9/19/39, and police looking for her since then. If found dead, he would probably be tried as accessory before the fact, at least to murder or manslaughter. He served several years in jail, and had a sentence commuted by ex-Governor ELY in 1936. Was serving 20 years for criminal assault.

He is considered notorious by persons contacted in Woburn and they advise having no credit dealings with him. Is hard worker but has quirk in his mind, so that if choice of honest or dishonest way of doing something, would choose dishonest. Always scheming to get the better of those doing business with him and does not care how he does this.

Informant said that the meeting was held with PATRIARCA in order to attempt to effect a "proposed peace" which was being offered by [] with the [] allegedly told PATRIARCA that if PATRIARCA would sit at the "peace table", he, [] would be willing to end his dispute with the []

PATRIARCA told [] that he would not sit at the "peace table" because he considered [] to be completely honorable, and he knew the reputation of the [] brothers for being extremely treacherous, and he would be doing an injustice to [] if he set up such a "peace."

PATRIARCA advised [] that it would be a matter of time before the [] broke their word and killed [] or one of their associates.

At this time [] told PATRIARCA that after the alleged shooting of EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT by [] he met with the two [] brothers and EDWARD BENNETT, and that they said they are now coming out in the open in their support of []

PATRIARCA told [] that EDWARD BENNETT is a "stool pigeon" for Det. [] of the Boston, Mass. PD; that for years he, PATRIARCA, has considered BENNETT as possibly being a "stool pigeon" for law enforcement, but that BENNETT has done PATRIARCA a good favor years ago and, for this reason, he never completely checked in to his suspicions.

PATRIARCA allegedly told [] and FUCCILLO that the night the El Morocco restaurant opened, [] came to the El Morocco and told LARRY BAIONE that BENNETT definitely was a "stool pigeon." [] stated he had been involved on a score with BENNETT and that the police knew the details of the score and that BENNETT had to be the one who had furnished the information.

PATRIARCA stated that BAIONE called "JERRY" ANGIULO of Boston, Mass. and told him that [] were there, and [] made arrangements to have these two killed when they came out of the El Morocco, but that he had to call this off, when the Boston Police arrived on the scene and entered the El Morocco.

PATRIARCA advised that in the meantime BAIONE gave [] $500 in order to put them at ease so that they would not be looking around when they left the El Morocco.

PATRIARCA also stated that Det. [] of the Boston Police had told "JERRY" ANGIULO that after EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT had been shot at by [] that BENNETT had called the Boston Police and asked for Det. [] and that when they could not reach him immediately he left a message to have []; that he had just been shot at by [] and that this appears in the complaint form at Boston Police Headquarters.

PATRIARCA said that this "is the last straw"; that anyone who would call upon law enforcement to help them when they have a problem has got to be a "stool pigeon".

PATRIARCA stated that he also knows that [] is very close to [] according to "JERRY" ANGIULO, is also using [] as a "stool pigeon."

PATRIARCA also told [] and FUCCILLO that JOSEPH FRANCIONE was murdered by [] and JOSEPH BARBOZA for [] PATRIARCA said [] has been moving too quickly since he has come out of jail and that the murder of FRANCIONE was "out of order" - that is, it was not called for.

PATRIARCA also told [] that since his last meeting with [] when he had told him not to let anyone know that he had contact with PATRIARCA, he has checked with his numerous contacts in the Boston area and he knows that [] kept his word and that he feels that [] is a person of his word.

PATRIARCA told [] that he has stuck his (PATRIARCA's) neck out for [] on a couple of occasions, indicating that [] is alright, and that sometime in the future he may ask him [] to stick his neck out for him (PATRIARCA).

PATRIARCA told [] that if he has any problem whatsoever with any Italians in the Greater Boston area, for him to check with him (RAYMOND), before taking any action, and that he will either straighten the matter out or give the "OK" to go ahead and handle the situation.

PATRIARCA told [] definitely will not have any trouble from the Italians that he, PATRIARCA, wants to see the feud between the [] group ended once and for all, and that when it is ended, he wants [] to handle the shylocking on the waterfront for him.

Copies of this letter were designated for [redacted] [redacted] Boston, Massachusetts and for CHARLES A. CURRAN, Esquire, Industrial National Bank Building, Providence, Rhode Island.

VALACHI stated he was advised by a Department of Justice official, RAYMOND PATRIARCA is suing the Boston Herald Newspaper for libel after that paper identified PATRIARCA as "Cosa Nostra" figure in the New England area.

VALACHI explained a deposition is being taken from him, inasmuch as he, VALACHI, is in a position to identify PATRIARCA as a member of La Cosa Nostra.

VALACHI stated that he is not in a position to identify PATRIARCA as a Cosa Nostra boss but only as a soldier at the time, he, VALACHI met him.

On 6/17/65, informant advised that [] owed ABE SARKIS, notorious Boston bookmaker, the sum of $7,800. SARKIS made many efforts to collect this debt without success. He subsequently approached either JERRY ANGIULO or JOSEPH MODICA for assistance in collecting this debt. PATRIARCA became involved in that neither MODICA nor ANGIULO were able to collect the debt. PATRIARCA told TAMELEO to instruct SARKIS to go to JOHNNY WILLIAMS, LCN member who is in partnership with SARKIS in the bookmaking business, and have WILLIAMS collect this debt.

On 7/8/65, informant advised that UNMAN had a lengthy discussion with PATRIARCA concerning a loan made to [] subject of case entitled, [] SPORTSDAY WEEKLY, INC., ITWI." It appeared that [] had borrowed money from the Pan American Finance Co., which is operated by JOSEPH MODICA. PATRIARCA has an interest in this finance company.

[] borrowed $1,600 one time and just prior to the time he was sent away for one year, in connection with the above-mentioned case, he borrowed an additional $2,000. MODICA is putting the pressure on [] brother-in-law, [] to pay the $3,600.

The "Providence Journal," a morning daily newspaper in Providence, Rhode Island, on April 30, 1965, page 27, carried an article captioned, "Rhode Island Bank Aids Refinancing of Race Track."

The article mentioned that the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company took over a $300,000 mortgage in a refinancing operation for the Berkshire Downs Race Track in Hancock, Massachusetts.

The transaction was completed in the law office of ALBERT S. SILVERMAN, and the bank took over the mortgage previously given to Sports Service, Inc., which also uses the name Emprise Corp.

Paid off were the balance of a $308,000 mortgage by Emprise Corp. and a $13,000 mortgage held by Mrs. EDNA RABOUIN of Richmond, Massachusetts.

The transaction was recorded at the North Berkshire Registry of Deeds in Adams, Massachusetts. It was reported that this track ended the 1964 season with a deficit of $276,534.

PATRIARCA told UNMAN and TAMELEO to arrange to have this money paid off at $50 or $100 a week to MODICA. He also instructed to send MODICA to Providence so that he could issue instructions that MODICA is not to loan any money to individuals or companies in which PATRIARCA has a financial interest without his, PATRIARCA's, knowledge.

HENRY (LNU) contacted PATRIARCA relative to a demolition job. It appeared that the job was bid for $96,000 and the bids were rigged between several demolition companies in the Rhode Island area. There is approximately a $30,000 profit which will be split up among these contractors and PATRIARCA would receive over $3,000 as his cut.

THEODORE FUCILLO, Boston, Mass., contacted PATRIARCA with [] PATRIARCA questioned [] concerning a strike in the Electric Board Yard at Groton, Conn. [] apparently has some connection with the unions in this matter and stated that the strike concerned the fact that the employees did not agree with the terms the U. S. Navy offered them.

[] brought PATRIARCA up to date relative to the canning of fish in a plastic container. It appeared that the container itself is acceptable but they are having a problem with the plastic cap in that it jars lose when moved. They intend to correct this situation by putting six clamps on the plastic cover. [] appeared very optimistic and stated that the fish dealers were vitally interested in adopting this method of packing fish. It appeared that PATRIARCA will have a financial interest in this, providing the plastic container is made acceptable.

They also discussed the possibility of making plastic trays to sell for approximately 50¢.

PATRIARCA tells UNMAN to call [] and ascertain if [] (PH) is working for him. PATRIARCA explained that [] is in the banking business here." PATRIARCA told UNMAN to immediately notify him of [] answer.

[] Providence, R. I., was called in by PATRIARCA to explain the afore-mentioned demolition job in which he, PATRIARCA, is supposed to receive over $6,000. [] explained that the job really cost $50,000, which yielded a profit of $15,000. He mentioned that his cut would be $6,650 and that RAYMOND should receive the same amount as his cut.

On 7/9/65, informant advised that PATRIARCA was not at his place of business.

On 7/12/65, no pertinent information was developed by BS 837-C*.

On 7/12/65, [] advised SA [] that on [] vicinity of the National Cigarette Vending Machine Co., 168 Atwells Ave, Providence, R. Informant advised [redacted] (LNU) that this was more work than he contemplated and would take maybe a week and he would have to talk to the subject personally about it again before going to Providence, R.I. Informant told [redacted] (LNU) that he had a lot of business right now and to have the subject to call him personally. [redacted] (LNU) indicated that subject would be in Saratoga for approximately two weeks possibly leaving this Monday. Informant told [redacted] (LNU) to have the subject contact him and that he was not going to contact the subject.

Informant stated that he knows PATRIARCA personally and the way he operates, and that PATRIARCA will eventually call him back but it might be several weeks. Informant stated that he intends going to Providence, R.I. and would probably stay a week. He stated that knowing PATRIARCA he knew that once he went to Providence and [redacted] for PATRIARCA, PATRIARCA would undoubtedly keep him in his confidence the entire period he was in Providence. Informant queried if there was leakage of information in any other towns besides Providence, R.I. (Informant did not mention [redacted] (LNU) indicated that there was another town but indicated to the informant that PATRIARCA would have to talk to him about this since apparently they were not cleared by PATRIARCA to discuss this other town. Informant stated he probed further in this matter and stated that if it's anything in New York maybe I can do some checking here and they both indicated to him that this is a matter that better be discussed with subject rather than with them.

The Boston Office will be immediately advised of the further contemplated contact of informant with subject and of informant's plans.

ALL THE ABOVE INFORMATION IS HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL AND NOT TO BE DISSEMINATED IN ANY FORM WHATSOEVER OUTSIDE THE BUREAU AS IT WOULD COMPROMISE THE INFORMANT.

Informant reiterated that the only thing he would do for subject when he goes to Providence is [redacted] and nothing else. He stated if subject wanted anything else done he would not do it and talk PATRIARCA out of it.

SUBJECT: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
ANTI-RACKETEERING

On July 29, 1965, Special Agent in Charge Alexander, Criminal Division, New York Office, advised of information received from a confidential informant to the effect that this informant had been [redacted] in New England by Raymond Patriarca.

According to Alexander, informant met with two individuals at Patriarca's request and identified them as [redacted] and [redacted] (Last Name Unknown), address unknown. These individuals requested the informant to [redacted] presumably in Boston.

The informant told [redacted] that the above constitutes [redacted] was deferred until Patriarca gets back from Saratoga, New York, where he intends to go [redacted]

ACTION

The above is being made a matter of record so that appropriate action can be taken to develop all pertinent information concerning [redacted] inasmuch as Patriarca's interests in them clearly indicates that these establishments are of considerable importance to him in the operation of his illegal activities. If not already known, full details should be obtained by our Boston Office concerning [redacted]

ADMINISTRATIVE

The following investigation was conducted in reference to Bsairtel to Bureau dated 6/18/65 in captioned matter.

The following investigation was conducted by SA GEORGE E. HANLON:

The current Worcester City Directory and Telephone Directories have no listing for Norfolk Brokerage Co.

There is an H. L. Robbins & Co., investment brokers, at 37 Mechanic St., Worcester; [redacted] and [redacted] who resides in Boston.

On June 23, 1965, [redacted] Worcester County National Bank, 446 Main St., Worcester, Massachusetts, advised that ROLAND G. MILLET, 92 College St., Worcester, retired from the Worcester County National Bank three or four years ago and is now employed as an Office Manager by H. L. Robbins & Co.

MILLET retired at age 55 on a small pension. He had worked as a Teller, Auditor and Branch Manager in the Collection Department. While working as Manager of their branch bank in Spencer, Massachusetts he became involved in financial difficulties with a builder who was building a house for MILLET. MILLET went into bankruptcy and was brought into the bank's collection department. The bank never had any evidence of any miss-appropriations by MILLET.

The current Worcester City Directory lists one [redacted] Worcester, [redacted] General Screw Machine Products, 705 Plantations Street, Worcester, Massachusetts.

ADDITIONAL NARRATIVE

On [redacted]
furnished the following information to SA [redacted]:

On [redacted] informant stated that on the previous Wednesday, [redacted] had seen PATRIARCA with FUCILLO in Providence, but had very little conversation with RAY. He said that TEDDY went inside the room with PATRIARCA for a short time [redacted] He said that the visit seemed to be more or less of a social call and TEDDY did not mention [redacted] b7C

On [redacted] an attempt was made to contact informant to arrange for a meeting place and he said that he could not be seen that day as [redacted]

On [redacted] the informant was again contacted and stated that on the previous day, Thursday, [redacted] FUCILLO had gone to Providence and had dropped in to see RAYMOND for a short visit. He said that he talked only briefly with RAYMOND about general matters and inquired as to the condition of RAYMOND's wife and found that she is in very bad shape. b7C

He said that FUCILLO then went into RAYMOND's office and talked with him for some time. He said that FUCILLO did not mention [redacted]

He said also that [redacted] the cigarette vending machine business, that "the blind pig" ROSSI, came in and said that he was going to be sentenced in Federal Court in Providence [redacted] but he also said something about an appeal that he had pending. He said that ROSSI did not seem to be too worried about the sentence to be forthcoming and said something to the effect that there was not too much they could do to an old blind man anyhow.

Informant stated also that [redacted] a dispute that he had mediated involving GERRY ANGIULO and [redacted] b6

[redacted] Abbott Engineering. Informant explained that he learned [redacted] difficulty with the law, he could not get any more state contracts for his company and he had to borrow $25,000 from GERRY. The informant explained that [redacted] was unable to repay this loan and GERRY began to put heat on him for repayment; further, that [redacted] then complained to FUCILLO about the heat that GERRY was putting on him and then TEDDY went to see RAYMOND and obtained his approval to tell GERRY to lay off [redacted] was in a better position to repay his loan. He said that FUCILLO told him that he called GERRY in and did tell him to lay off attempts to collect the loan from [redacted] and GERRY did not like this but had to go along with it because RAYMOND had approved it.

b7D

Informant said also that FUCILLO, [redacted] Providence on the day before, [redacted] about a very big man from the organization in New York by the name of either JOHN EURY (ph), which FUCILLO later called JOHN FORTI (ph) or FUTI (ph). Informant said that this individual was very close to FRANK COSTELLO in New York and is a very close friend of FRANK CUCCHIARA and is in his early 60s. He explained that this individual was coming to the Boston area to settle down and will live about four or five months of the year in Boston and then go to Florida in the wintertime; further, that this individual was very close to RAYMOND and, in fact, had seen RAYMOND on Tuesday, [redacted] in Providence with CUCCHIARA.

b7D

Informant said also that [redacted] this individual has an eighteen year old daughter who is retarded whom he adores and also recently bought a house in Lexington. He said that FUCILLO told him also that he had introduced this individual from New York to Attorney [redacted] promised to see that he met all the proper people in Boston. Informant said he did not know exactly what business connections this new man from New York would have, but would attempt to find this out.

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that about two days before he engaged [redacted] the entire story of the [redacted] feud. He said this story went back a number of years to the time when [redacted] was beaten up at Salisbury Beach and the entire story of the attempts by the rival gangs to kill each other was gone into in some detail.

He said one of the most interesting developments of this feud concerned [redacted] whom the informant knows quite well, and he noted that [redacted] of Local 25 of the Teamsters Union in Boston. He said that he, the informant, surmised that [redacted] was engaged in some shylock activity with FUCILLO and this was as a result of knowledge that FUCILLO had been in contact with [redacted]. However, as a result of his most recent conversation with FUCILLO, it now is apparent that the purpose of the contact by FUCILLO of [redacted] was not shylock activities but involved a proposed attempt on [redacted] life.

The informant said that FUCILLO explained that the [redacted] group was going to try to kill [redacted] because they felt that [redacted] had been bank-rolling [redacted] and this job was going to be handled by two individuals by the names of [redacted] to whom FUCILLO referred to as "psychopaths." He said that FUCILLO told him that the only reason he had not been killed was that the police had a twenty-four-hour constant surveillance on [redacted] and [redacted] and they could not get away long enough to do the job. Informant said that FUCILLO told him that he, FUCILLO, mediated this "beef" about five or six weeks ago when he called [redacted] in to meet a representative of the [redacted] group and [redacted] gave assurance to this representative of the [redacted] group that he was not bank-rolling [redacted] in his operations.

The informant said that FUCILLO felt that he had done a good job in mediating this dispute and said also that RAYMOND had approved of handling the matter in this fashion.

On [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that he had met with JOSEPH BARBOZA the previous day; that BARBOZA had told him that he BARBOZA, and RONNIE CASSESSA were scheduled to do a "hit" for RAYMOND PATRIARCA in Providence, R. I., the previous weekend, but HENRY TAMELEO was with RONNIE CASSESSA trying to evade the services of a Federal warrant or subpoena, and for that reason, the "hit" has been called off until a later date.

The intended victim, according to BARBOZA, is a fellow by the name MARFEO and that he indicated that he was going to be set up in some barroom.

THIS INFORMATION SHOULD NOT BE DISSEMINATED BECAUSE OF THE FACT THAT THE "HIT" HAS BEEN DELAYED AND MAY BE DELAYED INDEFINITELY AND IT ALSO MAY BE A PLANT TO SEE WHETHER OR NOT THE INFORMANT IS COOPERATING WITH ANYONE IN LAW ENFORCEMENT.

On [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that he had received word from an individual named [redacted] (ph), whom he described as a "bum," that RAYMOND PATRIARCA wanted to see informant and for informant to bring two hundred dollars ($200). He said since [redacted] was a "punk", he thought PATRIARCA was "kissing [redacted] off," and gave this as a stall. He said he might go down to see PATRIARCA with [redacted] makes his visit. He said there were a number of rumors circulating about him and his associates, which he thought were spread deliberately and which would put him in a bad light one way or the other. He said his friends created rumors themselves and attempt to turn these against the people who are trying to start the talk about him.

On [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that he had been in contact with JOSEPH BARBOZA, [redacted] at which time BARBOZA told informant that he and RONNIE CASSESSA had gone down on Saturday to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA and explained to PATRIARCA why they have "hit" ROMEO MARTIN. BARBOZA said PATRIARCA was pleased "with the way it was carried out" and stated when he first heard about it, he figured that MARTIN had been murdered by [redacted] because PATRIARCA knew [redacted] disliked MARTIN.

Informant advised that according to BARBOZA, ROMEO MARTIN and RONNIE CASSESSA were partners in scores in the past couple of years and the good scores they went on were set up by RONNIE CASSESSA; that ROMEO MARTIN would also go out on his own on smaller scores and MARTIN started to run into difficulty with the police, needed money for lawyers' fees, bondsmen, etc., and CASSESSA, therefore, let ROMEO borrow money from him. In addition, CASSESSA paid for ROMEO MARTIN's wedding and after doing all this for MARTIN, CASSESSA found out that MARTIN was holding out on him because recently MARTIN made a score which netted MARTIN $1,500. and MARTIN told someone (name not given) not to mention the fact that he made $1,500. to RONNIE CASSESSA. BARBOZA stated CASSESSA was furious that MARTIN, even when he made the score of $1,500., would not give him something on what he owed him.

In addition, CASSESSA stated he was getting a lot of "heat" on him because everyone knew MARTIN was his partner, that MARTIN was "out on nickel and dime scores" all the time, and MARTIN also was moving stolen goods which came out of the Farmer's Cafe.

BARBOZA told informant that he knew informant did not "buy" ROMEO MARTIN and, therefore, he did not bother to check with him before he "whacked out ROMEO" with CASSESSA.

On [redacted] advised he had heard that RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO had "OK'd" a hit for WILLIE MARFEO of Providence, R. I. Informant said MARFEO was slated for this "hit" in that he has been getting out of line and "shooting his mouth off" to other hoodlums, and telling them he would not take orders from anyone, and he was going to do whatever he wanted without interference from anyone.

Since TAMELEO's arrest by the Intelligence Division, Internal Revenue Service, at Providence, R. I. in June, 1965, there has been a delay in hitting MARFEO as they do not want any heat in Providence at this time. Informant does not know if the "hit" has been set up for another time.

BS 92-118

During August and September, 1965, BS T-1 advised no information was developed which would indicate that RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was involved in any illegal activities.

Informant said PATRIARCA has been greatly concerned over his wife's illness in that she has been near death on several occasions.

On September 8, 1965, informant advised HELEN PATRIARCA, wife of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, had died; that she was being waked at Beraducci Funeral Home, Broadway, Rhode Island; that she would be buried on Saturday, September 11, 1965, and the funeral would be strictly private.

During August and September, 1965, BS T-2 furnished substantially the same information as BS T-1.

On August 23, 1965, BS T-3 advised that JERRY ANGIULO, Boston hoodlum, was in Providence, Rhode Island on August 18, 1965 and visited with RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, which meeting was held at Bodway's Auto Body Shop, Dean St., Providence, Rhode Island.

Informant said ANGIULO does not want to be seen visiting PATRIARCA at 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

This informant also advised that NICK BIANCO, a member of the Gallo gang in Brooklyn, New York, had been in Providence, Rhode Island to visit RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA at 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

BIANCO returned to New York during the weekend of August 26, 1965.

On August 8, 1965, BS T-4 advised information had been received that [redacted] had mentioned he was in the process of purchasing a motel at Sagamore, believed to be in Massachusetts, and he would invest about $60,000 in the purchase of this motel.

Informant said the above information is not considered reliable in that it would appear that [redacted] was attempting to impress certain people when he made this remark.

BS 92-118

The Providence Evening Bulletin, dated September 8, 1965, page 37, under caption Death Notices, reflected that Mrs. HELEN PATRIARCA, wife of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, 165 Lancaster Street, Providence, Rhode Island, son RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, Jr., died unexpectedly this morning. The funeral will be held from the V. J. Beraducci and Sons Funeral Home, 477 Broadway, Providence, Rhode Island on Saturday at a time to be announced. Arrangements are incomplete, however, the funeral is strictly private.

ADMINISTRATIVE

The Bureau has been advised that subject along with HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO have been found guilty by a Federal Grand Jury at Boston, Mass., on 3/18/68, for violation of the ITAR-Gambling Statute.

Complete details of this matter is being reported under Boston File 166-629, entitled, "RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA, aka., ET AL - ITAR-GAMBLING."

On January 12, 1968, [REDACTED] presently confined at the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, R.I., on an arrest on bank robbery charges by the FBI, desired to talk and his Attorney, [REDACTED] advised he had no objection if [REDACTED] talked to SA [REDACTED] in Providence, R.I.

BS 92-118

He discussed various bank robberies and among the stories related by [redacted] was the following:

[redacted] advised that he got out of jail in June of 1966, and proceeded to Lawrence, Mass., where he became associated with [redacted]

[redacted] aka [redacted] and [redacted]

He stated that at this time the above trio were engaged in selling "hot cars." He stated that they noticed the great amount of gambling in the area and at this time [redacted] went to Providence, Rhode Island, to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA. He stated that PATRIARCA would only talk to [redacted] and [redacted] and would not talk to [redacted] and [redacted] told him they wanted to operate in the [redacted]

[redacted] area, handling lay-off money for Boston. PATRIARCA gave him his "OK" and did not ask for any cut in the take inasmuch as he felt that there were a great number of stool pigeons in the Lawrence, Mass. area. He stated that upon their return to Lawrence, they operated four locations in various houses handling lay-off money and betting on horses and numbers. He stated that the individuals who operated these places were a girl by the name of [redacted] who was [redacted] who was a girl friend of [redacted] and [redacted]

He stated that [redacted] was the individual who more or less ran this particular operation. He stated that they utilized phones in each one of these locations and shifted the locations on a daily basis. He stated that they handled the lay-off money from [redacted]

[redacted] an individual by the name of [redacted]

[redacted] and a fellow whose last name was [redacted] who had a lot of sharp action.

BS 92-118

This individual [redacted] is the person who operates [redacted] the corner of [redacted]

He stated that in August of 1966, they tried to get [redacted] who operated [redacted] in the lower part of [redacted] for his [redacted] to give him his lay-off money. However, an argument ensued and [redacted] three [redacted] and [redacted] out of the club. He stated that as a result [redacted] and [redacted] became incensed and they had [redacted] in that same month, August of 1966, place a stick of dynamite in the [redacted] and blew out the whole front of it. [redacted] advised that the take on the gambling money ranged up as high as $3,600.00 a week. He stated that he believes that his lowest part of the take for a week was $450.00. He stated that he recalls also during the Summer of 1966, and individual in Worcester attempted to take over [redacted] whose name was [redacted]. He stated that [redacted] put a bomb in this individual's truck in Worcester, however, the bomb did not go off.

He also recalled that during one period they were operating in [redacted] they had a couple of hits on numbers action, and they went to see [redacted] in an attempt to get a loan of $3,000.00. He stated that at first [redacted] was agreeable to such a loan at an interest rate of 4% a week, but a couple of days later reneged on the loan. He stated that [redacted] went down to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA about it, and PATRIARCA told them not to kill [redacted] but if they wanted to they could break his legs inasmuch as [redacted] owed him some money.

He said he checked this license out and determined it was issued to the G&S Enterprises, 1599 Hartford Turnpike, New Haven, Conn., and the officers of the company were listed as follows:

ONOFIO MASTA, President
VINCENT SPANTINAURO, Vice President
GLORIA SPANTINAURO, Secretary

He also stated that he checked with members of the Connecticut State Police and learned that this person or organization is suspected of operating a lottery operation in Conn.

He also stated that when he checked with the Rhode Island State Police he learned, in October 1967, they observed a car bearing Connecticut Registration [redacted] parked at the Nu Brite Cleaners. This car, at that time, was registered to a [redacted]

On 1/26/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted]

Informant advised that on Sunday, 1/14/68, [redacted] (PH), [redacted] (PH) and [redacted] flew to Atlanta, Ga. They were met there by [redacted] and all of them flew to Haiti on an Overseas National airplane which had the name "CALYPSO QUEEN" and was a DC-6. He said there were 90 people on this gambling junket and it had originated in Charlotte, N. C.

He said there was an individual by the name of [redacted] from Charlotte, N. C., who lost $4,000 and, in the informant's opinion, the others were mostly "hicks" and "nickel and dime bettors." He said this group stayed until Thursday, when they departed for the States.

b6

Informant said, this time they set up at the Castelhaiti Hotel at Port-Au-Prince, Haiti. The equipment used was the same tables, etc., that they had at the El Rancho Hotel.

Informant said that on Thursday another gambling junket came in from Boston with approximately 30 people. He said that on the afore-mentioned junket they only made approximately $7,000-$9,000 and, accordingly, [redacted] and [redacted] were unhappy. Informant said, in fact, [redacted] flew back to New York because he must have felt they were going to lose money on this trip and he did not want to be around.

Informant said when the Boston flight arrived they had a "bunch of real gamblers" and, in fact, someone the first day stole $4,000 worth of chips but "such a stink was raised" the chips were never turned in. Informant said that the following were in the Boston flight:

EDDIE ROMANO, Providence, R. I., and who, supposedly, works in the [redacted]

[redacted] and a [redacted] both of whom lost money.

Informant could not recall the names of anyone else.

Informant said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was mad as [redacted] because on the junket [redacted] indicated that the expenses were 16 some odd thousand dollars and actually were only 15,000 some odd dollars, [redacted] cheating him $1,000.
Because of this, informant said that JOE KRIKORIAN (PH) from Providence, R. I., and also who works in Las Vegas, Nev., and is known as "JOE KIRK," was more or less in charge of these junkets.

Informant said that [redacted] may no longer go on these junkets and be restricted to only booking the names.

Since the bombing of Attorney [redacted] car at Revere, Mass., all of the hoodlum element in Rhode Island have become very fearful as they figure that everyone knows or thinks that RAYMOND PATRIARCA gave the OK to have the car bombed.

He stated that prior to the bombing incident every hoodlum in Rhode Island, including RAYMOND PATRIARCA, were somewhat "cocky" and felt that PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO had a very good chance to win their case in the United States District Court, at Boston, Mass. Since the bombing incident everyone is worried, including PATRIARCA, as he feels that the public sentiment will be against him when his trial commences, and he is trying to think of all kinds of excuses to keep postponing his case at Boston.

Informant said that the junket came in from Rochester, N.Y., and had approximately 51 persons aboard. Informant said the flight left Rochester and went to New York City, where they stayed overnight on Wednesday, 1/31/68, and then they all took the 8:00 am Pan American Flight on Thursday, 2/1/68.

There were two brothers, [redacted] (PH), who brought this group down. Informant said that it appeared that [redacted] was the boss and the one who was responsible for getting the group together. He said this junket stayed for four days.

Informant said there were six doctors in the group and most of them lost a minimum of $2,000.00. Informant said that a [redacted]

Informant said that [redacted] after returning to the States, had gone to Rochester to see [redacted] which totalled at least [redacted]. According to informant, [redacted] was going to [redacted] RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA. Informant said he is the only one that [redacted] gave this information to. Accordingly, this information should be treated extremely confidential.

Informant said that after they had the trouble with [redacted] a "kid" named [redacted] (PH) from New York City and whom informant described as [redacted] tall, [redacted] weighing [redacted] pounds, and in his [redacted] came in to the hotel after the first day of gambling looking for the count. Informant said that [redacted] was supposed to be the [redacted] but JOE KIRK threw him out of the hotel, bodily. Informant said that KIRK told [redacted] to tell [redacted] that he was "out" and they would run their own gambling.

Informant advised that [redacted] on the last day, came with [redacted] and three other individuals who informant did not know but who did not bet, and they just hung around for the day. [redacted] was accompanied by [redacted] named [redacted]. Informant said that neither one of these individuals did much gambling. Informant said that he determined that [redacted] gets 50% of whatever money the individuals "blow" that he brings, after deducting for his expenses.

Informant advised that he was at the Nu Brite Cleaners [redacted] and RAYMOND PATRIARCA and DANNY RAIMONDI were also present, and [redacted] came in for a short time and then left. RAYMOND placed a call to an individual named [redacted] and, from the conversation, that the informant could overhear, he was telling [redacted] to "get the stuff straightened out before the trial." Informant said that from that conversation, it appears that RAYMOND is trying to get things current prior to his forthcoming trial in U.S. District Court, in Providence.

On 2/11 and 12/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA JOHN F. KEHOE, JR.:

Informant advised that he has an office in the [redacted] for RAYMOND PATRIARCA. He stated that on Wednesday, 2/14/68, [redacted] approximately 80 people going to the Esquire Sportsman's Club in Haiti. He stated that [redacted] (previously reported as [redacted] is the individual who OK's the names of the junketeers for credit. [redacted] is scheduled to meet the informant on [redacted], at the above office at [redacted]

According to the informant, the Haiti junkets produce income in the amount of 50% above expense. A trip of this type involving 80 people will amount to a substantial amount of money. It should be noted that this financial arrangement is identical to the information furnished by [redacted]

Also involved in these junkets are JOSEPH KIRKORIAN and [redacted]. They are individuals who obtain interested junketeers and KIRKORIAN is an individual who assists in overseeing the amount charged by the casino.

During the week of 2/4/68, informant advised that he was called in by LARRY BAIONE. BAIONE, who is in weekly contact with PATRIARCA and JOSEPH LOMBARDO told him that the junket trips are proving to be a success and that he, BAIONE, made the remark, "Let's see how you make out with them and probably I'll have a good surprise for you."

Informant considers BAIONE's remarks to mean that he is seriously being considered as a candidate for the LCN.

He advised that LARRY BAIONE, JOE LOMBARDO, NICK GISQ attend card games commencing about 10:00 pm every Monday night at the Hanover Street Associates, Hanover St., Boston, Mass. This game is considered to be a large game but only a select few associates of the LCN attend.

He advised that [redacted] who is associated with the [redacted] was [redacted] b6 b7C

He stated that [redacted]

Informant advised that [redacted] has been indicted in New York for [redacted] owes a substantial amount of money to PATRIARCA and the only reason he is not "knocked off" is because of the fact that he owes this money to PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

On 2/13/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted]: b6 b7C b7D

Informant stated that he has heard that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is losing his power in the Rhode Island area; that several small gangs are appearing in Providence, R.I., who will not take orders from PATRIARCA and who, are pulling scores on their own. He stated that he has heard that PATRIARCA cannot control this element and that this element does not care what PATRIARCA thinks of their activities. He said that this group are not members of the LCN; that they are a much younger group and are pulling all kinds of house breaks without cutting PATRIARCA in on the take.

BS 92-118

He also said that PATRIARCA is still afraid of his forthcoming trial at the U.S. District Court, Boston, Mass., and is quite concerned over this trial since the bombing of [redacted] car at Revere, Mass. PATRIARCA figures that this publicity will do him no good at his trial, and it appears that the attorneys may try to postpone this case again. b6 b7C

On 2/14/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted] b2 b6 b7C b7D

Informant stated he has been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and discussed the recent bombing of [redacted] car at Revere, Mass. PATRIARCA said he is afraid of this bombing as he feels that the publicity received will not help him in his forthcoming trial in the U.S. District Court at Boston, Mass., as he is afraid the jury will want something done when his case comes up. He is also afraid of this case, as he stated this is an FBI case, and that there can be very little tampering with such a case, and that it is impossible to get to the FBI. b6 b7C

PATRIARCA mentioned ANGIULO's case, where he was found not guilty recently in the State Court in Mass., and stated that ANGIULO was lucky because his case was in State Court. PATRIARCA did not elaborate on this remark.

Informant said it appears that PATRIARCA has lost a great deal of respect among the hoodlum element here, and that two groups have been formed. One being the group of [redacted] who has in his group such "nuts" as [redacted] and [redacted]. The other group is composed of [redacted] who was formerly a [redacted] but has had a falling out with him. b6 b7C

Informant stated that [redacted] is a very dangerous person; that he is [redacted] and would kill anyone without provocation. He also stated that [redacted] is a local hoodlum, has taken up a gun and is also "nuts" and is threatening other hoodlums in the Providence area.

As to the actions of [redacted] Informant stated that this person has all ready gone to a [redacted] Providence, R.I., and a close friend of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's and has shaken him down. [redacted] refuses to bring his complaint to the police department, but has consulted with RAYMOND PATRIARCA about it, but PATRIARCA does not seem to be able to do anything about it.

[redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted] (A):

On [redacted] advised that on Thursday, a week ago [redacted] and [redacted] and the informant and 83 others departed Logan International Airport, East Boston, Mass., via Standard Airlines for Haiti. When they arrived at Haiti they all checked in at the El Rancho Hotel.

Informant advised that [redacted] had set up this gambling junket which was made up of individuals from the Boston area. Informant said that prior to leaving the airport [redacted] showed up and spoke to informant. He said that [redacted] came for the specific purpose of seeing [redacted] and also to give him $500.00 in cash.

[redacted] spoke to the informant and told him that he did not have the $500.00 to give to [redacted] and told informant that "They gave him a bad time, yesterday." Informant said that [redacted] between them handle [redacted] Las Vegas. When they had a little trouble collecting on the markers, [redacted] saw RAYMOND PATRIARCA to help them collect. As soon as this happened, RAYMOND wanted "a piece of these junkets" and, finally, has worked it to the point where JOE KIRKORIAN, aka Joe Kirk, has taken over and [redacted] has been, more or less, pushed to the side. b6 b7c

Informant said that when [redacted] set up these junkets himself he did not have to account to anyone for money collected, but once RAYMOND PATRIARCA became "connected," he wanted to know what the expenses were, etc., and [redacted] tried to cheat for at least $1,000.00 and RAYMOND found out. b6 b7c

Informant said that [redacted] had a good setup in that the flights to Haiti go for $500.00 to $550.00 a person. [redacted] would make approximately $100.00 of this for himself, and the balance would be used to pay for the hotel bills, plane fares, etc. The gamblers, upon reaching Haiti, are given $500.00 in chips as a "come-on" to gamble at the casino set up in the hotel. b6 b7c

Informant said that the last two or three flights to Haiti JOE KIRKORIAN has been in complete charge and, in fact, he does not tell [redacted] anything, except what he wants them to know. Informant said that KIRKORIAN, [redacted] and RAYMOND PATRIARCA needed [redacted] to set up these flights as [redacted] in the informant's opinion, is a very intelligent man and he would say an honest businessman who had the ability to set up these junkets with little or no problems. b6 b7c

Informant said that in connection with this flight from Boston, and a second one which followed from Minneapolis, he is of the opinion that [redacted] set up a bunch of "legits" as passengers so they would not make any money and, in fact, b6 b7c lose money. In connection with this, informant said that usually JOE KIRKORIAN or the person who was in charge of the flight always had $25,000.00 to $29,000.00 in cash when they arrived in Haiti. This money is used as "the bank" and is later used to pay off the hotel bills, and other expenses.

Informant said that at the El Rancho Hotel, the tables were set up and the following operated the tables:

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] (PH), who worked as a shield at the crap table.

[REDACTED] a new kid from Nevada, who worked for [REDACTED] in Las Vegas, who is about [REDACTED] years of age, [REDACTED] and was a [REDACTED]. He worked as a pay-off man at the crap tables.

[REDACTED] who was a [REDACTED] had [REDACTED] hair, who is also out of Nevada and was brought by [REDACTED]

A girl named [REDACTED] was approximately [REDACTED] years of age, [REDACTED] had [REDACTED] hair and according to informant, was a good dealer.

Informant said that on the Boston flight were approximately 40 women, 20 "hustlers" from the North End of Boston, and there were about 20 "suckers." He said that most of the men were with their wives and were a "legit" group. The 20 "hustlers" were hoodlums from the North End of Boston.

who walked around with a deck of cards in their hands trying to start their own card games.

He said that [redacted] Mass., was one of the hoodlums and [redacted] who was referred to as [redacted] and he was in constant companionship with a kid named [redacted] but whom informant said was some kind of a Karate expert. Also, there was [redacted] Mass., whom informant said his first name was [redacted]. Informant said that no money was made on this Boston group and, in fact, they were glad to see them leave because, if anything, they broke just even.

Informant said that the second group came in on Sunday from Minneapolis via Standard Airlines. He said that they had to put half of these individuals at the Ibo-Lele Hotel, and half of them at the Castel Haiti. He said there were 129 people on this flight. Informant said that the gambling activities were moved up to the Ibo-Lele dining room. Informant said that just about everyone on this flight was a "legit" person and most of them appeared to be doctors with their wives. He said that on the first night these individuals cashed in their chips for the total amount of $12,000.00, and on the second night they turned in $17,000.00 worth of chips, which put JOE KIRKORIAN "in the hole" inasmuch as this was the only cash he had.

Informant said that KIRKORIAN figures he has been "set up" with these two flights and, in fact, he did not even have enough money to pay the hotel bills. He said that on the last day JOE KIRKORIAN gave checks to the Ibo-Lele and El Rancho totalling around $8,320.00. He said that they were all aboard the plane, and the manager or owner of the Ibo-Lele Hotel came aboard the plane with a government man because he did not want a check -- he wanted cash. He said that JOE KIRKORIAN was able to convince the government man that the checks were good because the last time they left Haiti they owed the government money, and after they had collected the markers in the States, JOE KIRKORIAN went back down to Haiti and paid off the check. Because of this, the government man let the plane leave.

Informant said that he feels that [redacted] set up these two junkets for the specific reason of hurting KIRKORIAN and the rest for forcing him out.

Informant said that there was a lot of dissension the last couple of days and JOE KIRKORIAN and [redacted] approximately $9,000.00 salary for these two junkets, and the last junket, which they did not pay. They only gave [redacted] $600.00 and JOE KIRKORIAN accused [redacted] of having [redacted] stealing money, saying that one of the customers saw him do so. Informant said that [redacted] is quite peeved and they flew only as far as Miami, where they got off.

Informant said that the [redacted] are going to bring in a junket on 2/25/68, and they had proposed [redacted] to bring his crew to run the tables. Also, they wanted him to work exclusively for them and they guaranteed them their money.

Informant said that on the Minneapolis group, there was a [redacted] telephone [redacted] who seemed to be in charge of the Minneapolis group, as he was "Okaying" anyone who needed credit, which informant said, were very few. Informant said that [redacted] seemed to be responsible for bringing 14 on this junket. Informant said that [redacted] is supposed to be building a big house in Minneapolis, as he bought a number of mahogany statues which weighed over 121 pounds, and which he had to pay over $400.00 in duties on, and he said that [redacted] also goes to Las Vegas with the junkets.

Informant advised that DANNY RAIMONDI and [redacted] had gotten together with [redacted] (who is tied up in the [redacted] has invested money in a casino down in the Barbados, and this casino is run by a Canadian group and they are not sending any money back to [redacted]. Informant said that DANNY and [redacted] received the "OK" from RAYMOND PATRIARCA to go down to the Barbados and spend for [redacted] and set up a meet between the Canadian representatives to find out what the "fed up" is as far as giving [redacted] a return on his investment.

Informant said that [redacted] is in trouble with RAYMOND PATRIARCA because of financial reasons which are fully known to informant. Informant said that [redacted] had brought 10 people on a junket, and one "blew $500.00, another, $10.00, and a third, $5.00." Informant said that they actually lost money on these people. Also, [redacted] is in the same boat as [redacted] because some people he "OK'd" for the trips were "free loaders" and not gamblers.

Informant advised [redacted] is trying to shake down [redacted] for $100.00 a week for protection money. He said that RAYMOND is aware of this and is very mad at [redacted] as it is causing a lot of "heat" around the hill and several people are aware of it.

Informant said that [redacted] hangs out with [redacted] and [redacted] and they are "always high" on "pills" and "booze."

A case has been opened in the Boston Office on [redacted] Boston File 92-1238, for investigation under the Hobbs Act violation.

On 2/29/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted]

BS 92-118

RAYMOND PATRIARCA has not been too talkative about his forthcoming trial in Boston, Mass., but he has heard PATRIARCA is very unnerved. At one point he was not too worried as he felt he had a chance but since the bombing of [redacted] car at Revere, Mass., he is concerned as he feels public sentiment will be against him at this trial.

Informant said he had no idea what defense PATRIARCA might use in this trial.

On 3/6/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted] (A):

Informant advised that last evening, 3/5/68, JOE KIRK left for New York in connection with another gambling junket to Haiti. Informant said KIRK has just about ruined these junkets and in fact has knocked [redacted] and [redacted] off the junket.

Informant explained that there has been a lot of dissension between JOE KIRK, [redacted]. He said that [redacted] and [redacted] have reportedly gone to work for [redacted] at the International Casino in Haiti. Informant said that JOE KIRK said that [redacted] stealing money from the tables for the last couple of junkets to Haiti, and that is why [redacted] and [redacted]

Informant said that in connection with this junket going from New York with JOE KIRK, informant said that [redacted] is bringing 20 gamblers, and a fellow named [redacted] is bringing 20 gamblers. Informant said that they do not have a chartered flight for this junket, and all tickets were purchased on a commercial airline. It is expected they will stay in Haiti for four days and will return next Sunday (3/10/68).

Informant said that KIRKORIAN still has [redacted] on his last trip, and they discussed the fact that [redacted] said he would not work for them again and was going to work [redacted]. Informant said that KIRKORIAN said that he would [redacted] if he did not work for [redacted].

Informant said there is a lot of dissension between [redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, JOE KIRKORIAN, [redacted]. He explained that [redacted] has been with these junkets for over 10 months and has probably only gotten $400.00 to $1,000.00 for himself. [redacted] figures that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is "taking him" as they indicate they are not collecting the money on the markers. Informant said that [redacted] owes him money on some of the flights and informant believes he has spent it. Also, [redacted] had cut up between themselves over $35,000.00 in markers before [redacted] came in to the picture.

Informant said that [redacted] has been telephoning [redacted] on almost a daily basis to see if JOE KIRKORIAN had collected the money for the markers from [redacted]. Informant said that [redacted] and [redacted] will never collect any money from these markers.

Informant advised that [redacted] called [redacted] in New York from telephone number "WI lliams 2-5892," last Thursday and twice on Saturday. Informant said that [redacted] had gone to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and told him that [redacted] and [redacted] owed money on these previous junkets and, accordingly, [redacted] was going to act as the "go-between" with [redacted].

Informant said that [redacted] has gone so far as to get out of these gambling junkets that he has met with [redacted] and wants to sell him his end of the business.

BS 92-118

Informant said that from the conversation in Providence it appears that [redacted] because of holding out some of the money from the junkets.

Informant said that JOE KIRT had mentioned in conversation that the individual in Minneapolis who was in charge of the gambling junket that originated there was named [redacted] (not further described).

Informant advised that in regards to the information pertaining to [redacted] in connection with the [redacted] "beef", informant said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA received a telephone call from the "boys" in New York, and he was told to keep his nose out of the island as this was their property. Accordingly, RAYMOND told [redacted] to forget [redacted] or anything else in connection with this problem.

On 3/12/68, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA [redacted]

Informant said that since the arrest of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and his conviction at Boston, Mass., on 3/8/68, a great many people in the Providence, R.I. area are very happy over this. He said the hoodlums are running scared over this conviction and feel that since PATRIARCA is not infallible that the FBI will be obtaining more convictions. He said the bookies were betting 3-1 that PATRIARCA would not be found guilty.

Informant stated that he talked to [redacted] WILLIAM "WILLIE" MARFEO, who was killed in gangland fashion at Providence, R.I., and learned that [redacted] had been subpoenaed by the defense in PATRIARCA's trial in the U.S. District Court, Boston, Mass., but they did not use him in that he told [redacted] Attorney for PATRIARCA, that he would not testify in PATRIARCA's behalf. Informant also stated he had also learned that [redacted] of slain WILLIE MARFEO had been subpoenaed by [redacted] in behalf of PATRIARCA; that she was taken to the Parker House, Boston, Mass., She was told to testify for PATRIARCA but she also was reluctant to do so, and for that reason PATRIARCA's attorney did not know how she would react on the stand and never used her as a defense witness in this trial.

Informant stated that sometime during the latter part of February, 1968, the home of [] was shot up in that someone had fired a bullet into the front of the house during the early morning hours.

Informant stated that on the next day, [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, at Nu Brite Cleaners and told PATRIARCA that if there were any more shots fired into anyone of the MARFEO houses, [] PATRIARCA accountable, and would get a gun and proceed to Nu Brite Cleaners and would shoot PATRIARCA and anyone else that was present.

Informant stated that PATRIARCA attempted to tell [] he knew nothing about this incident, and stated he would attempt to get at the bottom of it.

Informant also stated [] met LOUIS TAGLIANETTI for the first time in several years; that TAGLIANETTI [] and wanted to know what he was doing. At that time, informant told him that he was aware of TAGLIANETTI's activities and that he had people like [] and [] under his wing and that they were beating up people for him. Informant said TAGLIANETTI did not deny or affirm this allegation, but [] with TAGLIANETTI, [] that he had made admissions of this fact.

Informant said that [] seems to be the man that gets the orders from TAGLIANETTI, and that [] gives [] and others pep pills and they do his beck and call. He described [] and [] as []

BS 92-118

He also stated he has heard that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is desirous of eliminating [redacted] but will not do so at this time, as PATRIARCA feels he is in enough trouble at this time. b6 b7C

Informant stated that since the arrest of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and since his conviction, [redacted] feels that PATRIARCA is all through and that his usefulness to the La Cosa Nostra is over. Informant stated [redacted] heard that [redacted] is taking over the Boston area from JERRY ANGIULO and the talk around is [redacted] might even succeed RAYMOND PATRIARCA as the boss in this area. b6 b7C b7D

Informant stated also [redacted] has heard that there will be a great deal of trouble in the Rhode Island area now that PATRIARCA has been found guilty in that several small time groups may become active and to get the power they want they may have to eliminate each other. b6 b7C

Informant advised that since the conviction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, in the Federal Court at Boston, Mass., on 3/8/68, everyone in Providence, R.I., is frightened. RAYMOND PATRIARCA is very unhappy and has expressed an intense dislike for the FBI as he blames them along with JOE BARON for his troubles. He also stated that the hoodlums were so confident prior to the jury coming in with a guilty plea that the bookies in Rhode Island were laying odds of anywhere from 3-1 to 5-1 that PATRIARCA would not be found guilty. He said that when the jury returned its guilty verdict, all of the hoodlums were shocked and the bookies lost money on this bet.

Informant said [redacted] of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, is very concerned over [redacted] being found guilty, and is afraid that if [redacted] goes to jail, [redacted] with the hoodlum element in Providence, R.I., as some of these people [redacted] [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

Informant said that LOUIS TAGLIANETTI continues to hang out at Bucci's Club, De Pasquale Ave., Providence, R.I., and continues to have [redacted] and others working for him. b6 b7C

Informant said that [redacted] gives this group some [redacted] and they do the bidding of TAGLIANETTI. b6 b7C

Informant said [redacted] that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is somewhat fed up with TAGLIANETTI's antics and is disturbed over the formation of this group as all of the law enforcement officials are aware of this setup, and it is drawing heat on the hill, and he does not want any heat at this time. b6 b7C b7D

Informant said [redacted] rumors that if [redacted] keeps up his antics he will get bumped off but informant had no additional information concerning this, but would be alert for such information. b6 b7C

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1.Date 2/16/68

During the afternoon of February 8, 1968, inquiries at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, indicated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was sitting in this cleaners.

[redacted] while being interviewed concerning the slaying of [redacted] RUDOLPH MARFEO, on Saturday, April 20, 1968, she voluntarily furnished the following information:

About two or three days before the trial of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA at Boston, Massachusetts, on March 4, 1968, RAYMOND PATRIARCA had [redacted] on the telephone in that PATRIARCA wanted to see him at his headquarters at Atwella Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. RUDY MARFEO told [redacted] that he would not go to PATRIARCA's headquarters, and if PATRIARCA wanted to see him he should come to his house at 23 Taber Drive, Johnston, Rhode Island.

She stated that PATRIARCA was driven [redacted] by [redacted] and just before they came into the house [redacted] to stand on the top of the stairs leading into the family room, located in the cellar area, and for her to listen to the conversation so that he could have a witness to this conversation.

She stated that PATRIARCA, [redacted] went to the family room; that she followed [redacted] instructions and listened to the conversation, which was as follows:

PATRIARCA wanted RUDOLPH MARFEO to get one of the MARFEO family, one without a criminal record to come to his trial at Boston, Massachusetts and testify to the fact that he got along well with WILLIAM MARFEO and that he (PATRIARCA) had nothing to do with WILLIE's death. PATRIARCA said that if one of the MARFEO family would do this for him, he (PATRIARCA) in turn would get rid of [redacted] and said [redacted] he would "dump them" meaning kill them.

[redacted] told PATRIARCA that he would testify himself, if PATRIARCA would get rid of these men right away. PATRIARCA said he would not do it now, but would do so right after he was found not guilty at this court.

RUDY MARFEO told him that he would not have any member testify for PATRIARCA under these conditions.

[redacted] then heard [redacted] and PATRIARCA discuss the killing of WILLIE MARFEO and that PATRIARCA had said that for the past two years HENRY TAMELEO and [redacted] wanted WILLIE killed because he would not cut them in on his crap game as they wanted a cut from this game. PATRIARCA said he told them not to kill WILLIE and kept putting them off, but after two years of listening to them, he did not actually tell them he could be killed, but said he did not care. He told RUDY MARFEO he said this, but did not think they could set up WILLIE for the kill.

PATRIARCA also told [redacted] that the reason they wanted WILLIE killed was because of his crap game.

PATRIARCA also told [redacted] that WILLIE had come to him and wanted to give him (PATRIARCA) a piece of the game, but PATRIARCA told WILLIE he did not want a piece as he started the game and it was all his. HENRY TAMELEO and [redacted] did not feel the same way and when WILLIE would not cut them in they were angry at him and wanted him out of the way.

[redacted] heard that [redacted] had been subpoenaed for PATRIARCA's trial, but was not used, and when [redacted] was asked about this he told them that [redacted] had called him and said that RUDY MARFEO had said it was all right for him to go to the trial and testify in PATRIARCA's behalf. He was not used because they found out he had been arrested on one occasion for gambling.

On 3/8, 11/68, [] advised SA [] that [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA's position is such that the LCN authority for New England could be transferred to someone in Boston who is less vulnerable than PATRIARCA and who has not been compromised by the FBI. The "beef" between PATRIARCA and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI could be serious enough for a "hit" on either one.

On 3/12/68, [] advised SA [] that since the arrest and conviction of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, he (PATRIARCA) is all through as the LCN boss and his usefulness to this group is over.

Informant said there have been rumors that [] Boston, Mass., is taking over the Boston area from JERRY ANGIULO and the talk around is that he might even succeed PATRIARCA as the boss in this area.

Informant also said he has heard there will be a great deal of trouble in Rhode Island now that PATRIARCA has been found guilty in that several small-time local groups may become active and to gain the power they want they will have to eliminate each other.

On 3/18/68, [] advised he has heard conversations to the effect that PATRIARCA's power in the LCN is gone and he will be replaced as its leader in the near future as his usefulness to this organization is dead.

On 3/19/68, [] furnished the following information to SA []

[] was in Providence, R. I., on [] where he had [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA stated he was due in federal court in Boston for sentencing on [] 3/25/68, but he intends to then enter an appeal. Title: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

Character: ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis: Results of automobile checks at Connecticut and Florida set out. Informants advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to maintain his headquarters at Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Ave, Providence, R. I., and it appears he is losing his power in the La Cosa Nostra (LCN), as local hoodlum groups are springing up who do not consult with him and who are causing trouble and newspaper publicity in the Providence area. Informants further stated it appears subject and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI (LCN member) may be at "odds." Subject concerned over his appeal in the U. S. Court of Appeals, First Circuit, at Boston, Mass. Informants have no information subject involved in any illegal activities. CONSIDER ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

Inasmuch as Connecticut license 921894 is listed for the General Electric Company, no credit or criminal record check could be made.

On March 8, 11, 1968, BS T-1 advised that since the conviction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA in Federal Court at Boston on March 8, 1968, it has seriously affected PATRIARCA's "position" of authority in Providence, Rhode Island, and the La Cosa Nostra (LCN).

Informant also advised it is rumored that RAYMOND PATRIARCA and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI have had a "falling out" and PATRIARCA cannot exercise control over TAGLIANETTI as he formerly did.

Informant also advised that because of PATRIARCA's and HENRY TAMELEO's convictions in the United States District Court at Boston, Massachusetts, PATRIARCA does not have anyone of stature that he can trust to represent him in the area since LOUIS TAGLIANETTI is on the "outs" with him and there is no one with the experience of these people to settle any disputes.

On March 12, 1968, BS T-2 advised that since the arrest of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and his conviction in the Federal Court at Boston, a great many people in the Providence area are very happy over this as they now feel that justice is being done.

Informant said since this conviction the hoodlum element are running scared over this and feel that the LCN can be penetrated by the FBI. They now realize that PATRIARCA is not infallible. Informant said the bookies were giving odds of 3 to 1 that PATRIARCA would not be convicted by the jury.

Informant stated he had heard that [redacted] WILLIAM "WILLIE" MARFEO, who was killed in gangland fashion at Providence, Rhode Island, and [redacted] "WILLIE" MARFEO, had been subpoenaed by [redacted]

b6
b7c

Mass.

BS 92-118

PATRIARCA's attorney to testify at his trial in Boston. Both were taken to the Parker House, Boston, and they were told to testify for PATRIARCA by stating "WILLIE" MARFEO and he (PATRIARCA) were good friends and never had any trouble. [redacted] did not want to testify, and they found out he had a gambling record and did not want to use him for fear his gambling record would come out. They were not certain as to the manner in which [redacted] would testify and, for that reason, were reluctant to use her as a defense witness. b6 b7c

On March 12, 1968, BS T-3 advised that since the conviction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA at Boston, Massachusetts, everyone in Rhode Island is quite concerned, especially the hoodlum element. PATRIARCA blames the FBI and JOSEPH BARON for his troubles and now has an intense dislike for both.

The hoodlums were shocked over PATRIARCA's conviction and they were so sure he would beat this case that the bookies were giving odds of 3 to 1 that he would be found not guilty.

On March 16, 1968, RAYMOND PATRIARCA was observed by Bureau Agents standing in front of the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

On March 8, 18, 1968, BS T-4 advised that after the conviction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA at Boston, Massachusetts, all of the hoodlum element in Providence were shocked and felt that PATRIARCA never would be convicted. Informant said they are now fearful of the FBI and also they realize that PATRIARCA is not infallible.

Since PATRIARCA's conviction, he can be found sitting near the window of the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, and is most unbearable and no one can talk to him. He blames everyone but himself for his conviction and troubles with the FBI.

Informant said he has heard rumors to the effect that PATRIARCA is not as well regarded as he used to be and that everyone is blaming him for the troubles caused and for all of the recent arrests in the Boston, Massachusetts, area, and for JOE BARON turning into a "Government witness."

BS 92-118

Informant said it appears that PATRIARCA's power is going and informant said the younger element of local hoodlums are beginning to form groups, which they never did before, and they are not going to listen to PATRIARCA. They also will not go to PATRIARCA for his advice or help.

On March 18, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to be upset over his conviction at Boston, Massachusetts. Informant said PATRIARCA is also upset over the alleged split between himself and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, another LCN member.

On March 18, 1968, BS T-5 advised that since the arrest and conviction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA he has been most unreasonable with people he has come in contact with and has been acting like a "mad man."

No one can talk to him and he becomes highly excitable. PATRIARCA is worried about going to jail, as he feels he will die in jail.

On April 3, 1968, BS T-2 advised that on both occasions RAYMOND PATRIARCA was observed at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. On these occasions, PATRIARCA was alone.

On April 16, 1968, BS T-6 advised "LOUIS, THE FOX" TAGLIANETTI, LCN member, and [redacted] a local Providence hoodlum, visited RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. The purpose of this visit was not known to informant.

On April 26, 1968, BS T-6 advised that in regard to the double murder of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI at Providence, Rhode Island, on April 20, 1968, RAYMOND PATRIARCA had very little to say about this incident.

On May 9, 1968, BS T-2 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA can always be found sitting at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, all day long and that DANNY RAIMONDI is there with PATRIARCA. Informant said that not many people contact PATRIARCA at this place of business and none of the hoodlum element are allowed to hang around this place of business.

Informant said it appears that LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, LCN member, is not too friendly with PATRIARCA as he has not been seen at the Nu Brite Cleaners in some time.

Informant said that people such as [redacted] not LCN members, have been the cause of most of the trouble on the "hill" in the recent past and it appears that RAYMOND PATRIARCA either cannot or will not intervene in these matters.

BS 92-118

On May 13, 1968, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to hang out at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence. Informant said he does not have any contacts at this place of business, and it appears he does not carry the weight he formerly did in the hoodlum affairs in that the local hoodlums are not consulting with him.

Informant said he has heard rumors to the effect that the local hoodlums are doing things without PATRIARCA's permission and this action is causing a great deal of newspaper publicity which PATRIARCA does not like. PATRIARCA is afraid this unfavorable newspaper publicity concerning the killings in Providence might hurt his appeal in the United States Court of Appeals, First Circuit, as he feels the publicity might show he is connected with the murders in Rhode Island and that he was responsible for the "OK" of the killing of "WILLIE" MARFEO at Providence, Rhode Island.

On May 15, 1968, BS T-5 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is trying to correct convinced people that his appeal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Boston will be favorable towards him because he does not want people to think he is "losing his grip" on the situation in Rhode Island.

DETAILS:

On May 9, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA just sets at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island all day long and that DANNY RAIMONDI is usually there also.

Informant advised PATRIARCA makes very few contacts here and he gives the public the impression that he is a legitimate business man.

Informant said LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, La Cosa Nostra (LCN) member, does not seem to be friendly with PATRIARCA as he does not spend any time with PATRIARCA.

BS 92-118

On June 10, 1968, BS T-1 advised he has heard rumors to the effect that there might be a gang war in the Providence area, in the future, and that RAYMOND PATRIARCA will have to go. Informant stated he feels that someone will be taking shots at PATRIARCA, and his associates because of the gangland killings of RUDY MARFED and ANTHONY MELEI at Providence, Rhode Island on April 20, 1968.

The above information was furnished to Captain [redacted] Detective Division, Providence, Rhode Island. b6
b7c

On May 9, 1968, BS T-2 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to spend his day at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island and [redacted] [redacted] has been visiting him at this establishment. b6
b7c

RAYMOND PATRIARCA is not taking any active part in the crime situation in Rhode Island, at least from an outward standpoint and to substantiate this remark, informant said that the young local hoodlums have been causing a great deal of trouble in the "Hill" area and PATRIARCA does not or cannot put a stop to this trouble which is causing a great deal of newspaper publicity.

On June 7 and 8, 1968, BS T-2 advised he has heard rumors to the effect that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is concerned over the recent gangland murders at Providence, Rhode Island on April 20, 1968, and is afraid he may be a target one of these days. PATRIARCA is afraid of the younger element and for that reason does not leave the immediate area of Nu Brite Cleaners.

On May 15, 1968, BS T-3 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is so upset over his conviction in the Federal Court at Boston, Massachusetts that he is trying to convince people that he will win his appeal in the Circuit Court at Boston, Massachusetts.

Informant said PATRIARCA is doing this because he does not want people to think he is losing his grip on the situation in Rhode Island.

BS 92-118

Informant also advised he has heard rumors to the effect that PATRIARCA does not have the power he formerly had with the LCN and that a power struggle is now going on to determine who will succeed him when and if he goes to jail.

On June 17, 1968, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to hang out at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

On May 2, 1968, BS T-5 advised he heard that when RAYMOND PATRIARCA goes to jail, LOUIS TAGLIANETTI appears to be taking steps to become the "leader" of organized crime in New England.

He is apparently giving orders to a group led by [redacted] of Providence, Rhode Island. TAGLIANETTI can be found at a place called Buccip in Providence, Rhode Island.

BS 92-118

On July 19, 1968, BS T-1 advised that on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, RAYMOND PATRIARCA is usually not around during the day but shows up at the Nu Brite Cleaners usually early in the morning for a short time. He is usually at the cleaners on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, as these are "action days" and the days he has to be there for his associates to see him.

Informant said PATRIARCA is not interested in taking any of the gambling junket trips to Haiti. Informant said he had heard from unconfirmed sources that PATRIARCA supposedly has "a piece" of the Rehoboth Country Club or the Rehoboth Golf Club, Rehoboth, Massachusetts.

On July 20, 1968, BS T-2 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA just stays at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, and does nothing and he does not say too much to anyone. It appears PATRIARCA does not trust anyone any more.

On July 26, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

On July 29, 1968, BS T-1 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

On July 26, 1968, and August 2, 1968, BS T-3 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is "still calling the shots" for "the outfit" in New England, and that [redacted] of Boston, Massachusetts, is still associating with RAYMOND PATRIARCA on a regular basis. b6

On July 31, 1968, and August 1, 1968, BS T-5 advised that since the recent convictions of La Cosa Nostra (LCN) members at Boston, Massachusetts, there should be a lot of

"in-fighting" now and, especially, if and when RAYMOND PATRIARCA goes to jail.

On July 31, 1968, [redacted] Chief Investigator, Attorney General's Office, State of Rhode Island, Providence County Superior Court House, Providence, Rhode Island, confidentially advised SA [redacted] that secret indictments will be returned, on August 1, 1968, by the State of Rhode Island, against RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO, and RONALD CASSESSO for "Conspiracy to Murder WILLIAM 'WILLIE' MARFEO." b6 b7C

In another indictment, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO, and [redacted] were charged with "Conspiracy to Violate the Rhode Island Gambling Laws." b6 b7C

Warrants would be lodged against TAMELEO and CASSESSO with Massachusetts State Authorities as they were "sentenced to death" in a recent murder trial in Massachusetts.

The above secret indictments were returned on May 31, 1968, by a Special Grand Jury at Providence but were locked up at the court until the completion of the murder trial, at Boston, Massachusetts, where TAMELEO was a defendant. b6 b7C

On August 1, 1968, [redacted] Chief Investigator, Attorney General's Office, State of Rhode Island, Providence County Superior Court House, Providence, Rhode Island, advised as follows:

On this date, Grand Jury indictments were opened in the Providence County Superior Court before Judge FLORENCE MURRAY, charging RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA with "Conspiracy to Murder WILLIAM 'WILLIE' MARFEO," along with HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO. He was also indicted on a charge of violating the gambling laws of the State of Rhode Island, along with [redacted] and HENRY TAMELEO. [redacted] was apprehended on this date and held in lieu of $10,000 bail. b6 b7C

RAYMOND PATRIARCA surrendered with his attorney and was released after making bond of $50,000 on the "Conspiracy to Murder" charge and $10,000 for "Violating the Gambling Laws of the State of Rhode Island." Indictments against HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO were filed with the authorities at the Walpole Prison, Walpole, Massachusetts, where they are confined in "death row."

On August 14, 1968, BS T-1 furnished the following information:

He advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, every day except weekends, which is his usual pattern.

On August 21 and 22, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, all week and has been very moody and is chasing everyone away from the Nu Brite Cleaners where he maintains his headquarters.

Informant further advised that since the marriage of PATRIARCA [redacted] now lives at [redacted] and it appears RAYMOND PATRIARCA may be living in one of the renovated apartments over the Nu Brite Cleaners.

b6
b7C

On August 30, 1968, BS T-6 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is at the Nu Brite Cleaners, Atwells Avenue, in a daily capacity and is in a very ugly mood. PATRIARCA is disgusted with the antics of the younger hoodlums in Rhode Island and feels they are causing him a great deal of trouble by causing newspaper publicity in the Providence area.

On September 5, 1968, BS T-5 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to be at the Nu Brite Cleaners, Atwells Avenue, Providence, on a daily basis. PATRIARCA is upset over his recent arrest at Rhode Island on the charge of "Conspiracy to Murder WILLIAM 'WILLIE' MARFEO."

He is also disturbed over the antics of the local hoodlums in Providence and has issued orders they are to stop getting into trouble and causing newspaper publicity as it is a source of embarrassment and harassment, to him.

ADMINISTRATIVE

In reference to information reported by BS T-1 [REDACTED] concerning PATRIARCA's desire for money and how he has changed, informant related the following:

b2
b7D

[REDACTED] MASS. has proposed to RAYMOND PATRIARCA a scheme whereby he will "OK" [REDACTED] for $5,000 credit in multiples of $1,000, on one of the junkets he has going to Las Vegas. [REDACTED] would be with [REDACTED] on the junket and, after he received $1,000 credit in chips, would move around to various tables and only gamble to the point where he would lose about $200 of the $1,000, and the balance of $800 in chips he would give to [REDACTED] who would cash them in.

At this point he would "OK" [redacted] for another $1,000, and the same plan would go into effect until such time as his credit of $5,000 was used up. The remaining cash of about $3,200 would be split between [redacted] and PATRIARCA for giving the "OK." [redacted]

Informant also said [redacted] and [redacted] flew to Hollywood, Fla., got the "OK" from RAYMOND PATRIARCA to "take someone" who is supposed to be a friend of PATRIARCA's on their diamond ring "switch" game. Informant explained that this game is to show "the sucker" a legitimate diamond ring that they want to sell at a ridiculously low price, indicating that it is "hot," and when the sucker brings it to a legitimate "appraiser" for an appraisal and decided to buy it at a "good price," they switch the ring with an identical piece of junk.

Because of this, has incurred the wrath of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and ANGELO BRUNO of Philadelphia, all LCN members who have a business interest in the casino. PA.

Informant said actually collected $100,000 and that 40 percent was taken by PATRIARCA, the balance of $60,000 to be returned to the casino.

On 10/18/68, furnished the following information to SA two or three weeks ago, had a gambling junket that went to England. is in the "jackpot" with ANGELO BRUNO, LCN boss in Philadelphia, whom was supposed to have beaten out of some money in connection with the gambling junkets.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA had to pay BRUNO the amount of money owed by in that he "OK'd" with BRUNO. PATRIARCA is "completely furious" with and, from the way PATRIARCA feels, informant would not be surprised if PATRIARCA had "hit."

On 11/12/68, furnished the following information to SA

RAYMOND PATRIARCA is incensed over the fact that he has been arrested again by the Providence Police for violation of the "Usury" laws. He heard PATRIARCA and others are starting to take up a fund or collection from various people in order to have a cash reserve to furnish bail if any more arrests are made. This fund is also being taken in the event LOUIS TAGLIANETTI, and are able to make bail on their murder charges.

DETAILS:

On September 9, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, and has been in a very bad mood. PATRIARCA, in addition to being in a bad mood, is not allowing anyone to hang around the cleaners and only talks business with whom it concerns, and no one else.

BS 92-118

On September 12, 1968, BS T-2 advised that many years ago, PHIL BUCCOLA was the head of La Cosa Nostra (LCN) in New England. After BUCCOLA went to Italy, RAYMOND PATRIARCA took over as "top man" of this organization.

Informant described PATRIARCA as a member of LCN.

On September 13, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA usually drives a light blue automobile bearing Rhode Island registration KT-763. Informant also advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been in contact with the following local hoodlums: [REDACTED] b6 b7C [REDACTED] Informant did not know the purpose of this meeting.

On September 17, 1968, BS T-3 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, on almost a daily basis. He is very moody and will not talk to many people as he is very concerned over his appeal in the Federal Court at Boston, Massachusetts, as he does not feel he will win this appeal. PATRIARCA has indicated that if his appeal is denied he will take his case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

On September 17, 1968, and November 9, 1968, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is very upset over his recent arrest in Rhode Island on a charge of "Conspiracy to Murder WILLIAM MARFEO." PATRIARCA is afraid that if convicted on this charge, he will be like HENRY TAMELEO (LCN member) and will have to spend the rest of his life in jail, which he does not want to do.

Informant advised that PATRIARCA is so moody these days he is acting like a "wild man" and does not trust anyone. He will not talk to anyone in a group and will only talk to one person at a time and only to those people he thinks he can trust.

BS 92-118

On September 17, 1968, BS T-5 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA feels he is coming to an end of his career and is afraid that eventually he will go to jail. Since HENRY TAMELEO, LCN member, has received the "death penalty" in Massachusetts, PATRIARCA has been very nervous and feels he has no connections to help him in his cause and does not know which way to turn or whom he can trust at this time.

PATRIARCA continually stays at the Nu Drite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, and is afraid to move from here as he feels his every move is being watched. He is starting to feel like a "caged animal."

On September 20, 1968, BS T-6 advised that gambling junkets to London, England, that are being arranged by [redacted] [redacted] are actually RAYMOND PATRIARCA's.

b6
b7c

On September 25, 1968, BS T-7 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA has investments in various companies in the Boston area, named the Hub Electric Company, Charlestown, Massachusetts, and a bumper business in Chelsea, Massachusetts, which is now defunct, and others he could not recall.

BS 92-118

On September 23, 1968, BS T-8 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to hang out at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, on almost a daily basis.

On September 23, 1968, and October 2, 1968, BS T-9 advised that ABE SARKIS, a well known gambler and bookmaker in the Boston area, is not in any way connected with RAYMOND PATRIARCA, LCN head at Rhode Island.

On September 20, 1968, BS T-10 advised he has met RAYMOND PATRIARCA in the past but has no information concerning PATRIARCA.

On September 24, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to drive a blue automobile bearing Rhode Island registration KT-763.

On October 4, 1968, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to hang out at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. PATRIARCA is incensed at HENRY TAMELEO as he, PATRIARCA, blames TAMELEO for "bringing JOE BARON." If TAMELEO had not brought JOE BARON around, there would be no trouble at this time. PATRIARCA is upset over his conviction in Federal Court at Boston and is very upset over his recent arrest in Providence, Rhode Island, on a "Conspiracy to Murder" charge.

On October 8, 1968, BS T-1 advised that recently two young men met with RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Nu Brite Cleaners, Providence, and then departed in a 1964 or 1965 Plymouth or Dodge Convertible bearing Vermont registration 153-582.

Informant advised PATRIARCA continues to drive a car bearing Rhode Island registration KT-763. Informant further advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has completely changed since being found guilty in his trial in the Federal Court at Boston in that at one time RAYMOND was loyal to all of his personal friends and associates but, for the last several weeks, he is giving the "OK" to anyone who has a "set up" to take someone and as long as he gets a "piece" of the money.

BS T-1 said it appears that PATRIARCA is attempting to grab every dollar he can get his hands on because PATRIARCA believes he will lose his appeal in Federal Court and will go to jail and by the time he gets out of jail he would have lost control in Providence and, whoever replaces him, will not relinquish the position.

On October 23 and 24, 1968, spot checks were maintained at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence. PATRIARCA was noted to be there. No unusual activity was noted.

On October 9, 1968, [redacted] Chief Investigator, Attorney General's Office, State of Rhode Island, Providence County Superior Court House, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that on October 8, 1968, the Providence County Grand Jury returned an indictment against RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA on charges of two counts of "Usury." He was not located, on October 8, 1968, but voluntarily surrendered himself through his attorney, [redacted] on October 9, 1968. b6

He was arraigned at the Providence County Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, and was released on $10,000 bond.

On October 9, 1968, BS T-3 advised he heard rumors to the effect that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had received word to the effect that a warrant for arrest was out for him, on October 8, 1968, and that the Providence Police would arrest him on this warrant. When PATRIARCA heard this, he left the Nu Brite Cleaners as he did not want to be picked up during the evening where he would have to remain in a cell overnight. Informant said he heard PATRIARCA intends to surrender himself through his Attorney, [redacted] b6

On October 11, 1968, BS T-6 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA needed $200,000 since he has four of his people in "death" row, and he does not care where the money comes from.

On October 11, 1968, BS T-1 advised that since the arrest of RAYMOND PATRIARCA on October 9, 1968, he has been in "one of his nastiest moods" and will not talk to anyone.

On October 14, 1968, PAUL MARKHAM, United States Attorney, Boston, Massachusetts, advised SA [REDACTED] that on this date the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, for the First District, upheld the convictions of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO, after being found guilty in the United States District Court of Boston, Massachusetts, before United States District Court Judge FRANCIS J. W. FORD. On this same date subject filed a writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court.

On October 30, 1968, page 46 of the "Providence Evening Bulletin," a daily newspaper in Providence, Rhode Island, contained an article entitled, "Prison Term for Patriarca Waits Appeal."

This article in substance advised that the court clerk of the Appeals Court at Boston said the attorneys for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO, and RONALD CASSESSO had applied for and been granted stays of sentence on further action to allow time for a United States Supreme Court appeal. The attorneys have until November 13, 1968, to ask the United States Supreme Court to review the case.

On October 16, 1968, BS T-8 advised that since the arrest of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, on October 9, 1968, by the Providence Police on "Usury" charges he has been most unbearable and no one can talk to him.

Informant said PATRIARCA does not have any respect for anyone any more and is giving the "OK" for the hoodlums to swindle people who were friends of PATRIARCA.

According to the hoodlums, PATRIARCA has no respect for anyone anymore and will give his "OK" to swindle anyone, just as long as he gets a piece of the "take."

BS 92-118

On November 4, 1968, BS T-1 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to be at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

On November 4, 1968, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was observed, during the a.m., at which time he was in the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence. No pertinent information was developed, and he was noted to be alone during this time.

The Identification Division of the FBI made available the following arrest record for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, under FBI #191 775, dated October 16, 1968:

On 12/26/68, [] furnished the following information. b2 b7C

Informant explained that [] is going to set up an office in Providence, R.I., under the name of [] will work with him and will supply the names. He said that [] will not control these junkets and will be just paid a set fee on each one. He said they planned for 159 people on each junket for the seven-day period. They expect to charge $1,500 and, on this amount, $100 per person will go to the junketeer who will pay for the plane. Preliminary arrangements are for the people to stay at the Hotel Acropolous which will cost $13 a day, including the meal. He said that the hotel wants an advance of $100,000 but they are in the process of trying to wheedle this amount down to $35,000. Also, they have to guarantee the hotel 60 people a week. b6 b7C b7D Informant said that after the first junket they will only bring out of the United States the amount of money necessary to pay the expenses of that flight. In that way, the "profit" before the flight will remain in the United States.

Informant said that in addition to [] (PH), [] and RAY PATRIARCA will own stock in [] b6 b7C b7D

Informant said that all of the markers will come back to [] office in Providence, and [] will collect. In this way, they will have a double check on each other and [] will be able to protect RAYMOND's interest. Informant said that the collection of the markers will be strictly handled in a legitimate business way. Also, instructions are that no "wise guys" like those who went on the Haiti junkets will be allowed on any of these junkets to Greece. b6 b7C b7D

On 1/8/69, [] furnished the following information. b6 b7C

Concerning the London junkets, [] [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA [] concerning the London junkets. One reason for the meet was to settle a dispute with [] Informant advised that the casino claims that [] owes them [] in turn, claims it is only b6 b7C b7D $17,000.00 because $300 in chips were not credited to the sixty customers that had been on their trip. This made a difference of the $18,000. PATRIARCA agreed that only $17,000 is owed and contact had been made with ANGELO BRUNO of Philadelphia who is in charge of these English junkets. The informant advised that, if necessary, PATRIARCA, [redacted] and BRUNO will meet in New York in the near future in order to settle this dispute one way or another. He advised that [redacted] will still make the trips to England, but he has to put up $20,000 in escrow in order to operate these junkets.

b6
b7D

Informant advised that PATRIARCA told [redacted] that he thinks he will have to go to jail in the very near future. Once he does, [redacted] of Providence, Rhode Island, will take over Providence. Moneys obtained from the junkets will be furnished by [redacted] to [redacted] and a record kept of these payments. [redacted] will give the money to [redacted] who, in turn, will control the money for [redacted]. In the event any disputes come up, either on gambling junkets or other business, [redacted] was to see [redacted] who would be in charge of the Providence area. He said the Boston area is completely controlled by ANGIULO and [redacted].

b6
b7D

Concerning a story that [redacted] was going to take over for RAYMOND, informant pointed out that there was not sufficient money in Providence, Rhode Island area because the organization has been depleted and disorganized. In addition to this, [redacted] is very close to COLUMBO in New York, was recently married to a nice girl and is living in a nice apartment and, therefore, he does not think that [redacted] would be interested at all in taking over the Providence area. He indicated that PATRIARCA would certainly rather have [redacted] in preference to [redacted] because there were indications that [redacted] does not care to have the responsibility of maintaining the organization in Providence. As a matter of fact, [redacted] recently took off for a skiing trip in Austria. Informant believes, however, if PATRIARCA so designates [redacted], he will accept the responsibility and probably has.

b6
b7D

The name of PHIL BUCCOLA, former Boss, New England area, was mentioned to him. During the discussion of BUCCOLA, informant stated that BUCCOLA was forced to retire from the LCN and thereafter returned to Italy. The circumstances were that VITO GENOVESE, who rules the LCN, was very close to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and liked him immensely. Through the power of GENOVESE, he was able to force BUCCOLA to retire, it being pointed out that GENOVESE did not like BUCCOLA because he was a Sicilian and wanted to get rid of the Sicilian leaders in the LCN. Having forced BUCCOLA to retire, the control of the New England LCN was due to be inherited by either JOHNNY BRUNO (since deceased) or PATRIARCA, but because of GENOVESE's power and prestige, he was able to designate PATRIARCA as the leader.

At this time, [redacted] was very close to BUCCOLA, having [redacted] for many years. [redacted] had some power in the New England LCN family and did not agree with GENOVESE regarding the appointment of PATRIARCA. He did not agree that PATRIARCA should control the Boston LCN and Providence, R.I. and derive a substantial amount of proceeds of the illegal activities from the Boston LCN. This created a falling out between [redacted] and PATRIARCA who at one time were very close. He pointed out that [redacted] has not talked to PATRIARCA for seven years, except on one occasion when PATRIARCA's wife, HELEN, died about four years ago.

Concerning [redacted] he advised that he is still hanging around the Astor Motel, Cambridge, Massachusetts, in which he, [redacted] has invested a substantial amount of money.

He said [redacted] visits PATRIARCA religiously once a week.

Concerning HENRY TAMELEO, he advised that TAMELEO was doing "very hard time" and PATRIARCA is becoming a little bit concerned with him.

BS 92-118

Informant advised that PATRIARCA has serious trouble with his family in Rhode Island in view of inroads FBI made in conviction of his top lieutenant, TAMELEO, and other Boston LCN members as well as the devastating effects of hearings concerning wire taps of his capo, LOUIS TAGLIANETTI. Both TAMELEO and TAGLIANETTI presently in jail on local murder warrants based on FBI witness and cooperation.

This necessitated PATRIARCA to appoint a soldier

b6
b7c

Informant advised LCN operation in Rhode Island is in deep financial trouble because of FBI investigations.

Details:

On January 8 and 13, 1969, BS T-1 advised that [redacted] a La Cosa Nostra (LCN) member had a meeting with RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Nu Brite Celaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. Informant did not know the purpose of this contact.

BS 92-118

On November 25, 1968, BS T-1 advised that [redacted] had been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA again. b6 b7C

On December 2, 1968, BS T-1 advised that [redacted] Rhode Island had visited with RAYMOND PATRIARCA. Informant advised he did not know the purpose of this meeting, however, [redacted] did not stay too long. b6 b7C

Also [redacted] HENRY TAMELEO had been in to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

It is noted HENRY TAMELEO is an LCN member, and as been very close to PATRIARCA. He is presently confined in death row at Walpole Prison, Walpole, Massachusetts.

On December 6, 1968, BS T-1 advised [redacted] met with RAYMOND PATRIARCA. The purpose of this visit was not known to informant. b6 b7C

On December 19, 1968, BS T-1 advised [redacted] Rhode Island is alleged to operate the gambling junkets [redacted] and, he is said this to protect the interests of RAYMOND PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

On November 21, 1968 and December 20, 1968, BS T-2 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA continues to maintain his office at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. PATRIARCA can be seen there on a daily basis.

Informant said PATRIARCA feels his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court will be denied and he is afraid he will have to go to jail.

On January 22, 1969, BS T-2 advised that when RAYMOND PATRIARCA heard his appeal before the U. S. Supreme Court had been denied, he acted like a wild man.

Informant said he heard RAYMOND PATRIARCA has instructed his attorney to file additional appeals and to stall his going to jail.

BS 92-118

PATRIARCA wants to do anything he can to keep the court hearing his appeals and is trying to imitate HOFFA in the way he stalled his going to jail.

On November 19, 1968, December 2, 1968 and January 16, 1969, BS T-3 furnished substantially the same information as BS T-2.

On December 20, 1968 and January 16, 1969, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA still maintains his headquarters at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

Informant said it has been very difficult to talk to PATRIARCA because he does not trust anyone and he is afraid his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court will be denied.

On December 4, 1968 and December 20, 1968, BS T-5 advised that since his recent arrest by the Providence Police in October, 1968 and the arrests of his associates, PATRIARCA is interested in getting up a fund to aid his friends who will be arrested. He desires this fund so it can be used for bail purposes as the bail being set is very high.

Since some of his associates have not been able to make bail he, PATRIARCA, is being blamed because they feel he has lost his contacts to protect these people.

BS T-5 also advised that he heard rumors to the effect that when and if RAYMOND PATRIARCA goes to jail the leadership of the LCN will be turned over to JERRY ANGIULO of Boston, Massachusetts.

On December 5, 1968, the Albany Division furnished the following information.

[redacted] Motor Vehicle Bureau, Montpelier, Vermont, on November 29, 1968, advised SA [redacted] that Vermont license [redacted] was issued to [redacted] for a 1965 Buick Special, blue convertible, VIN [redacted] purchased from Russel Buick, Manhasset, Long Island, New York.

BS 92-118

On December 2, 1968, BS T-6 advised that [redacted] was formerly listed to [redacted] New York, who is no longer in the area, but left this forwarding address. [redacted] rented from [redacted] a contractor who has erected several lodges and "A" frames in the area. b6 b7C

This area is close to Mt. Snow, one of the larger ski areas in the world. [redacted] are now in [redacted] could be reached through [redacted] during the winters of 1967 and 1968. Informant has no information concerning [redacted] b6 b7C

On December 17, 1968, BS T-7 advised [redacted] Massachusetts, and who is associated with the [redacted] Massachusetts is "in" with RAYMOND PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

[redacted] reportedly visits Providence, Rhode Island on almost a daily basis and frequents the race tracks. b6 b7C

Informant did not know what connection [redacted] has with the rackets but reportedly is in good graces of PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

On January 14, 15, 16 and 20, 1969, spot checks were made at the Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island at which time RAYMOND PATRIARCA was observed sitting in a chair near the window of this cleaners.

No activity was noted at this cleaners.

Page 1 of the Providence Evening Bulletin, dated January 13, 1969, carried a caption "PATRIARCA Loses Plea in Court".

This article in substance stated the U. S. Supreme Court refused today to hear the appeals of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO, from prison terms handed them after convictions in the Federal Court at Boston, Massachusetts.

BS 92-118

On January 21, 1969, [redacted] Administrative Assistant to the United States Attorney, Providence, Rhode Island advised she learned that on this date United States District Court Judge FORD, Boston, Massachusetts had granted a stay of execution for RAYMOND PATRIARCA in that his attorney had asked for a stay of execution. This stay of execution was granted on the basis that a timely filing of a petition for rehearing be filed before the United States Supreme Court. b6 b7c

Informant advised that there was a meeting yesterday [redacted] at Giro's Restaurant, North End, Boston, concerning the incarceration of RAYMOND PATRIARCA. The meeting was attended by GENNARO J. ANGIULO, JOE LOMBARDO, NICK GISO, [redacted] SAMMY GRANITO and others and it concerned the method of operation of "the PATRIARCA family" when PATRIARCA is in jail. b6 b7C b7D

According to informant, PATRIARCA continues to run the operation from the jail and that minor "beefs" in the Boston area will be handled by JERRY ANGIULO and LARRY BAIONE (also known as LAWRENCE ZANNINO), with ANGIULO having the ultimate decision.

Informant advised that in Rhode Island, the "minor beefs" will be handled by EDDIE ROMANO, an LCN member. All "major beefs" will be relayed from ANGIULO and ROMANO to either PATRIARCA [redacted] to PATRIARCA himself in Jail, where PATRIARCA will make a decision. b6 b7C

Details:

On January 22, 1969, BS T-1 advised that since RAYMOND PATRIARCA has learned that his appeal before the United States Supreme Court has been turned down he is acting like a "wild man," and he is trying to stall his going to jail. His attorney CHARLES CURRAN has filed an appeal with the court in Boston to ask the Supreme Court to review his case again.

According to the informant this is just a stalling tactic on the part of PATRIARCA to stall his going to jail.

The informant stated that PATRIARCA is having his attorney try everything possible to keep him, PATRIARCA, out of jail, and he plans to use the same stalling tactic used by JAMES HOFFA after his conviction.

BS 92-118

On January 30, 1969, and February 5, 1969, BS T-2 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was at the Nu Brite Cleaners, Providence, Rhode Island. With PATRIARCA was RICHARD CALLEI and EDWARD ROMANO. It appears that both of these individuals were there in order to help RAYMOND PATRIARCA fill out blank forms similar to the type filled at penitentiaries whereby they list the names of their visitors.

On February 12, 1969, BS T-2 advised during the previous week a person known as [redacted] who supposedly was the owner of the Nu Brite Cleaners was in to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

b7c

Informant stated that PATRIARCA has been very moody and figures that he is going away "to the can," and is trying to stall any moves on the part of the government to get him in the Federal Penitentiary.

Informant also stated that EDWARD ROMANO, a local hoodlum in Providence, Rhode Island, had been in to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA. Informant stated that he did not know the purpose of this contact by EDWARD ROMANO.

Informant also stated that [redacted] of Boston, Massachusetts, had been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA. Informant stated that [redacted] is engaged in the gambling junket business and it is possible that he was down here to give RAYMOND PATRIARCA a piece of the profits.

b6
b7c

Informant also stated that JOSEPH PATRIARCA, brother of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, has been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Nu Brite Cleaners for the past week or so, however, he does not know what the contact was made for or the purpose of this contact.

On February 13, 1969, BS T-3 advised that rumors had been circulating around the area that the Nu Brite Cleaners located at Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, no longer will be the office for the hoodlums once RAYMOND PATRIARCA goes to jail.

BS 92-118

Informant stated that this was common talk among the hoodlums with whom he has been hanging around.

The informant stated that he has no information as to where the new office would be:

On February 18, 1969, and February 20, 1969, BS T-2 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA [redacted] has been hanging around the Nu Brite Cleaners [redacted] in fact has remained at the Nu Brite Cleaners all morning long with his father. b6 b7C

Informant also stated that [redacted] better known as [redacted] had been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA within the past week, and that they had a serious discussion in the back room of the cleaners, however, informant was not able to furnish any information concerning the reason why [redacted] contacted RAYMOND PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

Informant also stated that [redacted] a LCN member, had been in to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA within the past week. Informant stated that he did not know the purpose of this contact. b6 b7C

Informant also stated that JOSEPH PATRIARCA, brother of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, has also been in contact with his brother, however, informant did not know the purpose of this contact.

On February 24, 1969, BS T-1 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA still maintains his headquarters at the Nu Brite Cleaners in Providence, Rhode Island, however, PATRIARCA feels that he will have to go to jail in the near future, and is trying to make arrangements to keep his interest while in jail.

Informant stated that he has heard rumors that PATRIARCA is attempting to set up an organization like Veto Genovese, in that he wants to run the organization from "the can." PATRIARCA is wondering if he can pull it off.

On February 27, 1969, BS T-2 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been at the Nu Brite Cleaners in Providence, Rhode Island, on a daily basis.

On March 7, 1969, and March 10, 1969, BS T-2 advised that rumors have been circulating around the area of Providence, Rhode Island, that [redacted] might be the "go between" for RAYMOND PATRIARCA when he goes to jail, but [redacted] also known as [redacted] is the one who will make the decisions on the outside for RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

Informant further advised that during this period of time [redacted] had been in contact with RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Nu Brite Cleaners. Informant did not know the purpose of this contact. Informant said that most of the hoodlums "on the hill" [redacted] and if RAYMOND PATRIARCA goes to jail, he is almost sure that no one will take any instructions from [redacted]

On March 7, 1969, BS T-4 advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA, LCN leader of New England, and ANGELO BRUNO LCN leader of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, get a piece of the profits from the gambling junkets operated by [redacted] of Boston, Massachusetts.

On March 10, 1969, BS T-5 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is now standing trial in the State Court on "loan sharking," and PATRIARCA is afraid of the testimony of [redacted] and feels that he may have also be convicted on this charge. Since PATRIARCA's appeal in the Federal Court has been denied by the United States Supreme Court PATRIARCA has been making arrangements [redacted] handle his money affairs [redacted] in turn will keep [redacted]

On March 12, 1969, BS T-1 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA prior to his appeal in the United States Supreme Court had been denied and prior to his being tried in the State Court, Providence, Rhode Island, on loan sharking, he (PATRIARCA) has had several meetings with [redacted]

BS 92-118

RAYMOND PATRIARCA is interested in making sure that [redacted] that any money received from anyone should be [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] has agreed to take care of [redacted] while RAYMOND PATRIARCA is in jail.

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant also stated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA will try to rule Providence, Rhode Island, from jail, and is trying to make these arrangements.

Informant also stated that he feels that RAYMOND PATRIARCA will do "hard time" while in prison.

On March 12, 1969, BS T-6 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been arrested by the Federal authorities on the basis of his denial of an appeal before the United States Supreme Court. He has not been sent to a Federal Prison as he is presently on trial in the State Court on loan sharking, [redacted]

b6
b7C

Prior to the denial by the United States Supreme Court, PATRIARCA was holding meetings at his headquarters Nu Brite Cleaners, 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, wherein he was trying to maintain control of the LCN at Providence, and desires to hold control of "the organization," while he is serving his five year sentence in a Federal Prison.

Informant also stated that [redacted] has been [redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and the word around is [redacted] will hold any money for RAYMOND PATRIARCA and that [redacted] is in prison.

b6
b7C

Informant also stated that he feels that RAYMOND PATRIARCA will "do hard time" when he goes to prison as he is not use to this type of life, having been away from prison since 1944.

On March 18, 20, and 21, 1969, BS T-2 advised that not too many of the hoodlum element are hanging around the Nu Brite Cleaners due to the fact that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is no longer around and also because of most individuals have no use for DANNY RAYMONDI.

He said that most meetings are either at [redacted]
[redacted]
Providence, Rhode Island.

b7D

On March 28, 1969, BS T-2 advised that since RAYMOND PATRIARCA went to jail things in Providence, Rhode Island, have been more or less disorganized.

Informant stated that EDDY ROMANO is RAYMOND's emissary while he is in jail, and RAYMOND [redacted] [redacted] will be the ones to visit him in the Federal Penitentiary. These individuals will "bring the large problems" to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and he will make the decisions which will then solve whatever the dispute may be.

TRIAL AND INCARCERATION OF RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

On February 28, 1969, [redacted] Chief Investigator, Attorney General's Department, State of Rhode Island, Providence Superior Court, Benefit Street, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that on February 27, 1969, the trial of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and [redacted] [redacted] would commence before Judge JAMES C. BULLMAN, in a Providence County Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island.

b6
b7C

The above individuals were being tried on a charge of conspiracy to loan money at excessive rates of interest in violation of State Law.

On March 5, 1969, [redacted] Chief Deputy, United States Marshal, Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, furnished the following information: b6 b7c

The United States Supreme Court has refused to rehear the petition of RAYMOND PATRIARCA on his Writ of Certiorari and the judgement and commitment for PATRIARCA issued by the United States District Judge FRANCIS W. FORD, Boston, Massachusetts, on March 25, 1968, was given to the United States Marshal's Office, Boston, Massachusetts, on March 4, 1969.

On March 5, 1969, the United States Marshal's Office, Providence, Rhode Island, on the basis of the above information arrested RAYMOND PATRIARCA at Providence, Rhode Island, while he was on trial in the Providence County Superior Court.

PATRIARCA has been sent to the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island, in that the Superior Court Judge JAMES BULMAN, Providence, Rhode Island, has issued a Writ of habeas corpus, on a daily basis, for PATRIARCA as PATRIARCA is tanding trial here on ursuary charges.

[redacted] advised immediately on the completion of this trial, PATRIARCA will be taken to a Federal Prison to commence serving his five year sentence give to him on March 25, 1968, in the United States District Court at Boston, Massachusetts. b6 b7c

On March 4, 1969, the Washington Field Office furnished the following information:

On January 13, 1969, the United States Supreme Court (USSC) had denied Certiorari for : RAYMOND PATRIARCA HENRY TAMEIEO and RONALD J. CASSESSO.

Subsequent thereto the above individuals asked USSC to reconsider their case.

On March 3, 1969, the USSC denied their petition for rehearing.

BS 92-118

On March 3, 1969, [] Assistant Clerk, USSC, advised the above individuals have exhausted all legal remedies and that this case is now been finally concluded in the Supreme Court.

On March 18, 1969, [] Chief Deputy United States Marshal, Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was found not guilty in the Providence County Superior Court, on the ursuary charge for which he was standing trial.

[] advised that PATRIARCA was remanded to the Adult Correctional Institution, and will be transported to a Federal Penitentiary in the near future.

On March 25, 1969, [] United States Marshal, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that at 10:00 AM, March 24, 1969, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was taken from the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island, and transported to the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary to commence serving his five year sentence received at the United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts.

My memorandum of 7/10/69, attached, outlined the situation where an unidentified individual is alleged to have unauthorized possession of logs of our prior microphone coverage on Patriarca. When I talked to [redacted] Deputy Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, on another matter today, he furnished the following developments in the captioned matter.

Department Attorney [redacted] in Boston interviewed [redacted] of the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction, who is the person who advised the Department that the Patriarca logs were in possession of an unauthorized and unidentified person. [redacted] that he did not wish to identify the person in possession of these records to the Department. He also stated that the National Headquarters of the Council on Crime and Correction in New York was aware of this situation and inferred that persons in the National Office were cognizant of the identity of the person in possession of these records. [redacted] told [redacted] that the Department was considering bringing [redacted] before a Federal Grand Jury to get to the bottom of this matter.

[redacted] also advised that unnamed Department personnel interviewed one [redacted] at the National Council of Crime and Delinquency Headquarters in New York today and were informed by him that the National Headquarters of this organization did not wish to be involved in this matter at all. [redacted] reportedly advised the Department representatives that he would make an inquiry as to the identity of the person in possession of these records and would report back to the Department. I asked [redacted] to keep me informed on developments as they occur. He indicated that he would do so.

ACTION: As additional information is received in this connection, it will be promptly brought to your attention.

On the attached teletype from the Boston Division dated July 9, 1969, captioned "Louis J. Taglianetti, Anti-Racketeering," the Director approved our recommendation that the Department be contacted to determine whether possession of the logs of our prior microphone coverage on Patriarca by unauthorized parties would be a violation of any protective order issued in the Taglianetti and Patriarca cases. The Director also approved that we determine from the Department any course of action available to the Department to preclude the public release of this sensitive data by any unauthorized person.

[redacted] Deputy Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, was contacted by the writer today and advised that he had informed the Attorney General of the information that Patriarca logs were in the possession of an unidentified individual according to [redacted] of the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction. The Attorney General instructed [redacted] to take all appropriate action to secure return of these documents.

[redacted] stated that he had instructed [redacted] Department Attorney in Boston, to recontact [redacted] and demand from him the identity of the individual reportedly in possession of these documents. [redacted] is also to instruct [redacted] that there must be no publication by anyone of this material. If [redacted] is unsuccessful in arranging for a return of these documents, [redacted] indicated that Assistant Attorney General [redacted] will talk to [redacted] in an effort to secure return of this material. Should these approaches fail to produce the desired results, the Department will consider bringing [redacted] before a Federal Grand Jury in Boston.

In the event [redacted] cooperates and furnishes the identity of the individual in possession of this material, the Department contemplates obtaining an injunction to preclude publication of this material by this person.

[] also advised that if all the foregoing efforts fail, he contemplates requesting the Bureau, by letter, to conduct an inquiry of those individuals who had possession of these documents in connection with the Patriarca and Taglianetti cases. This would encompass Federal Judges in Providence, Rhode Island; and Boston, Massachusetts; the office of the United States Attorney in Boston; defense attorneys who had access to this material; as well as the Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston which had possession of this material in connection with the Taglianetti appeal.

[] also indicated that there were protective orders in effect covering these papers, but that a legal question exists as to the effectiveness of these orders inasmuch as both cases have been adjudicated through the Supreme Court of the United States and convictions of these subjects upheld. He, therefore, feels that there is a question as to whether these protective orders are binding at this time.

ACTION:

This matter is being followed closely with the Department. Our Boston office has been informed of the foregoing. You will be advised in the event we receive a request from the Department to conduct an inquiry.

For the information of the Bureau, investigation has been conducted in the case entitled, [redacted] et al, "ITAR-GAMBLING," Bufile 166-4355, Bosfile 166-845. Investigation in this matter revealed that [redacted] Mass., has furnished substantial information concerning individuals involved in the murder of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI on 4/20/68, at Providence, R. I. Among the persons being involved in this murder was the subject of this case. b6 b7C

In view of this investigation conducted at Boston, a substantive case has been opened, as mentioned above, and reports have been furnished the Bureau in this regard. In view of the information being made available to the Bureau under Bufile 166-4355, it is not being repeated in this intelligence investigation of subject.

The only thing appearing in this report is the fact that a complaint was being filed and a warrant issued for subject, along with his arrest and incarceration in lieu of bail. All other investigation dealing with the substantive case will be so reported under that caption.

For the further information of the Bureau, subject is presently confined at the Federal Penitentiary, Atlanta, Ga., serving a five-year sentence.

In view of the above, this case is being placed in a pending inactive status.

Title: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

Character: ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis: Informants advised, since incarceration of subject at Federal Correctional Institution, Atlanta, Ga., there has not been any organized head of La Cosa Nostra (LCN) at Providence, R. I.; however, information obtained that both LARRY BAIONE and JERRY ANGIULO, both LCN members at Boston, Mass., are heads of this organization. Informant advised orders were sent by subject to Boston that [REDACTED] LCN member, is to run organization in his absence. Subject, on 4/17/69, filed reduction in sentence motion at USDC, Boston, Mass., which was denied on 4/24/69. On 8/11/69, complaint filed before USC, Boston, and warrants issued for subject and others for violation, T. 18, USC, Sec. 371. On 8/12/69, arrest warrants issued for subject and others on charges of "Accessory Before the Fact to Murder" and "Conspiracy to Murder." On 9/15/69, subject brought to Providence Superior Court on writ of Habeas Corpus on above charges where he pleaded not guilty and released on $250,000 total bail. On same date, subject brought to USDC, Boston, on federal charges where he also pleaded not guilty and on 9/24/69, he was returned to FCI, Atlanta, Ga., by Deputy U. S. Marshals to serve his pending sentence there. CONSIDER SUBJECT ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

DETAILS:

On April 8, 1969, BS T-1 advised that since RAYMOND PATRIARCA went to jail, everything seems to be disrupted in Providence, Rhode Island, and no one seems to be running things as yet. Informant said [redacted] b6 b7C

[redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and [redacted] are the only persons that will be allowed to visit RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Federal Prison in Atlanta, Georgia.

On April 11 and 21, 1969, BS T-2 advised that since the incarceration of RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Atlanta Federal Prison, there has not been any organized group in Rhode Island. No one appears to have taken over the leadership in Rhode Island; however, informant heard rumors to the effect that either JERRY ANGIULO or LARRY BAIONE, both La Cosa Nostra (LCN) members at Boston, Massachusetts, now head the LCN in the New England area.

On April 15, 1969, BS T-3 advised that since the incarceration of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, LARRY BAIONE, LCN member at Boston, Massachusetts, will take over the leadership as reports are to the effect that JERRY ANGIULO is going into retirement.

On April 18, 1969, BS T-3 advised rumors are persistent to the effect that since the incarceration of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, there is some friction between the Boston people of the LCN and those in Providence, Rhode Island. Some individuals want the operation controlled in Providence, Rhode Island, while others, specifically, LARRY BAIONE, want it run from Boston because the money is in the Boston area.

On April 25, 1969, BS T-4 advised that [redacted] of Providence, Rhode Island, is doing the [redacted] from [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island. According to informant, this is one of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

On May 5 and 7, 1969, and June 9, 1969, BS T-5 advised that JERRY ANGIULO and LARRY BAIONE are reportedly handling the LCN matters in the Boston area in behalf of RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

BS 92-118

On June 18, 1969, BS T-1 advised no information has been developed that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is running things in Rhode Island from the Atlanta Federal Prison; however, it is felt that PATRIARCA may still be getting his cut out of any money that is being divided up. Informant had no basis for this statement.

On July 8 and 10, 1969, BS T-3 advised that information had come to his attention that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was the natural father of one [redacted] and that [redacted] is very close to [redacted] comes from the Boston area. b6 b7C b7D

On July 24, 1969, BS T-4 advised that whenever one [redacted] LCN member at Boston, takes a junket trip to the gambling casino in [redacted] he usually goes in order to represent JERRY ANGIULO and RAYMOND PATRIARCA, both LCN members. b6 b7C

On September 3, 1969, BS T-6 advised that JERRY ANGIULO of late has been very nervous due to the fact he is afraid that [redacted] has enough on him to get him indicted. Informant said that JERRY ANGIULO has been "bullying" [redacted] and RAYMOND PATRIARCA is quite burned up about it. Informant said that PATRIARCA said that there will be a lot of changes when he gets out of jail. According to informant, ANGIULO has not given money to [redacted] Informant also mentioned that PATRIARCA blames JERRY ANGIULO for his troubles. b6 b7C b7D

On September 10, 1969, BS T-6 advised [redacted] is very unhappy as he is not receiving the [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

Informant said all of the "underlings" in Providence, Rhode Island, are out making their own points in trying to figure out who will come into control later.

On September 12, 1969, BS T-4 advised that [redacted] has been going to Boston at least a couple of times a week and is usually accompanied by [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

BS 92-118

On September 16, 1969, BS T-1 advised the LCN members in Revere, Massachusetts, have mentioned that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has sent word to the LCN at Boston that [redacted] is to be the boss there, in his absence. b6 b7c

According to informant, [redacted] has always been in the background but he is a very powerful man in the LCN organization. LARRY BATONE, LCN member, is reported to have to take orders from [redacted] b6 b7c

On September 19, 1969, BS T-4 advised both EDDIE "MULLIGAN" ROMANO and DANNY RAIMONDI of Providence, supposedly beat an unknown individual for $3,000 and [redacted] went to see them for a cut of this money and, when he found out that neither one would give him any of this money because he had no part in the deal, [redacted] was angry and mentioned that he was going to [redacted]. b6 b7c b7d

On page 11, of the "Boston Herald-Traveler," a daily newspaper in the Boston, Massachusetts, area, issue of April 18, 1969, there was an article captioned, "PATRIARCA TO SEEK CUT IN JAIL TERM."

This article, in substance, advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA's attorney, [redacted] of Boston, Massachusetts, will appear in Federal Court next Thursday to ask that the reputed New England Mafia's leader five-year prison sentence be reduced for health reasons. b6 b7C

In a reduction of sentence, motion filed April 17, 1969, in the United States District Court, [redacted] included a statement from PATRIARCA's physician saying that, "It is probable that a lengthy incarceration will jeopardize this man's health and his life." b6 b7C

The statement by Doctor [redacted] of Providence revealed that PATRIARCA has suffered from a variety of illnesses since he first contracted diabetes in 1946. b6 b7C

Doctor [redacted] said PATRIARCA suffered an acute heart attack in March, 1960, and has been under treatment since then with instructions to avoid "rushing, excessive stair-climbing and heavy meals." He said PATRIARCA now has symptoms suggestive of angina pectoris. Doctor [redacted] also said PATRIARCA has a history of infections "related to his diabetic condition," recurrent sciatica and the possibility of a ruptured disc. b6 b7C

According to Doctor [redacted] PATRIARCA's medical problems were aggravated by the long illness and eventual death of his wife who died in 1965. PATRIARCA entered a period of "marked depression" as a result of her death, the doctor said, and his diabetes, in particular, has since become increasingly difficult to control. b6 b7C

In a separate letter attached to the motion, Attorney [redacted] also asked United States District Court Judge FRANCIS J. W. FORD to grant a "short, personal audience" to [redacted] b6 b7C

On April 18, 1969, the Bureau was advised that a reduction in sentence motion was filed, April 17, 1969, in the United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, by PATRIARCA's Attorney, [redacted] will appear in the Federal Court next Thursday to ask that PATRIARCA's five-year sentence be reduced because of health reasons.

b7c

On April 25, 1969, the Bureau was advised that a reduction in sentence motion, for PATRIARCA, was heard by United States District Court Judge FRANCIS W. FORD, Boston, on April 24, 1969, on the grounds that the sentence will jeopardize PATRIARCA's life. This motion was denied by Judge FORD.

On the basis of investigation conducted by Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Boston, Massachusetts, and on the basis of information furnished to Bureau Agents, by [redacted] the following complaint and warrant was obtained:

On August 14, 1969, the Rhode Island State Grand Jury returned indictments against the following for the murder of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI, along with conspiracy to murder these men.

The following were indicted on a charge of "Accessory Before the Fact" to the murder of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI, along with "Conspiracy to Murder" these men:

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

On August 15, 1969, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] appeared in Providence Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, where they had a hearing, at which time they were held without bail on the murder charge and $50,000 bail on the two counts of conspiracy to murder. They were remanded to federal custody at the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island.

On August 20, 1969, [redacted] after being apprehended by the FBI, appeared in the Providence County Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, where he pleaded not guilty to two counts of "Accessory Before the Fact" to murder. He was held without bail and $100,000 bond on the "Conspiracy" charges. He was remanded to federal custody at the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island.

On August 25, 1969, [redacted] appeared in the Providence County Superior Court, Providence, where he pleaded not guilty to the "murder" and two counts of "Conspiracy" indictment. He was held without bail on the "Murder" charge and $100,000 on the "Conspiracy" charges.

On September 15, 1969, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA appeared in the Providence County Superior Court, Providence, after being brought under guard from the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary. He pleaded not guilty to indictment charging him with "Accessory Before the Fact" to murder and two counts of "Conspiracy to Murder."

He pleaded not guilty to these charges and was held on $250,000 total bail. He was then returned to federal custody to be returned to the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary.

[redacted] and [redacted] are still at large and, when apprehended, they will be brought before the court on the outstanding indictments against them.

BS 92-118

On October 3, 1969, [redacted] Chief Deputy, b6
b7c
United States Marshal, Providence, Rhode Island, furnished the following information:

On September 13, 1969, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was brought to the Adult Correctional Institution (ACI), Howard, Rhode Island, on the basis of a writ of Habeas Corpus issued by the State of Rhode Island to appear in the Providence Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, on September 15, 1969, on an indictment issued by the State on charges of "Accessory Before the Fact to Murder" and "Conspiracy to Murder."

He appeared in the Providence Superior Court where he pleaded not guilty to the charges and he was placed on bail.

He was then taken to the United States District Court at Boston where he appeared before Judge ANDREW MC CAFFREY on a Federal Indictment issued there. PATRIARCA pleaded not guilty to the indictment, was placed on bail, and immediately returned to the ACI, Howard, Rhode Island. On September 24, 1969, he was returned to the Federal Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, where he is presently serving a five-year sentence.

On November 10, 1969, HERBERT DE SIMONE, Attorney General, State of Rhode Island, Providence County Superior Court House, Benefit Street, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that it is anticipated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA may be brought to trial in State Court as early in 1970 as possible. He had no date set for his trial.

For information of the Bureau, the following is a summary of investigation incidental to questioned surveillance:

On 9/29/64, SAC JAMES L. HANLEY, of the Boston Office, telephonically contacted the New York Office to advise that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had purchased a round-trip ticket in the amount of $9.00. However, his destination was unknown at this time.

By teletype from the Boston Office dated 9/29/64, New York was advised that PATRIARCA was expected to depart Providence, Rhode Island, via New Haven Railroad, at 8:54 a.m. on 9/30/64, with expected arrival at Penn Station in New York City. PATRIARCA was expected to meet [redacted] and [redacted] that same day in New York City. b6 b7C

On 9/30/64, PATRIARCA arrived at Penn Station under surveillance by Boston and New York Agents. After making several stops apparently to insure he had not been surveilled, PATRIARCA entered D'Angelo's Restaurant on West 55th Street, in Manhattan, New York, where he was observed by Special Agents of the New York Office meeting with [redacted] and two unknown white males. Thereafter, PATRIARCA departed D'Angelo's and proceeded to Patsy's Restaurant, West 68th Street, in Manhattan. PATRIARCA was joined in Patsy's Restaurant by [redacted] and an unknown white male. b6 b7C

Surveillance at Patsy's was afforded photographic coverage, and PATRIARCA, [redacted] and an unknown white male were photographed. At approximately 3:28 p.m., PATRIARCA, [redacted] and the unknown white male departed Patsy's and the surveillance was discontinued. b6 b7C

NY 92-1443

At this time, unknown male photographed with PATRIARCA was unidentifiable. Photograph was subsequently sent to the Washington Field Office on 10/5/64, wherein it would be exhibited to [redacted] b6 b7C

By communication dated 10/29/64, from Washington Field, it was noted that on 10/14/64, [redacted] was exhibited the photograph in question, wherein he stated [redacted] felt certain the unknown subject was [redacted] whom he described as a member of the [redacted] "family", who was highly regarded by [redacted] for his ability in handling [redacted] [redacted] b6 b7C

By teletype dated 10/2/64, from Boston to the Bureau, it is further noted that [redacted] advised that PATRIARCA informed on 10/1/64, that on the previous day he had gone to New York, and was with the Commission. b6 b7C

ADA Nassau County is of the opinion subject can be successfully prosecuted with the assistance of the FBI in the form of dissemination of the above information and photograph of [redacted] and PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

In view of the fact that the Bureau will be afforded appropriate credit for the anticipated success in this matter, it is recommended that this information and photograph be disseminated to the Nassau County District Attorney by 10/14/69, UACB.

SUBJECT: RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA

C
New England La Cosa Nostra boss Raymond Patriarca, who is presently in jail as a result of having been convicted in a Bureau gambling case, recently failed to see the humor in a radio advertisement utilized by [REDACTED] the latter's recently opened restaurant.

[REDACTED] a restaurant on Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, featuring pizza and sandwiches. The restaurant is named [REDACTED] In order to publicize the new venture, the following radio advertisement was utilized:

First male voice: Is this the place Louie?
Second male voice: Yuh - this is the place, Joe.
The sound of a machine gun is heard
First male voice: Did you get them all, Louie?
Second male voice: Yuh - I got them all, Joe.
First male voice: Good! We have to keep the holes in the Swiss cheese the same size.

It has been ascertained that one of the inmates, upon hearing the advertisement in the jail at Howard, Rhode Island, told Raymond Patriarca, Sr. Patriarca, Sr., became enraged and immediately ordered [REDACTED] come to see him. Upon arrival of [REDACTED] Raymond Patriarca, Sr., was in an extremely angry mood and told [REDACTED] "Here I am, fighting for my life and you are fooling around with these machine guns and foolish ads." [REDACTED] was instructed to immediately discontinue the radio advertisement and he did.

Suggest this be referred to the Crime Records Division for any possible use it may have for above.

ADMINISTRATIVE

Careful consideration has been given to all sources concealed and T symbols were utilized only in those instances where it was necessary to protect the identity of the source.

For the information of the Bureau, a substantive case is presently opened on subject entitled [redacted] aka - FUGITIVE, IO #4336; ET AL, ITAR, Bufile 166-4355, Bosfile 166-845.

Facts of trial has been reported to the Bureau regarding subject and others in above case under report of SA [redacted] dated 4/2/70.

Since subject is confined in jail and all background has been obtained, this case is being placed in a pending inactive status.

On 3/4/70, [redacted] furnished the following information to SA's JOHN F. KEHOE, Jr. and [redacted]

Informant advised that [redacted] from New York was the individual who made RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

Informant said that "FAT JOHN" BUCELLI, several years ago, went to New York to see [redacted] to get permission to kill RAYMOND PATRIARCA. As soon as BUCELLI left, [redacted] contacted RAYMOND and advised him. Subsequently, [redacted] killed BUCELLI for RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

Informant advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA, if he had not been arrested by the Federal Government, would have been today the top man in this country in the LCN.

Informant said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was a member of the Commission. He said that because an active investigation by the FBI on RAYMOND PATRIARCA was initiated several years ago, it was very difficult for him to travel to New York or other set meeting places and, accordingly, RAYMOND had to get off the Commission.

Informant said that PATRIARCA was so powerful that he set up a new rule whereby when a "button man" died, whatever he had would go back to the Boss to be redistributed by him.

As an example, informant said that when MIKE ROCCO died, all of his business went back to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and he redistributed by giving East Boston to JERRY ANGIULO, LARRY BAIONE, PETER LIMONE and himself.

PATRIARCA decided not to give any to the widow of ROCCO because she had sufficient money of her own and also ROCCO had [redacted] named [redacted] [redacted] was not an LCN member, but very close to the East Boston section. [redacted] had been in the business for many many years but when ROCCO died, PATRIARCA ordered [redacted] have [redacted] the [redacted] operation in Bostn.

b6
b7C
b7D

Efforts to develop [redacted] as a PC will be made.

b6

As another example, informant said that when TONY SANTANIELLO died, he had over $90,000 out in loan shark money which was the result of an original $5,000 investment on the part of PATRIARCA, ANGIULO and SANTANIELLO.

RAYMOND instructed JERRY ANGIULO to take SANTANIELLO's share of $33,000 and give it to [redacted] in some sort of a trust for [redacted]. They did not want to give any to other members of the family because PATRIARCA did not feel that they deserved same. They got none of SANTANIELLO's interest in any illegal ventures such as gaming, loan sharking, etc.

b7C

Informant said that [redacted] from the West Coast was [redacted] TONY SANTANIELLO. He explained that [redacted] originally came from this area. Informant said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA also ruled that [redacted] [redacted] also was not to receive any money.

Informant pointed out that today throughout the country this rule made by PATRIARCA concerning the deaths of the LCN members is in full effect.

Informant said that FRANKIE COSTELLO was instrumental in forcing PHIL BUCCOLA out as boss of the New England area as his replacement, PATRIARCA, who was very close to COSTELLO, was appointed boss to replace BUCCOLA. He pointed out that BUCCOLA was forced out of this position in "a very nice way" with no problems and it was mainly because he was a Sicilian. The reason for the demotion of BUCCOLA was the fact that he was the Sicilian and COSTELLO wanted to put in a Neapolitan.

At the time BUCCOLA was boss, his underboss was [redacted] who was very strong in the New England area. However, in addition, [redacted] was very strong with the New York group, including COSTELLO and was well regarded. When PATRIARCA took over, PATRIARCA set up his headquarters in Providence, Rhode Island and [redacted] was his underboss. However, in the early 1960's, [redacted] was antagonized over the fact that PATRIARCA was running the New England family from his Providence base and because of this antagonism ultimately had an argument with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and a rift developed over the fact that PATRIARCA was taking the money out of the Boston area to Providence. An argument ensued whereby [redacted] went into semi-retirement concerning the activities of the LCN in this area.

Prior to this argument, [redacted] was highly regarded by PATRIARCA and was used by PATRIARCA for his many businesses he had throughout the country.

In the early 1950's, when the Federal Tax Stamp violations came into effect, many of the bookmakers in the Rhode Island area, because of the heat put on by the original Brink's investigation of knocking over bookmakers, they became concerned and many quit bookmaking for that time. At this time, ANGIULO, who had a small book going in the North End of Boston, refused to be concerned with the new Tax Stamp violations and gobbled up many of the runners and bookmakers of other large bookmakers in the area, consequently, becoming very large. He commenced to make a substantial amount of money taking layoffs in numbers and horses and PATRIARCA, upon observing the fact that he was a good money maker, decided to "marry" him. He became close to ANGIULO and in 1960 or 1961 made both ANGIULO and PETER LIMONE LCN members.

The informant believes that this was the last time a member was made in the Boston family, but he states that he understands that other individuals have been made in other families and transferred to Boston since that time, for example RONNIE CASSESSA, ^{MASS.}

In connection with FRANK COSTELLO, the informant pointed out that he, in addition to making RAYMOND PATRIARCA, made MIKE ROCCO, [redacted] from [redacted] and [redacted]. He pointed out that [redacted] had permission from COSTELLO to operate as he saw fit and this was one of the few times that informant ever heard of such permission being granted by a boss.

Informant stated at the present time [redacted] is running the GENOVESE family as acting boss.

In relation to the possibility of NICK BIANCO, returning to the New England area to take over the family, informant does not think this is a possibility. He pointed out that NICK BIANCO is underboss to JOE COLUMBO and he is with him constantly and has too good an operation going in New York to be bothered with the problems of the New England family. He said that NICK BIANCO did bring back messages from New York to RAYMOND PATRIARCA in Providence.

BS 92-118

In connection with the "KIKI" CYLER murder in Worcester, Massachusetts, many years ago, informant advised that this was due to the fact that he, CYLER, made a pass at ANGELO BRUNO's [REDACTED] ANGELO BRUNO called PATRIARCA who contacted [REDACTED] who actually performed the "hit" on CYLER.

Details:

On November 10, 1969, BS T-1 advised that the Club Alexander in Athens, Greece, had closed down business operations and that [redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, b6 appeared extremely concerned over this closing and was sending b7C [redacted] La Cosa Nostra (LCN) member from Boston, Massa- b7D chusetts, to Athens in the near future to protect PATRIARCA's interests.

BS 92-118

On November 22, 1969, BS T-2 advised that in regard to the Club Alexander in Athens, Greece, [redacted] represents RAYMOND PATRIARCA's interests in this club. b6 b7C

On December 16, 1969, BS T-2 advised that [redacted] has been trying to break up the romance between [redacted] and his long-time girl friend, [redacted] b6 b7C

On December 4, 1969, BS T-2 advised that the rumor "on the hill" is that RAYMOND PATRIARCA either December 5 or 6, 1969, was being transferred to the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, as a result of his attorney filing motions with the court saying they needed him for pre-trial conferences on his forthcoming trial in the Providence Superior Court, Providence.

On December 5, 1969, BS T-2 advised about a week ago LARRY BAIONE, LCN member at Boston, had an anniversary and [redacted] brought a gift to Boston for [redacted] b6 b7C Informant further advised that on this date PATRIARCA did actually arrive at the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, where he will remain until his trial in State court at Providence.

On December 8, 1969, [redacted] Chief Deputy United States Marshal, Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that on December 5, 1969, RAYMOND PATRIARCA was returned to the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island, from the Federal Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, on the basis of a habeas corpus being issued by Chief Judge WILLIAM MC KENZIE, Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, in order to prepare for his defense and others in the forthcoming trial thereon charges of and accessory to murder which will commence around January 7, 1970. b6 b7C

On December 16, 1969, the Providence Evening Bulletin, a daily newspaper in Providence, Rhode Island, dated December 16, 1969, on page 21, carried a caption, "Patriarca Trial Motion is Denied." This article in substance stated that a pretrial motion seeking to permit attorneys for RAYMOND PATRIARCA and two other defendants to question State's witness, [redacted] was denied on December 15, 1969, before Superior Court Judge JAMES C. BULMAN. This motion was one of 19 pre-trial motions introduced for PATRIARCA, [redacted] and [redacted] b6 b7C

On December 19, 1969, BS T-2 advised that DANNY RAIMONDI was talking about RAYMOND PATRIARCA's forthcoming trial for the murder of RUDY MARFEO on April 20, 1968. According to informant, they had a copy of the Grand Jury testimony because there was a discussion that [redacted] [redacted] PATRIARCA, had walked to Olneyville Square after the murder where they obtained a cab and returned to their motel.

On December 29, 1969, BS T-2 advised that DANNY RAIMONDI and EDDIE ROMANO, LCN member at Providence, Rhode Island, are still having trouble with each other. It appears that they beat someone out of $3,000 or $4,000 and ROMANO wants to cut up the proceeds three ways but RAIMONDI wants it cut up four ways, the fourth being for RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

According to informant, PATRIARCA requested to see RAIMONDI at the Adult Correctional Institution and the way RAIMONDI was able to get in was to bring [redacted] to see PATRIARCA and RAIMONDI accompanied him as his [redacted]

b7D

On January 12, 1970, BS T-2 advised that rumors "on the hill" are that RAYMOND PATRIARCA might get a postponement of his trial in the Providence Superior Court which is scheduled for sometime in January, 1970.

This postponement may come on the basis that the newspapers continually play up this case and he claims he cannot get a fair trial and is trying to separate his case from the other four defendants.

On February 7, 10 and 20 and March 3, 1970, BS T-3 advised that DANNY RAIMONDI prior to the death of LOUIS TAGLIANETTI was very friendly with TAGLIANETTI, but since February 6, 1970, the day TAGLIANETTI was shot to death, RAIMONDI has been [redacted] a hoodlum from [redacted] who was on the outs with LCN members at Providence. Since TAGLIANETTI became friendly with [redacted] RAIMONDI feels TAGLIANETTI was disloyal to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and it is reported RAIMONDI [redacted] PATRIARCA who is incarcerated and now on State trial on a charge of accessory to murder RUDY MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI.

b6
b7D

On February 7 and 10, 1970, BS T-4 advised that [redacted] operating in [redacted] [redacted] about a year and a half ago had several book-maker runners taken away from him. When this happened, [redacted] went to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and asked him for help in this matter. Allegedly PATRIARCA told [redacted] he should align himself with LOUIS TAGLIANETTI and he did so.

b6
b7C

On March 6, 1970, BS T-2 advised that [redacted] was interested in testifying on the behalf of RAYMOND PATRIARCA in order to [redacted] PATRIARCA.

b6
b7C
b7D

It is noted that [redacted] was not a witness at PATRIARCA's State trial at Providence, Rhode Island.

b6
b7C

On February 16, 1970, HERBERT F. DE SIMONE, Attorney General, State of Rhode Island, Providence County Superior Courthouse, Benefit Street, Providence, Rhode Island, advised the trial for the following would commence today before Judge JAMES C. BULMAN.

The persons being tried are:

ROBERT E. FAIRBROTHERS
MAURICE LERNER
RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
JOHN E. ROSSI
RUDOLPH G. SCIARRA

On March 27, 1970, HERBERT F. DE SIMONE, supra, advised that at about 6:30 p.m., this date, the jury, in the trial of the subjects, returned the following verdict:

ROBERT E. FAIRBROTHERS, "Conspiracy," guilty; "Murder," two charges - no verdict.

MAURICE LERNER, "Conspiracy," guilty;
"Murder," two counts, guilty.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, "Conspiracy," guilty; "Murder," two counts - no verdict.

JOHN E. BOSSI, "Conspiracy," guilty;
"Murder," two counts - no verdict.

RUDOLPH G. SCIARRA, "Conspiracy," guilty;
"Murder," two counts, no verdict.

Mr. DE SIMONE advised "Conspiracy" carries a maximum sentence of 10 years.

He also said the above-named individuals have been remanded to the Adult Correctional Institution (ACI), Howard, Rhode Island, in lieu of bail on the "Murder" charge and they will remain there for sentencing by this court on the guilty verdict for "Conspiracy to Murder."

He also said that the above-named individuals will be retried on the two murder charges during the first week of September, 1970. He said Judge JAMES C. BULMAN gave these men one week to file motions for a new trial.

On April 21, 1970, [redacted] Chief Investigator, Attorney General's Office, Providence County Superior Courthouse, Benefit Street, Providence, advised a motion for a new trial has been postponed by Judge BULMAN and no date has been set as defendants' attorneys are in trial in other murder cases in Massachusetts. b6 b7C

On April 21, 1970, [redacted] Chief Deputy United States Marshal, Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, advised RAYMOND PATRIARCA is confined at the Adult Correctional Institution, Howard, Rhode Island, to await his appeal for a new trial on conspiracy to murder charge and to be sentenced on this charge. When this has been completed, PATRIARCA will be returned to the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Georgia, to finish his five-year sentence, imposed by the United States District Court at Boston, Massachusetts. b6 b7C

Dear Sir:

Enclosed are two certified copies of the judgment entered March 25, 1968.

We request that judgment be registered in your District and that Execution issue in your District.

The amount of the fine is $10,000. No collections have been made because we cannot locate assets in Massachusetts.

The issuance of the execution in your District we hope will enable you to carry into effect the collection of the fine, as the defendant's assets appear to be in your District.

Thank you very much for your co-operation in this matter.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF RHODE ISLAND

The President of the United States of America, To the Marshal for the District of Rhode Island, or to his deputy:

GREETINGS:

WHEREAS the United States of America, by consideration of the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, through a Judgment and Commitment, and a certified copy of said Judgment and Commitment filed in this District under the provisions of Title 28, United States Code, Section 1963, did on the 25th day of March, A. D. 1968 enter Judgment and Commitment against Raymond Patriarca in the matter of a fine in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00), as appears of record, whereof execution remains to be done.

WE COMMAND YOU, therefore, that of the goods and chattels and real estate of the said Raymond Patriarca within your District you cause to be levied and paid unto the Treasurer of the United States the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) constituting Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) in the whole with One Dollar and Twenty-five Cents ($1.25) for this writ and thereof also to satisfy yourself of your own fees.

HEREOF FAIL NOT and make due return of this writ and of your doings thereon to our District Court at Providence in said District on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1970.

WITNESS the Honorable Edward W. Day, Chief Judge of said District Court, at Providence in said District this 24th day of [redacted] also advised that he had checked the records of the Tax Assessors Office, City of Providence, Rhode Island, and had ascertained the following information:

b6
b7c

"All rights and interest of RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA in and to certain real estate located in the City of Providence, State of Rhode Island and more particularly described as Assessor's Plat 6, lot 535, as recorded on the rolls of the Tax Assessor's Office in the City of Providence, Rhode Island."

[redacted] advised this is the property located at 165 Lancaster Street, Providence, Rhode Island, and RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA has a one-fifth interest in this property.

b7c

"All right, title and interest of RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA in and to certain real estate located in the City of Providence, State of Rhode Island and more particularly described as Assessor's Plat 26, lot 131, as recorded on the rolls of the Tax Assessor's Office in the City of Providence."

[redacted] again said that this property is located on Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island; and according to his examination of the records, PATRIARCA owns this property outright.

b6
b7c

In regard to the above, [redacted] stated he would draw attachment papers in the near future on the above described property and give same to the Office of the United States Marshal, Providence, Rhode Island, who in turn, will file the attachments with the municipal recorder of deeds.

b6
b7c

[redacted] also advised that under the Federal rules, once the attachments are filed the Federal rules impose a six month return on execution of the Federal attachment. If after six months, if the fine has not been paid, the property can be sold to satisfy the claim.

b6

BS 93-1604

On March 10, 1970, LINCOLN C. ALMOND, USA, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that since RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA is presently standing trial for conspiracy to murder and accessory before the fact for murder in Providence Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, along with four other defendants. He did not want RAYMOND PATRIARCA interviewed concerning this civil matter.

[redacted] Chief Deputy, United States Marshall's Office, Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, advised as follows:

b6
b7c

On March 20, 1970, at the request of AUSA [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island, he filed with the Recorder of Deeds, Providence, Rhode Island, levies against two pieces of property in which RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA has an interest.

b6
b7c

These levies have been placed against the property.

with Mr. Morola?

A No, it was not.

Mr. WILLY. There was none claimed. That is all.

Recross-examination by Mr. Varone

Q Mr. Bevilacqua, one question: You stated on direct examination that as a result of a lawsuit in 1959 $8,000 was given to Mr. Tagliametti.

A No, I did not.

Q What was your testimony on that? What was your testimony?

A I stated the late Ralph Morola paid $8,000 which included attorney's fees.

Q Attorney's fees were $2,000 for collection?

A Yes.

Mr. VARONE. No further questions.

The COURT: That is all, Mr. Bevilacqua.

Mr. WILLY. That is all.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA, Sworn

Direct examination by Mr. Willey

Q Your name is Raymond Patriarca?

A Yes, sir.

Q What is your occupation, Mr. Patriarca?

A Well, I am partnership with the National Cigarettes.

Q Were you a partner in the National Cigarette Service in the years 1956, 1957, 1958?

A I am, sir.

Q And do you know the defendant, Louis Tagliametti?

A Yes, sir.

Q Did he work for you during those three years?

A He worked for the National Cigarettes Company.

Q Of which you are a partner. Correct?

A Of which I am a partner, yes.

Q What was the nature of Mr. Tagliametti's duties?

A Well, he was a good-will man. He went out and got locations and so forth and so on.

Q Locations for what?

A The cigarette machines.

Q During the year 1956, according to the return which is United States Exhibit No. 1, the organization of which you are a partner --

A Sir, I couldn't know nothing about this.

Mr. WILEY. Will you let me finish, please?

Q (Continuing) -- paid to Mr. Tagliametti the sum of $21,000.

Is that correct?

A I couldn't say yes or no, but I brought my accountant here and he has all the checks and all the papers you would need to go to your figures. I am just a partner in there but I am inactive in the business. Mr. Phil Carrozza is -- there is one boss in every company. He is the boss there, sir. I am a partner but I have nothing to say in the business.

Q You do know of Mr. Taglianetti's duties, though -- what his duties were.

A Oh, yes, sir. He did a good job. He is a good salesman. He did a good job for us.

Q But you have no say as to what the employees are paid. Is that correct?

A No, sir. Carrozza gives all the orders. We have four other people besides Mr. Taglianetti.

Q Do you know whether or not Mr. Taglianetti received any compensation --

Mr. WILEY: Withdraw that.

Q Did Mr. Taglianetti use his own automobile in the business do you know?

A I guess he did, sir.

Q Do you know whether or not he received any compensation for traveling in his automobile?

A No, sir, because they didn't allow us none. The first year we were in business we put in for some, but the Internal Revenue discovered it and we had to make money up to pay back, so we never did have that expense.

Q Do you know whether or not Mr. Taglianetti was paid by check or in cash?

A Check, sir. We are all paid by check. I am paid by check too.

Q Would you know whether or not Mr. Taglianetti would have a W-4 Form, which is a form showing the exemptions that he is claiming, on file with your company?

A I wouldn't know, sir. I wouldn't know. I got the accountant here, though. He would know all that. He would have all the papers you want.

Q What is your accountant's name?

A Harold. I don't know his last name, but he is sitting over there. (indicating) Phil -- Mr. Garrozza hired him.

Q So you would have no idea --

Would you have any idea what hours the defendant would work?

A He worked 5, 6 hours, 4 hours, 3 hours. He went out and got locations. As I said, he did a very good job, and then the man took sick. He started working a little less hours. Some days he didn't show; some days he did. Mr. Garrozza agreed to keep him on the payroll because he was the one got us started in business. He got us one-third of our business, I would say, -- our locations.

Q You say sometimes he would work 5, 6 hours a day.

A Well, I wouldn't know. He would have to answer that himself.

I don't know. He would come in and go out at his own free will. There was no card to punch or nothing like that.

Q And you were not aware at any time of what his salary was.

A Oh, yeah; $85, sir.

Q Is that $85 a week?

A Yes, sir.

Q Was he receiving $85 a week in 1956?

A I wouldn't know. I know what it is now because when I got my summons here, I asked in the office what he was getting and they told me $85 a week.

Q He was getting $85 a week. Were you friendly with Mr. Taglianetti?

A I know Mr. Taglianetti a long time, sir, probably 40 years.

Q Did you ever go out on Mr. Taglianetti's yacht?

A No, sir. I don't social with Mr. Taglianetti and he doesn't social with me.

Q Ever ride in any one of his Cadillacs?

A No, sir.

Q But he was making $85 a week, right?

A To my knowledge, that is what he is making with the National Cigarettes.

Mr. WILEY. That is all.

Cross-examination by Mr. Selya

Q Mr. Patriarca, you are here today under a subpoena.

A Yes, sir.

Q When was that subpoena served upon you?

A I think it was a week ago Monday, if I am not mistaken.

Q Since that time have you talked with the United States Attorney or anyone in his office about this case?

A No, sir.

Q Has an attorney talked with them on your behalf?

A I think Mr. Curran might have talked with them.

Q Prior to your appearance here today the U. S. Attorney was informed that you knew nothing about the records of this corporation.

Mr. WILEY. Just a moment.

A To my knowledge --

Mr. WILEY. Just a moment.

The COURT. Objection sustained.

Mr. SELYA. Excuse me a moment, your Honor.

(A pause)

Mr. SELYA. That is all, your Honor.

Mr. WILEY. That is all.

MR. ISRAEL: I have no questions.

THE CLERK: Tell the Court your name.

THE WITNESS: Harold Shabshelowicz.

THE CLERK: Spell that.

THE WITNESS: S-h-a-b-s-h-e-l-o-w-i-c-z.

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. RAO

Mr. Shabshelowicz, what is your address?

Fall River, Massachusetts.

And do you have an occupation?

I'm a certified public accountant.

And among your clients do you represent the National Vending Machine Company?

National Cigarette Service.

Q Who is the proprietor of that service?

A A partnership between Mr. Raymond Patrick and Mr. Philip Carrozza.

Q In response to a subpoena duces tecum did you bring with you certain records concerning the National Cigarette Service Company?

A Yes, I did.

Q May I see them please. Strike that. What records are they?

A You asked me to bring 1968-1969 financial statements and partnership Returns.

Q May I have them please.

MR. RAO: May these be marked for identification, your Honor please?

THE COURT: LL and MM.

(Returns for 1968 and 1969 marked Defendants' Exhibits LL and MM for Identification.)

MR. RAO: If my brother has no objection I move to introduce these as full exhibits.

MR. ISRAEL: I have objection.

THE COURT: Marked for identification, 1968 statement, LL; 1969, MM.

Q Now, Mr. Shabselowicz, showing you Defense Exhibits LL and MM for Identification, without going into the content of those exhibits, what are they?

A The balance sheet and a profit-and-loss statement for 1968 and 1969.

Q And are those certified?

A Yes.

Q And who certified them?

A I did.

Q You already told us a few moments ago that you are a certified public accountant?

A Yes.

Q Are these prepared as a matter of law?

A No, they are prepared as a matter of fact.

THE COURT: MR. ISRAEL: Just a minute. Well, I'll let it stand.

Q What are the sheets used for? You tell us; you are an accountant.

MR. ISRAEL: I object.

MR. RAO: I don't mean specifically, your Honor; generally.

MR. ISRAEL: I object.

THE COURT: The relevancy hasn't been made to appear.

MR. RAO: May we approach the bench?

(Bench conference with Mr. Rao and Mr. Israel.)

Q. Shabshelow, based upon LL and MA for Identification of the defense, how did you arrive at the contents depicted in those balance sheets?

A. From the books and records of the company.

Q. Excuse me?

A. From the books and records of the company.

Q. You actually examined and computed the figures that you observed in these books and records; did you not?

A. Yes.

Q. And where did you perform this work?

A. At my office and at the office of the company.

Q. And this refers to both the '68 and '69 balance sheets?

A. Yes.

Q. By the way, to your knowledge were you the only accountant working on those records at the time that we are talking about?

MR. ISRAEL: Objection.

THE COURT: Overruled.

A. Yes.

Q. In other words, you handled them exclusively; isn't that so?

A. I, myself.

Q. Let me ask you this: During the course of a year, let's say '68, how many times if any more than one would you go to the business or examine the books at your office?

A. At my office?

or at the business itself.

A. I'd go to the office of National Cigarette approximately twice a month.

And this is a regular procedure on your part; isn't that so?

(Witness nodded affirmatively.)

Q. Would you call that work performed by you, auditing books?

A. Not all the time. At certain times yes; sometimes no.

Q. Well, what do you mean by auditing?

A. Well, auditing is to properly identify disbursements and the receipts and to see that the company is reporting its proper profit, proper loss, proper items on their books and records.

Q. And as a result of these balance sheets that you had, you in fact did put your signature to certain income tax returns; is that so?

A. Yes.

MR. RAO: Your Honor please, the defense moves that these balance sheets be marked as a full exhibit.

MR. ISRAEL: Objection.

THE COURT: Sustained.

MR. RAO: Exception. May we make an offer of proof?

THE COURT: Do you want to reserve on it?
It seems to me you don't need an offer of proof. You have offered an instrument that speaks for itself. Now, do you really want to make an offer of proof on that?

MR. RAO: As to relevancy, your Honor please, and materiality.

THE COURT: Well, I will permit this after we recess; when we recess if you want to put on the record what you might propose to prove through this witness.

MR. RAO: Yes, one of the necessary steps.

THE COURT: Ask him to remain in the courtroom.

MR. RAO: I will. I have nothing further at this time.

MR. BUCCI: Excuse me.

Q By the way, the address of the company that you service, National Cigarettes, is what?

A 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence,

MR. RAO: Thank you.

CROSS EXAMINATION BY MR. ISRAEL

Q Mr. Shabshelewicz, in the conduct of a full audit of a company's business for the year, it is an approved accounting technique to verify accounts receivable; is it not?

Q. What type of audit. There are many types of a

Q. Did you verify accounts receivable in 1968?

A. No.

Q. Now, in the conduct of an audit, a complete audit of the company's business affairs, it is an approved accounting technique, is it not, to verify that goods and services rendered for accounts payable have in fact been rendered or not, isn't that true?

A. In general, yes.

Q. I'm asking you, is it not?

A. In general, yes.

Q. Meaning that there are some times during which you can perform a full and complete audit of the transactions of a company and not verify that goods and services for which the company is carrying an account payable have been delivered or rendered?

A. I think many more full and complete audits as I think you are inferring are done anymore, and it depends on what a company does, complete and full.

Q. In other words, as you --

MR. RAO: He is still answering.

THE COURT: Finish your answer.

THE WITNESS: We are trying -- in other words, an accountant has to use his discretion as to what he thinks he should verify in order to prove his figures.

Q And what you are saying then is you will certify an account based on the representations of the accounted company that in fact the goods and services for which there appears to be either an expenditure or account payable have been rendered or delivered?

A Repeat that question?

THE COURT: Read it.

(The pending question was read.)

THE WITNESS: I don't think your question is clear to me.

Q When you perform or when you certify an account, there is an item called accounts payable, right? Is there?

A Yes.

Q And that accounts payable mean that at the end of the accounting period that business owes some money to some people; does it not?

A At times it does not. Not all businesses owe money. They might pay their bills and they don't owe any money.

Q Then there would be no accounts payable?

A Certain business, no. You can go in and there's no accounts payable in certain businesses.

Q Let's take one you did find accounts payable. If you make an entry for an account payable and certify to that account. Do you verify that in fact the money is owed?

No. Usually I don't verify. On some audits for a specific purpose where we have got to prove liabilities we will send out confirmations on accounts payable. It is not ordinarily done.

Was it done in this --

In small businesses.

Was it done in this case?

No.

So that you neither verified the receivables nor verified the payables; is that right?

That's right.

MR. BUCCI: What period are we talking about?

THE COURT: This is all 1968 as I understand it. Is that the way you understand it, Mr.

Shabselowicz?

THE WITNESS: Actually there were no payables.

THE COURT: No, no. Do you understand the testimony you are giving pertains to 1968?

THE WITNESS: Right.

Q Now, in preparing your profit-and-loss statements, you

Q Add up the expenditures of the business; do you not?

A The expenses, not the expenditures.

Q And among these expenses are included expenditures; are there not?

A Yes.

Q Now, did you verify that in fact all the expenditures were paid?

A We verified 12 months' bank statements in each year. We go through all the checks. Well, there could be 3-, 400 checks a month. We go through the checks, see that the bank has canceled them, and they make mistakes once in awhile, but we check the bank statement out so that every check that went out as far as we are concerned we have entered in the books.

Q And do you verify that what those checks purport to pay for was in fact purchased by the company?

A I would say if we have a question as to where a check should be disbursed we ask, but in general we get to show what certain checks are written for and classify them accordingly.

Q But you don't know whether or not the goods or the services for which those checks were issued were in fact delivered or rendered?

MR. BUCCI: Objection.

THE COURT: Overruled.

MR. RUCCI: Exception.

THE COURT: If you understand the question you may answer it.

THE WITNESS: I don't, really. I mean I don't know what he -- I would like you to rephrase the question.

Q If in the course of your examination of the books of the company you see a check which was paid for merchandise, do you verify that in fact that merchandise was delivered?

A No.

Q If you see in the accounts of the company a check that was written for someone to render services to the company, do you in fact verify who those services were rendered by?

A Occasionally.

Q Did you in 1968 on this account?

A On certain items that we are unsure of we would ask and probably make a call or try to get more detail if we weren't sure of it.

Q -- Some of the items in '68 you were unsure of; is that right?

A Yes.

MR. ISRAEL: You may inquire.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. RAO

Q Mr. Shabshelowicz, what is the procedure called when the Q Internal Revenue Service comes in and examines books?

A Auditing to find out the correct tax has been determined.

Q With regard to '68-'69 that we are talking about now, was it done?

MR. ISRAEL: I object.

THE COURT: He can tell us whether or not.

A The books have not been examined by the Internal Revenue for those years.

THE COURT: He answered it anyway.

Q Now about 1967?

MR. ISRAEL: I object.

THE COURT: Sustained.

MR. NAO: Exception, your Honor please.

Q During your association with this company accountant-wise, have the books been checked over by the United States Government on various occasions?

MR. ISRAEL: Objection.

THE COURT: Sustained.

MR. NAO: Exception.

MR. ISRAEL: I have no further questions.

THE COURT: You may step down, Mr.

Shabshelowicz. I think you had better wait in the courtroom until we recess.

Details:

By letter dated December 23, 1970, the United States Board of Parole, Washington, D. C., advised Attorney-at-Law [redacted] Massachusetts [redacted] as follows:

b6
b7C

"After a thorough evaluation of all pertinent factors of record, it was the decision of the Board, en banc, that Mr. PATRIARCA's case be continued to the expiration of its sentence. With statutory good time credits earned, Mr. PATRIARCA will be released from Federal confinement on November 7, 1972. Should he earn extra good time, the date will be adjusted accordingly."

On February 23, 1971, [redacted] Record Room, United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, advised that subject was to be returned on a writ to Providence, Rhode Island on February 24, 1971 on State charges. b6 b7C

The following investigation was conducted at Providence, Rhode Island, on March 2, 1971, by Special Agent [redacted] b6 b7C

[redacted] Chief Investigator, Organized Crime Division, Rhode Island Attorney General's Office, advised that RAYMOND S. PATRIARCA was brought back to Providence, Rhode Island for a hearing on motions concerning PATRIARCA's retrial for his part as accessory before the fact in the murder of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI. He advised that previously, in 1970, PATRIARCA and the following individuals had been found guilty of having unlawfully conspired together between March 1, 1968 and April 20, 1968, to murder RUDOLPH MARFEO:

ROBERT E. FAIRBROTHER,
MAURICE E. LERNER, JOHN ROSSI,
RUDOLPH SCIARRA

[redacted] noted that [redacted] when located will be tried by the State of Rhode Island for conspiracy to murder and accessory before the fact of the murder of ANTHONY MELEI and RUDOLPH MARFEO. b6 b7C

When PATRIARCA, FAIRBROTHER, ROSSI, SCIARRA and LERNER were tried previously in Rhode Island, LERNER was found guilty of both murders and conspiracy to murder MARFEO. ROSSI and FAIRBROTHER received a hung jury verdict on their roles as principals in the double murders and SCIARRA and PATRIARCA received a hung jury verdict on their charges of being accessories before the fact.

[redacted] advised that after PATRIARCA arrives, motions will be heard and then the trial will begin in the middle of April. At this trial PATRIARCA and [redacted] will b6 b7C be tried as accessories and [redacted] and [redacted] will be tried as principals. PATRIARCA will be represented by [redacted] a Boston attorney; [redacted] by [redacted] by [redacted] and [redacted] by a Public Defender.

b6
b7C

On April 5, 1971, [redacted] advised that Rhode Island District Court Judge RONALD LAGUEUX denied the following motions which had been made by the attorneys for RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA:

b6
b7C

Motion to sever trial and try each defendant separately.

Motion to dismiss based on adverse pretrial publicity.

On May 18, 1971, Chief Deputy United States Marshal [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island, advised that PATRIARCA had been returned to the United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, on April 29, 1971.

b6
b7C

Chief Deputy United States Marshal [redacted] advised that he had received a court order from Judge RONALD LAGUEUX, District Court, State of Rhode Island, for the return of PATRIARCA to Providence, Rhode Island, to stand trial on charges of being an accessory before the fact of murder (state charges). Chief Deputy United States Marshal [redacted] advised that PATRIARCA will be returned to Providence, Rhode Island, within the next ten days, but a definite date has not been established, and when returned, he will be incarcerated at the Adult Correctional Institute in Rhode Island.

b7C

On May 20, 1971, Assistant Rhode Island Attorney General AL DE ROBBIO advised that during prior motions PATRIARCA's attorney had made a motion for a severance, which motion was originally granted but later revoked. He advised that PATRIARCA's trial has been consolidated with the other defendants in this matter and the trial date has been set for June 1, 1971.

ANTI-RACKETEERING

Reference is made to my letter of August 2, 1971, advising that Commissioner Boston, Massachusetts, Police Department, had requested that he or his representative be allowed to review the transcripts of the electronic surveillance maintained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation from 1962 to 1965 on Raymond L. S. Patriarca, New England La Cosa Nostra "boss."

Commissioner request was prompted by publication of a copyrighted story in the July 29, 1971, edition of the "Boston Globe" newspaper which contained extensive information concerning organized crime, gambling and corruption in the New England area based on the records of the electronic surveillances of Patriarca. Our Boston office has now received a letter from Garrett H. Byrne, District Attorney, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, which includes Boston, requesting that Byrne, in his official capacity, be allowed to obtain copies of all material contained in the electronic surveillance that refer to incidents and people in Suffolk County.

It is respectfully requested that you advise this Bureau if favorable consideration should be given to District Attorney Byrne's request.

the July 29, 1971, edition of the "Boston Globe" newspaper which contained extensive information on the operations of organized crime, gambling and corruption in the New England

REC-11

During the trial of Patriarca, in 1968, in the United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, for violation of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statute, logs of the FBI electronic surveillance were made available to the Court for in camera inspection. It appears that the newspapers then acquired copies of this material. Information has been received that Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich, United States Court of Appeals, in September, 1969, reached an agreement with the attorneys for the "Boston Globe" that the newspaper would not print information from the electronic surveillance. It would appear that the "Boston Globe" is now printing this information as a result of recent testimony about corruption in police departments at the hearings being conducted by Senator John L. McClellan's Committee.

This is in response to your memorandum of August 2, 1971, addressed to the Attorney General, requesting advice as to whether favorable consideration should be given to the request of Police Commissioner  Boston, Massachusetts, that he be allowed to review the transcripts of the electronic surveillance maintained by the Bureau from 1962 to 1965 on Raymond L. In accordance with the Department's long-standing policy of non-disclosure of sensitive intelligence information, we have uniformly declined requests from state and local investigative and prosecutive agencies for transcripts of unauthorized electronic surveillances involving members of organized crime. Strict adherence to this policy is particularly necessary where, as here, a question of law may exist as to the use which may be made of such information by such agencies and where future state prosecutions involving the subjects of such electronic surveillance may be jeopardized as a result of its disclosure and use.

Accordingly, it is our view that Commissioner  request should be declined.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE VINCENT BROGNA
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Chief Judge Walter McLaughlin, Superior Court, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has requested to see the record in our Boston office concerning an instance in which Boston La Cosa Nostra leader Gennaro Angiulo allegedly had been in contact with Superior Court Judge Vincent Brogna, and another instance in which Angiulo allegedly was attempting to have a case assigned to the "right judge" through Judge Brogna. Chief Judge McLaughlin is making an inquiry into the conduct of Judge Brogna because of recent allegations made by [redacted] a self-styled stock swindler, in testimony before the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee. MASS. DC.

Our Special Agent in Charge, Boston, declined to accede to Judge McLaughlin's request in view of the fact that the records the judge desired to examine are based on electronic surveillance. Requests by District Attorney Garrett Byrne, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, and Boston Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara to examine material obtained by electronic surveillance were declined because of the Department's view as expressed in Assistant Attorney General [redacted] letters of August 6, 1971, and August 10, 1971, captioned "Raymond L. S. Patriarca, Anti-Racketeering." When his request was declined by the Special Agent in Charge, Judge McLaughlin indicated an intention to travel to Washington for the purpose of repeating his request to the Attorney General or some other Department official. Incoming reports that a Boston informant has furnished information and it has been corroborated by Chief Deputy United States Marshal in Rhode Island that Raymond Patriarca has contacted Bureau of Prisons officials in Washington, D. C., and the CBS evening news program of Walter Cronkite in an attempt to be interviewed on that program to refute statements made by [redacted] a self-styled [redacted] during testimony before the Senate Investigation Subcommittee. The Bureau of Prisons has not acknowledged Patriarca's request to date.

b7C

Patriarca is currently incarcerated at the Adult Correctional Institute, Howard, Rhode Island, awaiting retrial for conspiracy to commit murder. Subject's Federal sentence for Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling expires November 7, 1972.

ADMINISTRATIVE

In view of the fact subject is currently an inmate in Federal custody, this case is being continued in a P* status but any pertinent information uncovered will be reported to the Bureau.

[redacted] advised SA [redacted] on 7/23/71 that he had heard from [redacted] that [redacted] of [redacted] has carried some important messages to RAYMOND PATRIARCA. Informant advised that apparently PATRIARCA trusts [redacted] as he is the only one who has ever helped [redacted] and is now using [redacted] loyalty. According to informant, RAYMOND PATRIARCA is beginning to trust fewer and fewer people and informant states that [redacted] got this information from some of ANGUILO's people at Sablone's Restaurant in East Boston.

[redacted] advised SA's [redacted] and [redacted] on 9/21/71 that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is completely disgusted with DANNY RAIMONDI and has called him a "weak; snivelling coward" and has stated that RAIMONDI would never be able to serve his time. According to informant, they feel that RAIMONDI is of such a weak character that he could turn against all of his friends and testify for the government.

Above informant on same date further advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has gotten word out to LARRY BAIONE that he has his (PATRIARCA's) "okay" to "take off" rather than to serve time in jail.

DETAILS:

On July 28, 1971, [redacted] Chief Deputy, United States Marshal's Office, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that subject was returned to United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, on June 18, 1971, and was scheduled to be returned to the Adult Correctional Institute, Howard, Rhode Island, sometime in September, 1971. b6
b7c

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent [redacted] b6
b7c

BS 92-118

On August 7, 1971, [redacted] United States Marshal's Office, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that a habeas had been issued by Rhode Island Superior Court on August 6, 1971 to the United States Marshal to deliver RAYMOND PATRIARCA to the Adult Correctional Institute (ACI), Howard, Rhode Island.

b6
b7C

On August 18, 1971, [redacted] ACI, Howard, Rhode Island, furnished the following information concerning the persons approved to visit RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA at the ACI:

b6
b7C

Name	Number of Visits
[redacted]	Visits [redacted] every week
[redacted]	one visit
[redacted]	two visits
[redacted]	fourteen visits
[redacted]	thirty visits
[redacted]	four visits

b6
b7C

On September 17, 1971, [redacted] Assistant Attorney General, State of Rhode Island, furnished the following information:

b6
b7C

A hearing has been set for October 8, 1971, to dispose of any pending motions in the RAYMOND PATRIARCA case. No trial date has been set at this time. On September 23, 1971, a hearing will be held to determine if [redacted] will be tried at the same time as PATRIARCA.

b6
b7C

On October 14, 1971, Assistant Attorney General of Rhode Island [redacted] advised that Judge WILLIAM M. MAC KENZIE, Superior Court, Providence, Rhode Island, had declared a mistrial in the state case concerning the subject and defendants [redacted] and [redacted] due to local TV publicity concerning the case. b6 b7C

b6

[redacted] advised that as a result of this publicity, Judge MAC KENZIE had decided to sever RAYMOND PATRIARCA from the trial of the other four defendants. He advised that trial of the other four defendants was scheduled to commence sometime in early January, 1972. b6 b7C

On January 24, 1972, Assistant Attorney General [redacted] advised that on January 3, 1972, the State of Rhode Island began impanelling a jury concerning above defendants. On January 17, 1972, due to the expiration of the criminal term, the State began impanelling a new jury. As of January 24, 1972, twelve jurors had been selected by the State and were awaiting defense challenges. The trial is being held before Judge MAC KENZIE; and as soon as the jury is impanelled, the State will commence to present its case. b6 b7C

[redacted] advised that no date had been set for the trial of RAYMOND PATRIARCA, but this date will probably be set shortly after the above trial is completed. b6 b7C

On January 25, 1972, United States Marshal [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island, advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is presently in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Georgia, and is tentatively scheduled for trial in Rhode Island sometime in February, 1972, for his part in the murders of ANTHONY NELEI and RUDOLPH MARFEO. Marshal [redacted] stated that at this time he has not received any orders to transport PATRIARCA from Atlanta to Providence. He advised that PATRIARCA is not scheduled to go to trial for at least three weeks after the disposition of the trial concerning other defendants. b6 b7C

Character: ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis:

On 6/4/72, a R.I. State Superior Court Petit Jury found RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA not guilty of being an accessory before the fact in the murders of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEL. The Reverend Father testified on behalf of PATRIARCA and later recanted. ARMED AND DANGEROUS

[redacted]

(p*)

Details: On February 16, 1972, [redacted] Assistant Attorney General, State of Rhode Island, advised that [redacted] RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, appeared on February 10, 1972, before Superior Court Judge ORESTE CHARYHAN on a charge of possession of stolen roof insulation and this charge was dismissed by Judge CHARYHAN for insufficient evidence.

BS 92-118

On March 3, 1972, BS T-1 stated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is very upset with DANNY RAIMONDI but PATRIARCA still hopes to give RAIMONDI the impression that he has been forgiven as long as he refuses to talk to the authorities further.

On March 4, 1972, [redacted] advised that [redacted] and [redacted] were found not guilty of being accessories before the fact in the murders of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI. RAYMOND PATRIARCA obtained a severance from these four defendants. [redacted] stated that PATRIARCA would be tried on accessory charges later.

b6
b7D

On March 8, 1972, BS T-2 stated "the organization" was planning to use [redacted] testimony so that RAYMOND PATRIARCA and his associates might be able to win a new trial. BS T-2 stated that "the organization" had [redacted] who would testify that [redacted] were with her at the times when [redacted] had testified that these two individuals were planning a murder in Rhode Island.

b6
b7C
b7D

On April 3, 1972, BS T-1 stated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has warned [redacted] known as [redacted] to stay away from the "junkies" and since [redacted] received this warning, he has mainly been associating only with [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

On April 17, 1972, United States Marshal [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island, advised that the United States Marshal Service had delivered RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA to the Adult Correctional Institution to await trial by the State of Rhode Island.

b6
b7C

BS 92-118

On May 8, 1972, [] advised that on today's date, the State of Rhode Island began placing its case against RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA before the jury. This case was being prosecuted by [] a special assistant to the Attorney General.

b6
b7C

On June 5, 1972, [] advised that on June 4, 1972, a jury sitting at Providence, Rhode Island, found RAYMOND PATRIARCA not guilty of being an accessory before the fact of murder. During the trial, the Reverend Father [] testified on behalf of PATRIARCA and later recanted his testimony.

b6
b7C

[] stated that PATRIARCA'S attorney had stated that he was going to ask for a re-trial on the conspiracy charge on which PATRIARCA had previously been found guilty.

b6
b7C

On June 8, 1972, United States Marshal [] stated that he had received orders to transport RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA on that date to Washington, D.C. where PATRIARCA is expected to testify before a Congressional Committee in the near future.

Re Boston airtel 2/15/72.

Enclosed for the Bureau are the following:

LHM setting forth facts, captioned matter.
Copies of Herald Traveler articles for 12/3/67, 2/11/68, 3/24/68, 3/25/68 and 3/26/68. Affidavits submitted by

b6
b7C

As the Bureau is aware (Boston airtel to Bureau
1/28/72) I called attention to Departmental Order 381-67 dated 6/29/67, at which time I explained to that the Bureau is guided by the advice of the Department in responding to any subpoena issued for Bureau personnel or records.

b6
b7C

In compliance with Bureau instructions, this matter was discussed with USA BROCK, as set out in referenced airtel, at which time he was advised it was not felt the facts in this case warranted any testimony in this matter by Bureau personnel. A complete summary of the facts in the matter was brought to his attention on that occasion and it was recommended to him that any subpoena calling for testimony of FBI agents or production of FBI records in this civil suit be quashed. Mr. BROCK, at that time, indicated a willingness to attempt to quash any subpoena directed to the Bureau in connection with this matter.

Subsequently, on 3/14/72 Mr. BROCK requested a letter from me with a request on my part that he attempt to quash any subpoena directed to the Bureau in this connection.

I strongly feel the attempt on the part of [] to subpoena personnel in connection with this matter is an attempt on his part to have Bureau personnel testifying in his behalf to create the impression the Bureau is testifying in behalf of his client which he obviously considers beneficial to his case. I feel [] is attempting to use the Bureau and its people and that we should not allow this to happen.

As set out in the above-referred-to Departmental Order, the prior approval of the Attorney General is required prior to any information being furnished from Bureau files or by Bureau personnel in this type matter and therefore I urge the Bureau take this up with the Department in order that the recommendation that any subpoena calling for testimony of FBI agents or production of FBI records be quashed be a recommendation of the Department and not the FBI. I feel a letter to the U. S. Attorney from the FBI is meaningless when the law specifies the approval of the Attorney General and therefore it is my recommendation that a letter be directed to USA BROCK from the Department recommending that any subpoena in this matter be quashed.

As a result of depositions taken in connection with captioned matter under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, [redacted] counsel for [redacted] directed a letter to an official of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C. [redacted] letter, dated January 6, 1972, pointed out that captioned suit was a result of publicity given his client to the effect that his client was a member of the Mafia and infiltrating legitimate business. In his letter, [redacted] advised depositions had been taken from responsible public officials who testified FBI representatives, to whom they made inquiry, advised them the FBI had no active file on his client. The letter further recited that a deposition from the reporter who did the writing, excused himself from the alleged falsehoods by stating specific FBI agents told him these things were so. [redacted] pointed out the public official identifications of Special Agents came to three on the record and four in fact since one other public officer had given him the name of another FBI agent who advised him there was nothing pending with regard to his client, yet the reporter "identifies, I think, four agents as having told him to the contrary". [redacted] advised in his letter he was in possession of the names of all of these seven or eight agents and specified the reporter did not happen to say that any of the agents who advised the public officials were the agents advising him.

[redacted] recited that motions for summary judgment had been denied by the Federal Court and the case was expected to go to trial. He inquired as to the procedure for the service of subpoenas on the FBI agents for the purpose of deposing, stating that all the agents would be required to submit to depositions and those agents whose testimony would be relevant to the issues would be subpoenaed to testify before the court.

In response to [redacted] he was contacted by the Special Agent in Charge of the Boston Office, FBI, James L. Handley, on January 18, 1972, and the earliest convenient date for [redacted] to see Mr. Handley was January 27, 1972. b6 b7C

On January 27, 1972, [redacted] furnished Mr. Handley copies of transcripts containing what [redacted] considered pertinent portions of depositions of [redacted] [redacted] Boston, Massachusetts, and [redacted] former [redacted] of New Hampshire. At that time, Mr. Handley advised [redacted] that any response to a subpoena served on Bureau personnel would be governed by Departmental Order 381-67 dated June 29, 1967, and it was a matter for the Attorney General to decide whether or not Bureau personnel should be allowed to respond to any subpoena. b6 b7C

Those portions of the depositions furnished Mr. Handley by [redacted] have been reviewed and found to contain the following pertinent information: b6 b7C

When former [redacted] heard reports [redacted] was allegedly connected with an organization known as Cosa Nostra, he made inquiry of the Attorney General and the FBI. He thought the individual in the FBI he spoke with was [redacted] a Resident Agent in Concord, New Hampshire. He also talked to Agent [redacted] [redacted] also assigned Concord. [redacted] said he was told they would find out and he was later advised they had nothing on [redacted] He believed he was told that before [redacted] went into the military there was a problem but nothing current. He said there was no discussion of the so-called Patriarca papers with these agents. He said he didn't know why he didn't ask about the Patriarca papers. b6 b7C

A review of those portions of the depositions furnished by [redacted] contained the following information attributed to the FBI: b6 b7C

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

He was told by the FBI the Shangri-La was a frequent spot for underworld characters in New Hampshire and when questioned in the depositions as to the identity of the agent or agents furnishing this information he could not recall their identity, stating it was not Agent [redacted]. He could not recall if it was an agent of the Boston Office and, in answer to further questions, said he had spoken with one agent in New Hampshire, whose name he could not recall, on one occasion but he could not recall whether or not this agent furnished him this information though his recollection was this was not the agent furnishing the information.

In connection with inquiry concerning a salesman for [redacted] and the salesman's connection with a man named [redacted] who lived near Joseph Modica in Boston, [redacted] advised [redacted] was identified to him by Agent [redacted] as being a Cosa Nostra connection.

b7C

[redacted] deposed he was told by [redacted] then the First Assistant District Attorney in Middlesex County (1967) and presently Chief of the Organized Crime Section of the Attorney General's Office of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that [redacted] was a close friend of Joe Modica whom [redacted] identified as a member of the New England Cosa Nostra. Based on [redacted] conversations with [redacted] he deposed he inquired of Agents [redacted] if they could tell him anything about [redacted]. His recollection was they described him as a man who, though not a member of what is called the Mafia, was involved in various money-making operations for Organized Crime. [redacted] alleged they told him they were in possession of some information given to them by informants about a fire in a restaurant in which [redacted] supposedly had a financial interest. They told him they were very interested in [redacted] and had a casual surveillance on an office on State Street in Boston where [redacted] was a frequent visitor. He identified the fire the agents were talking about as the 40 Acres Club in Rowley or Georgetown, somewhere on the North Shore. In answer to the question as to how [redacted] name came up in connection with the fire at the 40 Acres Club, [redacted] testified, "The FBI agents -- I don't recall which ones specifically -- said that they had been informed that [redacted] torched or burned down the restaurant for [redacted] for a fee".

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

When questioned concerning the Sunday Herald story of December 3, 1967, captioned, "FBI Puts More Men on New England Mafia Probe", and asked for the source of the information for the story, he answered, [redacted], whom I mentioned earlier, FBI agent". He was asked "the ones that you mentioned earlier?" to which he replied, "Yes" (Agents [redacted]).

b6
b7C

During questioning of [redacted] re the finance companies, [redacted] was questioned as to [redacted] business relationship with Joe Modica and [redacted] said that from what the same two FBI agents had told him Joe Modica ran an office shared by [redacted] and [redacted].

b6
b7C

It is to be noted that during this same deposition, at an earlier stage of the questioning, [redacted] testified [redacted] told him [redacted] was involved with organized crime, running a Shylock operation in Boston and a very close friend of Mr. Joseph Modica, as well as testifying [redacted] told him the FBI had been interested in [redacted] for many years, that [redacted] had been before the Massachusetts Crime Commission and that, to his knowledge, Federal officials had a surveillance on [redacted] office in Boston.

b6
b7C

[redacted] testified he was assigned to do a story on loan sharking and for that reason contacted [redacted] re the general scope of loan sharking in the Greater Boston area.

b6
b7C

[redacted] further testified that he had been unable to find any record or indication that Mr. Modica was an officer, director or employee or anything else of the corporation (referring to the finance company office). He was then asked "You are relying entirely upon a verbal statement given to you by some FBI people?" to which [redacted] replied, "And a personal contact by an individual", whom he identified as one [redacted]. [redacted] testified [redacted] gave him specifics re dealings with the finance company involving both Modica and [redacted].

b6
b7C

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

[redacted] was asked to name another example showing Cosa Nostra connections to which [redacted] replied, "The airtels and FBI reports which link him with Henry Tameleo". [redacted] at this point, said he had talked to a Globe reporter who had seen the entire body of the Patriarca tapes and attributed to this reporter that [redacted] had been referred to in countless airtels.

In his testimony concerning a possible bribery attempt in connection with the Maine State Police, [redacted] said he was aware they published from Maine the FBI had cleared them. However, [redacted] spoke to some FBI agents about that allegation and they gave him reason to believe the statements of the Maine State Police might not be accurate. He identified the FBI agents as [redacted]. He was then asked when he had inquired of Agents [redacted] as to whether the reports from Maine were accurate, and he said he did not recall; that he did not recall where he asked them and that he could not recall where he had seen them.

[redacted] was asked had he any other source backing up his story on the 40 Acres Club, and he said he could not recall except the FBI conversation that he had.

[redacted] testified he had a great deal of information that couldn't be printed because it could not be substantiated, such as the information the FBI said about [redacted] that the FBI told him [redacted] was a friend or knew [redacted] of Plymouth Mail Robbery fame.

Again testifying as to the finance companies, [redacted] identified the source as "from FBI and [redacted]". He identified the agents as [redacted] and [redacted] -- "that it was one office, that it was an operation in which the same men were involved".

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

[redacted] was asked whether he made any effort to determine why Modica was present from time to time in this office (Finance company). [redacted] advised he determined Modica was present because he was using the office to loan shark money. He was asked how he knew this and he replied, "FBI agents, [redacted] told me this". He was asked when he was told this and he said he couldn't recall, it would have been prior to the article probably prior to December, 1967 or early 1968. He was asked whether or not he had conducted any investigation concerning this rather than just accepting it and he replied, "Well, that and what [redacted] had said about Mr. Modica's connections..."

b6

In connection with some borrowing, whether it was from [redacted] or Modica, he was asked about an individual and he said he only knew what John Irwin had told him about the individual. [redacted] said [redacted] had told him [redacted] testified about this to the Massachusetts Crime Commission. This borrowing pertained to a race track though the transcripts provided by [redacted] were not complete in this respect.

b6

Other portions of the transcripts made available by [redacted] pertaining to [redacted] second day of deposition did not specify the identity of any agents which pertained to information he had that officials of the State of New Hampshire were friendly with [redacted] and he had prior knowledge based on airtels and other information which he mentioned and had discussed before, that [redacted] had connections and friends among Mafia bosses in New England. He specified the sources in this deposition as people in the State of New Hampshire.

b6

It is to be noted that Agent [redacted] and (retired) Agent [redacted] have advised they are not acquainted with [redacted] nor have they ever furnished any information to any representative of the press regarding [redacted] Agent [redacted] admits to having been contacted by former Commissioner Rhodes

Agent [] also denies telling Mr. Southwood that [] was a friend of [] and, in fact, Agent [] states he does not know whether or not [] knows [].

A review of the matter in the U. S. District Court indicates this suit to involve several articles published by the Herald Traveler involving [] some of these articles being printed in the Herald Traveler on the dates December 3, 1967, February 11, 1968, March 24, 1968, March 25, 1968, and March 26, 1968.

These articles have been reviewed and did not contain any reference to the following subjects mentioned in the depositions:

Salesman [] (re fire of 40 Acres); reply of Maine State Police not being accurate; [] of mail robbery fame.

The articles did contain the following references:

December 3, 1967 article entitled, "FBI Puts Men on N.E. Mafia Probe". This article concerned the intensification of the drive against organized crime in New England, reciting "Although the Department will not discuss the probe, the Herald Traveler learned that it already has hired additional investigators, including retired FBI agents, to assist in the offensive". It is noted no retired agents were so employed by the Federal Government.

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

February 11, 1968 article entitled, "Attorney General's Data on N.H. Mafia Link Vanish". This article does not contain any material which is alleged in the depositions furnished by [redacted] as material allegedly furnished by the FBI. b6 b7C

March 24, 1968 article entitled, "The Two Worlds of [redacted]". This article has to do with the Patriarca papers where it is mentioned they were entered in a Providence court. There was mention of the 40 Acre Club fire in Rowley, Massachusetts and that [redacted] had a second mortgage on the property. "In the 'gutted interior' fire fighters found eight plastic containers, several still filled with gasoline... The State Fire Marshal's Office investigated and learned an out-of-state company, unlicensed to do business in Massachusetts, had insured the club for $90,000... No arrests were made but at the end of the investigation, four insurance companies cancelled the agent who placed the insurance.. [redacted]... (who) next year became a Director of Kattar's second finance company." b6 b7C

Later in the article it recited [redacted] opened two finance companies at [redacted]. "Soon afterward, FBI agents began a casual surveillance of [redacted]. The name alone of one of the loan companies intrigued the FBI. It was [redacted]. The FBI also was interested in the day to day presence in the joint office [redacted] of sixty year-old Joseph Modica of Medford. Modica is mentioned seven times on three FBI reports in the 'Patriarca papers'." b6 b7C

This same article cites the interview of [redacted] attorney, [redacted] a few months before the article was written, wherein [redacted] was quoted as saying he was aware of Modica's presence in the office at [redacted] Street. Modica was documented in this article from the Patriarca papers. b6 b7C

GEORGE T. KATTAR VS.
BOSTON HERALD TRAVELER CORPORATION

March 25, 1968 article entitled, "Blue Ribbon Probe Urged". This article refers to former Commissioner [redacted] saying he went to the FBI after [redacted] was publicly linked to Raymond Patriarca through FBI reports last May and "they told me to stay away from him", [redacted] said.

b6
b7C

This article again referred to the two finance companies operated by [redacted] at [redacted] stating, "Soon after the joint office began operating, the FBI began a surveillance of [redacted] partly because of Modica's day to day presence".

b6
b7C

March 26, 1968 article entitled, "N.H. Probe Waits Court Go Ahead". This article referred to the FBI reports (Patriarca tapes) as having linked [redacted] to Cosa Nostra Leaders in New England.

b6
b7C

Based on a review of the information furnished by [redacted] set out herein, it appears the information allegedly furnished [redacted] by the FBI is not the crux of the libel suit filed by [redacted] against the Herald Traveler Corporation. Also, [redacted] in his depositions, is vague as to the identity of the Special Agent allegedly furnishing him the information and the details as to what was obtained from the FBI when and where received. Further, affidavits have been secured by the agent personnel mentioned in the depositions to the effect no information pertaining to [redacted] was furnished [redacted] at any time.

Based on the foregoing, this being a civil case in which the United States is not a party, it does not appear the facts justify an exception to the provisions of Departmental Order 381-67 dated June 29, 1967.

This memorandum contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

I, Dennis M. Condon, Special Agent, Federal Bureau of Investigation, being duly sworn, hereby testify to the following:

I am acquainted with James Southwood and, to my recollection, met him through John Irwin, former First Assistant District Attorney at Middlesex County, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and currently Assistant Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in charge of the Criminal Division. I have spoken with Mr. Southwood on a few occasions as a result of my contact with Joseph Barboza Baron, a Government witness in organized crime cases and Southwood's contact with Barboza Baron relative to a book that he had planned to author in conjunction with Baron.

At no time have I ever given any information to Mr. Southwood relative to George Kattar and, in fact, I have never had any knowledge nor do I have any knowledge at this time that one Roy French was connected with George Kattar in an arson matter.

In regard to an article authored by Mr. Southwood, entitled, "FBI PUTS MORE MEN ON NEW ENGLAND MAFIA PROBE," I wish to state that I have never given Mr. Southwood any information that appeared in this article and was never aware of most of the information that appears in that article.

I also state that I have never had any conversation with him in any regard relative to the Maine State Police.

AFFIDAVIT

I, H. PAUL RICO, presently a Special Agent assigned to the Miami Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, hereby make the following affidavit and deposition:

I met JAMES SOUTHWOOD, a reporter for the Boston "Herald Traveler" newspaper through myself and Special Agent DENNIS M. CONDON handling Government witness JOSEPH BARON when both CONDON and I were assigned to the Boston Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. At the time of our first meeting SOUTHWOOD was negotiating with BARON to write a book for JOSEPH BARON. At the first contact with SOUTHWOOD he indicated to the agents that he had written a lengthy article on GEORGE KATTAR.

I categorically deny ever having furnished SOUTHWOOD any information concerning GEORGE KATTAR.

I categorically deny ever having furnished SOUTHWOOD any information concerning one JOSEPH SAVERESE. I have no knowledge of JOSEPH SAVERESE. I was not aware that SAVERESE is in the cheese business, that he lived near Mr. MODICA or that he owns land on Hanover Street or that he is a Cosa Nostra connection.

I categorically deny ever advising Mr. SOUTHWOOD about WILFRED ROY FRENCH who allegedly was involved in a fire in the 40 Acres Club in Raleigh or Georgetown in which KATTAR supposedly had a financial interest. I furthermore never heard of the 40 Acres Club. Therefore, I had no knowledge whatsoever that it was ever burnt down or that KATTAR allegedly had an interest in this club and I have never received information from any source that FRENCH was involved in this or any other fire.

I categorically deny ever making a statement to SOUTHWOOD that statements made by the Maine State Police may not be accurate. I further state that I never had any contact with the Maine State Police whatsoever and would have no knowledge what statements the Maine State Police made.

I categorically deny that I ever told SOUTHWOOD that JOHN KELLY, who had been tried for the Plymouth mail robbery, was a friend of GEORGE KATTAR. I, together with Special Agent ROBERT E. SHERAN of the Boston Office interviewed JOHN J. KELLY on numerous occasions as he was a Government witness and at no time during these interviews did either KELLY or the agents mention GEORGE KATTAR. I have no knowledge whatsoever whether or not JOHN J. KELLY does know GEORGE KATTAR.

I have reviewed the above, consisting of this page and one other page and do certify that it accurately reflects the true facts.

I am not acquainted with JAMES SOUTHWOOD, nor to my recollection, have I ever met or spoken to this individual. I have never furnished any information whatsoever to any representative of the press regarding George Kattar.

Robert Rhodes, the former Director of the Department of Safety, for the State of New Hampshire, contacted me sometime after the publication of the "Patriarca Papers" and inquired concerning my knowledge of George Kattar. I replied that I had no knowledge of Kattar outside of what was in the newspapers. Therefore, I could not furnish him with any information on Kattar or Patriarca.

I am not acquainted with James Southwood nor, to my recollection, have I ever met or spoken to this individual. I have never furnished any information whatsoever to any representative of the press regarding George Kattar.

I have been assigned to the Concord, New Hampshire Resident Agency since 1964 and some time following my assignment there I was telephonically contacted by Robert Rhodes, Commissioner of the Department of Safety for the State of New Hampshire. Mr. Rhodes questioned me regarding my knowledge of George Kattar. At that time, I told him that I did not have any active investigation on Kattar.

Later, again telephonically, Commissioner Rhodes contacted me regarding Kattar and I advised him I had determined Kattar had a minor gaming conviction in the Lawrence, Massachusetts area shortly after World War II. I also advised him as far as I knew he had no felony record.

Title: RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA

Character: ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis: [redacted] true name - [redacted]
[redacted] was the person who got the priest from Baltimore, Maryland to testify as a witness for subject in R.I. murder trial. Subject's motion for release on bond pending murder appeal denied on 7/6/72 by R.I. Superior Court Judge. On 10/6/72, subject filed a Civil Suit in USDC for the Northern District of Georgia requesting that he be transferred to R.I. to serve his R.I. court conviction for Conspiracy to Commit Murder. Subject attended wake of his deceased brother, FRANCIS JOSEPH PATRIARCA, on 12/8/72. On 11/22/72, USDC Judge, RICHARD E. FREEMAN, USDC, Atlanta, Georgia, ruled that subject's confinement at the US Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia as a contract prisoner from the State of R.I. was legal. T-4 advised that the subject is still the head of the LCN in New England; and although his brother JOSEPH PATRIARCA is dead, [redacted] is handling things. ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

Details:

On May 4, 1972, BS T-1 advised that the Italian American Civil Rights League is moving away from its location on Atwell's Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island and its new location will be at the corner of DePasquale Avenue and Federal Street in Providence. T-1 stated that RAYMOND PATRIARCA never liked the idea of this organization because it simply attracted attention to the Federal Hill area. RAYMOND PATRIARCA's [] had been told by RAYMOND PATRIARCA to raise the rent being paid by the League so high that the League would have to move. The League was also told that "RAYMOND wanted them out".

BS T-1 advised that [] is doing certain errands for [] and RAYMOND PATRIARCA's attorneys are working on RAYMOND PATRIARCA's forthcoming trial by the State of Rhode Island. T-1 advised that RAYMOND believes that he is going to be able to win at this trial, because he does not feel that the Marfeos will testify against him at the trial.

BS T-1 also advised that the government witness, [] is only going to be able to testify concerning one meeting, which he had with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and that the government will not be able to corroborate [] testimony with other witnesses. For this reason, it is going to be [] word against RAYMOND PATRIARCA's word and the jury will probably have to give the benefit of the doubt to the defendant, RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

On May 29, 1972, BS T-5 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was at the Adult Correctional Institute trial and is confident that he will be acquitted. T-5 advised [] feels that the "Fix" is in but [] who or how it is going to be done.

On June 2, 1972, BS T-2 advised that in connection with the trial of RAYMOND PATRIARCA in Rhode Island, [] was the one who got the priest from Baltimore, Maryland to testify as a witness [] RAYMOND.

PATRIARCA's attorneys were opposed to using the priest as a witness, but [redacted] insisted on this and convinced [redacted] that the priest should testify. On cross-examination the prosecutor was able to have the priest admit that his testimony as a defense witness was untrue.

BS T-2 stated that the attorneys for PATRIARCA must have known that the priest was going to lie on the stand and therefore, did not want him to testify. Also, the prosecution's case was relying heavily on one government witness, [redacted] which he had with PATRIARCA and the defense felt that they already had put in enough evidence to create a doubt and did not want to use the priest.

On June 24, 1972, BS T-3 advised that the talk among the hoodlum element in Providence, Rhode Island is that RAYMOND PATRIARCA will obtain his federal parole sometime in August of 1972. These same people feel that PATRIARCA will then be released on bail on the State of Rhode Island murder case, which he has under appeal until the Supreme Court has rendered its decision.

On June 28, 1972, BS T-5 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had made a request of WPRI - TV, Channel 12 in Providence, Rhode Island for time to refute the testimony of [redacted] on nationwide television. This is the second time that PATRIARCA has done this. However, the Chief United States Marshal turned him down. Channel 12 had agreed to allow PATRIARCA to appear. Instead [redacted] appeared on television to argue [redacted] case.

On July 18, 1972, [redacted] Attorney General's Office, State of Rhode Island, advised that on July 6, 1972, RAYMOND PATRIARCA's motion for bond while he appeals his State of Rhode Island conviction for Conspiracy to Commit Murder, was denied by Judge JAMES BULMAN, Superior Court, State of Rhode Island.

[redacted] advised that November 7, 1972 was the tentative federal release date for RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

On July 20, 1972, [redacted] New England Organized Crime Intelligence System, contacted the Boston Office and advised that he had received a telephone call from the Pepper Committee in Washington, D.C. and this committee had stated that [redacted] an attorney for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, had testified before the committee concerning the Berkshire Downs Race Track. Attorney [redacted] had stated that an individual named [redacted] had an interest in this race track.

[redacted] advised that he had determined that [redacted] was born in 1913 and resides at [redacted] and has telephone number LA7-4550. [redacted] is allegedly in the [redacted] business and is believed to be associated with [redacted] Company located at [redacted] Massachusetts with another building located at [redacted]. There was some indication that [redacted] was also associated with the [redacted] but there was no record of this latter company in the Boston Telephone Directory. [redacted] advised that it was possible that [redacted] was presently located in Miami or Miami Beach, Florida.

On July 25, 1972, BS T-5 advised that [redacted] is a man of considerable importance in criminal affairs in Rhode Island and there is a feeling that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is not a man to be trusted. T-5 advised that he felt that there would be a waning of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's influence even after he is released from prison.

On July 20, 1972, a newspaper article appeared in the Boston Herald Traveler stating that RAYMOND PATRIARCA allegedly had personally lost $75,000 on Berkshire Downs Race Track in Massachusetts. This allegation was made by Attorney [redacted] the [redacted] for the [redacted] in Washington, D.C. [redacted] stated that PATRIARCA had been in a group of men who lost $214,000 on the bankrupt track. During the hearing, PATRIARCA had denied that he knew singer FRANK SINATRA. PATRIARCA denied owing any part of the Berkshire Downs Race Track.

By communication dated August 1, 1972, the Identification Division advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had been received at the Washington, D.C. Jail on July 16, 1972 to be held for the United States Marshal.

On August 9, 1972, BS T-5 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is thinking of placing all of his property in [redacted]. This property would include the property which is in Scituate, Rhode Island, where RAYMOND PATRIARCA's son and family live.

On September 14, 1972, BS T-2 advised that everyone in the Federal Hill area is mad because of RAYMOND PATRIARCA going back to the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia. T-2 advised that [redacted] and his brother, JOSEPH PATRIARCA, had visited RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Adult Correctional Institute in Rhode Island and, although he was in jail, PATRIARCA could still make decisions for them.

By communication dated October 2, 1972, the Identification Division advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had been received at the United States Penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia on September 8, 1972 as a Boarded prisoner for the State of Rhode Island to serve a ten-year sentence for Conspiracy.

On October 13, 1972, [redacted] Organized Crime Investigator for the State of Rhode Island, advised Special Agent [redacted] that the subject was presently in federal prison at Atlanta, Georgia serving a ten-year sentence for a Rhode Island Conspiracy to Commit Murder conviction. This sentence was being served in federal prison in Atlanta under the terms of Title 18 United States Code Section 5003.

BS 92-118

[redacted] advised that on October 6, 1972, subject filed Civil Suit number 17,161 in United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia requesting that he be transferred to the State of Rhode Island to serve his sentence for Conspiracy. b6 b7C

On November 22, 1972, BS T-5 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has placed his Scituate, Rhode Island property in [redacted] name. PATRIARCA feels that he will be back in Rhode Island before Christmas, 1972.

On December 13, 1972, [redacted] advised that RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA arrived in Providence, Rhode Island at approximately 9:00 PM on December 8, 1972 to attend the wake of his deceased brother, FRANCIS JOSEPH PATRIARCA. b6 b7C

[redacted] advised that the State of Rhode Island's Correction Officials had arranged for PATRIARCA to be flown to Providence from the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary and Superior Court Judge, JOSEPH R. WEISBERGER, had ruled that PATRIARCA should be allowed to view the remains of his brother privately for approximately one hour on December 8, 1972. This Judge ruled that PATRIARCA would not be allowed to attend the funeral.

[redacted] advised that FRANCIS JOSEPH PATRIARCA had died on December 6, 1972 of a heart attack and the funeral was scheduled to be held at St. Pius Church, Eagon Street, Providence, Rhode Island. The undertaker was V.J. BERARDUCCI and Son Funeral Home. FRANCIS JOSEPH PATRIARCA was survived by b6 b7C

[redacted] PATRIARCA was survived by his brother, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, subject of this case, and [redacted]

On December 19, 1972, [redacted] advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA had been permitted to stay in Rhode Island for one week after his brother's wake, but Judge WEISBERGER denied PATRIARCA's motion to remain in Rhode Island over the Christmas Holiday. b6 b7C

BS 92-118

On December 8, 1972, BS T-6 advised that when RAYMOND PATRIARCA obtained his parole in the State of Massachusetts many years ago, through an individual named [REDACTED] JOSEPH PATRIARCA dressed up as a priest and met [REDACTED] in the men's room at the Hotel Touraine, where PATRIARCA paid [REDACTED] in cash. b6 b7C b7D

BS T-6 advised that a great many people are very pleased in Providence, now that JOE PATRIARCA is dead. RAYMOND PATRIARCA came up to the funeral and JOE PATRIARCA, who died of a heart attack, is being buried from Beraducci's Funeral Home in Providence. [REDACTED] is [REDACTED] b6 b7C b7D

BS T-6 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is still very much in charge of La Cosa Nostra and while he is in jail, JOE PATRIARCA and [REDACTED] were acting for him. RAYMOND PATRIARCA and the others in the Marfeo murder case feel that they will get out on appeal based on contradictory statements made by the government witness named KELLY. b6 b7C b7D

By communication dated December 29, 1972, the Atlanta Division advised that the only changed address on the visitor's list for RAYMOND PATRIARCA is a change for [REDACTED] b6 b7C b7D which address is now shown as number [REDACTED] [REDACTED] The only addition to PATRIARCA's visitor's list is [REDACTED] Attorney, [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Rhode Island. [REDACTED] GA MASS

[REDACTED] RAYMOND PATRIARCA and [REDACTED] PATRIARCA, made numerous visits to RAYMOND PATRIARCA at the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta. Other special visitors were [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] b6 b7C b7D

The Atlanta Division on November 22, 1972, Judge [REDACTED] United States District Court, Atlanta, Georgia, ruled that RAYMOND PATRIARCA's confinement in the United States Penitentiary in Atlanta as a contract prisoner from the State of Rhode Island was legal. This ruling was made in reference to Civil action number 17, 161 filed by [REDACTED] b6 b7C b7D

BS 92-118

RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

On January 2, 1973, BS T-4 advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is still the head of the LCN in New England and is still waiting the disposition of his last appeal to the Rhode Island State Supreme Court. Although JOSEPH PATRIARCA is dead, [redacted] is running things in Providence, Rhode Island. [redacted] has [redacted] on almost a daily basis and they spend much of their time at Coin-O-Matic, Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, just like [redacted] did twenty years ago. T-4 advised that [redacted] is furnishing advice to [redacted] although [redacted] and some of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's old friends occasionally will come to visit [redacted]. When JOE PATRIARCA was making decisions, he had very few friends and was considered by everyone to be "cheap". Now some of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's old associates are beginning to [redacted].

The only individual who is going to see RAYMOND "in the can" is [redacted].

On January 11, 1973, BS T-6 advised that [redacted] [redacted] handling everything for [redacted] while [redacted] is in jail, except that [redacted] still contacts [redacted] with regard to decisions [redacted] can make.

BS T-6 advised that [redacted] assisted with the last appeal prepared for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, but has not done anything since that time. In addition, [redacted] has not been to visit PATRIARCA in Atlanta in over a month. [redacted] supposedly only went to see [redacted] once recently, and the only frequent visitor to PATRIARCA is [redacted].

On January 26, 1973, [redacted] Bureau of Criminal Identification, Adult Correctional Institute, Howard, Rhode Island, advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was at the Adult Correctional Institute from April 17, 1972 through June 7, 1972; and during that time he was visited by [redacted] his brother, JOSEPH: [redacted]

PATRIARCA was also at the Adult Correctional Institute from December 8 through December 19, 1972. During that time he was only visited by [redacted] and [redacted] advised that the visiting hours at the Adult Correctional Institute would allow any of these individuals to visit PATRIARCA from between two to three hours each day. b6 b7C

On January 26, 1973, Assistant Attorney General [redacted] Appeals Division, Attorney General's Office, State of Rhode Island, advised that no decision has been reached by the Rhode Island Supreme Court concerning RAYMOND PATRIARCA's appeal and the appeals of his co-defendants in the Manfeio murder case. [redacted] advised that over five appeals have been filed in this case and that extremely complicated briefs have been filed in this matter by the prosecution and by the defense and that no decision on this appeal is expected in the near future. b6 b7C

SUMMARY

W.S.A.

Reference is made to your communication dated October 10, 1973, your reference HEP:WBL:CS:NR:ejb 123-66, captioned "Intelligence Request - Parole Check," requesting information on captioned individual.

The central files of the FBI reveal that Raymond L.S. Patriarca is widely known as the head of organized crime in the New England area. He has been under investigation by this Bureau for an extended period of time in connection with antiracketeering and gambling matters. Your attention is invited to Boston report of Special Agent [] dated February 8, 1973, entitled "Raymond L.S. Patriarca-Anti-Racketeering," a copy of which was previously furnished the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Criminal Division. This report clearly showed Patriarca was still considered head of the organized crime activity in New England despite his incarceration on a ten-year sentence for conspiracy to commit murder. (92-2961)

In addition to the above, enclosed is a copy of a memorandum dated July 18, 1957, concerning Patriarca's background regarding his early career and associates. Also enclosed is a copy of FBI Identification Record Number 191 775 for Raymond Patriarca, which shows his extensive criminal record dating back to February, 1928. NCIC has no information identifiable with Patriarca. (63-331)

Your attention is also invited to communications from this Bureau dated June 23, 1967, and April 29, 1971, concerning Patriarca and court proceedings under way at the time of the communications concerning Patriarca's involvement in the murders for which he was subsequently convicted and incarcerated. (166-3219-34, 163)

Our files contain no additional information identifiable with the captioned individual.

Title: RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA

Character: ANTI-RACKETEERING

Synopsis: Subject incarcerated at Adult Correctional Institute in Cranston, R.I. He will be eligible to be considered for parole in December, 1973. He was denied a new trial on 11/6/73.
ARMED & DANGEROUS.

DETAILS:

On February 23, 1973, a newspaper, the Providence Journal, reflected that RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA will be returned from a Federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Georgia, to the State of Rhode Island, at least temporarily, as a result of a United States Circuit Court of Appeals decision that week.

Attorney General RICHARD J. ISRAEL, Attorney General for the State of Rhode Island, said that PATRIARCA would be returned to the Adult Correctional Institute in Cranston and given a hearing on whether he should be transferred once again to an out-of-state prison.

PATRIARCA, his family, and attorneys have contended that little is being done to rehabilitate PATRIARCA in Atlanta, where he is a prison janitor.

The article noted that PATRIARCA is serving a ten year state term imposed for conspiracy to murder. This murder involved the shotgun deaths of RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI.

BS 92-118

A newspaper article dated May 3, 1973, in the Evening Bulletin, at Providence, Rhode Island, stated that PATRIARCA was brought to the Adult Correctional Institute more than ten weeks previously to await a hearing on the legality of his out-of-state transfer, but he has not been given a hearing yet.

Attorney General ISRAEL stated that the riot at the prison which occurred on April 2, 1973, may have been responsible for part of the delay in the hearing.

PATRIARCA, since his return to Rhode Island, has been housed in the infirmary wing of the maximum security building of the Adult Correctional Institute (ACI).

PATRIARCA noted that the only rehabilitation that he was being given in the Federal prison in Atlanta was an assignment as being a prison janitor, which he contended he could do in any prison. He stated that his medical problems, the most serious of which was a "mild" case of diabetes, could be treated in any prison through the taking of daily dosages of pills.

On June 6, 1973, the Evening Bulletin at Providence, Rhode Island, stated that the State Department of Corrections had decided to keep RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA at the ACI in a move that prompted a strong criticism from Attorney General ISRAEL.

The decision to keep PATRIARCA at the ACI was made by Prison Classification Board and its decision was unanimous. PATRIARCA has been assigned to work in the ACI kitchen.

ISRAEL noted that this decision was a black-day in the war on organized crime in the State of Rhode Island. ISRAEL stated that he feared that the state is slipping back into an era of complacency about organized crime.

BS 92-118

A public relations assistant for the Director of Corrections for the State of Rhode Island noted that there was no evidence that PATRIARCA was "involved" with the two remaining co-conspirators in the maximum security area of the prison. Also there was no evidence that PATRIARCA was making any top-level crime decisions either through telephone calls or other means. His visiting list is restricted to family members and "one special friend."

On July 20, 1973, the Rhode Island Supreme Court decided the subject's appeal from his murder-conspiracy conviction and ruled against PATRIARCA on all of his 11 exceptions.

On August 1, 1973, [redacted] Clerk's Office, Supreme Court of the State of Rhode Island, advised that on July 31, 1973, the Supreme Court of Rhode Island handed down decisions confirming the convictions of [redacted] and [redacted] for conspiracy to murder RUDOLPH MARFEO and ANTHONY MELEI. b6
b7c

On August 2, 1973, [redacted] Identification Officer, ACI, Cranston, Rhode Island, furnished the following information: b6
b7c

He advised that on August 31, 1970, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and his co-conspirators received a ten year sentence for conspiracy to murder. The papers sent over from the Rhode Island Superior Court indicated that the sentence regarding PATRIARCA would run concurrently with the Federal sentence which PATRIARCA was serving.

[redacted] advised that his review of PATRIARCA's file indicated that PATRIARCA would become eligible for parole in December, 1973, based on the serving of one-third of the total time and assuming that the sentence received by PATRIARCA was running concurrently with the Federal sentence. b6

BS 92-118

[] noted that PATRIARCA would be earning 12 days of good time for every 30 days that he served. b6 b7C

[] advised that according to his records, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA was born March 17, 1908, at Worcester, Massachusetts, and he has an appendix scar.

[] stated that the individuals who have been visiting RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA are [] b6 b7C

[] (RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA's [] and two attorneys named []

[] noted that PATRIARCA has been a model prisoner and if the parole board were to consider merely his behavior in prison, there would be no basis for denying parole, but if the parole board could consider other criteria other than prison behavior that PATRIARCA might be denied parole. b6 b7C

[] advised that if PATRIARCA's sentence was completed for the full amount of time and was considered to run concurrently with the Federal sentence, he would be released on September 21, 1976, and if state sentence was considered to run its full length and to be consecutive to his Federal sentence, he would be released some time in 1979. b6 b7C

On October 5, 1973, the Providence Journal carried an article which stated:

"A motion by Raymond L. S. Patriarca that he be given credit for five months spent awaiting sentence after his conviction for conspiracy to murder Rudolph Marfeo and Anthony Melel was denied by Judge James C. Bulman in Providence Superior Court on October 4, 1973."

At the time PATRIARCA was serving a five year sentence imposed by a Boston Federal Court on another conspiracy charge.

BS 92-118

A special assistant to the Attorney General for the State of Rhode Island said that the question of bail at the time on the state charge would be meaningless if PATRIARCA was still serving a Federal sentence.

On November 7, 1973, the Providence Journal carried an article stating that on November 6, 1973, Judge BULMAN in Providence Superior Court denied a motion that PATRIARCA be granted a new trial because of new evidence.

On November 14, 1973, the Boston Herald American carried an article noting that PATRIARCA would be eligible for consideration for parole in December, 1973, but there is a 1968 indictment still outstanding against PATRIARCA and the parole board traditionally has not released prisoners who have charges remaining against them.

Attached teletype relates to newspaper articles alluding to fact Raymond L. S. Patriarca, "boss" of New England La Cosa Nostra (LCN), who is presently incarcerated in Rhode Island on a state charge of Conspiracy to Commit Murder, may possibly be paroled. Two state charges pending against Patriarca were dismissed on 11/27/73 for failure to grant a speedy trial.

Patriarca this past year was transferred to Adult Correctional Institute, Cranston, Rhode Island, after being released from Federal Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, where he served a Federal sentence on an Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling conviction.

U. S. Attorney, Providence, Rhode Island, and Strike Force Attorney, Boston, Massachusetts, in an attempt to block parole, plan to contact Justice Department concerning possibility of giving Rhode Island Parole Board access to material from microphone coverage on Patriarca from 1962 to 1965.

It is to be noted much of the information from the tapes was published in the "Boston Globe" newspaper in 1969 when a reporter received the information during Rhode Island tax case of Louis Taglinanetti, a New England LCN hoodlum. The information from the tapes in the newspaper revealed discussions concerning gangland assassination contracts and other brutal crimes.

As of this date, the Bureau has not been contacted by the Department concerning this matter; however, this matter will be closely followed and you will be notified of any pertinent developments.

Re Boston airtel to Bureau, dated 12/13/73.

Hearing held 12/26/73, in USDC, Providence, R.I., re motion of subject to enjoin the Attorney General of the United States, the USA at Providence, R.I., Task Force Attorney [redacted] Providence, R.I., and Task Force Attorney [redacted] Boston, Mass., from producing at a parole board hearing relating to subject's parole eligibility any information obtained through electronic surveillances of PATRIARCA's office by the FBI. As a result of the above hearing, USDC Judge refused to issue injunction.

On 12/27/73, Task Force Attorney [redacted] advised that on this date, USA LINCOLN C. ALMOND, Task Force Attorney [redacted] and himself appeared before the Rhode Island State Parole Board re PATRIARCA's parole eligibility. The parole board did not wish to hear information obtained through electronic surveillances of PATRIARCA as they desire to avoid future litigation. Presentation of [redacted] and ALMOND consisted of informant information and excerpts of sworn testimony before Senate Committees. In all, presentation lasted 40 minutes and was the first of 42 cases scheduled to be heard by that board. Parole board advised matter will be handled routinely and no indication given as to when decision will be made by same. Bureau will be advised accordingly.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

January 10, 1975

Boston reports in attached teletypes of the release from State Prison of the infamous New England La Cosa Nostra (LCN) leader Raymond L. S. Patriarca.

Patriarca, who is 66 years of age, was released from a Rhode Island correctional institute at 4:45 a.m., on 1/9/75, amidst considerable media controversy over Patriarca's early (20 months) release. The press was demanding the Governor take action with the Parole Board over this matter which is reported to be extremely questionable.

Our Boston office reports highly-placed sources indicate Patriarca desired no adverse publicity which could jeopardize his release. Parole Board originally granted parole 12/26/74, but was delayed when U.S. Department of Justice and State of Rhode Island Attorney General requested hearings to show cause why Patriarca should not be released. Parole Board stated Patriarca was released because of his "excellent prison behavior and the desirability of supervision in the community." This statement was not elaborated upon.

Subject was scheduled to be released 9/21/76 after serving a full sentence for a 1970 conviction implicating him in a murder conspiracy. His ten-year sentence at the time was made retroactive to 1969, the date he and his associates were arrested for the crime. At this time, Patriarca was serving a Federal prison sentence for an Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling conviction. Although Patriarca was released early from prison, it appears he will be under parole supervision.

NOTE CONTINUED: regard to the activities of these individuals in the areas of gambling and organized crime. Patriarcha is presently incarcerated in a state correctional facility in Rhode Island. Stefano Magaddino died of a heart attack in July, 1974. Special Investigative Division has advised that both Magaddino and Patriarcha were subjects of electronic surveillance (ELSUR) during the period of 1962 - 1965. Both surveillances were later declared illegal in Federal court. Review of Bufiles and contact with Bureau personnel familiar with the Magaddino investigations reveals that no public disclosure of the transcripts from the Magaddino ELSUR has been made, although the existence of the ELSUR was revealed in a court case against Magaddino. Review of Bufiles on Patriarcha and contact with individuals familiar with the investigations determined that the only authorized public disclosure of conversations obtained from this ELSUR were airtel summaries of approximately 10 days of coverage which were made part of the public court record by a Federal District Judge in Providence, Rhode Island, in May, 1967, during the trial of Louis J. Taglianetti on income tax charges. (Taglianetti is subject of Bufile 92-7441). As requester does not cite the Freedom of Information Act as the basis of his request and the request is general in nature, it is felt the above letter is responsive. [REDACTED]

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, AR.

PATRIARCA RELEASED ON PAROLE FROM ADULT CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTION, GRANSTON, RHODE ISLAND AT APPROXIMATELY 4:45 AM, JANUARY 9, 1975. LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS BELIEVE THAT PATRIARCA APPARENTLY REQUESTED RELEASE AT THAT HOUR TO AVOID NEWS MEDIA COVERAGE.

AN EDITORIAL IN PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND EVENING BULLETIN ON JANUARY 6, 1975, STATED IN PART:

"IF THE RHODE ISLAND PAROLE BOARD CANNOT MAKE PUBLIC WITHIN 24 HOURS, A FULL AND CONVINCING EXPLANATION OF ITS DECISION TO PAROLE RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA NEXT THURSDAY, 20 MONTHS BEFORE HIS SCHEDULED RELEASE FROM THE ADULT CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTIONS GOVERNOR PHILIP W. NOEL WILL HAVE THE TOTAL SUPPORT OF CONCERNED RHODE ISLANDERS IN DEMANDING THE RESIGNATIONS OF EVERY MEMBER OF THE BOARD.

"...NOW THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT MUCH OF WHAT ANY PAROLE BOARD DOES INVOLVES DEEPLY PRIVATE MATTERS WHICH COMMON DECENCY REQUIRES SHOULD BE KEPT INVIOATE, BUT PATRIARCA IS NOT A COMMON CRIMINAL. IT IS A MATTER OF RECORD THAT HE HAS EARNED NATIONAL NOTORIETY AS THE NEW ENGLAND LEADER OF ORGANIZED CRIME, AND MANY LAW ENFORCEMENT

Informant said that the talk going around now is that RAYMOND PATRIARCA may be granted a parole come next December because if he is refused parole, then the next time around he will have fulfilled all of his prison time and would have to be released by law. By giving him a parole in December, the authority would be able to drop in to see PATRIARCA at any time as though they were checking his parole supervision.

On October 16, 1974, the above source furnished the following information:

Informant advised that RAYMOND PATRIARCA is expressing his view that he will get his parole in December, 1974. Informant said that if he does not get the parole he will finish serving his original sentence in July, 1975, and will not be under any parole supervision of any kind.

Informant said that the rumor around is that JERRY ANGIULO is saying that he will not go to jail for thirty days and if he has to they hope to prolong it until after the holidays.

Informant said that [redacted] has gone to Las Vegas to work.

It is noted that an editorial appeared in the Providence, Rhode Island Evening Bulletin on 1/6/75, which stated in part:

"If the Rhode Island Parole Board cannot make public within 24 hours, a full and convincing explanation of its decision to parole RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA next Thursday, 20 months before his scheduled release from the Adult Correctional Institutions Governor PHILIP W. NOEL will have the total support of concerned Rhode Islanders in demanding the resignations of every member of the Board."

"...Now there is no doubt that much of what any Parole Board does involves deeply private matters which common decency requires should be kept inviolate, but PATRIARCA is not a common criminal. It is a matter of record that he has earned National notoriety as the New England Leader of Organized Crime, and many law enforcement officers and police feel that he has continued to exert control over criminal activities even while in the Adult Correctional Institution. Bleating about the privacy of Board work in this case insults the intelligence of every Rhode Islander.

"...The PATRIARCA Parole stinks, and one would have to dig deep in State history to discover a worse stench. Governor NOEL not only has the right to demand a full statement of facts; he has the duty to demand such an accounting to the public which he is sworn to lead. If the Parole Board does not and will not respond, let him call upon it to get out of Office before PATRIARCA's release."

The following information was furnished by the Boston Office to the Bureau by nitel dated January 9, 1975:

Informants have failed to report any indication of political influence or pay-offs in connection with parole of subject. Informant information has indicated for matter of months, that PATRIARCA desired no incidents which would result in any adverse publicity which could in any way jeopardize his parole request. Parole Board, State of Rhode Island, has been quoted in press as stating that in the event that they had not granted parole at this time, he would have been released from his sentence in September, 1975 after having served full time (with credit being given for good time earned). If released under these circumstances in September, 1975, he would not be under any parole supervision and Parole Board stated they felt it in best interest to have him placed under parole supervision.

Parole originally granted subject 12/26/74 and in response to request by Justice Dept. officials as well as AG for Rhode Island, Parole Board agreed to reopen hearings on 1/2/75 in order that Justice Dept. officials and AG might present any new evidence which should cause them to deny parole. After presentation to Parole Board on 1/2/75, Parole Board granted parole as of 1/9/75. However, Chairman of the Parole Board, [redacted] on 1/2/75 said if parole not granted, subject would have been released on 9/21/76 not 9/75 as previously had been reported. [redacted] said the 9/75 date had been mentioned the week before by AG, R.I. and he did not wish to quarrel with the Attorney General at that time but the Board when making its 12/26/74 decision to parole PATRIARCA knew the correct date was in 1976.

PATRIARCA was sentenced in mid 1970 on a State charge of Conspiring to Murder RUDOLPH MAFFEO, who was shot to death along with ANTHONY MELEI, in a Providence grocery area in 1968. The 10 year sentence was made retroactive to 1969, the date other subjects were arrested and held without bail in connection with this charge. At the time PATRIARCA indicted along with other individuals this matter PATRIARCA was then serving Federal time in connection with ITAR-GAMBLING conviction.

PATRIARCA had previously been denied parole on two occasions.

Boston alert for any information indicating any irregularity involved in granting of parole and any information developed will be immediately forwarded to Bureau.

Informant advised NICHOLAS BIANCO and EDWARD ROMANO, aka MULLIGAN are still in charge of things in the R.I. area until such time as RAYMOND PATRIARCA is released.

Informant advised he is convinced that [redacted] will be eliminated by the organization just as soon as circumstances are right. He said that the connected people have been asking too many questions about [redacted] movements are so careful that it too can only mean he has a serious problem.

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] advised that upon PATRIARCA's release from the AGI at Howard, R.I. he expects to be in contact with PATRIARCA and will furnish this office with the results of this meeting.

b7D

On 1/13/75, [redacted] furnished the following information:

b2
b7D

Informant advised that since RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been released from jail, he has been residing [redacted] in an apartment located over the old Nu-Brite Cleaners, Atwells Ave., Providence, R.I. According to the informant, the first floor, where the cleaning establishment and later a restaurant were located, is going to be renovated into a shoe store and a separate law office. The law office is going to be occupied by RAYMOND's attorney, [redacted]. The shoe store will be a "front" operated for RAYMOND PATRIARCA where he will act as an employee. In this way, any individual wanting to see him has a right to go into the shoe store for the purpose of buying shoes, and in this way, he will not be violating his parole by consorting with known felons. According to the informant, [redacted] is in dire need of money and is hoping that RAYMOND will pay him either part or all of [redacted] as after the trial RAYMOND only paid a [redacted] the balance to be paid upon completion of [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

According to the informant, PATRIARCA wants no one coming to [redacted] desired with him is to be handled by NICK BIANCO. Informant said that for some reason or other, NICK BIANCO has not been in the company of [redacted] or [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that RAYMOND has indicated his displeasure with [redacted] connection with the MAFFEO brothers murder.

b6
b7C
b7D

According to the informant, [redacted] has not been around Federal Hill except on a very infrequent visit, and most of these times he goes into the Helm's Restaurant.

According to the informant, RAYMOND is going to exert more control on [redacted] who looks like [redacted] and hangs around with [redacted] in the Providence Area.

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that DANNY RAIMONDI bought a "joint" in Fall River, Mass., [redacted]. According to the informant, RAYMOND is well aware of RAIMONDI hanging around Federal Hill, obvious to everyone, using his big mouth and has instructed NICK BIANCO that this is to cease.

b6
b7C
b7D

According to the informant, RAYMOND is going to be [redacted] all of the wise guys of Federal Hill who hang in the vicinity of the apartment where he is staying. In this way, the "law" will have less reason to be continually going back and forth on Atwells Ave.

b7D

According to the informant, RAYMOND usually [redacted] Atwells Ave. [redacted] and from these observations, he gives his instructions to BIANCO as to what he wants done.

b7D

The other half of the first floor is going to be a shoe store, and informant said he is not positive but either [redacted] will reportedly own and operate it. Informant said this will be nothing more than another front whereby the hoodlum element may come to the store on the pretext of buying a pair of shoes in the event RAYMOND wants to see them for any reason or other. Informant pointed out that he finds it hard to believe that RAYMOND PATRIARCA would [redacted] inasmuch as they both had been [redacted] DANNY RAIMONDI. Informant said that according to those in the know in Providence, something is going to have to be done to DANNY for all of the information he gave the FBI concerning his connection, association and being made a member of the LCN. According to the informant, NICK BIANCO is definitely handling everything in Providence for RAYMOND and in fact RAIMONDI has not been hanging around making a public display of himself, as in the past, on Federal Hill since RAYMOND's release. Also, [redacted] has not been seen with [redacted] as much as he had in the past.

Details:

By letter dated January 13, 1975, the Department of Corrections, Parole Board, Providence, Rhode Island advised that on January 9, 1975 RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, born March 17, 1908, was paroled. He was sentenced in Providence Superior Court on 8/31/70 by Judge BULMAN to serve 10 years at the Adult Correctional Institution (to run concurrent with his federal sentence) on a charge of conspiracy to murder. He will be residing at 165 Lancaster Street, Providence, Rhode Island.

An article appeared in the Providence Journal-Bulletin in Providence, Rhode Island on February 22, 1975 stating that during the past week RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA had married RITA O'TOOLE at PATRIARCA's home on the East Side. Reverend LEONARD RIDLAWN, the protestant Chaplin at the Adult Correctional Institute performed the ceremony at PATRIARCA's home. PATRIARCA's first wife, HELEN, died in September, 1965.

On February 22, 1975, the Boston Globe, Boston, Massachusetts, reported a similar story and added that during his trial, PATRIARCA had sworn "on his dead wife and children" that he was innocent and had been framed.

INFORMANTS

On 3/29/75, [] advised SA []
[] as follows:

[] advised that he learned that [] and a couple of guys from New York killed "DICKIE" CALLEI.
Two other men were murdered the same night and may be buried over in Massachusetts. [] was angry that outsiders were called in to murder CALLEI.

[] has had a "beef" with NICK ~~BIANCO~~ and [] is on the "hit parade" too.

[] learned that [] will probably be the next individual killed. PATRIARCA believes that it was [] fault that PATRIARCA served time in jail as PATRIARCA told [] to handle the "hit" himself for which PATRIARCA went to jail.

On 4/8/75, [] advised that his information indicated that a RAYMOND PATRIARCA recently did visit Las Vegas, Nevada, regarding PATRIARCA's interest in the Tropicana Hotel. Las Vegas [] did not see captioned subject or [] and, therefore, is unable to state which PATRIARCA did travel to Las Vegas. It should be noted that Las Vegas []

[] on 4/11/75 and 5/2 and 9/75, advised he was unable to verify that either captioned subject or
[] was a guest in the Tropicana Hotel, Las Vegas, Nevada, during February, March, and April, 1975.

[] on 4/21/75, and 5/19/75 advised that he was unable to verify that either captioned subject or
[] was in Las Vegas within the past few months.

[] on 4/10 and 11/75 advised that since the release of subject from prison, there have been five murders in Providence, Rhode Island area re persons who attempted to either take over subject's operations or did things which were contrary to subject's orders.

R.I. On 5/20/75, [] advised SA [] that informant had heard that RAYMOND PATRIARCA sent word to [] that he would be in touch with [] when the heat on PATRIARCA died down.

b2
b6
b7C
b7D

On 5/21/75, [] advised SA [] that in connection with the murder of RICHIE CALLEI, RAYMOND PATRIARCA had instructed CALLEI to give some of his bookmaking activities to NICK BIANCO. CALLEI did not do so, so RAYMOND sent word to him a second time and told him he was to do it immediately and CALLEI reportedly made some disparaging remark concerning RAYMOND and also referred to him as an "old man".

b2
b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that two individuals in Rhode Island contacted DICKIE CALLEI for the purpose of going [] The plan was that prior to "hitting the guy" [] and after killing him [] and get out rather than waste the time [] after they killed him. According to the informant, when they reached the so-called designated spot where they were [] CALLEI got out of the car and one of the individuals had [] Immediately after CALLEI turned his head away from this individual [] [] heard that they [] him dying.

b6
b7D

R.I. [] heard from an excellent source, [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, that after RAYMOND sent NICK BIANCO from Providence to see JERRY XANGIULO in connection with getting some of his money JERRY told BIANCO that he did not have any money as he had spent it. As a result of this message, a meeting was set up, time and place unknown to informant, where RAYMOND either telephonically or in person was in contact with JERRY. JERRY reiterated the same story to RAYMOND and [] RAYMOND said that he had plenty of money and, in fact, []

b6
b7C
b7D

[] According to informant, [] indicated that JERRY has not sent RAYMOND a "nickel" to date.

According to informant, RAYMOND PATRIARCA's contact with anyone is handled by NICK BIANCO. NICK BIANCO is very seldom seen with RAYMOND because the "heat" in Rhode Island by Federal, State and local police is such that RAYMOND does not want to be seen with anyone.

R.F.
Informant advised that next door to where RAYMOND lives [redacted] the building which he owns, [redacted] has opened some kind of a "joint" and usually [redacted] is with [redacted]. According to [redacted] RAYMOND has met people in the back room of [redacted] place but yet no one is allowed to hang around there unless sent for.

On 5/21/75, [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that the Federal Grand Jury on the murder of RICHIE CALLEI has them all upset. He said that when RAYMOND PATRIARCA's motions to stop his appearance before the Grand Jury and also harassment by law enforcement agencies was thrown out by the Judge, he was "fit to be tied". In fact, RAYMOND does not want "anyone" hanging around Atwells Avenue and the surrounding streets because of the number of law enforcement officers cruising the area.

R.F.
Informant advised that [redacted] has opened a [redacted] which is in the building [redacted] RAYMOND [redacted] and which building RAYMOND also owns. According to the informant, it is like the old "Nu-Brite Cleansers operation". He said that there is a [redacted] and also two exits out the back. [redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA does go into the back room but with the exception [redacted] and NICK BIANCO no one else hangs around the back room. According to the informant, [redacted] is shylocking with JOE PERRY with some of RAYMOND's money. Informant said that [redacted] and if he could be caught on a shylocking violation and given a stiff sentence he would "open wider" than [redacted].

Informant advised there is a kid by the name of [redacted] who looks as though he just came off the boat from Italy, has a moustache, approximately [redacted] height, [redacted] build and who wears [redacted] clothes (just like someone

[redacted], who has been hanging around with [redacted]
According to the informant, this kid goes out and does things [redacted] and the two of them are very close.

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant advised that NICKY BIANCO, although he has been found guilty of income tax evasion in New York, [redacted] According to the informant, NICKY
BIANCO is in contact with RAYMOND and is actually RAYMOND's "true contact" and handles whatever RAYMOND wants. He said that the "joint" on Acorn Street is receiving a lot of "heat" from all kinds of police and as a result even the legitimate customers who used to go in for a drink no longer do so.

b6
b7C
b7D

R.D.
According to the informant, NICKY BIANCO has been hanging around lately with a kid called [redacted] [redacted] an Italian kid, [redacted] the DANNY RAIMONDI case in Federal court to the effect that he believed JOE VDI CARLO and DANNY RAIMONDI had a Civil Rights League meeting at the Holiday Inn at the time of the hijack.
Informant did not know what CANUSO is involved in but he is very "gutsy".

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that he heard that [redacted] nev [redacted] had gone out to Las Vegas [redacted] but he couldn't hook on to anything. Informant said he now maure understands that [redacted] from either the Buta old man (RAYMOND PATRIARCA) or [redacted] According to the informant, [redacted] did a lot of favors for these individuals and has never "ratted on anyone". He said that it was [redacted] out in Portland, Maine a number of years ago for RAYMOND.

b6
b7C
b7D

R.I.
According to the informant, everyone knows that [redacted] is talking to the FBI and everyone is upset. According to the informant, [redacted] could "bury" [redacted] with his testimony. In fact, nev informant said that [redacted] who has been indicted for income tax evasion, has a ton of money [redacted] [redacted] for large sums. Informant said that [redacted] has been going to Las Vegas where he has been dropping large sums of money as though there was no "bottom to the barrel".
He said that [redacted] hangs out at the [redacted] R.I., and is [redacted] According to the informant, [redacted] and they feel should he get a substantial sentence he might be convinced to do a "little talking".

b6
b7C
b7D

R.I.
Informant said that "out on the street" no one is an open leader because of the "heat" being put on. He said that DANNY RAIMONDI has not been on the Hill since RAYMOND sent out the word he didn't want to see him around. According to the informant, a lot of the bookies are getting out of the business because of the "heat" but there is one [redacted] whom informant said [redacted] and has been holding up card games and acting like a real gangster, who was talked to concerning his actions and only because of [redacted] RAYMOND PATRIARCA, was he saved. According to the informant, he might stop robbing games in Providence, R.I. but will be moving out into the suburbs doing the same thing.

b6
b7D

Informant was questioned as to who was responsible for the murder of RICHIE CALLEI. Informant advised that he had no positive information although the talk around is that BUFFY BACCARI was the one who killed him. Later, BUFFY BACCARI was killed by persons unknown. He said it seems as though everyone in Providence is waiting to see "who is going to make the next move".

Informant said that as far as he is concerned [redacted] can be eliminated as the killer of CALLEI because their hatred for one another was open and known to everyone, including law enforcement.

b6
b7C
b7D

Informant advised that Las Vegas was getting an awful lot of "wise guys" from the Providence, R.I. area. He gave the following examples:

NEW
[redacted] from Providence, R.I., goes out to the Tropicana with friends and does some pretty serious gambling.

b6

On 6/6/75, [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that [redacted] has returned to the New York City area but has no plans to turn himself in.

b2
b6
b7C
b7D

RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been saying the Boston people gave up on him and did nothing for him in the can.

Informant advised the trouble in Providence is that [redacted] and their group are shaking down people for RAYMOND PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA

b6
b7C
b7D

BS 92-118

is knocking [] saying he got [] to handle the contract on RUDY MARFEO rather than handle it himself and caused them all the problems. Additionally, bringing [] caused PATRIARCA to lose face with CARLO GAMBINO because of the trouble [] caused GAMBINO.

[redacted] stated that through various conversations he had with [redacted] it was apparent that money was being loaned on stock but that the stock purchased was not held as collateral for the loan being granted. [redacted] maintained to [redacted] that the stock was being held "on the side" and that [redacted] was forwarding the stocks on behalf of International Fiduciary Management to various buyers. [redacted] stated that he questioned [redacted] at the time regarding this unusual manner of handling a loan particularly one involving stocks but at that time a substantial amount of money had already been loaned to International Fiduciary and to [redacted] individually. He stated that the International Fiduciary Management began having repayment problems on their notes, as well as did [redacted] and a third mortgage was taken on [redacted] residence on [redacted] in [redacted]. [redacted] stated at the same time he checked the names of the stocks being held by [redacted] and with what information he gathered determined these stocks were not outright forgeries but were over the counter stocks whose value was highly questionable.

Worcester County National Bank, was interviewed and furnished the following information.

b7c

[redacted] stated that he met [redacted] who resides on [redacted] Massachusetts through Attorney [redacted] who maintained his law office on [redacted] near the [redacted] for the Worcester County National Bank. [redacted] stated that he had known [redacted] for some time and that [redacted] introduced him to [redacted] prior to any requests for loans on [redacted] part. [redacted] stated that [redacted] subsequently approached him alone stating that he wanted to raise some money for International Fiduciary Management and wanted to borrow money from the Worcester County National Bank against securities that the Corporation was willing to let the bank hold. [redacted] stated that prior to granting any loans to International Fiduciary, they had provided him with certain securities making additional arrangements for further securities to be sent through the Collection Department of the bank. Based on this information, [redacted] stated that he loaned money to International Fiduciary Management as a Corporation and that on all of these corporate notes [redacted] signed personally. He stated that the total amounts of loans, according to his recollection, made to International Fiduciary was in the neighborhood of $39,000. He stated these loans were made in various stages and that as more stocks were sent through the Collection Department by International Fiduciary the more money he was able to loan International Fiduciary.

b6
b7cb6
b7c

He stated that [redacted] additionally had several personal credit accounts with the Worcester County National Bank and it is through his personal credit accounts that he was able to obtain more than $6,000 from the bank.

b6
b7cInterviewed on 2/7/75 at Worcester, Massachusetts File # BS 92-788by SA's [redacted] and [redacted] JAB/lo's Date dictated 2/12/75b6
b7c

[] stated that insofar as commercial loans are concerned, there are no formal applications that are filled out. He stated the Manager of the branch bank upon viewing all the information writes up a commercial loan notice which is circulated to the other offices of the bank but this is generally done after the loan is granted. In making this loan [] stated he relied upon what [] had told him insofar as his financial background was concerned. [] stated that he had [] fill out two financial statements, one he believed was prior to any loans being made and a second one was executed by [] some time during the loaning process. Later during the interview [] stated that he was not sure whether or not [] had filled out a financial status report until after the loans were granted. According to [] the purpose of obtaining these loans from the bank was to enable International Fiduciary Management to purchase additional stocks and that as these stocks were purchased they would in turn allow the bank to maintain possession of the stocks. He stated it is his recollection that International Fiduciary also executed a stock power which would enable the bank to endorse and dispose of the stocks.

b6

[] was asked that if they amount of the loan was determined based on the stock to be purchased, what guide lines did [] use in determining the purchase price or value of the stock. [] stated that these were over the counter stocks and that he had no access to the current market value and merely accepted [] word on their value.

b6
b7c

Insofar as those individuals comprising International Fiduciary Management, [] stated that there is an individual named [] of New York who is [] the Corporation. [] stated that he pointed out to [] that he did not know [] and could not accept a signature card with him as [] due to the fact that he was not from the area.

b6
b7c

Subsequently, [] brought in additional corporate notes showing himself as [] the Corporation of International Fiduciary Management and [] as holding another corporate office. [] stated that he believes on one occasion [] was introduced to him at the bank by [] [] stated that he has no knowledge as to whether or not Attorney [] was officially connected with International Fiduciary Management. He stated he was aware that at the time [] and [] Massachusetts, were active in common stock ventures. He stated specifically that at the time they were involved together in a stock called []

b6

[] pointed out that the loan to International Fiduciary and to [] was an unsecured loan. He stated under current loaning laws a bank cannot loan money for the purchase of stocks listed on the New York or the American Stock Exchange. Amounts of loans for stocks are set by the Federal Reserve and that these were over the counter stocks. It was pointed out to [] that the purpose for these rules are generally to regulate the amount of money that can be loaned on an item of changing value such as stocks. It was further pointed out that quite often even on stocks with a very stable history banks would generally only loan 50% of the current market value. Yet in this instance [] is loaning the full purchase price of stocks which would not even secure to the loan. [] stated that this in effect was the case but he considered that he was doing business with a reputable individual in [] and that as long as he signed individually on all the corporate notes he was satisfied.

b6

Subsequently after [] had sold all of the securities being held by the bank he still owed the bank money. During this period of time [] went into the brokerage business representing a New York brokerage firm in the Worcester, Massachusetts area. He stated that [] had signed a $40,000 second mortgage on his residence on [] and at the most the Worcester County National Bank could do was to take a third mortgage on that residence. He stated that when he initially did business with [] and [] had furnished financial statements that they looked good to him but that he had conducted no investigation on his own to verify [] statement as to his interest in securities, brokerage houses or real estate. [] stated he did recall on one occasion that he asked [] about some property that [] owned and that [] told him [] did own the property and it was worth what [] claimed. [] stated that he never had a title check of the property conducted to see if it was in [] name.

b6

[] stated on one occasion he received some stocks for [] at the bank which were not connected with any of the loans at the time. Therefore, he sent the stocks back to a brokerage house in New York. Subsequently, the stocks were again returned to the bank and to [] and when he questioned [] on the appearance of these stocks, [] explained that his office in New York wanted to get these stocks out of their shop for awhile so they sent them to the bank. He stated that he knows on several occasions [] purchased stock from [] which he later sold back to [] at a profit. [] stated that approximately two to three years ago he was called into Boston by the Securities Exchange Commission to answer some questions regarding some stocks handled by []. He stated he was subsequently scheduled to go to New York regarding this inquiry but this trip never materialized.

[] stated that the Credit Department of the Worcester County National Bank would probably have any financial statements filed by []. He also stated that the Credit Department would also have copies of corporate resolutions submitted to the bank by International Fiduciary Management. [] stated he would attempt to obtain copies of these documents for further interview. b6 b7C

Concerning the cashing of checks for []

[] stated that it was possible that he could have cashed checks for them but that he could not recall any specific occasions where he did so, nor could he recall it being a regular course of business activity at the bank with any of these individuals. [] was asked if he could see any value as to why one of these three individuals would want to cash a check without having it passed through his bank account and [] replied in the affirmative stating that there would be a value insofar as income tax purposes were concerned. He explained that if it did not pass through their regular banking account it might not show up as income to them. Again, however, he stated he could not specifically recall doing this for any of the above individuals as a regular course of business.

[] stated that he was aware of the fact that the bank had written off as bad debts the money still owed by International Fiduciary and [] individually. However, he stated that as little as a month ago he has personally spoken to [] who has indicated that he is making attempts to pay off his debts to the Worcester County National Bank. b6 b7C

On 9/11/75, Detective [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island Police Department, furnished the following confidential information to SA [redacted]. He stated that on 9/2/75, [redacted] he observed a late model automobile bearing Massachusetts plates [redacted] at the Coin-a-Matic, Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. He stated that he observed two individuals talking with RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA, Sr. He described one individual as [redacted] male, [redacted] in height, [redacted] pounds, [redacted] or [redacted] hair, [redacted] looked [redacted] not Italian. The second individual [redacted] described as being a [redacted] male, [redacted] pounds, [redacted] hair, [redacted].

[redacted] stated that he brought this to the attention of SA [redacted] inasmuch as the individuals had not been seen before and he desired to know the identity to whom the car registration was listed, [redacted].

On 9/11/75, it was ascertained from the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Massachusetts that Massachusetts registration [redacted] is listed to [redacted] [redacted] Massachusetts for a [redacted] registered in July, 1975.

On 12/19/75, [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that [redacted] is the wife of [redacted]. Source advised that based on the descriptions of the two individuals who were in the Rhode Island area on 9/2/75, they would have to be "RED". Source advised that [redacted] is a nickname. [redacted] is also a [redacted] and the [redacted].

On 10/9/75, [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that recently [redacted] attorney for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, contacted [redacted] told [redacted] that an attorney friend of his by the name of [redacted] had paid $3500. to a bookmaker from the Quincy area by the name of [redacted] and that MANZI had been shaken down for this money and RAYMOND PATRIARCA wanted [redacted] with [redacted] to contact the [redacted] and get attorney [redacted] money returned to [redacted].

[redacted] with another individual contacted [redacted] Massachusetts and told him that on RAYMOND PATRIARCA's instructions, [redacted] to attorney [redacted]. b7D

The following morning, [redacted] was summoned to [redacted] Massachusetts, where he was questioned by [redacted]. [redacted] was the vociferous one and asked [redacted] if he realized that [redacted] could cut off his head if he wanted to. The discussion ended up by [redacted] indicating that he would call [redacted] to straighten out the matter and that the reference might have been to NICK BIANCO, who is PATRIARCA's right hand man in Rhode Island. Informant stated that [redacted] told [redacted] that he better check and find out who people are with before he goes around applying pressure. Informant said that he ascertained that [redacted] allegedly owed [redacted] as a result of a gambling debt and had already paid [redacted]. Informant advised that the last he heard of it was that attorney [redacted] was going to talk to the Somerville people and try to iron the matter out. Informant did say that attorney [redacted] is extremely upset and worried. Informant drew the conclusion that the Somerville group did not appear to be overly impressed with RAYMOND PATRIARCA's name being used in the aforementioned situation.

b7D

BIANCO has not been exerting much pressure on potential customers for his garbage collection company. RAYMOND PATRIARCA has been trying to get customers for the company, also, and [] one of PATRIARCA's relatives is a "front man" for BIANCO in the company.

b7D

On 11/11/75, [] advised SA [] and [] that [] has been living up in Kennebunk, Maine where he has a house, and is now driving a Rolls Royce.

b2
b6
b7C
b7D

Informant said that [] RAYMOND PATRIARCA and visits him often in Providence, Rhode Island.

b6
b7C

On 11/21/75, [] advised SA [] that he has learned that PATRIARCA has no objections to [] proceeding for his law suit against the Providence Retail Credit Bureau. On 11/24/75, [] advised SA [] that last Saturday, 11/22/75, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, Sr. was at [] place on Atwells Avenue almost all day long. According to the informant, PATRIARCA has been spending a lot of time at [] place looking out the window and [] that looks suspicious. Informant said that he does not know if PATRIARCA is going "soft" but every time a nice looking young girl approaches [] he gets up and pretends he is going across the street so he can "accidentally" bump into them and talk to them. Also, informant said that he is surprised that PATRIARCA lets all of the "young kids" with "hot stuff" drop in to see [] who is buying it.

Informant said that with the exception of NICK BIANCO, no other "close" friends of RAYMOND's visit him at [] place during the day.

On 1/5/76, [] advised SA [] that [] recently got out on parole and [] the job at a discotheque known as [] located on Mathewson Street, Providence, Rhode Island. Informant said that the [] family are "legit" people and do not want any trouble with the "mob". [] had the job but was removed because PATRIARCA wanted [] to have it. According to the informant, [] had originally obtained the job through [] because [] was his boy.

Informant said that the reason PATRIARCA and [] had their man at [] was because everyone who goes to [] at night, especially weekends, pays $2.00 a piece to get in. The job involves acting as a bouncer and also the collecting of the money at the door. Informant said that [] has a full house every weekend and a lot of money is collected at the door. According to informant, the money collected at the door does not go to [] but went to [] and now PATRIARCA as protection money. Informant said that [] is owned by the [] (phonetic) family [] (FNU) runs and manages the place. Informant described the son as an "honest sucker who wants no trouble". Informant said that the $2.00 collected at the door must average at least $1000 a week. Informant said that PATRIARCA is laying back and is letting [] handle more and more things for him, where before NICK BIANCO handled everything.

BE 92-118

On 1/7/76, [] advised SA [] that RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA and [] had an "emergency" meeting on 1/6/76 with one of the "wiseguys" from [] Massachusetts. The meeting was held at the office of [] in []

[] did not know the purpose of the meeting.

On 1/12/76, [] advised SA [] that [] is quite upset as a result of [] and [] talking in connection with the robbery of Hudson Furs, Providence, Rhode Island and subsequent arrest of the perpetrators. According to the informant, [] was the one who introduced [] to RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA, who in turn gave [] his permission for them to rob Hudson Furs. Also, [] introduced [] to NICK BIANCO at the same time and he also knew of the contemplated robbery. According to informant, [] brought [] to RAYMOND's place on Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. Informant said that [] had one million dollars in his safe deposit box at Hudson Furs. Informant said that if RAYMOND gave the OK then he must have received a percentage of the take. According to the informant, Hudson Furs was owned by RAYMOND but public documents will not show this.

Informant also advised that [] who was also arrested in connection with Hudson Furs robbery also has big problems because he was one of the prime movers with []

On 1/28/76 and 2/4/76, [] advised SA [] that the president of the Town Council in [] Rhode Island, whose name is [] is very friendly with [] and is going out with [] recently made a trip to Florida to pick up a large sum of money for [] from []

[] has recently been visiting various businesses in [] trying to get these businesses to have cigarette machines installed which are from RAYMOND PATRIARCA's company, [] National Cigarette Company.

BS 92-118

On August 14, 1975, the firm Hudson Services, Inc., also known as Bonded Vault was robbed by seven males. Hudson Services, Inc. is located at Cranston Street, Providence, Rhode Island. ADMINISTRATIVE

On 1/26/76, SA [] interview
RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA and [] at 165
Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

b6
b7c

SA [] advised PATRIARCA Sr. that he had read an AP Release in the Providence paper where he, PATRIARCA, Sr. was quoted as stating that "corrupt Federal Officials" were responsible for his legal problems.

b6
b7c

SA [] told PATRIARCA, Sr. that the FBI is charged with investigating such individuals under their investigative responsibilities and desired to know the identity of the officials and the facts relating to their offenses.

b6
b7c

PATRIARCA, Sr. identified the two individuals as [] and [] of the FBI in the Boston Office who lied in their testimony against him that resulted in his going to jail for several years.

b6
b7c

SA [] advised that both were honorable men who testified under oath, were subject to cross examination and their testimony was subject to review by the appellate and supreme court. Their testimony and conduct was found to be without prejudice by these bodies.

b6
b7c

PATRIARCA, Sr. stated he still feels he was railroaded.

SA [] advised that [] should be concerned with the amount of publicity they are receiving over the Bonded Vault Affair, mentioning that [] [] reportedly took two shares of the loot, $128,000 for them.

b6
b7c

PATRIARCA, Sr. replied, [] you have treated me as a gentleman, and when you arrested me you did not make a circus of it, so I'll tell you this. I can die right now and be placed in my grave, I swear to you that I don't know any of the individuals involved in the Bonded Vault job".

b6
b7c

BS 92-118

Both denied receiving any money.

SA [] stated that the Providence FBI Office receives a lot of information from many individuals, all over the State. PATRIARCA's name has been used by many of these people for various criminal endeavors.

b6
b7C

PATRIARCA Sr. stated that he cannot prevent people from using his name, but he is not violating any laws.

SA [] replied that PATRIARCA's name is also being used by people in South Providence.

b6
b7C

PATRIARCA, Sr. stated, [] you know me and how I feel about those people. I would never have anything to do with them".

b6
b7C

He also stated that he comes to work at this address every day, spends the entire day here, and then goes home to []

b6

[] stated that this is his father's daily schedule.

PATRIARCA, Sr. stated that he is still on parole and will not violate any laws that will result in his going back to jail.

SA [] then left.

On May 17, 1976, Deputy Superintendent [redacted] Boston, Massachusetts, Police Department, provided a report which reflected the following information:

b6
b7C

Deputy [redacted] Los Angeles, California County Sheriff's Department, advised that [redacted] is still in California living at [redacted] California and is still with [redacted] whom they believe is going to be the top man in gambling in Los Angeles. Deputy [redacted] also advised that [redacted] FBI [redacted] from Rhode Island had also been visiting California and was with [redacted] and [redacted] As a result of this meeting between New England "connected" people with [redacted] the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department is trying to determine whether there is any connection between RAYMOND PATRIARCA and the California group.

On May 26, 1976, BS T-2 advised that NICK BIANCO has left to begin his prison term on the income tax violation and has been replaced by "PEANUTS" BROCCOLI as the number one man on Federal Hill directly under RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA. Informant further stated that [redacted] has nothing to do with BROCCOLI but suspected that with the absence of BIANCO, [redacted] might try to make a power play.

b6
b7C

On May 26, 1976, BS T-1 advised that a kid known as [redacted] last name unknown, received [redacted] okay to [redacted] [redacted] in Las Vegas. As a result of selling stolen property, he was arrested in Las Vegas. Informant said that [redacted] comes back to Providence, Rhode Island to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA.
According to the informant, [redacted] reportedly has an electrician working in his place in Las Vegas who they feel is an FBI Agent and [redacted] is a "squealer" because it seems that everytime somebody from Rhode Island goes to Las Vegas to [redacted] they are arrested.

b6
b7C
b7D

BS T-1 further advised on May 26, 1976, that he understands that [redacted] is back in good faith with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and has been for the past month or so. Informant said that it appears that the two have straightened out their differences in that [redacted] will replace NICK BIANCO in his absence.

b6
b7C

On June 29, 1976, Assistant Attorney General
[redacted] State of Rhode Island, Providence, Rhode Island, advised that 7 defendants are currently on trial for the "Bonded Vault" armed robbery which took place in August 1975. The state's chief witness,

b6
b7C

[redacted] who participated in the robbery, has testified that the "score" was approved by RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and [redacted]. Prior to the robbery, [redacted] removed a machine gun from a safe deposit box at the company and [redacted] received approximately $64,000 in cash following the robbery. [redacted] learned this information through [redacted] who was also on trial and would therefore be unable to testify against the PATRIARCAS. If the state is able to obtain the cooperation of [redacted] prosecution of the [redacted] would be feasible in this matter.

b6
b7D

[redacted] further stated that [redacted] has advised him that [redacted] participated in the attempted murder of [redacted] following the Bonded Vault robbery. [redacted] stated that he, [redacted] and [redacted] were given the "contract" to kill [redacted] from [redacted] who allegedly got the order from RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA. [redacted] and [redacted] were waiting outside the Helm Restaurant, Warwick, Rhode Island while [redacted] was inside eating. They called off the "hit" when a Warwick Police Officer drove into the parking lot of a restaurant across the street from the Helm. [redacted] also advised that he learned from [redacted] and [redacted] that other unsuccessful attempts had been made to kill [redacted] previously.

Will follow and report action taken by Rhode Island Parole Board regarding subject.

ADMINISTRATIVE:

PATRIARCA is currently a potential subject in Boston file 179-334 entitled [REDACTED] ANTONIO NOUVIELLO; [REDACTED] -VICTIM; [REDACTED] [REDACTED] VICTIM: ECT." Investigation in that case has reflected that [REDACTED] obtained merchandise from an appliance store owned by NOUVIELLO, aka TONY GOODRICH, who is RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA's godfather. When NOUVIELLO learned that [REDACTED] who is a notoriously poor credit risk, had obtained the merchandise he demanded [REDACTED] pay the entire balance immediately. When [REDACTED] said he would pay in weekly installments, NOUVIELLO asked PATRIARCA to get someone to collect the debt. During interview by Bureau Agents, PATRIARCA admitted asking [REDACTED] to collect the debt and [REDACTED] thereafter threatened [REDACTED] with physical violence in the presence of two witnesses, one of whom was [REDACTED] who coincidentally had a shylock loan from [REDACTED] has been arrested on an ECT violation and is expected to be indicted in the near future.

On 11/11/76, USA LINCOLN C. ALMOND, District of Rhode Island, advised he would not seek indictment of PATRIARCA and NOUVIELLO (who is 76 years old) at this time but would turn over information concerning PATRIARCA's role in that case to the Rhode Island Parole Board to determine if that board will revoke PATRIARCA's parole. Mr. Almond stated he would reconsider indicting PATRIARCA after completion of FGJ hearings re possible ECT violation on his part.

DETAILS:

During July, 1976, BS T-1 advised that RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA continues to hang around on almost a daily basis at [redacted] on Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. According to the source, PATRIARCA

b6
b7c

BS 92-118

is letting [redacted] handle a lot of the "stuff" now that NICK BIANCO is in jail for income tax violations. According to the source, [redacted] has a "young crowd" hanging around with him and where the old man a couple of years ago would not put up with this, he does not seem to be doing anything about it.

b6
b7D

[redacted] During August, 1976, BS T-1 stated that [redacted] opened [redacted] on Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. Source said that the restaurant serves both food and liquor and is located where the old warehouse store was located for a number of years. Source further said RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA goes there quite frequently to eat and informant heard that [redacted] put up the money for the restaurant.

b6

[redacted] further stated that the State Commission on Judicial Tenure and Discipline is currently conducting closed hearings concerning Chief Justice JOSEPH BEVILACQUA, Rhode Island Supreme Court, regarding the facts that BEVILACQUA wrote a letter to the Rhode Island Parole Board prior to RAYMOND PATRIARCA's January, 1975 parole supporting the parole for PATRIARCA. This occurred when BEVILACQUA was the speaker of the Rhode Island House of Representatives. [redacted] said the commission is also investigating the fact that BEVILACQUA apparently performed a marriage ceremony in private for [redacted] a close associate of PATRIARCA. [redacted] is also currently under indictment. This marriage took place in 1976 since BEVILACQUA was appointed to the Rhode Island Supreme Court. [redacted] said that the Judicial Commission would have a report completed on the matter on or about November 22, 1976.

BS 92-118

CASTUCCI had borrowed [redacted] people and had given up [redacted] percent of his share of the Squire. The [redacted] people are asking in excess of [redacted] from [redacted] in order to buy them out. She has contacted [redacted] who, in turn, has contacted RAYMOND PATRIARCA regarding the money owed to the [redacted] people. PATRIARCA indicated that $40,000 would be a fair price for [redacted] to pay the Somerville people noting that CASTUCCI had been paying vig of approximately $500 per week on the loan for over two years. PATRIARCA has attempted to have a sit down with the [redacted] [redacted] to discuss the money owed by [redacted] but to date has been unsuccessful in setting up the meeting. PATRIARCA expressed his concern over the strength of the Irish group in the Boston area and indicated that it was his belief that the Irish were responsible for CASTUCCI's death.

Synopsis:

During 3/77 and 4/77, source advised that RICHIE CASTUCCI's [REDACTED] and that [REDACTED] CASTUCCI's [REDACTED] was told by JERRY ANGIULO that $50,000 would be a fair amount to pay the Winter Hill People for their share of CASTUCCI's ownership in the Squire. During 4/77, second source advised that PATRIARCA was very upset with DENNIS RAIMONDI because PATRIARCA's name was referred to in RAIMONDI's book. Source further advised that [REDACTED] had several enforcers and strong-arm men operating under his control. Third source advised in 5/77, that subject had been meeting with [REDACTED] at least twice a week. Source advised in 9/77, that GERALD "TWITCH" CHRISTY was murdered on orders from subject.

DETAILS:

During March and April, 1977, BS T-1 advised that [REDACTED] RICHARD CASTUCCI, was attempting [REDACTED] RICHARD CASTUCCI owned an approximate 40 per cent share of the Squire Club, but had sold a portion of his share to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] met with JERRY ANGIULO, at which time, [REDACTED] was told that $50,000 would be a fair amount to pay the Winter Hill People for their share of CASTUCCI's ownership in the Squire. [REDACTED] was allegedly consulting with RAYMOND PATRIARCA prior to making any firm offer to the [REDACTED] people.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

During April, 1977, BS T-2 advised that prior to DENNIS RAIMONDI's death, RAIMONDI was told by many people that he was crazy to write a book about the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and about his experiences in Organized Crime. Source said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA was very upset with RAIMONDI because PATRIARCA's name was referred to on numerous occasions in RAIMONDI's book.

Source further said that since RAIMONDI was released from jail, he had been borrowing a great deal of money from anyone who would give it to him and as a result, numerous people were annoyed enough to have him killed.

Source further said that one way that RAIMONDI might have been set up to be murdered would have been through a prostitute who formerly worked for [redacted] who recently had been seen working for RAIMONDI. Source said that the girl is [redacted] young girl, who lives on [redacted] Rhode Island.

b6

b7D

BS T-2 advised during April, 1977, that [redacted] at that time had an active group of enforcers and strong-arm men working for him in the Federal Hill area of Providence. Source said that [redacted] crew appeared to be led by GERRY CHRISTY and CHRISTY's associates were [redacted] and [redacted]

b6
b7D

These individuals appeared to have a free license to do as they pleased in the Federal Hill area and were not being "hassled" by the police. Source said that all of the above named individuals have beards and are on Federal Hill each day usually driving different automobiles. On Friday evenings, they all normally participate in a high stakes poker game located in the vicinity of 107 DePasquale Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

Source stated that during the day, the above individuals can usually be seen at the Federal Grill in the vicinity of Decature Square or at [redacted] bar.

b6
b7C

BS T-3 advised during May, 1977, that RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA has been meeting with [redacted] at least twice a week. [redacted] picks RAYMOND up at the office of [redacted] located on [redacted] Rhode Island.

b6
b7C
b7D

Source further stated that PATRIARCA is considering buying Louisiquisset Golf Course in North Providence, Rhode Island.

BS T-2 advised during August, 1977, that [redacted] has recently been driving a [redacted] late model bearing Rhode Island License [redacted] and that this car has been seen frequently in front of the restaurant owned by [redacted]

b6
b7D

During September, 1977, BS T-3 advised that GERALD "TWITCH" CHRISTY was murdered on orders from RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA. CHRISTY recently made a big "score" of some kind and refused to give RAYMOND a share as tribute. CHRISTY had also ignored previous orders from RAYMOND to cease his shake-down activities on Federal Hill.

Source further advised that [redacted] and [redacted] recently opened a lounge called the [redacted] Rhode Island.

b7C

On October 5, 1977, Lieutenant [redacted] Intelligence Squad, Rhode Island State Police, advised that PATRIARCA continues to appear at his business, National Cigarette Company, Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, almost daily. [redacted] observed PATRIARCA meeting with [redacted] behind National Cigarette Company on October 3, 1977, during the afternoon hours where PATRIARCA and [redacted] appear to discuss something inside [redacted] car.

b6

[redacted] said that the former associates of GERALD CHRISTY are very afraid of being murdered as CHRISTY was and that one associate of CHRISTY's, [redacted] has apparently disappeared. [redacted] has "gone to the mattresses" and is certain that an attempt will be made to kill him because of his close association with GERALD CHRISTY. [redacted] said that his sources had stated that CHRISTY was murdered because he showed contempt for RAYMOND PATRIARCA and refused to follow PATRIARCA's orders to cease his shake-down activities.

ORDER

OFFICE OF U. S. ATTORNEY
DIST. OF R. I.

This matter came on to be heard on May 18, 1978 before Chief Judge Pettine on plaintiff Providence Journal Company's motion to compel answers to Interrogatories and on defendants Federal Bureau of Investigation, Clarence M. Kelley, United States Department of Justice, Griffin B. Bell's ("the defendants") and Intervenor Raymond L. S. Patriarca's objections thereto, and after hearing thereon and consideration thereof, it is hereby

ORDERED:

1) That the plaintiff's motion to compel is granted with respect to Interrogatories No. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9 and the first part of Interrogatory No. 1;

2) That the plaintiff's motion is denied with respect to the second part of Interrogatory No. 1 and Interrogatory No. 2 in its entirety; and

3) That the defendants shall have until June 1, 1978 to respond to said Interrogatories.

Pettine, Chief Judge. This case counterposes rights of privacy, under the Freedom of Information Act^{1/} and guaranteed by the Constitution, against the right of a newspaper, which asserts the public's interest, to compel disclosure of governmental files concerning a public figure. At issue are FBI logs derived from an illegal electronic surveillance.

Between March 1962 and July 1965, the FBI tape recorded conversations via an electronic listening device or "bug" implanted without a warrant at the National Cigarette Service, 168 Atwells Ave., Providence, Rhode Island, the place of business of Raymond L.S. Patriarca. Agents then compiled logs and memoranda from those tapes before erasing them. A history of this surveillance may be found in United States v. Taglianetti, 274 F.Supp. 220 (D.R.I. 1967), aff'd 398 F.2d 558 (1st Cir.), aff'd per curiam 394 U.S. 316 (1969), a case involving the prosecution of one of Mr. Patriarca's business associates for tax evasion. At that time the Providence Journal, the leading newspaper in Rhode Island, published the transcripts of the surveillance which had been disclosed in court.

The Providence Journal now seeks complete disclosure of all logs and memoranda derived from the three years of surveillance in the belief that the logs contain information about organized crime in New England and its relationship with various Rhode Island public officials and business and financial leaders.

The Providence Journal submitted a request to the FBI for these documents pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) on November 1, 1976. It indicated that it intended to publish the documents and to use them as the basis for investigative reporting; and it deemed that disclosure was in the public interest and might promote more effective and vigorous law-enforcement.

Clarence Kelley, Director of the FBI, formally refused, on June 10, 1977, to disclose the material based on the investigatory file exemption^{2/} of FOIA. Disclosure, he asserted, would wrongly interfere with enforcement proceedings, constitute an unwarranted invasion of privacy and divulge a confidential source, 5 U.S.C. §§552(b)(7)(A), (C), (D).

The newspaper appealed to the Attorney General. When no answer was forthcoming within the statutory period, the Providence Journal filed this suit to compel disclosure, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(4)(B). Subsequently, the Deputy Attorney General affirmed Director Kelley's refusal to disclose, but only on the basis that disclosure of these "investigatory files compiled for law-enforcement purposes" would "constitute an unwarranted invasion of privacy". Therefore, only that one claim of exemption, 5 U.S.C. §552 (b)(7)(C), is presented to this Court by the Department of Justice.

To protect his privacy interests in the logs and memoranda, Raymond Patriarca moved to intervene in this litigation. In response to Mr. Patriarca's motion of October 7, 1977, for a temporary restraining order to halt any voluntary disclosure by the Department of Justice, this Court ordered the defendant to give notice prior to any proposed release of documents.

On September 7, 1977 at a pre-trial conference called by the Court and attended by counsel, the Court raised sua sponte a number of preliminary legal issues which it felt had to be briefed in order to resolve the complex legal questions presented by this litigation. These issues, as set forth in the Court's Order of September 13, 1977, are as follows:

1. Whether the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. §552) and the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. §552a), when read in light of the Fourth Amendment, require an agency to disclose information which was obtained in violation of that Amendment.
2. Whether Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (18 U.S.C. §§2510 et seq.) or prior federal legislation would prevent disclosure of transcripts of conversations obtained through illegal means.
3. Whether the foregoing statute or prior such statutes are included within exemption (b) (3) of the Freedom of Information Act and thus specifically exempt from required disclosure.
4. Whether the public's right to know and the right of the press to publish information of public interest prevails over claims that the information was obtained in violation of the proposed intervenor's rights.
5. Whether Mr. Raymond L.S. Patriarca has a right to intervene in this action and, if so, whether he has standing to raise the above issues.

It is these issues the Court will now resolve.

MOTION TO INTERVENE

Preliminary Question No. 5, supra

Raymond Patriarca seeks to intervene in this suit under Fed.R.Civ.P. 24(a). To do so he must claim an interest relating to the property or transaction which is the subject of the action and be so situated that the disposition of the action may, as a practical matter, impair or impede his ability to protect that interest, unless his interest is adequately represented by existing parties.

Mr. Patriarca undoubtedly presents a colorable claim of interest in preserving the privacy of the logs and memoranda which are the subject of this action. Their disclosure would as a practical matter impede, in fact, destroy his ability to protect that interest. This much the plaintiff Providence Journal concedes, as it must. It also admits that the right of intervention in FOIA actions is clearly established.^{3/}

The plaintiff contends, however, that the United States adequately represents Mr. Patriarca's interest in his privacy. Rule 24(a) would not then permit intervention. Plaintiff points to the penalties which may be imposed under FOIA "for arbitrary and capricious withholding of documents,"^{4/} and assures Mr. Patriarca that these penalties will cause the Department to put on a vigorous defense of its decision to withhold.

However, all that Mr. Patriarca must show under Rule 24(a) is that his interest may not be adequately represented; no showing of actual inadequacy is required.^{5/} Mr. Patriarca's reluctance to rely on the Department of Justice to protect his privacy is understandable. Having been the subject of continuous electronic surveillance by the FBI for three years and the object of a successful U.S. prosecution for, among other charges, the use of the telephone in interstate commerce with the intent to commit murder and to further an unlawful gambling enterprise, Patriarca v. United States, 402 F.2d 314 (1st Cir. 1968), cert. denied, 393 U.S. 1022 (1969), Mr. Patriarca need not now rely on any supposed identity of interest between himself and the Government in keeping the fruits of its electronic surveillance confidential.

The plaintiff claims that Patriarca's assertion of the FOIA exemption 6^{6/} for personnel and medical files is not sufficiently different from the Government's assertion of exemption 7 for investigatory files to establish his claim of inadequacy of representation. But no such difference in asserted defenses and claims need be shown by the intervenor. Mr. Patriarca has a particular, unique interest with regard to the logs and memoranda which differs from the more general interest which the Government has in protecting privacy and fulfilling its obligations under FOIA. The personal nature of the privacy interest makes intervention especially appropriate; denial of intervention with the resulting dependence on the Government is especially onerous. No one can better assert an interest in personal privacy than the person whose privacy is at stake.

Courts have not compelled private persons seeking intervention in other cases to depend on the Government's representation of the public interest, when the intervenor asserts some specialized interest justifying intervention.¹¹ If private parties need not rely on the Government's vigorous assertion of the public interest but are granted their day in court, then surely Mr. Patriarca may have his say when the Government is asserting only his personal interest in privacy. The reasons, such as having a unified and coherent expression of the public interest, which might lead a court to rely exclusively on the Government's advocacy of the public interest are absent in such a case as this.

However, plaintiff argues that even if Mr. Patriarca has standing under Fed.R.Civ.P. 24(a), he lacks standing to intervene because this Court cannot grant him relief. Plaintiff argues that the grant of relief would turn this into a "reverse FOIA" action which it considers to "be inconsistent with the basic purpose of the FOIA, which was not to afford confidentiality, but to overcome restrictive agency interpretations of the original public information section...."

Chrysler Corp. v. Schlesinger, 565 F.2d 1172, 1185 (3d Cir. 1977), cert. granted, 46 U.S.L.W. 3555 (March 6, 1978).

Regardless of whether a reverse-FOIA action lies, Mr. Patriarca has a colorable claim arising directly under the fourth amendment for injunctive relief to protect his right to be free of unreasonable searches and seizures and governmental improprieties with regard to those seizures. He may assert that claim as intervenor in this suit.

With regard to the reverse-FOIA suit, the First Circuit has recognized that review of an agency determination to disclose may be had pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. §§702-06 (1976), in light of standards derived from common law, statute, regulation or the Constitution. But it has not determined whether a reverse-FOIA suit will lie. Usery v. Whittin Machine Works, Inc., 554 F.2d 498, 503-04 n.4 (1st Cir. 1977).

We need not decide this question, for Mr. Patriarca has a claim under the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. §552a (1976), which grants plaintiff standing to sue, §552a(g)(1)(D), for the wrongful disclosure of records pertaining to him where the Government has not first obtained his permission, as required by §552a(b).^{8/} Here no permission to disclose his files has been given by Mr. Patriarca. Plaintiff argues that no such permission is required to disclose under FOIA because the Privacy Act contains an exception to the §552a(b) requirement of permission, for disclosures "required under section 552 of this title [i.e. FOIA], §552a(b)(2), or made "pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction," §552a(b)(11). Thus an agency which is required to disclose material under FOIA (that is material not covered by a FOIA exemption) can release it without bringing into play the requirement of §552a(b) that permission first be obtained. Of course material actually withheld by an agency pursuant to a FOIA exemption is appropriately withheld under the Privacy Act as well. But material exempt from mandatory disclosure under FOIA, which an agency nonetheless chooses to disclose, does implicate the permission requirement of §552a(b) since the disclosure of such material was not required by FOIA; disclosure was in the discretion of the agency. The excepting of material required to be disclosed under FOIA from the operation of the §552a(b) permission requirement does not include discretionary decisions to disclose.^{9/} Since a civil action would lie for the discretionary disclosure of such information without permission, a suit for declaratory judgment prior to a discretionary disclosure is also appropriate, 28 U.S.C.A. 2201-02 (1976).

This Court concludes that Mr. Patriarca has standing to intervene and to assert claims arising under the fourth amendment, 5 U.S.C. §552a and 5 U.S.C. §§702,706, with jurisdiction conferred by 28 U.S.C.A. §1331 (1976).

EXEMPTION III

Preliminary Questions No. 2 and 3, ^{supra} 16/

Intervenor claims that FOIA exemption 3 precludes the compelled disclosure of the surveillance logs because such disclosure is specifically prohibited by Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, 18 U.S.C. §§ 2510-20 (1976).

1) FOIA exemption 3 exempts from disclosure matters specifically exempted from disclosure by some other statute, so long as that other statute leaves no discretion to officials as to whether those matters are to be withheld, or establishes particular criteria for withholding.

The plaintiff argues that the language of Title III is insufficiently specific to qualify under exemption 3, especially with regard to the definition of "contents" in §2510(8). Plaintiff likens §2511 to 18 U.S.C. §1905 (1976) which criminalizes the disclosure of "confidential" information by federal officers and which has been held not to qualify under exemption 3.^{11/} Plaintiff also distinguishes the language of §2511 from other statutes deemed "specific" for exemption 3 purposes in the legislative history of the 1976 FOIA amendment.^{12/}

Intervenor notes the specific prohibitions in Title III against disclosure: §2511(1)(C), imposing criminal sanctions, and §2520, imposing civil sanctions, for the disclosure of the contents of oral communications intercepted in violation of the specific procedures established in §§2516, 2518. He points to §§2511(2), 2515, 2517 which detail the conditions under which disclosure may be made. These provisions, he correctly argues, leave no discretion as to whether interceptions may be withheld or disclosed.

Thus, exemption 3 criteria are met by Title III; and the contents of electronic surveillance conducted in violation of Title III are exempt from FOIA disclosure. The clear intent of Title III was to establish precise procedures^{13/} for the interception of oral communication and to establish the conditions for disclosure. The exact working of the statute precludes discretion. Whatever vagueness the definition of "contents" in §2510(8) may involve, there is no doubt that Congress intended it to refer at least to the actual words and information obtained through surveillance. Nor is there involved in this case any disclosure of lawfully obtained information to other governmental units, §2517(1), or other circumstances, §§2517(2), 2511(2), which might involve discretion.

2) However, the effective date of Title III was

June 19, 1968. This Title has not been applied retroactively.^{14/}

Therefore it did not make the electronic surveillance at issue in this case illegal, and therefore subject to its specific criteria preventing disclosure.

Intervenor argues that the spirit of Title III requires its retroactive application in respect to FOIA exemption 3. He points to the great care which Congress took in Title III to protect privacy from electronic intrusions. In passing Title III prospectively, Congress acted against the background of the original and unamended version of FOIA exemption 7 which exempted all investigatory records from disclosure, without permitting any judicial balancing of interests to enter into the decision to withhold or disclose.^{15/}

Thus, intervenor argues that Congress, when it enacted Title III, was assured that there would be no disclosure under FOIA of electronic surveillance conducted prior to the effective date of Title III. In amending FOIA exemption 7 in 1974,^{16/} to provide for more disclosure, intervenor argues, Congress did not have in mind the ever-more-distant problem of pre-1968 illegal surveillance. Rather, it amended exemption 7 against the legislative background of Title III and exemption 3 which, it expected, would completely protect the privacy of all persons subjected to electronic surveillance.

This argument is compelling. But it is not for this Court to create exemptions to FOIA which are not there.^{17/} When Congress amended exemption 3 in 1976, it gave no indication that statutes prohibiting disclosure were to be applied retroactively with regard to exemption 3.^{18/}

We conclude that the electronic surveillance at issue in this case is not exempt from disclosure pursuant to exemption 3. This case thus presents a difficult but narrow fourth amendment question with regard to the disclosure of electronic surveillance conducted in violation of the fourth amendment prior to June 19, 1968.

THE FOURTH AMENDMENT CLAIM
Preliminary Question No. 1

All parties agree that the electronic surveillance in issue violated the fourth amendment rights of Mr. Patriarca and others. See United States v. Taglianetti, 274 F.Supp. at 221-22, 226. The surveillance violated the warrant requirement; in addition, it appears that the breadth of the search in time and extent were per se unreasonable.^{19/}

Because of this, intervenor claims that the fruits of that surveillance, the logs, should not be disclosed. He makes this claim as two separate defenses, asserting that Congress did not "contemplate materials gathered illegally and held illegally as those materials subject to the operation of the statute /FOIA/" and that "plaintiff is barred by estoppel from recovery (because) plaintiff is, in effect, seeking to benefit from the illegal, unlawful and wrongful conduct of another".

In response, the plaintiff asserts that FOIA cannot be construed to exclude the disclosure of illegally obtained information and that the fourth amendment exclusionary rule should not be imposed on the FOIA scheme of disclosure.

1) We reject Mr. Patriarca's contention that Congress did not intend disclosure of information which was obtained in violation of the law.^{20/} Mr. Patriarca points to no legislative history bearing on this question. Plaintiff, however, correctly points to the overwhelming evidence that Congress intended the broadest disclosure of all files,^{21/} especially disclosures which would bring to light official wrongdoing. Surely, Congress must have foreseen that wrongdoing might include the improper obtaining and maintenance of files by officials. The use of FOIA to bring to light information, including records tainted by illegality arising from "Water-gate" wrongdoing, see Congressional News Service v. U.S. Dept. of Justice, 438 F.Supp. 538 (D.D.C. 1977); Tax Reform Research Group v. I.R.S., 419 F.Supp. 415 (D.D.C. 1976), received specific approval in the Congressional debates on the 1974 FOIA amendments.^{22/} Significantly, in those debates,

Congressman Morehead also recognized that information obtained in an illegal national security intelligence investigation could be disclosed under FOIA.^{23/} Moreover, the Conferees for the 1974 amendments expressly approved, without addressing the legality of the information disclosed, the "present Justice Department policy waiving legal exemptions for withholding historic investigatory records over 15 years old, and they encourage its continuation."^{24/}

Illegality is not one of the nine FOIA exemptions, and the fact that illegality taints the information does not automatically put it beyond the requirement of disclosure. If such a limit on disclosure exists, it must derive not from FOIA, but from the superior force of the Constitution or another statute, in this case from the superior force of the fourth amendment.

2) The fourth amendment protects persons, not places, safeguarding the privacy of their lives from unreasonable governmental intrusion.^{25/} It secures this continuing protection of privacy in two ways. First, it erects the exclusionary rule in the courtroom as a deterrent to the police. Second, it makes available, in a case such as this, outside the context of a trial, a remedy to prevent the unwarranted disclosure of information harmful to an individual's interest in his reputation or privacy.

Because the fourth amendment protects persons against intrusion on private places and conversations, even those carried on in the most public of phone booths, it surely follows that the fourth amendment has something to say about the reasonableness of the uses to which the state puts the seized information. Forbidding the state to wiretap a conversation, but providing no remedy when it not only wiretaps but discloses the contents of the conversation to the public would be to recognize a constitutional right without a concomitant remedy.^{26/} For if an initial intrusion invades privacy, the public disclosure of what is seized destroys it altogether. Moreover, without this penumbral protection for the seized information, the core fourth amendment right to be free of the initial intrusion would be less secure.^{27/}

That there is such a general rule of non-disclosure protecting the privacy of information also may be inferred from the broad prohibitions against disclosure in Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968^{28/} and from a case such as Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, 433 U.S. 425 (1977). There the Court reviewed Richard Nixon's claim that a statute was unconstitutional which established procedures for the sorting of his documents and tapes, produced while he was President, and for the Government's retention of those of public value. He claimed, in part, that the statute violated his fourth amendment and privacy rights in that it authorized a general search of papers which, while not in his possession, he had not abandoned, and which included many strictly "private communications between him and, among others, his wife, his daughters, his physician, lawyer, and clergyman, and his close friends, as well as personal diary dictabelts...." Id. at 459. In response, the Court wrote

One element of privacy has been characterized as "the individual interest in avoiding disclosure of personal matters...." Whalen v. Roe, 429 U.S. 589, 599 (1977).... (A)t least when Government intervention is at stake, public officials...are not wholly without constitutionally protected privacy rights in matters of personal life unrelated to any acts done by them in their public capacity. Id. at 457

Thus where Government intervention, such as a search and seizure, is involved, persons have a protectable interest as to the disclosure of matters related to their personal lives. Balancing the public's interest in the presidential materials against Mr. Nixon's expectation of privacy, the Court concluded that the intrusion of sorting the material was reasonable and that the precautions taken to prevent "unwarranted disclosure" or "undue dissemination," id. at 458, of private materials were constitutionally sufficient.

That there is some protection from the improper disclosure of information is easier to determine^{29/} than how much protection, for that requires the most careful balancing of interests, see Stone v. Powell, 428 U.S. 465, 488 (1976).

In reaching such a constitutional balance, this Court would consider what impact disclosure would have on deterring future fourth amendment violations. This deterrent rationale, which counsels exclusion in a courtroom of even highly probative evidence, does not counsel suppression in this case; for the surveillance occurred over twelve years ago and the F.B.I. has no interest in seeing these matters disclosed. Non-disclosure would have no deterrent effect. In fact, disclosure might well have a curative impact on police and prosecutorial wrong-doing and mistakes. For it might show the public that the F.B.I.'s reliance on illegal surveillance techniques altogether foreclosed its obtaining admissible evidence of crimes. Disclosure might also show other failures of investigation and prosecution. In reversing a district court's order which completely closed a suppression hearing to the press and public to safeguard privacy, the Third Circuit made a similar argument:

[O]ften the only time that police conduct is scrutinized in public is at a suppression hearing. The public has a vital interest in learning about the conduct of law enforcement officers.... Where there are allegations that the police have violated...[Title III], all citizens have a strong interest in learning the facts. This is especially true since electronic surveillance... takes place in secret....

United States v. Cianfrani, No. 77-2445, slip op. at 20 (3d Cir. March 16, 1978).

Also favoring disclosure, in this constitutional balance, would be the significant public interest in Raymond Patriarca, a public figure of great notoriety for decades, whose privacy interests are thereby diminished. The public also has a significant interest in disclosures about public officials, and in information relating to official lawlessness, breach of the public trust, and webs of private corruption -- all of which are allegedly contained in the logs.

Against these factors favoring disclosure would be Mr. Patriarca's reasonable expectation of privacy, although much attenuated by his status as a public figure and by the long passage of time since the surveillance occurred. In determining the extent of his privacy interest, we would have to consider not only his subjective expectation but the reasonableness of it, in light of those constitutional decisions demarcating the private areas of life.^{30/}

But this Court need not strike a particular constitutional balance in this case, because Congress has already established a statutory scheme, in FOIA's exemption of investigatory files, the disclosure of which would be an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This satisfies the constitutional requirements. In FOIA, Congress has interposed a neutral magistrate to assure that no unreasonable disclosure of seized materials will take place. Guided by the FOIA standard "unwarranted invasion of personal privacy", as that clause is given meaning by the developing case law, this Court can strike a balance between the individual interest in privacy and the public's interest in disclosure, which will be reasonable and which will not breach Mr. Patriarca's constitutionally protected privacy interests.

3) In the alternative, we have concluded that Mr. Patriarca has waived his right to assert this fourth amendment claim, by failing to assert it in a timely fashion. While this Court could have reached that conclusion without first determining that a right to prevent disclosure in fact exists, it deemed prior discussion of the nature of the fourth amendment claim to be important. For the questions in this case are clearly suffused with constitutional overtones and an understanding of the constitutional context is important. Further, this case will likely be appealed and we think it important to reach the fourth amendment claim to facilitate review.

Since the existence of the bugging was first disclosed by the Government on December 27, 1966, over eleven years ago when the case of Taglianetti v. United States was on appeal, it has been open to Mr. Patriarca to sue under the fourth amendment for the return or sealing of the seized transcripts. Go-Bart Importing Co. v. United States, 282 U.S. 344, 358 (1931); United States v. Calandra, 414 U.S. 338, 354-55 n.10 (1974). Such suits may be maintained independently of a motion to suppress the use of the information at trial, Cogen v. United States, 278 U.S. 221, 225-26 (1929),^{31/} and may seek the return of copies, as well as the original, of the seized item.^{32/}

It will not do now, some 13 years after the last surveillance and 11 years after notice of the surveillance was given, for Mr. Patriarca to bring what is in effect a suit for the return or sealing of illegally seized information in the context of a FOIA proceeding.

The power of a court to hear a suit for a determination of the legality of a search and for the return of seized articles is a "continuing one." United States v. Napela, 28 F.2d 898, 903 (N.D.N.Y. 1928). However, "[e]ven the constitutional right to move for a return of property illegally seized...may be impaired, if not lost, when not seasonably asserted." Id. See Weeks v. United States, 232 U.S. 383, 398 (1914) ("seasonable application for their return"); United States v. Hoyt, 53 F.2d 881, 886 (S.D.N.Y. 1931); United States v. O'Dowd, 273 F. 600, 601 (N.D. Ohio 1921); Commonwealth v. Fredericks, 340 A.2d 498, 235 Pa. Super 78 (1975); cf. Fed.R.Crim.P. 12(b)(3),(f).

Moreover, in Patriarca v. Bork, C.A. No. 5385 (D.R.I. Dec. 26, 1973) (Day, J. presiding), where Mr. Patriarca asserted a limited privacy right in these logs, he abandoned his right. There, Mr. Patriarca sought to enjoin the Attorney General from disclosing these same logs to the Rhode Island Parole Board, which was about to consider Mr. Patriarca for parole. While indicating his doubts as to the merits, Judge Day denied Patriarca's motion for a preliminary injunction on the basis of a jurisdictional defect in the pleadings and his failure to make out a case for preliminary relief. The parties agreed to settle the case as moot on January 21, 1974, after the parole board refused to review the tapes and denied parole. Clearly on notice that the logs might subsequently be disclosed to the parole board and to other persons, and clearly cognizant of available remedies, intervenor nonetheless chose to abandon his claim for permanent injunctive relief against all future disclosures and to abandon his right of appeal. This action shows clearly that his failure to assert his claim vigorously during these 11 years was not out of error or ignorance; rather intervenor understood that remedies were available. It can only be concluded that there was "an intentional relinquishment or abandonment of a known right...." Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 464 (1938).

This Court, with its heavy press of judicial business, cannot permit the fragmentation of privacy claims which would permit a person to litigate a constitutional question each and every time disclosure by the Government to a new person or entity is threatened. Mr. Patriarca had the opportunity to have a definitive ruling or at least one which would have established the ground rules for any further assertion of his fourth amendment claim. He invoked this Court's jurisdiction and then did not press his claims through to a conclusion. He may not now, so many years after his claim arose, assert the claim again.

In his answer in this instant suit, Mr. Patriarca raised his constitutional claim in the form of an estoppel that plaintiff should not benefit from another's wrong. Whether intervenor framed his answer in this form because he too recognized that it was too late to assert his right to suppression is unclear. But this Court cannot, under FOIA, exercise its equitable discretion and tailor FOIA exemptions after our own equitable sense.

This Court concludes therefore that Mr. Patriarca has forfeited and waived whatever fourth amendment right he had to have the Government refrain from disclosing the illegally seized conversations and their fruits.

THE FIRST AMENDMENT AND DISCLOSURE

Preliminary Question No. 4, supra

Disclosure under FOIA advances important first amendment interests. It protects the public's right to know about public persons, official and unofficial. In this case disclosure would give to one of our newspapers, representing the public's right to know, access to information held by the Government so that it can inform the public on matters of concern to them.

In various contexts, the Supreme Court has recognized that the right to know and to have access to information is an essential part of the first amendment.^{33/}

Through FOIA, Congress protected this first amendment interest and created a "clear right in the public and the press" to have access to information held by the Government.^{34/} In the original floor debates, Representative Moss affirmed that: "Inherent in the right of free speech and of free press is the right to know. It is our solemn responsibility as inheritors of the cause to do all in our power to strengthen those rights...."^{35/} Mr. King of Utah stated "If the people are to be informed, they must first be accorded the right to sources of knowledge...."^{36/} The Senate Report to the 1974 amendments states, "Since the First Amendment protects not only the right of citizens to speak and publish, but also to receive information, freedom of information legislation can be seen as an affirmative congressional effort to give meaningful content to constitutional freedom of expression."^{37/} Senator Kennedy said in debate on the amendments,

An important objective...is to give concrete meaning to one aspect of this first amendment right to receive information from the Federal Government....

...The protections of the act thus become protections for the public's right to receive information and ideas. And the accomplishments of the act become fuller implementation of the first amendment of the Constitution.^{38/}

Moreover, the legislative history stressed the important democratic role the Act could play in informing the electorate. Accordingly, the legislative materials repeatedly quoted James Madison:

A popular Government without popular information, or the means of acquiring it, is but a Prologue to a Farce or a Tragedy; or, perhaps both. Knowledge will forever govern ignorance; And the people who mean to be their own Governors, must arm themselves with the power, which knowledge gives.^{39/}

Finally, the crucial role the press plays as a check upon governmental abuse and lawlessness was again and again cited in the legislative debate on FOIA. An awareness of Watergate wrongdoing and the role of the press in uncovering it pervaded the enactment of the 1974 amendments. In those debates, Senator Kennedy stressed the importance of the first amendment in securing honest government, and he quoted Justice Brandeis: "Publicity is justly commendable as a remedy for social and industrial disease. Sunlight is said to be the best disinfectant, and electric light the most effective policeman."^{40/}

This Court has the deepest conviction that a vigorous and free press, acting on the basis of the maximum access to governmental information, serves as a constant check on the excesses, mistakes and wrongdoing of all branches of government. Wherever possible and consistent with Congress' mandate and the first amendment, it is for the courts to further the freedom of the press to pursue vigorously its search for the truth.

However, I must advert to a spectre of abuse of the government's duty to disclose, which this decision calls to mind. Instead of protecting the right to know and facilitating a newspaper's access to governmental information, the improper disclosure of information can be used to threaten political expression and coerce conformity. We need only remember the FBI's surveillance of Martin Luther King and the use of information or misinformation against him, and recall the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, which was carried out for the express purpose of obtaining information to leak to the press,^{41/} and note that the White House authorized the break-in and bugging of the Democratic National Committee and has used its access to various governmental agencies to gain information about those not in favor, to accept immediately the proposition that the executive's disclosure or threatened disclosure of information, improperly obtained or retained, can impair core first amendment rights.^{42/}

In this case, however, there is no evidence that information was obtained or retained for improper reasons under the first amendment. While public officials and figures were allegedly the subject of surveillance, there is no hint that this was undertaken because of their political beliefs or activities. Thus in this case, first amendment interests counsel not the withholding of information but its disclosure.

Resolution of the remaining claims of exemption, §§552(b) 6, 4 and 7c, are deferred pending discovery as requested by counsel.

In light of this Opinion, the Court considers the plaintiff's Renewed Motion to Require Preparation of Document Index and hereby orders that the defendants either consent to the preparation of such an index or file and serve a memorandum of law in opposition to that Motion, on or before May 25, 1978.

The plaintiff will prepare an order accordingly.

2/ Exempt from the disclosure requirements of 5 U.S.C. §552(a) are:

Investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes, but only to the extent that the production of such records would (A) interfere with enforcement proceedings, (B) deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication, (C) constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, (D) disclose the identity of a confidential source and, in the case of a record compiled by a criminal law enforcement authority in the course of a criminal investigation, or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, confidential information furnished only by the confidential source, (E) disclose investigative techniques and procedures, or (F) endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel.

9/ On its face the use of the word "required" seems clear enough and recourse to legislative history is inappropriate. We do note, however, that S.Rep. No. 93-1183, reprinted in [1974] U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News 6919, states that the disclosure requirements of the Privacy Act do not apply when the disclosure would be required or

of 1966. This provision was included to meet the objections of press and media representatives that the statutory right of access to public records and the right to disclosure of government information might be defeated if such restrictions were to be placed on the public and press....

While the Committee intends in this legislation to implement the guarantees of individual privacy, it also intends to make available to the press and public all possible information concerning the operations of the Federal Government in order to prevent secret data banks and unauthorized investigative programs on Americans.

The Committee does not intend agencies to use the Freedom of Information Act as an excuse to avoid their obligations under this section to obtain informed consent....

Id. at 5985 (emphasis added).

In light of the general purposes of the Privacy Act "to promote governmental respect for the privacy of citizens," id. at 6916, the clear language of §552a(b)(2) which reads "required" and not "required or permitted," and the legislative history which instructs agencies not to use FOIA so as to avoid their obligations under the Privacy Act, we believe that the proper reading of the Act gives Mr. Patriarca standing to challenge the disclosure of private information exempt under FOIA. Any other reading would permit the circumvention of the Privacy Act by the simple technique of seeking information, otherwise private, under FOIA. The interplay of FOIA and the Privacy Act permits an individual whose privacy is at stake to insist that a neutral magistrate superintend and permit disclosure of private matters only to the extent which valid public interests require. Disclosures made pursuant to court order are then exempt from the requirements of the Privacy Act, §552a(b)(11). The only relevant case, construing the FOIA exemption of the Privacy Act, appears not to be inconsistent with this conclusion. Tennessean Newspaper Inc. v. Levi, 403 F.Supp. 1318 (M.D. Tenn. 1975); cf. United States v. Brown, 562 F.2d 1144, 1152 (9th Cir. 1977); Sears, Roebuck & Co. v. G.S.A., 533 F.2d at 1383; Disabled Officer's Ass'n v. Rumsfeld, 428 F.Supp. 454, 459 (D.D.C. 1977); Christy v. United States, 68 F.R.D. 375, 378 (M.D. Tex. 1975).

It should also be noted that none of the exceptions to the applicability of the permission requirement, §552a(b), contained in §§552a(j)(2), (k)(2) and regulations promulgated thereto, 28 C.F.R. §§ 16.71-16.101 (1976), appear to apply to the instant suit.

5 U.S.C. §552(b)(3) exempts, from the disclosure mandated by §552(a), matters.

specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than section 552b of this title), provided that such statute (A) requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue, or (B) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld.

Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control & Safe Streets Act of 1968 reads in pertinent part:

"contents", when used with respect to any wire or oral communication, includes any information concerning the identity of the parties to such communication or the existence, substance, purport, or meaning of that communication; §2510(8)

Except as otherwise specifically provided in this chapter, any person who willfully discloses or endeavors to disclose, to any other person the contents of any wire or oral communication, knowing or having reason to know that the information was obtained through the interception of a wire or oral communication in violation of this subsection ... shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

§ 2511(1)(c).

Whenever any wire or oral communication has been intercepted, no part of the contents of such communication and no evidence derived therefrom may be received in evidence in any trial, hearing, or other proceeding in or before any Court, grand jury, department, officer, agency, regulatory body, legislative committee, or other authority of the United States, a State, or a political subdivision thereof if the disclosure of that information would be in violation of this chapter. §2515.

(1) Any investigative or law enforcement officer who, by any means authorized by this chapter, has obtained knowledge of the contents of any wire or oral communication, or evidence derived therefrom, may disclose such contents to another investigative or law enforcement officer to the extent that such disclosure is appropriate to the proper performance of the official duties of the officer making or receiving the disclosure.

(2) Any investigative or law enforcement officer who, by any means authorized by this chapter, has obtained knowledge of the contents of any wire or oral communication or evidence derived therefrom may use such contents to the extent such use is appropriate to the proper performance of his official duties.

(3) Any person who has received, by any means authorized by this chapter, any information concerning a wire or oral communication, or evidence derived therefrom intercepted in accordance with the provisions of this chapter may disclose the contents of that communication or such derivative evidence while giving testimony under oath or affirmation in any proceeding held under the authority of the United States or of any State or political subdivision thereof. §2517.

Any person whose wire or oral communication is intercepted, disclosed, or used in violation of this chapter shall (1) have a civil cause of action against any person who intercepts, discloses, or uses [contents] . . . §2520.

Cianfrani, No. 77-2445 (3d Cir. March 16, 1978) (slip op.) (balancing sixth amendment interest in a public trial against Title III interest in non-disclosure).
- 29/ Plaintiff argues that in light of recent Supreme Court cases, United States v. Janis, 428 U.S. 433, 448-54 (1976); Stone v. Powell, 428 U.S. 465, 486-89 (1976); United States v. Calandra, 414 U.S. 338, 351-52 (1974), the fourth amendment does not bar the disclosure of information where no future deterrent effect on police infractions will result. While correctly describing what the Court has recently said, the plaintiff misconceives the context in which these cases were decided:
- a) The Supreme Court was addressing, in some of these cases, only the exclusionary rule which has developed from the fourth amendment warrant clause. See, e.g., Stone v. Powell, supra (warrantless search, incident to an arrest made pursuant to an ordinance subsequently found to be unconstitutional; warrant supported by affidavit defective under Spinelli v. United States, 393 U.S. 410 (1969)); United States v. Janis, supra (defective affidavit by virtue of retroactive application of Spinelli); see also Walder v. United States, 347 U.S. 62 (1954) (warrantless search); Brown v. United States, 411 U.S. 223, 225, 229-30 (1973) (defective warrant); U.S. ex rel. Sperling v. Fitzpatrick, 426 F.2d 1161 (2d Cir. 1970) (warrantless search). But see United States v. Calandra, 414 U.S. 338 (1974) (search may have been unreasonably broad; however, the exception created to exclusionary rule was in the context of a grand jury with another provision, Fed.R.Crim.P. 6(e), protecting privacy); United States v. Schipiani, 435 F.2d 26 (2d Cir. 1970) cert. denied, 401 U.S. 983 (1971) (search may have been unreasonably broad). The social costs appear especially high of enforcing the warrant clause exclusionary rule against evidence seized in searches which are reasonable in extent, reasonable in purpose and motive, reasonable by all standards but for a defective or missing warrant. But for a defect in procedure, highly probative evidence of serious crimes would be available for criminal enforcement purposes. This is the context in which the Court states that the chief rationale for the exclusionary rule is its future deterrent effect. The Court has, by and large, not addressed the general rule, derived from the reasonableness clause, which protects the privacies of life and a person's self respect by preventing the use of information for impermissible governmental objectives, and by preventing the disclosure of private information obtained by searches so broad and improper, in method, scope or purpose, that no warrant could ever issue to authorize them.

b) The plaintiff has overlooked a second aspect of the recent Supreme Court decisions by treating them as an absolute bar to the protection of private information by the fourth amendment. But those cases were only the result of the most careful balancing. See Stone v. Powell, 428 U.S. at 488. This instant case must also be decided on the basis of a careful weighing of interests.

c). Even if plaintiffs were to hypothesize a system in which there were no exclusionary rule in criminal trials because of the overwhelming importance of obtaining highly probative evidence, their argument for completely abrogating the general rule against disclosure of private matters would not succeed. For safeguards exist in a criminal proceeding, other than the exclusionary rule, which protect a person's privacy and right to be free from the state's arbitrary use of private information. In a trial, the proposed disclosure of each fact may be objected to, its justification in light of the valid state purpose of proving the elements of a crime must be set forth, and a neutral judge must determine that a proper, useful and not too prejudicial purpose would be served. Centuries of accumulated common law experience find expression in the rules of evidence which guide the release of information in the courtroom. Thus even without an exclusionary rule, wholesale disclosure, undirected to the proof of the elements of a crime and without any purpose but to prejudice the defendant, would still be prohibited in criminal trials. Where courts have permitted disclosure of illegally seized evidence in non-trial contexts, it has been with other appropriate safeguards. See U.S. ex rel. Sperling v. Fitzpatrick, supra (disclosure to parole board); United States v. Schipiani, supra (disclosure to judge).

In Whalen v. Roe, 429 U.S. 589 (1977), the Court stressed the importance of regulations and standards safeguarding the privacy of information retained by the state. There the Court reviewed the constitutional probity of a centralized computer system in which the State of New York compiles the names and addresses of all persons who obtain certain prescription drugs. Upholding the legitimacy of the system, the Court noted the careful procedures established by New York law which assure, through criminal penalties, that no public disclosure will occur. Moreover, the information is kept under tight security with only limited access permitted to select personnel. The Court stated that, "the enforcement of the criminal laws... require[s] the orderly preservation of great quantities of information, much of which is personal in character and potentially embarrassing or harmful if disclosed. The right to collect and use such data for public purposes is typically accompanied by a concomitant statutory or regulatory duty to avoid unwarranted disclosures." Id. at 605. See Nixon v. Administrator, General Services, 433 U.S. 425, 457 (1977) (stressing importance of regulations assuring non-disclosure of private information).

Thus, the recent Supreme Court cases, while instructive on the deterrent rationale, do not foreclose this Court's protecting private information under the fourth amendment.

 ANTI-RACKETEERING

Enclosed herewith is a Photostat of a letter from WILLIAM ESBITT, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, and a Photostat of an office memorandum of EDWARD BRODSKY, setting forth information concerning RAYMOND PATRIARCA and National Cigarette Service Company. In his letter Mr. Esbitt requested an FBI investigation to determine if a violation of the Anti-Racketeering Statute has been committed.

Investigation is being instituted by NYO and an airtel setting forth results of a file review will be prepared as soon as the review is completed.

Copies of this communication, along with Photostats of Mr. ESBITT's letter and Mr. BRODSKY's memorandum, are being furnished Boston since investigation will be required of that office.

Dear Mr. Foster:

Attached please find Edward Brodsky's memo recommending an investigation of Raymond Patriarca's National Cigarette Service Company. As the memo indicates, there may be an anti-racketeering statute violation. I agree with EA that an FBI investigation is justified in this case, since Patriarca is reputed to be a leader of organized criminal activity in the Rhode Island area.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Very truly yours,

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : William Eshitt
Special Assistant to the Attorney General

DATE: Feb. 25, 1956

FROM : Edward Brodsky

SUBJECT: RAYMOND PATRIARCA d/b/a National Cigarette Service

It has come to our attention that Raymond Patriarca, who has been characterized as the king-pin of organized crime in Rhode Island, may have violated the anti-racketeering statute, 18 U.S.C. 1951, in obtaining locations for cigarette vending machines for the National Cigarette Service, a business¹⁷ which he is a partner, located at 168 Arwells Avenue, Providence, R.I. It is believed that the FBI should be advised of the situation and requested to conduct an investigation.

We have received an allegation from the New England Citizen's Crime Commission, 41 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston, Mass., that in February and March 1956 Patriarca's cigarette vending machines replaced machines owned by other firms in about fifty-five different locations in the greater Providence area. To date, it is believed that his firm has a total of approximately 250 machines located in that area. I have conferred with the United States Attorney in Rhode Island and Colonel Walter Stone of the Rhode Island State Police, who both believe that Patriarca may have extorted his way into the cigarette vending machine business.

In order to establish a violation of the anti-racketeering statute, it is believed that the following persons should be interviewed to determine what methods Patriarca and National Cigarette Service used to obtain cigarette machine records:

1. Present and past customers of National Cigarette Service.
2. Representatives of cigarette machine companies whose locations were displaced by National Cigarette Service.

We have no list of customers of National Cigarette Service nor do we have a list of firms which they displaced. One way to obtain a list of customers would be to subpoena the books. However, such action is deemed inadvisable because Patriarca would be warned of the investigation and might take steps to impede it. Alternatively, it is believed that George Simpson of Rowe Cigarette Service, 51 South Union Street, Pawtucket, R.I., and other cigarette vending machine operators in the Providence area may be helpful. Mr. Simpson may be one of the operators who had cigarette machine locations displaced by Patriarca's firm. On April 23, 1956 Mr. Simpson along with George L. Hanna, Jr. and Sr. d/b/a Rowe Cigarette Service sued Raymond Patriarca and Phillip Carozza, National Cigarette Service for an injunction preventing them from selling cigarettes or offering them for sale in Vincent Fiore's business establishment.

A preliminary injunction was granted on June 12, 1966 and no further action appears to have been taken. This suit indicates that Simpson would not be afraid to speak against Patriarca and that Vincent Fiore was at one time, a customer of National Cigarette.

It is believed that representatives of the following companies, all of whom are alleged to operate cigarette vending machines in greater Providence, might profitably be interviewed with a view toward determining whether or not any of their locations were displaced by the methods used by National Cigarette Service and the names of the customers whom they lost:

1. Auto Matic Canteen Service
69 Bucklin Street
Providence, R.I.
2. Auto Marie Vending Machine Corp.
31 Wener Street
Providence, R.I.
3. General Vending Machine Co.
19 Cross Street
Providence, R.I.
4. Cocklin Tobacco Corp.
181 Atwell's Avenue
Providence, R.I.
5. Conte Photographing Service Co.
9 Wener Street
Providence, R.I.
6. Ideal Cigarette Service
1478 Broad Street
Providence, R.I.
7. Ken-More Cigarette Vending Machine Co.
1216 Indiana Bank Bldg.
Providence, R.I.
8. New England Vending Co.
116 Empire Street
Providence, R.I.
9. Rhode Island Tobacco Co.
66 Atwell's Avenue
Providence, R.I.
10. Ser-O-Matic Corp.
69 Atwell's Avenue
Providence, R.I.

As far as I could determine, there has never been any investigation of National Cigarette Service with respect to anti-racketeering statute violations. I have been advised that in 1954 an investigation was made of the Coin-O-Matic Co. which is owned at least in part by Joseph P. Patriarca, Raymond's brother. It has been alleged that Joseph Patriarca is merely a front for his brother in Coin-O-Matic, but as far as I know it has never been proved. The 1954 investigation did not concern National Cigarette Service nor Raymond Patriarca and an investigation at this time will not be a duplication of effort.

The United States Attorney for Rhode Island has advised that [redacted], who is associated with [redacted] may have valuable information concerning this proposed investigation. b6 b7C

Based on the foregoing information, it is believed that an FBI investigation is justified.

Boston should institute investigation immediately. Sufficient experienced personnel should be assigned to this matter in order to insure prompt, thorough and penetrative attention is afforded this investigation.

The initial step in this investigation by Boston should be the contact with the New England Citizens Crime Commission to determine the details of its allegation in this matter, provided Boston files reflect no information indicating such a contact would be inadvisable.

Thereafter, Boston should contact the USA, Rhode Island and Colonel Stone of the Rhode Island State Police, to obtain the details of their reported belief that extortion may be involved in this matter.

Boston is requested to furnish Bureau within a week a resume of the results of these initial contacts and advise the Bureau what method Boston feels should be used in an effort to obtain a list of the customers of National Cigarette Service. In the event conditions in the Boston Division indicate the issuance of a subpoena for National However, such action is deemed unadvisable since PATRIARCA would be warned of the investigation and might take steps to impede it." On 3/3/59, WILLIAM ESBITT contacted the NYO and advised that a subpoena duces tecum would be issued for the books and records of National if the FBI investigation is hampered in any manner by not having the records available.

For information Boston, when interviewing vending machine operators and customers, in the case entitled "UNSUB; VICTIM-AR," Bufile (92-1719), NY file (92-295), the Department rendered an opinion that the Anti-Racketeering statute excepts from its interdictions, the action of a labor union in instilling in an employer, fear of economic loss in order to induce him to make concessions in the nature of legitimate union objectives. This applies only to legitimate labor unions and not to organizations of employers or self-employed persons (Trade Associations) masquerading as labor unions.

[REDACTED]

Investigation at Providence shows this company registered with the City Clerk, Providence, R.I., on March 6, 1956, as the unincorporated business of [redacted] and RAYMOND PATRIARCA, doing business as National Cigarette Service Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. The firm actually commenced business in January, 1956 with 25 machines.

b6
b7C

Records of the Cigarette Tax Section, Rhode Island, show this firm purchased 114 machines in 1956; 59 machines in 1957; and 37 machines in 1958. The majority of the machines were purchased from National Vendors, Inc., St. Louis, Missouri; Eastern Electric Company, New Bedford, Massachusetts; and the Continental Vending Company, New York.

During 1956 the company reported purchases of approximately 1,009 cases of cigarettes; in 1957, 1,506 cases; and in 1958, 2,084 cases of cigarettes.

These same records show that the company has 210 machines on location. (This represents approximately 4% of machines licensed in Rhode Island). 180 of these locations have been identified through the records of the Cigarette Tax Section, and efforts are being presently made to identify the balance.

The records of the Tax Section also show there are approximately 5700 cigarette vending machines licensed in Rhode Island. The largest distributors are Central Vending Machine Company, Ken-Mor Cigarette Vending Company, Rhode Island Vending Company, and the Rowe Cigarette Service, which is the largest company, having 870 locations.

[redacted] and [redacted] were interviewed on March 16, 1959 at Providence, R.I., by Agents of the Boston Office. They stated they lost about 15 locations to the National Cigarette Service under competitive circumstances and to date have regained 5 of these 15. They said they have also picked up other locations formerly held by the National Cigarette Service Company. Both stated they know of no instance where any of their locations were lost as the result of any coercion by the subject or subject company. They state that PATRIARCA's reputation and wide circle of friends were instrumental in his obtaining an initial foothold in the business. They stated growth of the National Cigarette Service Company leveled off in 1958 and their volume has become more or less stable. They stated that, in order to meet National Cigarette Service competition, Rowe instituted a system of obtaining contracts from their location owners and giving them advanced commissions, which enabled Rowe to retain the balance of their locations.

b7C

They stated that the only attempted interference with their contractual set-up was in connection with the machine located in [redacted] business establishment, [redacted]. In this instance, they stated, [redacted] desired to give his business to National Cigarette Service and they (Rowe) took legal action based on the contract existing between them and [redacted] and were successful in preventing National Cigarette Service from taking over the location. They stated that after a short time they again commenced servicing the machine located at [] establishment and it is presently still being used as one of Rowe's locations.

b6

b6
b7C

[] stated that in the spring of 1958 he heard from [] that the National Cigarette Service might be willing to sell their business. [] stated as a result of this he conferred with PATRIARCA [] and was led to believe they were willing to sell the business for approximately $60,000.00. [] said an oral agreement was reached subject to verification of the sales volume and equipment of National Cigarette Service. He said after a lapse of approximately two months, during which time Rowe made arrangements for financing, Rowe was unable to obtain verification of sales volume and equipment of National Cigarette Service and eventually PATRIARCA told [] the deal was off, as [] indicated a desire to stay in the business.

b6
b7C

[] said that during the period of negotiation Rowe actually sold five machines to PATRIARCA to take care of new locations developed by the National Cigarette Service Company, which Rowe expected would be included in the ultimate sale of the property.

b6
b7C

[] advised that his firm did have some machines at Lincoln Downs Racetrack in the grandstand area but they were removed when the new concession owner decided to sell cigarettes over the counter. [] said that none of Rowe's machines at the racetrack were replaced by those of National Cigarette Service.

Rebuairtel, 3/9/59, BS airtel, 3/17/59.

Bureau note New York airtel to Director, 3/3/59 outlining proposed scope of investigation in this matter. Note item 5 on page 3 listing certain companies who are competitors of National. Proprietors of each of those competitors have been interviewed and there has been obtained a list of approximately 50 persons who were formerly served by those competitors, but who are now customers of PATRIARCA's National Company.

None of the above competitors alleged that National Cigarette Service used force or violence or coercion in obtaining any of these accounts. Some of the competitors interviewed expressed the view that the reputation of PATRIARCA in the past as a criminal may have influenced persons to accept his service, however, they have no information or evidence of any kind to substantiate such a belief. They also feel that the position of some of their lost customers in the booking and gaming field may have made it more feasible for them to use the services of PATRIARCA's company. Here again, however, they have no evidence that PATRIARCA, through his alleged domination in the gambling field in R. I., used his position to compel bookies to take his machines.

Of the 50, 20 have been interviewed to determine the manner in which their accounts were acquired by PATRIARCA. In no instance has any evidence been developed tending to establish that PATRIARCA or others acting in his behalf procured the accounts by force or violence or pressure. Such customers of National state that they are receiving good service from National, newer machines, and very satisfactory commission arrangements.

Investigation conducted thus far has failed to disclose any basis for the original presumption that PATRIARCA, in the development of his business, committed any act in violation of the Federal Anti-Racketeering Statute.

In view of the trend of the investigation, no attempt will be made to interview the entire 50 customers presently being served by National who formerly dealt with competitors of National. It is felt that approximately 25 of those interviews will be sufficient.

Every attempt will be made to wrap by the date indicated by Bureau, 4/1/59. However, it is believed that it will not be possible to complete the report until 4/8/59.

Crime Commission. Interviews held with persons involved, as set forth in this report, show that there was no basis for the presumption that PATRIARCA in the development of his business committed any act in violation of the Federal Anti-Racketeering Statute.

It was observed during the course of contacts at the various locations where National Cigarette Service has installed machines that these machines were modern in every respect, attractive and with sufficient space to dispense twenty-two different brands of cigarettes. The owners of these locations, as a general rule, advised that the machines replaced were old-fashion and in most instances were the type which could dispense four to eight brands of cigarettes.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA, IN VIEW OF HIS PAST RECORD REFLECTING INVOLVEMENT IN ARMED ROBBERIES AND HOLDUPS, SHOULD BE CONSIDERED POSSIBLY ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

Synopsis:

National Cigarette Service Company filed business certificate March 23, 1956, with City Clerk's Office, Providence, Rhode Island, as the unincorporated business of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and [redacted]. Firm actually started business in January, 1956 with twenty-five machines. Records of Cigarette Tax Section, State of Rhode Island, show firm has 210 machines on location, representing approximately 4 per cent of machines licensed in Rhode Island. Firm purchased 114 machines in 1956; 59 machines in 1957, and 37 machines in 1958. During 1956, company reported purchases of approximately 1,009 cases of cigarettes, 1,506 in 1957, and 2,084 in 1958. Investigation of allegations that RAYMOND PATRIARCA in conduct of business may have violated the Federal Anti-Racketeering Statute in obtaining locations for cigarette vending machines of National Cigarette Service Company not substantiated. Competitive vending machine distributors involved in allegations all interviewed and denied that PATRIARCA used other than legitimate business methods in obtaining locations. Location operators interviewed and denied in each case that any threats, pressure or coercion used to obtain these locations by National Cigarette Service Company, which company furnishes most modern cigarette machine, pays good commission and in most cases gives good service. Some competitors express view that reputation of PATRIARCA may have influenced some individuals to accept his service. Also, the position of some of the locations in the gambling field may have made it more feasible for them to use the services of PATRIARCA's company. PATRIARCA's criminal record and description set out. RAYMOND PATRIARCA, IN VIEW OF HIS PAST RECORD REFLECTING INVOLVEMENT IN ARMED ROBBERIES AND HOLDUPS, SHOULD BE CONSIDERED POSSIBLY ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

b6
b7C

During February and March of 1956, PATRIARCA's cigarette vending machines replaced machines owned by other firms in about fifty-five different locations in the Greater Providence, Rhode Island area. PATRIARCA's firm, through which this arrangement was handled, was known as National Cigarette Service, 163 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. His partner was listed as [redacted]

b6
b7C

At another point, PATRIARCA's brother JOSEPH, in 1953, placed twenty-five cigarette machines in various locations in the Federal Hill District of Providence, Rhode Island. As a result of protest, it is reported that JOSEPH PATRIARCA was bought out for $2,000., after which he went into the juke box business. It was reported that LOUIS "The Fox" TAGLIANETTE of 157 Lynch Street, Providence, who was identified by Cranston, Rhode Island police in 1952 as a bookie, was instrumental through "friendship" in getting PATRIARCA's machines in several places. One of these places was Lincoln Downs Race Track, Lincoln Downs, Rhode Island, where the machines replaced those of Rowe Cigarette Service. [redacted] was a partner with this concern. They also replaced machines of the Rhode Island Tobacco Company, 69 Atwells Avenue, Providence, [redacted] and [redacted] of Serv-O-Matic, Inc. [redacted] Lincoln Downs, was involved in the transaction for the removal of the machines. Machines were replaced at Gulp & Gallon Restaurant, 115 Washington Street, Providence, [redacted] believed to be manager, residence Cranston, Rhode Island. Machines were replaced at Rosewood Casino, 682 Roosevelt Avenue, Pawtucket, Rhode Island. [redacted] proprietor and he resides at [redacted]

INTERVIEW REPORTDate April 1, 1959

Colonel WALTER E. STONE, Rhode Island State Police, Providence, Rhode Island, advised he has no pertinent information or evidence of any actual extortion, threat or pressure exerted by RAYMOND PATRIARCA or the National Cigarette Service Company in the obtaining of locations for their cigarette machines.

He stated he had a conversation with Attorney [redacted] of the United States Department of Justice and during this conversation, he had in mind PATRIARCA's background and general reputation. STONE said he also made reference to an incident which occurred in 1952 or 1953 wherein JOSEPH PATRIARCA, brother of RAYMOND, was paid a sum of money by the Cigarette Vending Machine Association of Rhode Island to purchase JOSEPH PATRIARCA's cigarette business and good will and, in effect, remove JOSEPH PATRIARCA from the cigarette business in Rhode Island.

On March 13 and 16, 1959, [redacted] Cigarette Tax Section, State Department of Taxation, Providence, advised SA [redacted] that according to his records, there are approximately 5,700 cigarette vending machines licensed in Rhode Island. He said his records disclosed that the National Cigarette Service Company has 210 licensed machines on location. In some instances there is more than one machine installed in each location. [redacted] stated National Cigarette Service has approximately 4 per cent of the cigarette machines presently licensed in Rhode Island. He advised that according to his records, National Cigarette Service Company purchased 114 machines in 1956, 59 machines in 1957 and 37 machines in 1958. The majority of the machines were purchased from National Vendors, Inc., St. Louis, Missouri; Eastern Electric Company, formerly of New Bedford, Massachusetts, presently of Boston, Massachusetts, and the Continental Vending Company, New York City, New York.

b6

b6

[redacted] stated that according to his records, the company reported purchases of approximately 1,009 cases of cigarettes in 1956, 1,506 cases in 1957 and 2,084 cases in 1958.

b6
b7C

[redacted] stated that the largest distributors of cigarettes through machines in Rhode Island are the following:

Central Vending Machine Company
Kenmore Cigarette Vending Company
Rhode Island Vending Company
Rowe Cigarette Service (largest company, having 870 locations)

[redacted] said he had received no complaint regarding the business methods of National Cigarette Service Company and said that while his department was concerned principally with [redacted] he felt that if there were grounds for complaint regarding the National Cigarette Service operation, it would have come to his attention. He stated that because of PATRIARCA's reputation, there were questions which arose regarding PATRIARCA's rapid growth in the business; however, no evidence of any force or violence of any form or coercion by National Cigarette Service was ever reported to him.

[redacted] made available the following list of customers of National Cigarette Service Company. He said there may be a few additional ones which have not been recorded, as yet, on his forms.

[redacted] and [redacted]
[redacted] advised that this firm operates numerous food, candy and drink machines, including coffee and milk dispensers, which machines are coin-operated. The machines are mostly installed in [redacted] and [redacted] in the Providence, Rhode Island area. The company also operates two cigarette vending machines in two factories.

He said they have never had any competition from National Cigarette Service Company or RAYMOND PATRIARCA. He stated the nature of their operation would not bring them into competition with cigarette vendors because Automatic Vending Machine Company is principally a food dispenser.

He stated he did not know RAYMOND PATRIARCA and knew nothing of his operation. He had no information of pertinence to this investigation.

[redacted] advised he has operated the [redacted] in the Rhode Island area. He said in early 1956 RAYMOND PATRIARCA entered the cigarette machine business, buying all new equipment for all his locations. He said that [redacted] could not qualify on the basis of comparative equipment for competition with PATRIARCA where PATRIARCA elected to sell his service. He said this gave PATRIARCA a considerable advantage over [redacted]. He stated he lost the following locations:

Arnold Hotel, Pawtucket, Rhode Island.
Mellucci Cafe, Pawtucket, Rhode Island.
Loggiaromo Club, Pawtucket, Rhode Island.
Rainbow Club, Hall Street, East Providence, Rhode Island.
Clover Club, Hall Street, East Providence, Rhode Island.

Beaver Club, Cumberland Street, Woonsocket, Rhode Island.
Welcome Lunch, High Street, Woonsocket, Rhode Island.
Saratoga Cafe, Turnpike, Woonsocket, Rhode Island.
Senate Cafe, Post Office Square, Providence, Rhode Island.

He stated that he has one machine and National has one machine at the [redacted] Rhode Island, and [redacted] Providence, Rhode Island.

He stated he knew it has been rumored over the years that PATRIARCA has an extensive gambling business in Rhode Island and from his limited experience with the various locations, he thought they were perhaps gambling or booking joints. He stated he had nothing but speculation to sustain this thought but he knew when PATRIARCA started to take locations, these particular locations would probably go with him and in each instance the [redacted] customer wanted to do business with PATRIARCA instead of with [redacted].

He stated that PATRIARCA and his salesman went at their soliciting in a very diplomatic way, making no threats or pressure or coercion on the location owners. He stated that shortly after the National Cigarette Service Company, operated by RAYMOND PATRIARCA, entered this business, he lost two locations, the [redacted] (since gone out of business) and [redacted] Atwells Avenue, Providence, to the National Cigarette Service. He said he was glad to lose these two locations because they were poor spots and troublesome, at best. He said PATRIARCA put new machines into these spots. No pressure or coercion was involved and PATRIARCA obtained these on a purely competitive basis. b6 b7C

He stated that he has had no difficulty whatsoever with PATRIARCA, nor have any of his location owners. He said that at [redacted] and [redacted] both Providence, Rhode Island, he has a machine and PATRIARCA has a machine at each of these spots, and there has been no effort on the part of PATRIARCA to interfere with his machines at these spots. b6 b7C

[redacted] advised he has been in business for about twelve years and has approximately 100 machines on location. He said that he has lost only two locations to National Cigarette Service since the latter company came into business. He stated one was [redacted] Providence, a good location which he lost a short time ago, and one, the identity of which he could not recall, was lost in 1956.

He stated that representatives of National Cigarette Service have canvassed most of his accounts but have not been able to gain additional locations. He said he knows of no instance where RAYMOND PATRIARCA's company has resorted to force, violence or any form of coercion to obtain locations. However, he said he believed that PATRIARCA's reputation and numerous acquaintances have been factors in helping National Cigarette Service get locations and retain them in the face of competition. He said that National Cigarette Service also has the advantage of having all modern machines which they install in locations where [redacted] believed business was not sufficient to warrant them.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
INTERVIEW REPORTDate April 2, 1958

[redacted]
[redacted] Rhode Island, advised he has been in the cigarette vending machine business for about twenty years in Rhode Island and presently has about 350 locations. He said that since the entrance of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and his National Cigarette Service Company into this business field, he has lost about six locations in the downtown Providence area to National. He stated that this was through strictly business competition, they were locations where he had no contracts and the location owners had the legal right to chose whomever they wanted to deal with. He said he initially lost about six and may have lost one or two within recent years, but he has also gotten some of these back by equally competitive means.

Upon a search of his records, [redacted] said all he could recall losing to National Cigarette Service were:

Coty's Bar, Dyer and Cranston Streets, Providence.
Miss Dutton, Washington Street, Providence.
Lapham Coffee Shop, Westminster Street, Providence.
Palmisano's Grille, Peace Dale, Rhode Island.

[redacted] stated he was able to get back the Palmisano's Grille location.

He said the cigarette vendors who were hurt worst by PATRIARCA's entry into the cigarette business were those who had machines on location at Federal Hill, Providence which [redacted] explained is an almost 100 per cent Italian neighborhood and where the residents are all very well acquainted with each other, deal with each other and look out for each other's interest.

[] stated the locations at Hotel Dreyfus, Gulp & Gallop Restaurant and the Lincoln Downs Race Track were all under the control of [] who owned the hotel and restaurant and was the caterer at Lincoln Downs. [] had no contract with any of these firms and [] told [] that National Cigarette Service had such good new equipment and RAYMOND PATRIARCA was such a close, personal friend of [] that [] had to help out PATRIARCA in his new business and give him these locations. [] said he believed [] was a big gambler on the horses and was probably friendly with PATRIARCA.

b7C

[] stated that after the initial entry of National Cigarette Service into this business and the first losses of locations which occurred around April, 1956, PATRIARCA apparently used up all the sources immediately available to him, such as the alleged bookie joints, PATRIARCA was thereafter only able to get locations on a competitive basis. He said the competing companies loaned money to the location owners in anticipation of commissions and thus slowed down the expansion of PATRIARCA's business.

b6

He said that PATRIARCA has a big advantage in this respect: while his competitors may have to employ salesmen, PATRIARCA has many friends who are always alert on his behalf for any new cigarette locations.

He said he has no complaint regarding PATRIARCA's business or competitive methods, and that occasionally National will try to get a location where Serv-o-matic has a contract. [] sees PATRIARCA directly regarding these, and PATRIARCA has had his men stop trying to get these locations. PATRIARCA's attitude is, "You get what you can and I'll get what I can."

b6
b7C

[] said that he does not bother dealing with PATRIARCA's associate, [] because he procrastinates and delays, whereas PATRIARCA immediately handles the matter.

b6
b7C

[] said that PATRIARCA based most of his cigarette route on the Federal Hill section of Providence, which is a practically 100 per cent Italian neighborhood. He said PATRIARCA's employees do not know how to properly operate a cigarette route, and there have been many complaints regarding the poor service they give. In some instances, PATRIARCA has lost locations because of this.

b6
b7C

BS 92-395

[] suggested that National Cigarette Service pays no commission to the location owners, but said this idea was merely speculation on his part. He said PATRIARCA's machines all have standard thirty-cent per package price, whereas his competitors put pennies in the twenty-eight cent brands as a coin return to the customer.

b6
b7c

[] said his firm has lost a weekly net of around $125.00 as a result of National Cigarette Service business, but is gradually making this up. He said he knew RAYMOND PATRIARCA had been dickering with [] of Rowe Vending Company for the sale of National Cigarette Service.

b6
b7c

[] said he and his brother are waiting for someone to buy the National route since that would open the 200 locations to competition.

b6
b7c

[] all agreed that there has been no coercion, force, threats, pressure or any indication of such involved in the loss of their locations to National Cigarette Service, or the subsequent competition they have had from this firm.

He said _____ have a strong admiration for RAYMOND PATRIARCA, who has done many good things. He pointed out that Fiore's Lounge is located on Federal Hill in the immediate neighborhood where PATRIARCA has his business and the area frequented by PATRIARCA where PATRIARCA is known to all of the residents.

b6

He said that when PATRIARCA entered the cigarette vending business, he and his father naturally wanted to help him by giving him this location. He said that at the time they were very much dissatisfied with the service and the machine which the Rowe Cigarette Service had on this location and they invited PATRIARCA to place his machine here. He said Rowe took them to court on the matter and got a restraining order so that they are now required to wait until the termination of the Rowe contract before they can give PATRIARCA this location, which they very much desire to do at the earliest possible time.

JOSEPH VARONE, 43 Vernon Street, Pawtucket, Rhode Island, advised that he is presently retired from business because of high blood pressure and heart trouble and lives on the income from the rent of 43 Vernon Street and the premises located at 682 Roosevelt Avenue, Pawtucket, which housed Slim's Cafe, formerly known as the Rosewood Casino.

He stated that for several years during the early 1950's he operated the Rosewood Casino at 684 Roosevelt Avenue, that the Rowe Cigarette Service Company had a machine at this location over the years, and occasionally [redacted] of that company would loan money to VARONE in advance of commissions. He stated that sometime during 1956, a man stopped in one afternoon at the Rosewood Casino and asked the bartender how he could get in touch with the owner. This individual left his card and a few nights later he appeared at the Casino and introduced himself as [redacted] of the National Cigarette Service Company. [redacted] told him he was trying to build a cigarette route in Providence and Pawtucket. He said [redacted] showed him a sample of a very beautiful, lighted cigarette machine with many columns. He said this compared extremely favorably with the one he had on his premises, which looked like a piece of junk, and he recalled telling [redacted] that he would give him the location. He said the next day he told [redacted] about his decision and [redacted] pointed out to VARONE that they had been long-time friends and [redacted] had advanced a lot of money over the years to VARONE when VARONE needed it, and [redacted] finally promised to give VARONE a new machine.

He said after this conversation with [redacted] he felt that he probably owed the Rowe Company the loyalty of staying with them in view of their past helping him out and accordingly, he called [redacted] and told him not to place his machine on this location. He said [redacted] made no complaint about this, made no effort to pressure or threaten him and it was VARONE's recollection that [redacted] made no attempt to deliver the machine.

VARONE said he did not know RAYMOND PATRIARCA and other than these two contacts with [redacted] had no other knowledge of him. He said as far as he was concerned, National Cigarette Service had behaved very well in their dealings with him.

Providence, Rhode Island, stated that he has been in business for approximately twenty years and prior to this year and for a period of approximately five years, he had at this location a machine of the Ideal Cigarette Machine Company. He said prior to that, he had a machine owned by the Conte Distributing Company. He said he changed from Conte because of dissatisfaction and at the inception Ideal gave him good service and equipment that at that time was adequate. However, he said that with the advent of filter cigarettes and the numerous brands now being sold, he complained to Ideal that the machine they had installed was not satisfactory. He said Ideal refused to take any action and actually gave him poor service on the machine installed.

He said he had complaints from customers about their inability to buy cigarettes of their preference and finally he learned from an individual whose name he could not recall that National Cigarette Service would furnish a modern machine with twenty-two cigarette sections. He said he telephoned National Cigarette Service himself and they sent a man over and installed a machine. He said he had no contract with Ideal Cigarette and after the installation of the National machine, he called Ideal and had them remove their machine.

He said that absolutely no force or violence of any form or coercion was used to have him take the National Cigarette Service machine.

He said a few years ago RAYMOND PATRIARCA, whom he has known over the years although he has had no business dealings with him, asked him if he could place cigarette machines at both the [redacted] and the [redacted]. He told PATRIARCA that he would allow him to place one in the [redacted] in place of the one installed by the Central Vending Machine Company but he received service from the Cosmo Distributing Company at the [redacted] and liked Cosmo very much and would not replace their machine notwithstanding the fact that PATRIARCA offered him a very fancy, new machine. The machine which Cosmo has at this location does not compare with the type PATRIARCA is putting out. However, [redacted] stated he has such a strong loyalty to Cosmo, he would not think of eliminating them from this location.

He said PATRIARCA merely asked him in a friendly, businesslike manner if he could help him build up his cigarette route and PATRIARCA exerted no coercion, pressure or threats of any kind toward him. He said he could throw out PATRIARCA's machine from the [redacted] at anytime he wanted because he is not bound by any contract and he also is not bound by any contract with Cosmo.

He said he had no information of any improper activity of RAYMOND PATRIARCA with the establishing of his cigarette route or his other businesses.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION INTERVIEW REPORT

April 3, 1959

Date

[redacted] advised that he had met and talked to RAYMOND PATRIARCA on one occasion under the following circumstances:

It was rumored in the cigarette vending business that PATRIARCA had negotiated for the sale of the National Cigarette Service Company with Rowe Cigarette Service and that these negotiations had fallen through. This rumor was current for several months during 1958. In August, 1958 [redacted] lost seven cigarette locations in the Italian section of Boston to the R & L Vending Company, operated by [redacted] of Boston, Massachusetts.

Thereafter during August, 1958, [redacted] had breakfast with [redacted] in an effort to come to some understanding with him about [redacted] locations. During conversation, [redacted] mentioned to [redacted] that he heard RAYMOND PATRIARCA was trying to sell his cigarette route, and [redacted] wondered how he could contact PATRIARCA. [redacted] told [redacted] he might be able to arrange this and as a result of arrangements made by [redacted] went to Providence where they met with PATRIARCA on August 23, 1958. [redacted] said it was his intention if PATRIARCA's price was right, to buy the business and have [redacted] run it for him.

He said PATRIARCA wanted $100,000. for the business, of which amount $20,000. would be for good will. [redacted] said that he worked up the figures and found that this price was way out of line for 200, more or less, locations selling 47 cases of cigarettes per week. He told [redacted] to advise PATRIARCA that he was not interested.

[redacted] said he had no other information regarding PATRIARCA or his business operations and had no indication that there was anything illegal about PATRIARCA's activities.

On March 20, 1959, SA [] examined Equity Docket No. 25295 of the Providence County Superior Court in the files of the clerk's office, Providence County Courthouse, Providence, Rhode Island. This examination disclosed that a Bill of Complaint was filed April 23, 1956, by GEORGE L. HANNA, Jr., et al, d/b/a Rowe Cigarette Service vs RAYMOND PATRIARCA and PHILIP CARROZZA, jointly, d/b/a National Cigarette Service, and VINCENT FIORE, of Providence, alleging the existence of a three-year contract, dated June 27, 1955, between Rowe Cigarette Service and VINCENT FIORE, operator of a cafe at 246 Dean Street, Providence, giving Rowe exclusive right of selling cigarettes through Rowe vending machines at that location; that FIORE violated the contract; that he had permitted the installation of cigarette machines of National Cigarette Service; that he would not permit the sale of cigarettes through the machines of Rowe Cigarette Service, and that FIORE was induced to breach the contract by PATRIARCA and CARROZZA. b6 b7C

The Complaint asked that FIORE be enjoined and restrained from violating the contract and that PATRIARCA and CARROZZA be enjoined and restrained from continuing to induce FIORE to violate the contract and from inducing or attempting to induce any other persons or companies having similar contracts to violate such contracts.

A temporary restraining order was issued April 23, 1956. The case was heard on the prayer for preliminary injunction on May 28 and 29, 1956. Rescript of the court held that there was no evidence PATRIARCA personally knew FIORE had a contract with Rowe or, if he did know it, that he, in any manner, induced FIORE to break it. CARROZZA was held to have had knowledge of the contract and to have directly, or indirectly, induced FIORE to break it.

Decree entered June 12, 1956, enjoined FIORE from violating the Rowe contract. CARROZZA, personally and as a partner of PATRIARCA, and PATRIARCA, as a partner of CARROZZA, d/b/a National Cigarette Service, were enjoined from inducing FIORE to sell or offer for sale any cigarettes except through machines of Rowe Cigarette Service.

BS 92-118

Boston airtel dated February 14, 1961, captioned the same, wherein the Boston Office advised that a substantive investigation had been conducted against Subject under the caption, "RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, aka; [REDACTED] d/b/a NATIONAL CIGARETTE SERVICE COMPANY; UNKNOWN VICTIMS - ANTI-RACKETEERING" (BosFile 92-395) (BuFile 92-4026).

The case was opened on February 25, 1959, at the request of WILLIAM ESBITT, then Special Assistant Attorney General of the United States. Mr. ESBITT had information from the New England Citizens Crime Commission that PATRIARCA was compelling merchants in Rhode Island to take his cigarette vending machines and to discontinue the use of those for which they had previously contracted from other vending operators. (Refer to Report of SA [REDACTED] Boston, 4/8/59). In view of the fact that not all of PATRIARCA's customers were interviewed at that time, it was felt that additional interviews should be conducted along the same lines in an effort to develop a substantive case against PATRIARCA and also that this matter could provide a sound vehicle for inquiries into PATRIARCA's present activities. Any information dealing with PATRIARCA's activities not relating to this investigation will be reported under BosFile 92-118 (BuFile 92-2961), captioned RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, aka, AR.

It is to be noted that copies of this report are not being disseminated to the Department or the USA at Providence, Rhode Island at this time, as this case has been reopened administratively. However, an extra copy of this report is being furnished the Bureau in the event dissemination will be necessary.

Delay in reporting is due to the fact that the Agent to whom this case is assigned was on sick leave from March 8, 1961 to March 31, 1961.

Date

On February 17, 1961, RAYMOND L.S. PATRIARCA, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, requested an interview with SA [redacted] which interview was granted and conducted at Coin-o-Matic Distributors, Inc., 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

b6

PATRIARCA appeared to be in a highly emotional state and indicated in his manner bitter resentment against an investigation being conducted by the FBI and stated that a number of his friends, who have National Cigarette Machines in their place of business, had informed him of the reactivation of the FBI investigation into the National Cigarette Service.

He stated he regards this investigation as most unfair; that the FBI has investigated him and his cigarette business in the past, that no violations of law were discovered, and that the new investigation has an air of harassment attached to it. He stated that he is a legitimate business man as is [redacted] that they conduct their business enterprise, National Cigarette Service, in a legal manner and that they do not expect to be embarrassed by the FBI or any other government agency in unnecessary and unwarranted inquiries.

b6

PATRIARCA stated that his clients have become very much alarmed over the FBI inquiries and they are concerned over the possibility that their retention of his machines may cause them difficulty.

PATRIARCA stated that this intolerable situation has placed his concern at a great disadvantage and that the government through its investigation has deliberately or otherwise taken a long step in favoring his competitors in the cigarette vending machine business.

He said that both he and [redacted] intend to consult counsel, [redacted] of Providence, Rhode Island, to determine if any legal action may be taken to restrain the FBI from pursuing this investigation.

He further said he did not object to an FBI investigation if the investigation dealt with new customers obtained as he has nothing hide as both he and [redacted] are running a legitimate business and have never used force or pressure to put their machines into locations, but he vigorously objected to a recontact of old established customers. b6 b7C

SA [redacted] advised PATRIARCA that an allegation had been made that PATRIARCA and his company had used coercion in the placing of their machines into locations; that the FBI was discharging its investigative responsibilities impartially and that investigation would continue irrespective of his personal objection. b6 b7C

Dear [redacted]

I am in receipt of your letter of October 28th in which you requested assistance in locating certain information for use in your thesis.

Although I can appreciate your interest in the subject matter of your request from an academic standpoint, I regret to inform you that we cannot be of assistance to you in your research.

Release of any information along the lines requested by you would create substantial and unwarranted invasions of the personal privacy of the individuals involved in or mentioned in any conversations we may have.

I hope you will understand that protection of the rights of the individuals involved in any such disclosures must take precedence over our desire to cooperate in legitimate academic research.

Stefano Magaddino died of a heart attack in July, 1974. Special Investigative Division has advised that both Magaddino and Patriarcha were subjects of electronic surveillance (ELSUR) during the period of 1962 - 1965. Both surveillances were later declared illegal in Federal court. Review of Bufiles and contact with Bureau personnel familiar with the Magaddino investigations reveals that no public disclosure of the transcripts from the Magaddino ELSUR has been made, although the existence of the ELSUR was revealed in a court case against Magaddino. Review of Bufiles on Patriarcha and contact with individuals familiar with the investigations determined that the only authorized public disclosure of conversations obtained from this ELSUR were airtel summaries of approximately 10 days of coverage which were made part of the public court record by a Federal District Judge in Providence, Rhode Island, in May, 1967, during the trial of Louis J. Taglianetti on income tax charges. (Taglianetti is subject of Bufile 92-7441). As requester does not cite the Freedom of Information Act as the basis of his request and the request is general in nature, it is felt the above letter is responsive. Requester is not being advised of the portion of the airtel summaries entered into the court record because these ELSURS were later ruled improper and to call his attention to the results of these activities may cause other repercussions.

Dear Sirs:

RAYMOND L. S. PATRICARCHA

I am an Assistant Professor of Business Communications at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, New Jersey, and a Ph.D. Candidate at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York. Topic of my thesis is the "Influence of Organized Crime on American English."

Included thusfar in my study has been these:

13 volumes of F.B.I. wiretap transcripts of conversations at [redacted] business, Elizabeth, New Jersey.

I would like to include in the study the following:

Conversations of Stefano Magaddino, 1962-8.

Conversations of Raymond Patricarcha, National Cigarette Services Company, Providence, R.I., March 1962 to July 1965.

I have not been able to locate these, however. Do you know how they might be made available to me? Are there other recorded conversations which might be of value in this study?

Rebostel to Bureau dated 4/13/67, entitled,
"CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE PROGRAM, BOSTON DIVISION," and Bosairtel to Bureau, dated 3/28/67, entitled, "INTERVIEW PROGRAM, CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE MATTERS."

On 4/12/67, SA's [redacted] and JOHN F. KEHOE had a conference with USA PAUL F. MARKHAM, AUSA's [redacted] and [redacted] and Departmental Attorney [redacted] in connection with JOSEPH BARRON's interview that was conducted on 3/21/67, which is set out in reairtel.

This material was gone over in an effort to determine if BARRON could provide testimony that would allow the government to move for prosecution of a federal statute falling within the FBI's primary jurisdiction. It was decided that if BARRON could and would testify in detail concerning his conspiracy to kill WILLIE MARFEO in Providence, R. I., with RAYMOND PATRIARCA, it would be a prosecutive offense. Departmental Attorney BARNES stated that the electronic surveillances of PATRIARCA, in his opinion, would not affect the prosecution of PATRIARCA, based on BARRON's testimony as it was initiated by BARRON.

It should be noted that BARRON has an extensive criminal record and is presently serving 4-5 years in the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, Walpole, Mass., on a gun-carrying charge and that he is presently awaiting trial in Suffolk County Superior Court, Boston, on "Assault with Intent to Murder" and he also has been indicted for "Being an Habitual Criminal."

The victim in the "Assault with Intent to Murder" charge is an individual named [redacted] who was stabbed several times, and he previously refused to testify; he was cited for "Contempt of Court," is presently confined in the House of Correction, Billerica, Mass., and has recently indicated that he wants to purge himself and now testify. For this reason, Suffolk County District Attorney GARRETT H. BYRNE does not want to delay BARRON's trial for a lengthy period of time. b6 b7C

It should be further noted that District Attorney GARRETT H. BYRNE, in a previous hearing, when BARRON's attorneys were moving for reduction on the $100,000 bail set for the gun-carrying charge, appeared in court and stated that "BARRON was one of the Commonwealth's most vicious criminals" and this received wide-spread local publicity.

BARRON also wants to know what provisions will be [redacted] and what will happen to him after he testifies. b6 b7C

The results of the interview of BARRON on 4/13/67 were made known to USA PAUL F. MARKHAM, Boston, by SAC JAMES L. HANDLEY and USA MARKHAM indicated that he felt it was excellent potential in making an "Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering" case against RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO, and that he was going to contact [redacted] of the Justice Department and attempt to arrange a meeting with [redacted] himself and GARRETT H. BYRNE, District Attorney for Suffolk County, Boston. b6 b7C

Enclosed herewith for the Bureau is an original and three copies of an LHM, dated and captioned as above at Boston, setting forth the interview of BARRON on 4/13/67.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
HENRY TAMELEO
INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION IN AID OF RACKETEERING

✓ On April 13, 1967, Joseph Barron, also known as Joseph Barboza, was interviewed at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, Walpole, Massachusetts.

He advised that on Friday, April 14, 1967, he is going to be arraigned in Suffolk County for being "an habitual criminal." He said the Suffolk County District Attorney's office is trying to crucify him and he believed that the "office" (meaning the Italian organization) is behind all of his legal difficulties; that they have tried to intimidate witnesses not to testify in his behalf and that they have exerted influence on the Chief Investigator, [redacted] Mass. He said he knows [redacted] in particular, has been trying to insure that he is "buried in jail" through the District Attorney's office. Mass. b6 b7C

Barron was told that if these people are trying to do this to him, "Don't you feel it would be fair in the interests of justice if you testified against them?" Barron asked if he was able to testify against members of the Italian organization and the Government was not able to convict the members he testified against, would the fact that he cooperated with the Government be still brought to the attention of the prosecuting officers in Suffolk County and, through that office to the Judge, who would be imposing sentence on him.

Barron was told that before the Agents could intelligently discuss this matter with the United States Attorney's Office, they would have to know in detail just what he could testify to, so a decision could be rendered. He was asked if he would elaborate on his dealings with Raymond Patriarca concerning his meeting with Raymond relative to the "hit" on Willie Marfeo at Providence, Rhode Island, which he had mentioned previously during the last interview.

ENCLOSURE

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
HENRY TAMELEO

He related the following:

Sometime within the last two years, on a date which he now cannot recall but which was on a Monday, he telephoned Henry Tameleo in Providence, Rhode Island, from a location at Bennington and Brooks Street, East Boston, Massachusetts. He inquired of Tameleo whether he (Tameleo) would be around that day. Tameleo told him that he would not be around that day but said, "Come down Tuesday, George and I want to talk to you." Barron said that Tameleo referred to Raymond Patriarca as George.

On the following day, a Tuesday, he went to Providence, Rhode Island, with another individual, whom he does not wish to identify at this time. He went to Raymond Patriarca's office at the Coin-O-Matic on Atwells Avenue, Providence. Raymond Patriarca was there when he arrived and shortly thereafter Henry Tameleo joined them. Patriarca said that he had told Willie Marfeo to close down his crap game, which Marfeo was running up on the Hill, as the law was concerned about this game, and it was drawing all sorts of police heat. Patriarca said Tameleo had gone to Marfeo and told him to close down his game. Marfeo told Henry Tameleo to go f--- himself. Marfeo said, "You and Raymond use me and now you want to take the bread out of my mouth." Tameleo gestured with his arm towards Marfeo's face and said, "You understand you are to close down." Marfeo pushed Tameleo's hand away.

Patriarca said, "We want this guy whacked out." Barron said that he would do this favor for Raymond for nothing. Thereupon, Tameleo said, "Raymond, what did I tell you about this kid!" (gesturing in Barron's direction). Barron said Tameleo was indicating to Raymond Patriarca that Barron was okay.

Tameleo then took Barron around and showed him the location frequented by Marfeo during the morning hours. After this Barron returned to Boston.

RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA
HENRY TAMELEO

The following day, a Wednesday, Barron again traveled from Boston to Providence in order to set up the "hit" of Marfeo. However, Barron was told by Patriarca that the "hit" was off because his Providence, Rhode Island, Police Department contact had told him there was a lot of heat.

Barron further related that when Marfeo was killed sometime later Barron was told by Tameleo that the guy who did the killing "did a good piece of work for us."

JOSEPH BARRON was interviewed by SA's [redacted]

Arrangements were made with Sheriff [redacted]

BARRON furnished the following information:

He said that [redacted] who had been arrested by the Medford, Mass. Police in connection with the murder of JOSEPH LANZI, had been lending money for JERRY ANGIULO and that ANGIULO was probably the person behind the "hit" on LANZI. He said that [redacted] would probably also have inasmuch as [redacted] was at the El Morocco in Boston when AMICO was there, shortly before AMICO went to Alphonso's in Revere, Mass., from where he was killed. He speculated that [] probably let the people know that AMICO was on his way to Alphonso's.

b6

He said that this same [] was involved with [] HENRY TAMELEO in a swindle whereby [] was stealing money and putting it into []

b6
b7c

BARRON said that in connection with the murder of ROCCO DI SEGLIO, [] told him that he, [] and [] had left DI SEGLIO's body on a road up in Danvers, Mass. BARRON made an anonymous call to a Boston Detective and, as a result of his call, DI SEGLIO's body was found in Danvers, Mass. He said that [] and his associates had been holding up card and crap games, and JERRY ANGIULO told [] that if they did not "chack out the finger man" they would have problems themselves. [] said that [] did the shooting, and they killed DI SEGLIO in order to pacify ANGIULO. [] said that DI SEGLIO was their friend and he felt badly about this, and regretted that they had to do it.

b6
b7c

b6
b7c

BARRON said that when ROMEO MARTIN was killed in gangland style, RAYMOND PATRIARCA capitalized on this "hit" to the tune of $5,000. He explained by saying that he, BARRON, and ROMEO MARTIN had been to the Blue Bunny at Nantasket Beach, Mass., which is run by [] MARTIN and BARRON put on a phony act for [] whereby MARTIN said that he was going to move in on [] business, and BARRON insisted that he was not going to be able to move in. MARTIN said for [] benefit that he would not move in if [] was connected. [] in turn, said that he was connected with RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

b6

When MARTIN was "hit," PATRIARCA contacted [] and told him that he wanted $5,000 for taking out ROMEO MARTIN, as MARTIN had been a threat to [] and had even been talking about taking []

b6

DS 1564629

HENRY TAMELEO was also involved in this scheme and went to the Blue Bunny with BARRON in furtherance of the scheme. PATRIARCA collected $5,000 from [] and told [] that he was to pay BARRON $100 a week, and BARRON would provide [] protection from any problems. PATRIARCA told BARRON that MARTIN had been using his name and telling people that he was going to New York to do hits for RAYMOND, and he had to go. BARRON received $100 a week from [] for the summer of 1965 and the summer of 1966. PATRIARCA, at the same time as the scheme narrated above, was trying to move in to the Arcade Bazaar in Nantasket and take over with [] as a "front."

b6

BARRON advised that [] used to be connected with "the organization" but told them that he was going legitimate and pulled away. He then became even bigger in the money-lending business and, as of today, HENRY TAMELEO, PATRIARCA's right hand man, and [] have moved in on [] business.

b6
b7C

BARRON advised that ARTHUR BRATSOS, who was killed in the Nite Lite, was about ready to hurt [] of the North End, Boston. BRATSOS was upset because [] was allowing his place to be used for meets between BRATSOS' wife and RONALD CASSESSA and others.

b6
b7C
b7D

[] advised that in 11/65, he borrowed $2,500 from [] at one percent. He was to pay back $25 a week vigorish. His associate, "CHICO" AMICO borrowed $1,500 from [] but never paid anything back and gave [] a bad time when [] tried to collect from AMICO. AMICO needed the loan because he was doing time on non-support charges and needed a thousand dollars to get out and $200 to pay back alimony. AMICO was supposed to be paying [] $20 a week vigorish. He said when he was negotiating the loan with [] he talked with [] at the Tiger's Tail in Revere, Mass. and [] was with PETER LIMONE and []. The following day BARRON picked up the money at the Florentine Cafe on Esplanade Street, Boston, from []. He said he borrowed $2,000 from JERRY ANGIULO at 1 1/2 points when he was released from Deer Island in 6/66 in order to buy a house. He made his payments to either JERRY ANGIULO, PETER LIMONE, []. BS 1661629

In connection with the above loans, he said that he paid ANGIULO for five or six weeks. He paid [redacted] from November of 1965 to Christmas week of 1965 and again from June through August, 1966. The payments to ANGIULO were made for five or six weeks, following BARRON's release from Deer Island. He said he made no payments to [redacted] while incarcerated at Deer Island and did not have to make any payments when he got in his recent problems in Suffolk County Court.

BARRON said that he could not account for PETER LIMONE being a "big man" in "the organization", except to speculate that he may have been the "wheel man" when "the organization" killed CHRISTY DE CHRISTOFORO in the North End five or six years ago.

He said that [redacted] is a big man in Revere, Mass., and is directly connected with RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

BARRON said that JOE LANZI, who was recently killed, was a real close friend and associate of [redacted] and he does not know how [redacted] is going to take LANZI's death.

BARRON recalled that [redacted] was trying to reach a witness in connection with a murder in Boston whereby a woman was found cut up in an attic of a night club. He, BARRON, put [redacted] in touch with [redacted] an Everett-Chelsea, Mass., bookmaker, as [redacted] was supposed to be [redacted] was involved in the meet, and there was a subsequent meeting at [redacted] in Revere, Mass., where TAMELEO wanted a thousand dollars to allegedly reach the witness that [redacted] was interested in.

Interviews are continuing with BARRON.

It is pointed out that BARRON told the Agents that he tried to convince [redacted] who is also doing time for the same offense with BARRON, to testify against the people who were against them, and [redacted] declined to do this. It is now felt that, as a result of this independent action on BARRON's part, that BARRON's intentions of providing information and testifying will become generally known among the criminal element, and, particularly, the LCN in this area.

Per Bureau request, a review was made this date of the log pertaining to Tuesday, June 22, 1965, BS 837 C* and the correspondence pertaining to that date.

The log contained information regarding the presence of JOSEPH BARBOZA and RONALD CASSESSA, and the fact that unman said [redacted] mentioned killing MARFEO with a meat cleaver and cutting his head off.

By airtel dated June 24, 1965, entitled "RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, aka, AR," there is set forth information as furnished in the tape of June 22, 1965. There is no information in the airtel regarding BARBOZA and CASSESSA even though same is contained in the log.

The only explanation for this omission is the fact that on occasions the tape was blank, due to mechanical difficulties, and did not contain any information. If this were the case, the reporting agent would not normally note in the airtel any information set forth in the log that was not contained on the tape.

In view of above neither SA [redacted] nor SA [redacted] were aware of this information as the logs were not available to them.

JOSEPH BARRON was interviewed by SA's [redacted] and [redacted] on 4/27/67 at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Mass. BARRON furnished the following information:

He said that [redacted] who was currently [redacted] had been [redacted] JOSEPH LANZI, [redacted] JERRY ANGIULO in the money lending business and [redacted] law enforcement if he decided [redacted]. He said that [redacted] the gangland murder of ROBERT PALLADINO in that [redacted] PALLADINO's car after the murder.

He advised that ANDREW VON ETTER, another gangland murder victim, had committed the murder of a wealthy man in Florida and that EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT had talked to BARRON about the possibilities of BARRON eliminating the man and indicated that this job would be worth $20,000. He said that the individual who picked up the murder victim at the airport in Florida and brought him to his home was involved in setting up the murder victim.

He advised that after EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT had been eliminated, ANDREW VON ETTER, who was associated with EDWARD BENNETT and [redacted] was feeling around trying to get some information relative to EDWARD BENNETT's death. The people who had eliminated EDWARD BENNETT felt then that VON ETTER was a threat to their safety and also eliminated VON ETTER.

BARRON advised that another gangland murder victim, ROBERT RASMUSSEN, had been killed by [redacted] and [redacted]. He advised that RASMUSSEN was trying to squeeze some money out of [redacted] and individuals who were involved in the postal mail robbery and they decided to kill RASMUSSEN. He, BARRON had been offered $5,000 to kill RASMUSSEN but [redacted] and his associates ultimately decided to do the job themselves. He recalled that RASMUSSEN was being sized up at a drinking establishment where he hung out on Tremont Street, Boston, before he was ultimately killed.

BARRON said that in connection with the gangland murder of JOHN LOCKE, he, himself, was incarcerated but he understood that LOCKE was grabbed somewhere between the Blue Mirror Cafe in Charlestown, Mass., and another drinking establishment just prior to being dumped in Revere, Mass.

BARRON said that he recalled that HENRY TAMELEO wanted [redacted] killed. TAMELEO indicated to BARRON that whereas [redacted] was instrumental in the death of [redacted] EDWARD DEEGAN, he, [redacted] could not be trusted and should be killed.

BARRON made the comment that the "office" has unlimited funds and they spent $100,000 to beat the case when one of their people was tried for the murder of JOHN NAZARIAN in Providence, R. I. He said that HENRY TAMELEO told him that he had spent 32 days preparing one of the witnesses in his trial so that he would testify properly.

BARRON advised that in connection with the murder of EDWARD DEEGAN in Chelsea, Mass., he had heard that a police officer had left the door open to the establishment in Chelsea where DEEGAN was led to believe he was going to be involved in a burglary. He advised that [redacted] who operates the [redacted] had tried to set him up to be killed in the past.

BARRON said that ROMEO MARTIN and RONALD CASSESSA, when they were in Florida a few years back, almost killed [redacted] who is now incarcerated in the Massachusetts Correctional Institution. He said that CASSESSA had been having his problems with [] and shortly after this trip to Florida CASSESSA was advised by the "office" to go with []

BS 166-629

b6
b7C

BARRON said that during the recent gangland war one of the first murder victims was FRANCIS BENJAMIN and only recently did he find out that EDWARD "PUNCHY" MC LAUGHLIN, another gangland victim, was the individual who cut BENJAMIN's head off. At that time they were contemplating leaving the head on the doorsteps of [] of BENJAMIN's, as a message to [] but this did not come about.

b6
b7C

BARRON made the statement that the police are currently holding an individual by the name of [] in connection with a holdup-murder at the Railway Express Co., South Station, Boston, but that this individual was not involved in the holdup. He said that one [] a convicted criminal from Somerville, Mass., knows that [] was not involved and knows the identities of the individuals who were.

b6
b7C

BARRON asked the Agents what kind of time he could get in connection with the charges for which he is presently being held, and he was told that the Agents had no way of saying what kind of time he would get but that his cooperation with law enforcement would be brought to the attention of the Judge handling his case by the District Attorney of Suffolk County, where his cases are presently pending.

JOSEPH BARRON was again interviewed by SA's [] and [] on 5/1/67 at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Mass.

b6
b7C

BARRON was asked about the gangland murder of former prize fighter TONY VERANIS. He said that he heard that [] had killed VERANIS in an after-hours drinking establishment in Roxbury, Mass., and that there were about 16 people present at the time the murder took place. VERANIS had previously []

b6
b7C

[] and the killing was in retribution. He said that VERANIS' body was removed from the murder scene in the automobile of ARTHUR "TARSH" BRATSOS and, as a result of this, BRATSOS later had to have the upholstery removed from the car.

BS 166-629

BARRON made the comment that inasmuch as his financial situation is not too good, he would like to get a hold of $23,000 shylock money that is owed to him by [redacted] of East Boston, Mass. BARRON said that NICHOLAS GISO, a member of the "office" is [redacted] a co-defendant of [redacted] in the case for which he is currently serving a sentence. He said that GISO goes with a fag and an inmate named [redacted] at [redacted] House of Correction knows who the fag is that GISO goes with.

BARRON said that he was trying to establish in his own mind when he had been to Providence, R. I., to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA when he was requested to "take out" WILLIE MARFEO. He said he recalled that he came back from Florida sometime around March of 1965, roughly between the first of July and the middle of July, 1965, and it was at that time that PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO had asked him to kill MARFEO. He said that he further recalled that HENRY TAMELEO had told him that the law had been to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA and told PATRIARCA that they knew that he could get MARFEO's crap game closed down.

BARRON said that in connection with the request to kill MARFEO, TAMELEO had pointed out some locations where MARFEO could be "hit." He said that he recalled asking PATRIARCA and TAMELEO when they wanted him to "take out" MARFEO, and PATRIARCA told him that he would hear from them. Subsequently, TAMELEO said that the law had grabbed him and asked him about having trouble with MARFEO, and they had to postpone the "hit."

JOSEPH BARRON was interviewed by SA's [redacted] and [redacted] on 5/3/67 at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Mass.

He said that he recalled that in connection with the proposed killing of WILLIE MARFEO, HENRY TAMELEO had pointed out to him a store on Atwells Avenue, in Providence, R.I., which is right near RAYMOND PATRIARCA's Coin-O-Matic company. TAMELEO told him that MARFEO is at that location in the morning but that MARFEO's crap game is held further on down the street. He said that the "office" gets very skiddish about things, and after the law got wind of TAMELEO's argument with MARFEO, the "office" decided that it would be better to postpone the thing.

BARRON said that in connection with the gangland murder of TONY VERANIS, there is no question that the murder was perpetrated by [redacted] and that [redacted] had been saying [redacted] "taken out" VERANIS. BARRON said that VERANIS had given a [redacted] sometime before the murder. He said that EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT and ARTHUR BRATSOS were also individuals who had told him that [redacted] had killed VERANIS. BENNETT was incensed that [redacted] did this and caused all sorts of "heat." BENNETT was even considering killing [redacted] for doing this. BRATSOS had told BARRON that he was present when [redacted] did it but was taken completely by surprise.

He was asked if he knew a girl by the name of [redacted] and he said that he did; that she was a very sharp, sharp girl and that he believed he heard somewhere that she was on the scene when VERANIS was killed.

BARRON was asked if he knew an individual by the name of [redacted] from Revere, Mass., and he said that this individual was the son of [redacted] a [redacted] in Somerville, Mass. He said that [redacted] is a "bullshitter" and an individual who [redacted]. He said that [redacted] was a friend of gangland murder victim FRANCIONE and was a [redacted] and an individual named [redacted] who were arrested in connection with [redacted] a number of years ago.

Attention is called to the notation stated to have been in immediate possession May, 15." Philadelphia requested determination of the possible significance of the notation and stated that was unknown at Philadelphia.

A notorious hoodlum of the Boston area by the name of Joseph Barron, commonly known as Joe Barboza, is currently furnishing considerable information to the Boston Office concerning gangland murders, particularly those committed in the operation of Raymond Patriarca's "family" of La Cosa Nostra. Barron is expected to be a witness against Patriarca and others in an ITAR-Gambling prosecution involving a planned murder in connection with attempted control of a dice game. Barron is currently serving a prison sentence and is being held in the Barnstable County Jail in Massachusetts.

Although remote that the is identical with the Boston area hoodlum, the possibility should not be overlooked. In the event you are not able to determine another connected with who may be identical with a well known Miami Beach criminal lawyer.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

May 20, 1967

As a result of information made available by a Boston hoodlum now confined on local charges concerning the murder of one of the Marfeo brothers arranged for by Providence, Rhode Island, La Cosa Nostra leader Patriarca, a grand jury inquiry is now scheduled looking toward the indictment of Patriarca in this murder since it related to Patriarca's efforts to control a gambling enterprise. United States Attorney Boston has requested that the Marfeo brothers, who may have significant information, be served subpoenas by Agents for appearance before this grand jury.

Special Investigative Division, in view of the importance of the investigation in an effort to indict Patriarca, recommends that Boston Agents be permitted to serve the subpoenas.

As you are aware, Mr. Garrett Byrne, Suffolk County District Attorney, Boston, Massachusetts, called at the Bureau on 5/23/67 and conferred with Bureau officials.

Mr. Byrne advised that at request of Department of Justice attorneys, Mr. Byrne had made Joseph Barron available for interview by Bureau Agents and also at the request of the Department, for deferring additional prosecution of Barron under the habitual criminal statute of Massachusetts.

Mr. Byrne indicated that he would appreciate receiving any information which Bureau Agents might obtain for Byrne which would have significance to the proper execution of the duties of the Suffolk County District Attorney's office. Mr. Byrne said he wants to be in a position to discharge his responsibility should Barron reveal information concerning violation of local law. Mr. Byrne was assured that any pertinent information of interest to his office would be made available to him in accordance with our established practices.

In view of the foregoing, you should make sure that with proper security of Bureau interests pertinent information developed through Barron will be made available to Mr. Byrne.

ReButel and your tel 5/25/67 pertaining to request of Department for information concerning electronic coverage.

In furnishing the information required in compliance with instructions under (g) of Department letter of 11/2/66, furnish this information by letterhead memorandum appropriate for dissemination to the Department. In the letterhead memorandum identify the reports, the source and the T symbols under which the information from the sources is set forth. It will not be necessary to have all of the information in one letterhead memorandum if, because of the multiplicity of cases and sources, you may find it more convenient to prepare several different letterhead memoranda.

This matter should be handled promptly. Advise by return airtel the approximate date the above material can be expected at the Bureau.

Because of the great bulk of the material involved in complying with (f) of Department letter of 11/2/66, the Bureau intends to request the Department to have its attorneys review this material in the Boston FBI Office rather than having copies forwarded to Washington. You will be advised further in this regard after the Department's views on this are received.

REC-8

RAYMOND PATRIARCA;
HENRY TAMELEO
ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE

Reference is made to the memorandum dated May 25, 1967, of [redacted] Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division.

Patriarca was the direct subject of electronic surveillance. The FBI had microphone coverage from March 6, 1962, to July 12, 1965, in Patriarca's office at his business, Coin-O-Matic Distributing Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. Patriarca is the notorious "boss" of La Cosa Nostra in New England and Tameleo is one of his subordinates and closest associates and, consequently, was a participant in monitored conversations in Patriarca's office on numerous occasions.

Tameleo, himself, was never the direct subject of electronic surveillance, but, in addition to conversations monitored in Patriarca's office, his conversations were monitored on a few occasions in the office of Joseph Modica, a Boston, Massachusetts, member of La Cosa Nostra. The FBI had microphone coverage in the office of Modica's business, the Pan-American Finance Company, 85 State Street, in Boston, from May 7, 1964, to July 12, 1965.

The continuance of coverage in both Patriarca's and Modica's offices, both of which involved trespass, was specifically approved by former Attorney General Katzenbach. It is assumed that you have made similar electronic surveillance inquiries of other Federal agencies.

[redacted] Chief of the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, Criminal Division, has advised that the members of his staff, who will handle the review of the microphone logs and supporting material in this case, are presently working in the Boston area and so has requested that the material be made available for review in the FBI's Boston Office rather than it being forwarded to Washington. This arrangement, requested by Mr. Petersen, will be suitable to the FBI.

A review is now being made to determine the appearance of microphone information in FBI reports concerning Patriarca and Tameleo and this information will be furnished to the Criminal Division.

We would appreciate receiving information as to the action the Department contemplates taking in this case.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

Department is requesting check of our electronic surveillance records for New England La Cosa Nostra "boss" Patriarca and his associate, Tameleo. It will be recalled that as a result of information made available by a hoodlum to our Boston Office, the Department is contemplating indictment of these subjects for Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling.

It will also be recalled that a portion of the Patriarca logs were made available to the Department and subsequently disclosed in United States District Court in Providence in connection with the income tax prosecution of Taglianetti, an associate of these hoodlums.

Appropriate check will be made and the Department advised of results in writing.

The Department has advised that Patriarca and Tameleo may be subjects of legal proceedings to be initiated by the Criminal Division and requested information relating to electronic surveillance of them.

This is the matter in which Boston hoodlum Joseph Barron, presently an inmate in a Massachusetts prison, was induced to travel to Providence, Rhode Island, to handle a contemplated murder of William Marfeo, who had incurred the enmity of Patriarca for refusal to conduct an illegal dice game in the manner prescribed by Patriarca. According to Barron, his "contract" to kill Marfeo was rescinded, and he is not aware of the identity of the murderer who killed Marfeo in July, 1966, a year after Barron's "contract" was rescinded.

We had a microphone in Patriarca's vending machine company office from March 6, 1962, to July 12, 1965. Tameleo is a close associate of Patriarca and often relayed Patriarca's instructions to other hoodlums and consequently, both Patriarca's and Tameleo's conversations were monitored on numerous occasions. In addition, Tameleo was a participant in monitored conversations in the personal finance business office of Joseph Modica, another Patriarca underling, in Boston, Massachusetts, where we had an installation from May 7, 1964, to July 12, 1965. Continuance of both of these microphone installations was approved by former Attorney General Katzenbach.

the attorneys, who will review the logs and supporting memoranda in this matter, are working in the Boston area and, therefore, requests that they be allowed to review this material under appropriate secure conditions in our Boston Office rather than have the material duplicated and forwarded to Washington. This same procedure was followed in connection with the very voluminous material given to the Department for review in the Steve Magaddino case in which the review was handled by Department attorneys in Buffalo, New York. By handling in this manner, we will be able to avoid considerable expense in duplicating work and administrative handling.

ACTION:

Mr. Garrett Byrne, District Attorney of Boston, Massachusetts, came by your office this morning and was interviewed by you with Section Chief Thomas J. McAndrews. Mr. Byrne served on the President's Commission on Crime during the course of which he supported the Bureau's position on several controversial issues which were raised prior to the publication of the report prepared by that Commission.

Mr. Byrne stated that while in Washington he wanted to drop by and talk generally about the Bureau's investigation of Raymond L. S. Patriarca, the Providence, Rhode Island, hoodlum, concerning whom we are developing an Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling case. At the request of Justice Department attorneys, Mr. Byrne has made available Boston hoodlum, Joseph Barron, also known as Joseph Barboza, for interview by Bureau Agents. Barboza is currently incarcerated for state crimes and is willing to testify against Patriarca. At the request of the Department, Mr. Byrne is deferring additional prosecution of Barboza under the Habitual Criminal Statute of Massachusetts. The Bureau took no part in this arrangement. This deferment is to continue until it is apparent whether Barboza makes a complete statement concerning his knowledge of Patriarca's activities in violation of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statute.

Mr. Byrne indicated that he would appreciate receiving any information which we might obtain from Barboza which would have significance to his office. Barboza has been involved in many gangland slayings and other illegal acts. Mr. Byrne indicated he wants to be in a position to discharge his responsibilities should Barboza reveal information of violation of local law under his jurisdiction.

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
Re: Raymond L. S. Patriarca

Mr. Byrne was assured that any pertinent information of interest to his office will be made available to him in accordance with our established practices. Mr. Byrne expressed satisfaction with this assurance. It appears that the revelation of the Bureau's extensive coverage of La Cosa Nostra in the New England area during the Taglianetti trial prompted Mr. Byrne's visit. He apparently wants to be certain that his position as District Attorney in Boston is protected from any subsequent disclosures in the Patriarca gambling case which might indicate that his office was not taking vigorous action to discharge its responsibilities.

Our relations with Mr. Byrne have been good and he has been cooperative in this situation and, therefore, it is recommended that any information of interest to him should be made available to him by our Boston Office. We, of course, have been disseminating pertinent information to him all along.

ACTION:

SAC Handley of the Boston Office, who is currently at the Bureau, has been advised of the visit of Mr. Byrne and will insure that when Bureau interests are fully protected, pertinent information of interest developed through Barboza will be made available to Mr. Byrne.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1.

~~JOSEPH BARON~~, also known as ~~JOE BARBOZA~~, was interviewed at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, Walpole, Massachusetts.

BARON stated that he would not mind talking to the Agents if the Agents would not end up testifying against him for what he said. BARON was told that if he wanted to talk in confidence that "we would respect his confidence."

BARON advised that he has always tried to make a living outside of the law and that if anyone in law enforcement could prove that he was doing wrong, he is willing to pay the consequences. However, he said, when you find that a police officer that you know "fingered scores, acted as lookout when scores were being pulled, and divided up the proceeds of these scores" turns around and manufactures evidence and testimony against you, you have a feeling that maybe you, the criminal, have played by the wrong standards.

BARON said that he never wanted to physically hurt anyone in law enforcement but added that "If my life is ruined by this individual trying to benefit his own ambitions, the day I come out of jail could be the day this Lieutenant becomes nervous."

BARON said that he knows that [redacted] is friendly with the "connected people" and that these people wanted to see him hurt. BARON advised that he has always tried to get along with these people and that, as a matter of fact, he used to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA and get an "OK" before he made most of his moves. Since they killed three of his friends, however, (THOMAS J. DE PRISCO, ARTHUR C. BRATSOS and JOSEPH W. AMICO) and stole $70,000 from him (This is in reference to the money allegedly in BRATSOS' possession when he was murdered), he had made statements that he was going to kill several of them. BARON said that after thinking the entire situation over, he realized that he could not possibly

BARON advised that the only thing that he is interested in [redacted] and that if he could wrap up his two pending cases in receiving no more than a 7-9 year concurrent sentence, he would like to give assistance to the FBI in their efforts to move against LCN. b6

BARON said, however, if he received a substantial "on and after sentence," he believes that his wife would leave him and that he probably would commit suicide.

BARON indicated that he, in contacting night clubs in Boston, knows every connection these places have with LCN; for example, he cited that the Intermision Lounge, which is run by [redacted] pays $1,000 a month to [redacted] that loan sharking in the city is primarily backed by GENNARO J. ANGIULO and [redacted] but that JERRY ANGIULO, himself, no longer comes in direct contact with financial dealings in this and has PETER LIMONE handling this end for him. b6

BARON advised that ANGIULO is a tremendous money maker and that he knows that he gives 50% of his profits to RAYMOND PATRIARCA.

BARON said that he believes that the FBI may suspect what has happened in the majority of the gangland murders in the Greater Boston area, but that he, BARON, knows what has happened in practically every murder that has been committed in this area. He said that he would never provide information that would allow [redacted] to "fry" but that he will consider furnishing information on these murders. b6

Date 3/28/67

JOSEPH BARON was interviewed in the office of the United States Attorney, Boston, Massachusetts, prior to his appearance before a Federal Grand Jury and after his appearance before a Grand Jury.

At approximately 12:15 p.m., he conferred with his counsel, [redacted] and returned to be interviewed by the Agents.

b6
b7c

BARON said that he would talk to the Agents in confidence and that he would not testify to any information that he was furnishing at this time.

BARON said that since he last talked to the Agents he had come to the conclusion that the Agents and he have a common enemy in "the Italian organization." He said he realizes that this "organization" is going to try to kill him, regardless of when he is released from jail, and he believes this "organization" can reach out into local law enforcement agencies and obtain practically any information in their possession; that he would like to help the FBI in their efforts to obtain evidence against "the Italian organization." He said that, with this in mind when he was brought to the Suffolk County Courthouse on March 14, 1967 to stand trial on [redacted] with his co-defendant, [redacted] he spoke to [redacted] and told [redacted] that in the past he had advised [redacted] not to cooperate with law enforcement in their investigation of the murders of THOMAS DE PRISCO and ARTHUR BRATSOS because he did not want to help the local police that were, he felt, persecuting him.

He told [redacted] that he then felt that [redacted] should cooperate with the FBI and furnish them the details of what he observed at the scene of the murders of

THOMAS DE PRISCO and ARTHUR BRATSOS and testify against the individuals involved.

BARON said that he hoped that the District Attorney of Suffolk County would appreciate his assistance and give him a break on the two cases that he has presently pending in Suffolk County. He said that he felt that he had some information which could be of assistance in prosecuting members of La Cosa Nostra; however, he could not testify but would make arrangements for his associate, [redacted] to testify. b6 b7C

BARON said that on the night that ARTHUR BRATSOS and THOMAS DE PRISCO were killed in the Nite Lite on Commercial Street, Boston, Massachusetts, JOSEPH AMICO and [redacted] were also present. He has kept [redacted] from furnishing any information about the happenings at the Nite Lite but was going to make arrangements for [redacted] to cooperate with the FBI. He said that when trouble started to break out at the Nite Lite on the night of the murders, JOSEPH AMICO and [redacted] were near the door which leads to the street. They were engaged in conversation with [redacted] AMICO put his arm around [redacted] in a bear hug when the trouble began. About five individuals pulled out guns and [redacted] was observed by [redacted] firing the first shot at BRATSOS and DE PRISCO. b6 b7C

The people who were there from "the organization" were [redacted] PETER LIMONE, [redacted] and JOE RUSSO. b6 b7C

As the shooting began, AMICO pushed [redacted] away, and AMICO and [redacted] since they were not armed, ran out of the premises pursued by [redacted] who also fired a shot at them. b6 b7C

After these killings, "the organization" killed AMICO and were making attempts to locate [redacted] to kill him. [redacted] had seen the [redacted] that is, [redacted] and JOE RUSSO, cruising by his house on a number of occasions trying to line him up for a "hit." b6 b7C

3.

Another individual who was at the Nite Lite [redacted] was a person named [redacted] who hangs around with [redacted]

b6
b7C

BARON said that he is acquainted with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and has seen PATRIARCA on a number of occasions. He said that he never made arrangements to see PATRIARCA through JERRY ANGIULO but used to go directly to see him and it was his feeling that his failure to work through ANGIULO aggravated ANGIULO.

He said that in the course of his contacts with PATRIARCA, he and RONALD CASSESSA were supposed to kill WILLIE MARFEO for PATRIARCA but at the time of this proposed "hit," TAMELEO was being sought on some kind of a subpoena, was "hot," and the "hit" did not come off at that time. Subsequently, MARFEO was killed gangland fashion in a telephone booth in Providence, Rhode Island. However, he had nothing to do with the murder and he does not know who perpetrated it. He said that when "the organization" became mad at him they put out the word that he had actually killed MARFEO, and this resulted in MARFEO's brother coming to the Boston area and attempting to locate BARON to take action against him.

BARON said that in connection with his contacts with PATRIARCA, there was some discussion about a proposed "hit" on [redacted] but this "hit" had been taken off by PATRIARCA because [redacted] at that time, was supposed to be making some money for JOE LOMBARDI.

b6
b7C

BARON said that he, himself, has been in the shylock business for a number of years and up until his incarceration had been operating with ARTHUR BRATSOS as a partner. It was his feeling that BRATSOS associated himself with BARON, hoping that eventually BARON would kill [redacted] [redacted] had killed BRATSOS [redacted] about 10 years ago.

b6
b7C

4.

BARON advised that in connection with the murder of EDWARD DEEGAN, DEEGAN had been causing some problems for a lot of people and had been "out of order" at the Ebb Tide night club in Revere, Massachusetts, on a number of occasions. DEEGAN was also looking for some kind of an excuse to kill [redacted] who was friendly with [redacted]. DEEGAN was killed in Chelsea, Massachusetts, around March of 1965. He said [redacted] was with DEEGAN and remained in an automobile. One of the individuals in the group that killed DEEGAN went towards [redacted] carrying a .375 magnum and wearing a bullet-proof vest, but [redacted] was able to take off and get out of the area.

b6
b7C

BARON advised that EDWARD "WIMPY" BENNETT is dead and has five pounds of lye on him. He indicated, with his finger, that BENNETT was shot under the right eye. He did not elaborate on who may have killed BENNETT.

He said that "the big people" in "the organization" in this area are JERRY ANGIULO, [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] as well as [redacted]. All of these individuals are under the jurisdiction of RAYMOND PATRIARCA. He pointed out that [redacted] is an old man and has respect for the things that he did in the past. He said that SAMMY GRANITO is also in a strong position in "the organization" and is probably on a level of something like "a Lieutenant." He advised that GRANITO has working for him "THE GOLD DUST TWINS" [redacted] and JOSEPH RUSSO. He said that these individuals have made a lot of "hits" and have done some "good work" in a quiet way. He said that amongst the "hits" were PAUL COLICCI and VINCENT BISESI who were found in a trunk at the motel in the vicinity of Neponset Circle, Boston, Mass. "THE GOLD DUST TWINS" were also responsible for the murder of VINCENT VASSO of Revere, Massachusetts, and for the murder of a Jewish businessman several years ago.

b6
b7C

BARON was asked if this would be a Mr. ROTHSTEIN, and he indicated that it was.

8

5.

BARON said that JERRY ANGIULO is probably the biggest money maker that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has. ANGIULO gives 50% of his profits to RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and ANGIULO has approximately $1 million in shylock money on the street, which is loaned out at 1%. He said that it was ANGIULO who gave him the "OK" to put the pressure on [redacted] at the [redacted] as [redacted] was not connected. He said, however, that he was out of town when some of his associates broke up [redacted]. He said that an influential colored person from the South End of Boston, whose name sounds like [redacted] (phonetic), tried to assist [redacted] when he had his problems with BARON's associates.

He advised that [redacted] also known as [redacted] from East Boston, owns a piece of [redacted] in Boston, Massachusetts, and also a piece of [redacted] in the North End. He said that RONALD CASSESSA had indicated to him about [redacted] interest in [redacted]

BARON commented that HENRY TAMELEO, one of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's top lieutenants, represents RAYMOND in Boston, and that he personally liked TAMELEO from his dealings with him.

BARON commented that it was his feeling that [redacted] and SAMUEL GRANITO were the "moving forces behind the murders of BRATSOS and DE PRISCO," having in mind that GRANITO had had trouble with DE PRISCO a few weeks before at the Coliseum Restaurant. He did not feel that JERRY ANGIULO was in favor of these murders as ANGIULO does not go for "the violence." He said, however, that ANGIULO had ordered the murder of ROCCO DI SEGLIO of Newton, Massachusetts. DI SEGLIO was killed by [redacted] ZINNA and [redacted] on the instructions of ANGIULO. They had been holding up some games, and ANGIULO instructed [redacted] that they should kill the guy who was fingering the games or they would be killed themselves. To save themselves, BARON commented that he had read in the paper about JOHN BIELE, also known as "JOHN FOTO," being killed in Miami, Florida. He said that he knew FOTO when FOTO was around this area and that FOTO was in some difficulty even at that time. He had brought up FOTO's name to HENRY TAMELEO, and TAMELEO avoided the issue and said that, "Anything pertaining to FOTO had to go through RAYMOND PATRIARCA." It was obvious to BARON that none of the individuals in this area wanted to have dealings with FOTO and he knew that FOTO was in some trouble with "the organization" people in New York. He commented that RONNIE CASSESSA was probably in touch with FOTO as much as anyone when FOTO was in the Boston area.

In connection with some of the gangland murders in the Boston area, he made the comment that WILFRED DELANEY, who was killed in the summer of 1964, was only eliminated because he happened to be with HAROLD HANNON at the wrong time and that at that same time EDWARD DEEGAN just missed being eliminated by about five minutes.

BARON made another comment that RONALD DERMODY, who was killed in gangland fashion, had made an offer to [redacted] that he, DERMODY, would kill [redacted] in turn, would kill [redacted] for him (DERMODY). BARON said that as much of a worm that [redacted] was, he did not accept this proposal.

BARON was told that if these people are trying to do this to him, "Don't you feel it would be fair in the interest of justice if you testified against them?" BARON asked if he was able to testify against members of the Italian organization, and the Government was not able to convict the members he testified against, would the fact that he cooperated with the Government be still brought to the attention of the prosecuting officers in Suffolk County and through that office to the Judge who would be imposing sentence on him.

BARON was told that before the Agents could intelligently discuss this matter with the United States Attorney's Office, they would have to know in detail just what he could testify to so a decision could be rendered. He was asked if he would elaborate on his dealings with RAYMOND PATRIARCA concerning his meeting with RAYMOND relative to the "hit" on WILLIE MARFEO at Providence, which he had mentioned previously during the last interview. He related the following:

Sometime within the last two years, on a date which he now cannot recall but which was on a Monday, he telephoned HENRY TAMELEO in Providence, Rhode Island, from a location at Brooks and Bennington Streets, East Boston, Massachusetts. He inquired of TAMELEO whether he, TAMELEO, would be around that day. TAMELEO told him that he would not be around that day but said, "Come down Tuesday. GEORGE and I want to talk to you." BARON said that TAMELEO referred to RAYMOND PATRIARCA as GEORGE.

On the following day, a Tuesday, he went to Providence, Rhode Island, with another individual, whom he does not wish to identify at this time. He went to RAYMOND PATRIARCA's office at the Coin-O-Matic on Atwells Avenue, Providence. RAYMOND PATRIARCA was there when he arrived and shortly thereafter HENRY TAMELEO joined them. PATRIARCA said that he had told WILLIE MARFEO to close down his crap game, which MARFEO was running up on the Hill, as the law was concerned about this game and it was drawing all sorts of police heat. PATRIARCA said TAMELEO had gone to MARFEO and told him to close down his game. MARFEO told TAMELEO to go f--- himself. MARFEO said, "You and RAYMOND use me and now you want to take the bread out of my mouth." TAMELEO gestured with his arm towards MARFEO's face and said, "You understand you are to close down." MARFEO pushed TAMELEO's hand away. 18

PATRIARCA said, "We want this guy whacked out." BARON said he would do this favor for RAYMOND for nothing. Thereupon, TAMELEO said, "RAYMOND, what did I tell you about this kid!" (gesturing in BARON's direction). BARON said TAMELEO was indicating to RAYMOND PATRIARCA that BARON was "OK." TAMELEO and PATRIARCA said they wanted this done as quickly as possible. PATRIARCA talked about BARON possibly utilizing a butcher's coat and looking like he might be unloading a truck. PATRIARCA said he would give him all the equipment, including a truck. When BARON left PATRIARCA's office, TAMELEO went with him and showed him a place where MARFEO hung out mornings. He remembered that it was a sort of club and had a light colored floor and a telephone in the corner. He said it was beyond the Roman Garden Cafe, a parking lot, and in a chain of approximately five to six stores.

The following day BARON again went to Rhode Island and talked with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO. He told PATRIARCA and TAMELEO that he wanted some information in regard to MARFEO. He said that he wanted MARFEO pointed out to him or introduced to him and he wanted a run-down on his movements so he could start casing him to take him out. PATRIARCA told BARON to hold up on everything as the law had grabbed TAMELEO and there was a lot of "heat." PATRIARCA said their connection in the police department advised there was "heat" and, consequently, they were going to let it lay dead.

Approximately a year or so after this, he was coming out of Chiambi's Cafe in East Boston when a guy mentioned to him that MARFEO had been shot and killed in a telephone booth in Providence, Rhode Island. He later met HENRY TAMELEO at Arthur's Farm, American Legion Highway, Revere, Massachusetts, and TAMELEO told him that all the people in the place where MARFEO was whacked out were plants of theirs. He said the guy in the baseball cap nailed MARFEO in the telephone booth. TAMELEO said that this guy is a good guy and did a "good piece of work for us."

BARON advised that in November, 1965, he borrowed [redacted] at one percent. He was to pay back $25 a week vigorish. [redacted] "CHICO" AMICO borrowed $1,500 from [redacted] but never paid anything back and gave [redacted] a bad time when [redacted] tried to collect from AMICO. AMICO needed the loan because he was doing time on non-support charges and needed a thousand dollars to get out and $200 to pay back-alimony. AMICO was supposed to be paying [redacted] $20 a week vigorish. He said when he was negotiating the loan with [redacted] he talked with [redacted] at the Tiger's Tail in Revere, Massachusetts, and [redacted] was with PETER LIMONE and [redacted]. The following day BARON picked up the money at the Florentine Cafe on Hanover Street, Boston, from [redacted]. He made his payments to either JERRY ANGIULO, [redacted] or [redacted]. The $2,500 loan from [redacted] was to pay some legal fees to Attorney F. LEE BAILEY.

In connection with the above loans, he said that he paid ANGIULO for five or six weeks. He paid [redacted] from November of 1965 to Christmas week of 1965 and again from June through August, 1966. The payments to ANGIULO were made for five or six weeks, following BARON's release from Deer Island. He said he made no payments to [redacted] while incarcerated at Deer Island and did not have to make any payments when he got in his recent problems in Suffolk County Court.

BARON said that he could not account for PETER LIMONE being a "big man" in "the organization," except to speculate that he may have been the "wheel man" when "the organization" killed CHRISTY DE CRISTOFORO in the North End five or six years ago.

JOSEPH BARON was interviewed at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts. He was asked if he had had any discussions with HENRY TAMELEO or RAYMOND PATRIARCA prior to the time when TAMELEO had asked him to come to Rhode Island because he and PATRIARCA wanted to talk to BARON.

BARON said that before he went to Rhode Island and spoke with PATRIARCA and TAMELEO about WILLIE MARFEO, he spoke with HENRY TAMELEO in the Ebb Tide Night Club in Revere, Massachusetts, on a number of occasions and TAMELEO told him that they were having trouble with a guy in Providence, Rhode Island, and they had told this guy to close his crap game five or six times, and he had not done so. TAMELEO said that they did not want this guy to operate his game as he was bringing "heat" to the Federal Hill section and was not really making much money anyway. He said that this, he believes, was hurting their own bookmaking operations and their game. He said that he used to see TAMELEO sometimes about 11:00 a.m. in the morning in the Ebb Tide, other times in mid-afternoon and, on some occasions, he saw him in the evenings.

He said that in connection with the call that he had made to HENRY TAMELEO on the day before he actually went to Rhode Island and spoke with TAMELEO and PATRIARCA, he called TAMELEO at telephone number MANNING 1-6020 and exhibited an address book with this phone number in it and said that it was a bar in Providence, Rhode Island, where HENRY TAMELEO could be located. He said he has the feeling that TAMELEO may also have been out on $1,000 bail in connection with some kind of an arrest about the time that they postponed the "hit" on MARFEO and he has a recollection that RONNIE CASSESSA, at about this time, hid TAMELEO out at the Town Lyne Motel up around Saugus, Massachusetts.

BARON said that also in connection with the postponing of the "hit" on MARFEO, the Police had gone to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and they indicated that they knew about HENRY TAMELEO having trouble with WILLIE MARFEO.

BARON said that in connection with this proposed "hit" on WILLIE MARFEO, after PATRIARCA and "the office" got mad at him, they put out the word that he had killed MARFEO and one of MARFEO's brother's came to Boston in an attempt to locate him (BARON) to kill him.

JOSEPH BARON was interviewed at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON said that RAYMOND PATRIARCA has a floating crap game in the Boston area which operates sometimes at the Madison Hotel and sometimes at a club on Hinchman Street. He said that [redacted] who did time for murder with [redacted] worked this game for "the organization."

b6

He said that "the organization" loves to take credit for "hits" that work out with which they have not been connected. He said that they took credit for BOBBY PALLADINO and GEORGE ASHE. They put out the word that ASHE had been killed over some difficulty that he had started at PETER LIMONE's after-hours drinking establishment known as the [redacted]. He said that for a while [redacted] was taking credit for the killing of BOBBY PALLADINO.

BRATSOS conferred with ANGIULO for two or three hours. BRATSOS told him that ANGIULO first suggested that they go to New Jersey or Canada to get a bondsman to bail out JOSEPH BARON. JOSEPH BARON was interviewed at Barnstable House of Correction.

BARON was asked where he was residing in June and July, 1965, and he said he was living at 216 Revere Beach Parkway, Chelsea, Massachusetts.

He was asked if he remembered where he contacted RONALD CASSESSA to tell him that he was going down to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA in Rhode Island in connection with the MARFEO matter. BARON said that he either called CASSESSA at the Florentine Cafe at Hanover and Prince Streets, North End of Boston, or went into the Florentine Cafe to tell CASSESSA that they would be going to Rhode Island to see PATRIARCA and TAMELEO on the following day.

He said that on the following day, which was a Tuesday, to the best of his recollection, CASSESSA picked him up in front of BARON's apartment at 216 Revere Beach Parkway, Chelsea. On that day when they finished their business in Providence, they returned to the Boston area and he did not know whether they went to East Boston or Boston proper.

He said when he returned to Rhode Island the following day, he would have left from his home in Chelsea, but he could not recall whether he went there by himself or whether [redacted] drove him there. He said he did know that CASSESSA did not accompany him on that trip.

On the day that he went down without CASSESSA, he met HENRY TAMELEO in a restaurant across the street from the Coin-A-Matic Company where RAYMOND PATRIARCA was on most occasions. TAMELEO told him that the hit on MARFEO had to be postponed and he went with TAMELEO over to the Coin-A-Matic to pay his respects to PATRIARCA. PATRIARCA came out on the sidewalk and they had some brief conversation, whereby PATRIARCA also mentioned to him that the hit on MARFEO had to be postponed.

It was his recollection that the only place that PATRIARCA had told TAMELEO to show BARON where MARFEO could be found was the location where MARFEO was holding his crap game.

He said on the previous day when he went to Rhode Island with CASSESSA, TAMELEO only showed him one club where MARFEO could be located and had said he would show him other locations later. While TAMELEO was with him showing him the club where MARFEO could be found, he asked TAMELEO if there would be any repercussions from MARFEO's brother if WILLIE MARFEO was killed. TAMELEO said there would be no repercussions as the MARFEO's would not know who had done it.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON was asked if he remembered anything about the location that HENRY TAMELEO had pointed out to him where WILLIE MARFEO could be located for a "hit."

BARON said he recalled that the place appeared to be a club of some sort and was right in the near vicinity of RAYMOND PATRIARCA's Coin-O-Matic. It was his recollection that it had half curtains on the windows, a white ceramic tile floor and broken-down, dark furniture. He recalled that the place was very deep and that when he went in there in the morning with TAMELEO, there were only a couple of people on the premises.

Betting on Game.

This section applies to betting on a game as well as to money won by the winner of the game. McGrath v. Kennedy (1886), 15 R. I. 209, 2 Atl. 438.

2. Recovery from Stakeholder.

A plaintiff who had denounced his bet before the game was terminated and had notified the stakeholder not to pay over his money was entitled to recover from the stakeholder who had paid the amount to the winner. McGrath v. Kennedy (1886), 15 R. I. 209, 2 Atl. 438.

11-19-18. Keeping of gambling places or devices — Acting as dealer, banker, or lookout.—Every person who shall keep or suffer to be kept any building, room, booth, shed, tent, arbor, or any other place, or any automobile, bus, coach, van, truck, trailer, railway or railroad car, or any other vehicle in any city or town of this state, or on any vessel, boat or raft upon any of the waters of Narragansett Bay, to be used or occupied for the purpose of gambling, or playing any game or games of chance of any kind whatsoever, for money or other valuable consideration, or shall keep, exhibit, or suffer to be kept or exhibited upon his premises or in his vehicle or under his control, any cards, dice, table, bowls, wheel of fortune, shuffleboard, billiard table, or any device, implement or apparatus whatsoever to be used in gambling or playing at any game or games of chance for money or other valuable consideration, or who shall be guilty of dealing faro, or banking for others to deal faro, or acting as lookout, croupier or assistant for the game of faro or any other banking game where money or property is dependent on the result, shall be taken and held to be a common gambler and shall be imprisoned not exceeding two (2) years or be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor less than five hundred dollars ($500).

ANALYSIS

1. Banker.
2. Keeping and using.
3. Continuing offense.
4. Number of violations required.
5. Sufficiency of charge.
6. Equity jurisdiction.
7. Certiorari.

1. Banker.

Poker player who took charge of the game, took a cut out of each pot, settled arguments, and made change was not a banker within the meaning of this section. State v. Bradley (1930), 51 R. I. 4, 149 Atl. 863.

2. Keeping and Using.

Where it was shown that the room was kept for gambling purposes and that defendant was temporarily in charge, it was not necessary to show that the room was actually used for gambling while defendant was in charge. State v. Marchant (1887), 15 R. I. 539, 9 Atl. 902.

3. Continuing Offense.

On prosecution for being a common gambler on a specified date, evidence of acts before and after that date could be received even though the indictment did not contain a continuando. State v. Groyss (1899), 21 R. I. 252, 43 Atl. 181.

4. Number of Violations Required.

A person who deals "faro" once is guilty of the offense charged by this section. State v. Melville (1877), 11 R. I. 417.

5. Sufficiency of Charge.

An indictment for violation of this section is sufficient if it alleges that the defendant dealt "faro," "a certain banking game where money and other property was then and there dependent on the result," since such an allegation excludes any assumption that the indictment may be proved and the defendant still innocent. State v. Melville (1877), 11 R. I. 417.

An indictment charging violation of this section in the words of the statute was not defective for failing to allege that the defendant "then and there" kept the room to be used for gambling. State v. Marchant (1887), 15 R. I. 539, 9 Atl. 902.

6. Equity Jurisdiction.

Equity did not have jurisdiction to restrain police officers from interfering with complainants' business in the enforcement of this section where it was not contended that this section was unconstitutional or that officers did not have general authority to enforce the section. Conte v. Roberts (1937), 53 R. I. 353, 192 Atl. 814.

7. Certiorari.

Supreme court would grant certiorari from interlocutory order restraining police from enforcing this section, since irreparable injury in these exceptional circumstances would be suffered by the public in any long delay. Conte v. Roberts (1937), 53 R. I. 353, 192 Atl. 814.

11-19-19. Revocation of license of gambling place.—If such person be a tavernkeeper, innholder, retailer or keeper of any other house or place of public resort which is licensed, his license shall in addition be declared null and void by the court in which he shall be convicted.

Canvass of Spruce Street by Providence Police negative.

Investigation by Providence Police disclosed WILLIAM MARFEO left his home at North Providence, Rhode Island, and had about $20,000 on his person in a brown paper bag, and another $8,000 in his pockets.

Earlier in the morning, MARFEO stopped at Margaret's Lunch, DePasquale Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, and the owner of the place, name not mentioned, observed the brown paper bag being carried by MARFEO.

Confidential Investigation conducted by Detectives

b6
b7c

Investigation into the background of WILLIE MARFEO revealed:

That MARFEO was very active in the shylocking and he was also known as a very big gambler, betting large sums of money on ball games, horses, and the dogs. He was also co-owner of a crap game operated in the club above Andreozzi's Liquor Store on Atwells Avenue, along with

WILLIE [redacted] had a minor interest in the crap game. It was learned from [redacted]

b6
b7c

[redacted] WILLIE, that during the past several weeks, prior to the shooting, WILLIE had been very nervous and had been sleeping with a .45 caliber automatic under his pillow, fully loaded and cocked. On several occasions, she had entered his room in the middle of the night and on all of these occasions he was pointing the pistol at her. She stated that during the past several months WILLIE had been stinging big bookmakers for large sums of money where he would bet, lose and refuse to pay. She mentioned that in one case WILLIE had stung the bookmaker known as the "Jew downtown" for several thousand dollars. She also stated that on numerous occasions he would brag to her about having not paid large sums of money to several bookmakers for losses he had incurred, and she told him, "WILLIE, you keep this up, you are going to get killed." She further stated that WILLIE used to make two phone calls in the morning from their home in North Providence and when he was on the phone he would say he'd bet five or forth six and after a while she figured out he meant $5,000 and $4600. She stated that WILLIE made several out of town visits to the State of Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New York. And on these trips, he would usually carry large sums of money. She knew for a fact that the past few weeks he never went out of the house at night without carrying the .45 caliber automatic with him, and he stated to her, "The only time they'll be able to get me will be in the day time." She further stated that two evenings previous to the day of the shooting, she was driving to her home on a dark road that was adjacent to her property and her headlights shone on a black coupe with Massachusetts registration plates and two men in the front seat. She further stated that on the evening previous to the shooting neighbors had told her that there was a black car with out of town plates in the vicinity of her home. According to [redacted] it was common knowledge among his friends and enemies that WILLIE had been losing very heavily especially on the baseball games. She showed us a slip of paper that she had returned to her from the Morgue and it was found in her deceased husband's pocket the following..... She explained to the Detectives that a fellow named [redacted] in Cranston owed WILLIE the sum of $3,300. This money was lost in the crap games at the club on Atwells Avenue. She further stated that WILLIE on many occasions would take her to this liquor store and he, WILLIE, would go in and take anything he wanted without paying for it. She went on to say, and explain what the names were and the amounts owed which were on the slip of paper that she showed to the detectives. The name of [redacted] and the sum of $100, the day, Monday, meaning the day he would be paid, and under this the figure 10 which was the juice to be paid to WILLIE. Another name of [redacted] the sum of $400 and the day, Thursday, another name, [redacted] which she stated might mean [redacted] and the sum of $400 on a Friday. The next name, [redacted] which she indicated was [redacted] the sum of $150, and the day, Friday,, another name, [redacted] which was she indicated [redacted] the sum of $300 and collection day, Saturday. The next name, [redacted] which she indicated was [redacted] located on the East Side of Providence, the sum of $500, the numeral 25, and Thursday, the day of collection. The next name, [redacted] which she indicated was [redacted] [redacted] the sum of $400, the numeral 35, and the collection day Sunday. The next name, [redacted] the figure $150, the next name [redacted] the sum of $110, collection day Monday, and again [redacted] the sum of $110 and collection day on Friday. She further stated that her husband had numerous slips of paper containing names of prominent people owing large sums to him. She promised the detectives that she would show these slips to them, but since that time has had a change of heart. She further stated that WILLIE had had trouble in the past with RAYMOND PATRIARCA primarily over the running of a crap game. And on several occasions RAYMOND had ordered WILLIE to knock off the crap games,, and WILLIE had defied him. It is also known that HENRY TAMELEO, age 65, of 48 Betsy Williams Drive, Cranston, Rhode Island, had had a violent disagreement with WILLIE, in fact, WILLIE had slapped or punched HENRY TAMELEO in the S & S Bar on Atwells Avenue. It was learned that WILLIE had lost a large sum of money to HENRY TAMELEO, and that TAMELEO had pressed WILLIE so hard for payment that WILLIE had been forced to sell his new automobile to meet TAMELEO's demands, but on another occasion since that time, it was learned that TAMELEO had lost a large sum of money to WILLIE in a crap game, and had in fact owed WILLIE seven or eight thousand dollars in excess of this amount, and had showed a reluctance to pay WILLIE and WILLIE had gone to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and explained that he had to get it up when he lost, so arrangements were made that HENRY would pay WILLIE the money, which in fact he did.

65

b6
b7C

BS 166-629

BS 166-629

HENRY TAMELEO, 48 Betsy Williams Drive, Cranston, Rhode Island, on the day of the shooting, left home about 11:15 AM and arrived at Nu Brite Cleansers around 11:30 AM, and he saw DANNY RAIMONDI there. Left about 2:30 PM and went to Boston and Rockingham Race Track.

Stated he knew WILLIE and had a few arguments with him over a year ago but lately they have been friendly.

TAMELEO said he never visited WILLIE's "game" for the past two years and he had not been on the other end of the "Hill" since the Federal gambling raids. He said he had heard rumors that WILLIE had trouble because he was sticking bookmakers, but that he did not know who the bookmakers were and who he supposedly stuck.

He said WILLIE was quite a gambler and further there was a lot of talk around for the past three or four weeks about WILLIE's gambling losses.

He said he knows RAYMOND PATRIARCA and LOUIS TAGLIANETTI but has no business dealings with them.

WILLIE used to ask him about baseball and football games.

Departmental Attorney [redacted] and Assistant U. S. Attorney [redacted] District of Massachusetts, finished their review of the material contained in PATRIARCA's electronic surveillance at 4:00 p.m. this date. They reviewed this material for the purpose of ascertaining the occasions on which JOSEPH BARON was a participant in a conversation; when the hit on WILLIE MARFEO was mentioned not only by BARON but by PATRIARCA and other individuals, such as LOUIS TAGLIANETTI; and any embarrassing situations involving politicians, etc.

[redacted] advised that he found no situation sufficiently embarrassing for any politician or prominent individual which would, in his opinion, cause the Department to refrain from indicting PATRIARCA and TAMELEO.

The only notes made in the presence of the Agent were in relation to the above instances. It appeared that they merely scanned the material for the expressed purpose of picking out the instances as set forth above.

Both [redacted] stated they were going to recommend to the Department that indictments be obtained against TAMELEO and PATRIARCA, and that the microphone surveillance will not, in any way, interfere with the prosecution of these individuals.

Reurairtel 6-1-67 transmitting LHM dated the same.

Under paragraph G of the LHM, you list "Leo Santaniello, aka, AR," Boston file 92-711, Bureau file 92-8212;..." This apparently relates to report of SA John F. Kehoe, Jr., 5-22-63 appearing on page 3 of the LHM. Report of SA Kehoe under that date is in the case of [redacted] aka, AR, Boston file 92-682, Bureau file 92-6315, rather than in the Santaniello case.

On page 5 of the LHM, the two reports of SA [redacted] [redacted] apparently were written in the case of Peter J. Limone, aka, Boston file 92-699, Bureau file 92-6482. However, Limone's name is not listed under paragraph G on the first page of the LHM.

Advise by immediate return airtel if the above observations are correct. If so, submit amended pages with the airtel and make necessary corrections in your files.

In connection with the proposed prosecution of Patriarca, New England La Cosa Nostra "boss," and two of his associates, we have been advised by [redacted] Chief of the Department's Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, that the Department today made a decision to proceed in this case.

In view of the fact that during the pertinent events involved Patriarca was covered by our microphone, the Department's Ad Hoc Committee considered whether or not prosecution could be entertained and decided unanimously to seek an indictment. The available evidence in the case has already been presented to a Federal Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts, and the Department expects to have a sealed indictment returned June 20, 1967.

This is the situation in which notorious Boston hoodlum Joseph Barron, more commonly known as "Joe Barboza," together with a fellow hoodlum Ronald Cassessa, traveled to Providence, Rhode Island, from Boston for the purpose of killing William Marfeo, a Providence hoodlum who had refused to conduct his dice game in a manner described by Patriarca. The murder of Marfeo did not occur at that time because of police activity. However, he was murdered approximately a year later on July 13, 1966. We have no knowledge of the actual murderers.

In view of fact that indictment returned in this case on 6/20/67 named Ronald Cassessa as a defendant along with Patriarca and Tameleo, it will be necessary to furnish material to the Department concerning Cassessa as was done concerning Patriarca and Tameleo. Specific request from Department anticipated within next day or two.

It is assumed that Department attorneys will examine logs and material in Boston as was done previously in this case with regard to the other subjects.

Handle expeditiously.

In the wake of the indictment and arrest of Patriarca, Tameleo and Cassesso on June 20, 1967, there are indications that associates of the late William Marfeo intend to avenge Marfeo's death. In this connection an attempt apparently was made to kill [redacted] a close associate of Patriarca in Providence, Rhode Island, on June 21, 1967.

The basis for the indictment returned by a Federal Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts, on June 20, 1967, was a conspiracy in 1965 to kill Marfeo, a Providence hoodlum and gambling figure who had refused to operate his dice game according to Patriarca's wishes. Cassesso and another Boston hoodlum, Joseph Baron, commonly known as Joseph Barboza, traveled to Providence at the request of Patriarca and Tameleo to arrange the killing of Marfeo. This was not done at the time but on July 13, 1966, Marfeo was murdered in Providence by persons whose identities are not known. Information concerning the plot to kill Marfeo has been furnished to us by Baron who testified before the grand jury.

The attempt to shoot [redacted] occurred in the Federal Hill section of Providence, which is frequented by Patriarca and his close associates. [redacted] who apparently was armed, returned the fire. There were no personal injuries but some damage was done to parked automobiles. The shots fired at [redacted] reportedly came from an automobile very similar in description to one owned by [redacted] Rhode Island, who was a very close associate of Marfeo during the latter's lifetime. In fact, Providence police records indicate that a few years ago a bomb had been placed in [redacted] car. At the time it was being driven by Marfeo, prior to his death, but the bomb was discovered and disconnected before detonation. There were no arrests but the police records show that [redacted] and Marfeo believe that [redacted] was responsible. In connection with the current gunplay, Patriarca and [redacted] were questioned by the Providence Police Department and released. b6 b7C

Informants of our Boston Office have advised that associates of Patriarca are of the opinion that Cassesso, as well as Baron, is cooperating with the authorities and is a potential witness in this case. These associates are reported as saying that the Government should insure that both Cassesso and Baron are incarcerated in a secure place. It is not true, however, that Cassesso has cooperated with the authorities in this matter.

Cassesso and Baron are now incarcerated in Massachusetts state prisons, serving sentences imposed following convictions for state crimes. Appropriate State of Massachusetts authorities have been advised of the implied threats against the two prisoners.

We are remaining alert for all pertinent developments relating to this case and will keep you advised of matters of interest.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
JUNE 20, 1967

FBI Agents today arrested two individuals, one in Rhode Island and one in Massachusetts, in connection with racketeering activities and a third man was charged in an indictment returned by a Federal Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts, Attorney General Ramsey Clark announced.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that the indictment charged violations of the Conspiracy and Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statutes in June and July of 1965.

Mr. Hoover identified those arrested today as Raymond L. S. Patriarca, a widower, aged 59, of 165 Lancaster Street, Providence, Rhode Island, part owner of a cigarette vending business located at 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, and Henry Tameleo, married, aged 65, of 48 Betsy Williams Drive, Cranston, Rhode Island.

Patriarca, who is well-known in the Boston area, has been publicly identified before a U. S. Senate Subcommittee as the "Boss" of La Cosa Nostra in New England. The third individual charged,

Ronald Cassesso, married, aged 35, of Somerville, Massachusetts, is presently incarcerated in the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, Norfolk, Massachusetts, in connection with a conviction for armed robbery in 1966 for which he received a sentence of nine to twelve years.

The indictment returned today by the Federal Grand Jury charged all three individuals with, among other things, knowingly, willfully and unlawfully conspiring to commit certain offenses against the United States of America and committing certain acts with the intent to commit a crime of violence, namely murder, in violation of the General Laws of the State of Rhode Island, to further an unlawful business enterprise involving gambling. The indictment specifically charged them with conspiring to kill one William Marfeo of Providence, Rhode Island, as a means of furthering the business enterprise. In addition to the conspiracy charge, Patriarca was also charged with one violation of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statute and Tameleo was charged with two violations of this Statute. These violations involved the alleged use of interstate commerce facilities with the intent to commit a crime of violence, namely murder, to further an unlawful business enterprise involving gambling.

Mr. Hoover also commented that Joseph Baron, also known as Joseph Barboza, married, aged 34, was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant. Baron, who resided in Swampscott, Massachusetts, is presently incarcerated in the House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts, in connection with a 1967 conviction for possession of a firearm for which he received a sentence of four to five years' imprisonment.

Mr. Hoover commented that those indicted today will be brought before a United States Commissioner as soon as possible. If convicted of the charges against them, they face sentences ranging up to five years and/or $10,000 fine on each of the counts named in the indictment.

A Federal Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts, has received testimony concerning Raymond L. S. Patriarca, who has been publicly identified as the "Boss" of La Cosa Nostra in New England.

The Department has advised that it is contemplated that an indictment will be returned during the week of June 19, 1967, charging Patriarca, Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassese with one count of conspiracy and three counts of violating the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statute in connection with the gangland murder of Willie Marfeo of Providence, Rhode Island, in 1965.

In view of the position of Patriarca in the La Cosa Nostra, it is believed that a national press release should be made in connection with his arrest. It is presently contemplated that the indictment will be sealed and that the arrest will be made by Bureau Agents. It is noted that Cassese is presently incarcerated in the Walpole State Prison in Massachusetts.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the attached proposed press release be approved subject to minor changes at the time of apprehension.

[redacted] close associate of New England La Cosa Nostra boss Patriarca, exchanged shots with other persons 6/21/67 as he approached Patriarca's Providence, Rhode Island, hangout. Gun apparently abandoned by [redacted] later found by police. It is suspected shots may have been exchanged with [redacted] Willie Marfeo, who was murdered in gangland style 1966. Patriarca, Tameleo and Cassesso, it will be recalled, were recently arrested by Boston Office on Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering-Gambling charges arising out of Patriarca's arrangement for murder of Marfeo in order to control gambling.

Boston top echelon informant has subsequently advised [redacted] and others cornered [redacted] in attempt to kill him and considerable property damage resulted but no personal injuries. Patriarca and [redacted] subsequently questioned by police but refused to comment. Informant learned that assassins will make another attempt with a shot gun or machine gun. Underworld believes Cassesso (not true), like Barbossa, has testified resulting in charges against Patriarca and others and warned that Government should insure they are incarcerated in secure place. While Cassesso and Barbossa are confined on local charges, Attorney General is being advised in view of Barbossa being a prime witness in Bureau case against Patriarca and others. The local authorities are also being advised.

SAC Handley, Boston, advised at 12:20 p.m., today, that Agents of the Boston Office had arrested Rhode Island hoodlums Patriarca and Tameleo on bench warrants charging violations of interstate transportation in aid of racketeering - gambling statute. Patriarca is the La Cosa Nostra leader in New England and Tameleo is one of his principal assistants. Patriarca was arrested in Providence, Rhode Island, and Tameleo in Boston, Massachusetts.

The charges against Patriarca and Tameleo grew out of a planned gangland murder of Willie Marfeo who had refused to follow instructions issued by Patriarca in connection with an interstate gambling operation.

A third individual, Ronald Cassessa, has also been charged with this violation. Cassessa is currently in custody of local authorities in Massachusetts.

Attached is a copy of the national press release given out in this case by the Crime Records Division. It was read to and approved by SAC Handley and also approved by [redacted] Information Officer of the Department, prior to release. After approval by [redacted] it was given out at 12:23 p.m. to Associated Press and United Press International, both of Washington, D. C., and distributed to local news sources in Washington. SAC Handley was advised that he could give the same release to local news sources in his Division at 12:35 p.m., 6/20/67.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20535

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
JUNE 20, 1967

FBI Agents today arrested two individuals, one in Rhode Island and one in Massachusetts, in connection with racketeering activities and a third man was charged in an indictment returned by a Federal Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts, Attorney General Ramsey Clark announced.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that the indictment charged violations of the Conspiracy and Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statutes in June and July of 1965. Mr. Hoover identified those arrested today as Raymond L. S. Patriarca, a widower, aged 59, of 165 Lancaster Street, Providence, Rhode Island, part owner of a cigarette vending business located at 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, and Henry Tameleo, married, aged 65, of 48 Betsy Williams Drive, Cranston, Rhode Island. Patriarca, who is well-known in the Boston area, has been publicly identified before a U. S. Senate Subcommittee as the "Boss" of La Cosa Nostra in New England. The third individual charged, Ronald Cassesso, married, aged 35, of Somerville, Massachusetts, is presently incarcerated in the Massachusetts Correctional

ENCLOSURE

Institution, Norfolk, Massachusetts, in connection with a conviction for armed robbery in 1966 for which he received a sentence of nine to twelve years.

The indictment returned today by the Federal Grand Jury charged all three individuals with, among other things, knowingly, willfully and unlawfully conspiring to commit certain offenses against the United States of America and committing certain acts with the intent to commit a crime of violence, namely murder, in violation of the General Laws of the State of Rhode Island, to further an unlawful business enterprise involving gambling. The indictment specifically charged them with conspiring to kill one William Marfeo of Providence, Rhode Island, as a means of furthering the business enterprise. In addition to the conspiracy charge, Patriarca was also charged with one violation of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Statute and Tameleo was charged with two violations of this Statute. These violations involved the alleged use of interstate commerce facilities with the intent to commit a crime of violence, namely murder, to further an unlawful business enterprise involving gambling.

Mr. Hoover also commented that Joseph Baron, also known as Joseph Barboza, married, aged 34, was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant. Baron, who resided in Swampscott, Massachusetts, is presently incarcerated in the House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts, in connection with a 1967 conviction for possession of a firearm for which he received a sentence of four to five years' imprisonment.

Mr. Hoover commented that those indicted today will be brought before a United States Commissioner as soon as possible. If convicted of the charges against them, they face sentences ranging up to five years and/or $10,000 fine on each of the counts named in the indictment.

Reference is made to memorandum dated June 21, 1967, of Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division.

Cassesso was never the direct subject of electronic surveillance but was a participant in, or present during, conversations monitored on two microphone installations installed by the FBI.

Cassesso was a participant in conversations in the presence of a microphone in Jay's Lounge, 255 Tremont Street, Boston, Massachusetts, which had been placed there by surreptitious entry on January 9, 1963, and discontinued on July 12, 1965. Continuance of this microphone was specifically approved by former Attorney General Katzenbach. It was placed in Jay's Lounge to cover La Cosa Nostra leader Gennaro J. Angiulo, who was the proprietor.

Although not definitely identified as being present by the log maintained, Cassesso is known to have been present during a conversation occurring on June 22, 1965, in the office of Raymond L. S. Patriarca, La Cosa Nostra "boss" of the New England area where a microphone installation was in existence. The microphone coverage there existed from March 8, 1962, to July 12, 1965, in Patriarca's office at Coin-O-Matic Distributing Company, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. This installation was also made by surreptitious entry and also its continuance was specifically approved by former Attorney General Katzenbach.

We know of the presence of Cassesso at Patriarca's office on June 22, 1965, by reason of information furnished by Joseph Baron, who was a participant in the conversation occurring there on that date. Baron is expected to be a witness against Cassesso, Patriarca and Henry Tameleo on Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling charges in United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts.

You were advised by memorandum of June 1, 1967, of our electronic surveillance coverage of Patriarca and Tameleo in connection with this prosecution. Because of the great bulk of material involved, attorneys of the Criminal Division reviewed the logs and the supporting material in our Boston Office concerning Patriarca, Tameleo and Cassesso. Therefore, none of this material is being obtained for transmittal to the Department.

A review is now being made to determine the appearance of microphone information in FBI reports concerning Cassesso, and this information will be furnished to the Criminal Division.

It is assumed that you have made similar electronic surveillance inquiries of other Federal agencies.

Assistant Attorney General

NOTE: Department request re electronic surveillance of Cassesso is in connection with ITAR - Gambling prosecution arising out of interstate travel in a conspiracy to kill William Marfeo, a Providence, Rhode Island, hoodlum who refused to abide by Patriarca's desires in the operation of a dice game. We have previously been advised that the Department has filed a motion to disclose the microphone information in connection with this prosecution in United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, where the indictment was returned.

Specimens received 6/30/67

- Q1 Memo book measuring 3 inches by 5 inches
- Q2 Sheet of paper measuring 4 inches by 8 inches
- Q3 Composition book measuring approximately 8 inches by 10 inches
- Q4 Herald Square Composition Book
- Q5 One hard-covered notebook

Result of examination:

Q1 through Q5 were not definitely associated with any shylocking bookmaking, or numbers practice. This is due to insufficient significant data. However, Q1, Q3 and Q4 do contain notations indicating an accounting procedure between two or more individuals. This accounting discloses regular and irregular adjustment of figures or payments which indicate debt payments.

The available known writings of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, consisting of fingerprint card signatures under FBI#191775, are not in sufficient quantity of the letters and letter combinations present in the questioned writings to permit any definite opinion whether PATRIARCA did or did not write notations appearing in the specimens designated as Q1 through Q5. However, a few handwriting characteristics were noted in the fingerprint card signatures of PATRIARCA which were also noted among the questioned writings. Such characteristics suggest the advisability of obtaining additional known writings in sufficient quantity for detailed comparison.

The specimens submitted are returned herewith. No photographs were made.

MEMORANDUM

The defendants were indicted on June 20, 1967, for a conspiracy to violate 18 U.S.C. 1952 in that they used interstate facilities and caused certain individuals to travel in interstate commerce with the intent to commit a crime of violence in furtherance of unlawful gambling enterprise, in violation of the General Laws of Rhode Island. The defendant, Tamello, was also charged with two substantive violations of 18 U.S.C. 1952 and the defendant, Patriarca, with one substantive violation of the same statute. We submit this memorandum pursuant to the supplemental memoranda filed by the United States, No. 504, October Term 1966, in Schizani v. United States, 385 U.S. 372, a copy of which memorandum is attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A" concerning the policy of the Department of Justice in regard to electronic surveillance. In that case the Supreme Court was advised that the Government would "promptly notify the appropriate court" when any electronic surveillance has occurred and the following information is brought to this Court's attention with respect to the pending case of United States v. Raymond Patriarca, et al.

On November 1, 1966, the Acting Attorney General and the Assistant Attorney General (Tax Division) were advised by the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in reply to an inquiry by the Tax Division in connection with the income tax case of United States v. Louis J. Taglianetti, Providence, Rhode Island, that certain of the defendant Patriarca's conversations had been monitored by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

On May 29, 1967, the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice was advised by the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in reply to an inquiry by the Assistant Attorney General thereof, that conversations of defendants Patriarca and Tambelac had been monitored by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. On the basis of this, an inquiry was conducted into the present case involving Patriarca, Tambelac and Cassesso which reflected the following information:

1. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, in March 1962, installed a microphone, by means of trespass at 163 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, the place of business of the defendant, Raymond Patriarca, where he and others frequently met. It was believed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation that this establishment was being utilized for purposes connected with organized crime. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, acting on the basis of Departmental authorization as described at pages 2-3 of the Supplemental Memorandum for the United States, No. 1029, October Term 1963, filed in Black v. United States, 334 U.S. 963; 385 U.S. 26, a copy of which memorandum is attached hereto and marked Exhibit "B" approved the installation here in question.

2. On various occasions between 1962 and 1965, all of the defendants had conversations monitored by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Logs were kept in which appear summaries of these conversations. While tape recordings were also made, these were later routinely erased and reused. The log summaries are, however, in existence. Certain of these monitored conversations had reference to the activities which are the subject matter of the indictment in this case.

3. None of the monitored conversations will be used as evidence in this case nor were they the source of any leads to any evidence in this case.

However, we believe the defendants should be advised of these circumstances and at such time the Court seems appropriate, the Government will submit all of the facts upon which a full judicial determination can be made with respect to this issue.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION DIVISION

Raymond L. S. Patriarca, New England "boss" of La Cosa Nostra, and two of his associates under indictment Federal District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, on charges of Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling. This charge arose from interstate travel in conspiracy to murder Providence, Rhode Island, hoodlum William Marfeo for refusal to conduct his illegal dice game in accordance with Patriarca's wishes. Department attorney filed motion to disclose microphone surveillance of Patriarca, which was in existence March, 1962, to July, 1965. This microphone surveillance previously disclosed and widely publicized in tax prosecution of Louis Taglianetti, another associate of Patriarca.

Re Boston teletype dated 6/20/67.

For the information of the FBI Laboratory, RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and subject TAMELEO were arrested by Agents of the Boston Division on June 20, 1967.

PATRIARCA is the reputed head of the LCN in the New England area.

During the search of the office where PATRIARCA was arrested, FBI Agents of the Boston Division seized the following items:

- Specimen 1 - 3 by 5 memo book
- Specimen 2 - 4 by 8 sheet of paper
- Specimen 3 - Approximate 8 by 10 composition book
- Specimen 4 - Herald Square Composition Book
- Specimen 5 - 1 hard covered notebook

The laboratory will note that these items contain various hand printed and hand written figures and statements.

It is requested of the FBI Laboratory that these items be examined to determine if they can be made to conform with practices utilized in the shylocking, booking and numbers rackets.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

In Jimmy Breslin's syndicated column appearing in the "Boston-Herald Traveler" on July 10, 1967, there was a statement FBI Agents induced Joseph Baron to turn against Raymond Patriarca by playing to Baron a tape recording made on the Patriarca microphone in which Patriarca said "What do you want, Barboza's (alias of Baron) just a jerk. He doesn't mean nothin' he's crazy."

This statement by Breslin is completely false. In handling the Patriarca microphone, which was terminated July 12, 1965, all tapes were erased immediately upon dictation of their contents. Therefore, there have been no tape recordings in existence during the period that Baron has been interviewed.

Baron, currently incarcerated on state charges, in Massachusetts, is the individual solicited by Patriarca to kill Willie Marfeo, which action forms the basis for the Federal indictment in Boston charging Patriarca and an underling, Henry Tameleo, with violation of Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering - Gambling Statute.

 IN AID OF ENFORCEMENT ITAR - GAMBLING

Enclosed is one copy of syndicated columnist JIMMY BRESLIN's article which appeared in the July 10, 1967, edition of the Boston-Herald Traveler, morning edition, concerning witness JOSEPH BARON.

On Page 2, paragraph 4, there is set forth the fact that Agents brought a recorder to BARON and played a tape which had been obtained by bugging the vending machine office of RAYMOND PATRIARCA; that BARBOZA listened to the tape and heard the voices of PATRIARCA and two other gunmen whom he knew. The article reflected that the report was that one of the voices on the tape said, "What do you want, Barboza's just a jerk." PATRIARCA's voice said, "He doesn't mean nothin' he's crazy." At this point, BARON allegedly exploded and decided to cooperate.

It should be pointed out that there are no tape recordings in existence from the electronic surveillance of RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA, and this fact was so testified by SA JOHN F. KEHOE, JR. during the TAGLIANETTI hearing.

The information concerning this, as set forth in the article, is completely false and both SAS [redacted] have advised that no such conversation took place.

INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION IN AID OF RACKETEERING - GAMBLING

45.
In the "Boston Herald Traveler" of July 10, 1967, morning edition, the syndicated column of Jimmy Breslin was devoted principally to a discussion of Joseph Baron, commonly known as "Barboza." The article purported to show the development of Baron as a willing witness against Patriarca, naming the two FBI Agents, [redacted] who had been conducting the interviews of Baron. The following is quoted from the column to show Breslin's statements as to the interviewing technique allegedly utilized by the Agents:

"One day the agents brought a recorder. They played a tape which had been obtained by bugging the vending machine office of Raymond Patriarca of Providence, who has been the boss of the New England Mafia for years. Barboza listened to the tape. He heard the voices of Patriarca and two other gunmen he knew.

"The report is that one of the voices on the tape said, 'What do you want, Barboza's just a jerk.' And Patriarca's voice said, 'He doesn't mean nothin' he's crazy.'

"Now you can play tapes like these to gunmen all your life and the gunman listening will stare and say nothing and go back to his cell. It was different with Barboza. The agents had done the best of all crime detection work. Slowly, patiently, sensibly, they had been creating an important stool pigeon. And now Barboza exploded when he heard the tape. All right, he said, now I am going to tell you something."

The above-quoted portion of Breslin's column is completely fictional. No such interview was conducted. In the administrative handling of the microphone coverage of Raymond L. S. Patriarca, the tapes were reviewed immediately and the contents paraphrased into memoranda and airtels. Immediately upon completion of the dictation, the tapes were erased so that they could then be reused. Inasmuch as the microphone coverage of Patriarca was discontinued July 12, 1965, there were no microphone tapes of this coverage in existence during any of the period in which Baron has been interviewed by FBI Agents.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts. He advised that Attorney [redacted] had been down to visit him on the previous day and he told [redacted] that he wanted him to tell HENRY TAMELEO, and any of the other "office" people that he had contact with, that they had done everything possible to hurt him through the courts and by murdering his close associates, and that he was co-operating with the FBI and was going to provide information and testimony relative to his dealings with these people.

b6
b7c

BARON said that he told [redacted] that he had always been completely fair in his dealings in the past with PATRIARCA and TAMELEO and other members of "the office" and that he had done favors for them in the past and that "they" should have tried to help him rather than turn against him the way they did; that through their treachery of luring his friends in to be murdered on the ruse that they would make up the balance of the bail money due, they not only robbed him of funds that were actually his, a sum of over $70,000, but they broke the bond between them.

b6

He told [redacted] that he has given this situation a lot of thought and that he has been able to look back and see how PATRIARCA, TAMELEO, ANGIULO, and LARRY BAIONE have used anyone they could to their advantage, and when the individual no longer can do anything for them, they forget about them.

BARON said that if the Agents had another opportunity to talk to RONALD CASSESSO, he would like the Agents to tell CASSESSO that HENRY TAMELLO had told him, after he came out of Deer Island, that he should have no more dealings with RONNIE CASSESSO and that when RONNIE CASSESSO comes out of jail to stay away from him; that "the office" had found out that CASSESSO had lied to them on a number of important items in the past, they were "washing their hands" with him and he (BARON) should do the same thing.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON advised that "the office" is great for moving against people that are no longer in a position to give them any serious opposition. He said that there was a series of holdups of dice games during the Spring of 1966 and, while he was in Deer Island, PETER LIMONE and LARRY BAIONE grabbed "CHICO" AMICO and questioned him about whether or not he was involved in holding up these games. BARON said that if he had been out on the street they would never have questioned AMICO about these holdups. As soon as he came out, he had gone to JERRY ANGIULO and told JERRY that he did not appreciate LARRY BAIONE and PETER LIMONE "putting it on AMICO," and ANGIULO at that time told him that they were trying to find someone that was of the same physical description as AMICO and that these holdups had made customers very leery about going to games and these holdups had to be stopped.

BARON advised that the night that ROCCO DI SEGLIO got killed, he met [redacted] whom he knows as [redacted] in front of Chiambi's Bar on Bennington Street in East Boston, and [redacted] said to him that they were waiting for ROCCO DI SEGLIO; that DI SEGLIO had put them in a bind and they were going to show JOE how they can operate; that DI SEGLIO pulled up to them in his car and he (BARON) spoke to DI SEGLIO as he knew him well, having sparred with him in the past when they both were interested in prize fighting, and he considered him a friend of his. DI SEGLIO indicated to JOE that they had a score lined up and [redacted] got into DI SEGLIO's car and drove off.

told him that he realized that JOE was a friend of ROCCO DI SEGLIO's and he wanted to explain to JOE what had happened the previous night and why it happened. He told JOE that he, ROCCO DI SEGLIO, [redacted] had held up a couple of barboot games and that when they held up a game in Newton, [redacted] figured out who had set up the holdup and it was their partner, ROCCO DI SEGLIO; that [redacted] had gone to ANGIULO and that JERRY got a hold of him because he had known that DI SEGLIO had been associating with [redacted] and JERRY told him to take out DI SEGLIO or that they would be killed themselves.

[redacted] said they had told DI SEGLIO they were going on a score that night. They had pulled down by the gas tanks in East Boston where they had a "hot car" stashed, which DI SEGLIO had figured they would use on the score; that [redacted] shot him in the back of the head and they would have left him there, but they did not want to bring any heat on BARBOZA. They drove him and his car up to Danvers and left him in a wooded area. [redacted] said that he felt bad about it because DI SEGLIO was their friend.

BARON stated that he did not want DI SEGLIO's body to remain unrecovered for any length of time and so he called [redacted] of the Boston Police Department and gave [redacted] a description of DI SEGLIO's car and told him that DI SEGLIO was shot and had been left in this car.

BARON advised that he went to JERRY ANGIULO in order to verify that this "hit" had been okayed by him, and that this was not [redacted] taking out DI SEGLIO on his own.

He said he saw ANGIULO in the back of the Dog House Restaurant, Prince Street, and he told him that [redacted] had told him that he had taken out ROCCO DI SEGLIO who was a friend of his, JOSEPH BARON's, on his, JERRY's, instructions and that he wanted to know whether or not this was true or was [redacted] just using ANGIULO's name. JERRY told him that [redacted] was not acting on his own, he was acting on ANGIULO's instructions because these people were holding up card games and crap games and it had to be brought to an abrupt end.

JOSEPH BARON was interviewed at the Barnstable County Jail, Barnstable, Massachusetts, at which time he related the following information concerning his trips to Rhode Island to talk to RAYMOND L. S. PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO concerning his contract to "kill" WILLIE MARFEO.

On his first trip to Providence, Rhode Island, he parked his car in the Old Canteen parking lot, Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island; he walked west to Coin-O-Matic, where he entered this establishment through the side door of this place, and entered the office of RAYMOND PATRIARCA. He talked to RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO concerning the proposed killing of WILLIE MARFEO, and left PATRIARCA's office with TAMELEO.

He left Coin-O-Matic with TAMELEO, through the side door. They walked down the alley to Atwells Avenue, and turned right and walked a short way down Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, towards the center of town, at which time TAMELEO pointed out a bar or club located between Coin-O-Matic and the Old Canteen, on the same side of the street. When TAMELEO pointed out this bar or club, he said that this is one of the places that MARFEO hangs out during the day. They then went almost directly across the street to a restaurant where they had a sandwich. The restaurant was described as having the counter on the left side as you entered, the booths or tables were on the right, and the kitchen was somewhere in the rear.

After eating, both he and TAMELEO came out, entered TAMELEO's car and drove on Atwells Avenue, away from the center of town where they stopped at a bar where they had wine bottles either in the window or hanging on the walls. He said that when he drove in TAMELEO's car, they did not go too far, and that they only drove about a minute or so and were still on Atwells Avenue, when he stopped the car. This bar was also a hangout for WILLIE MARFEO. Both he and TAMELEO remained in this bar for a short period of time.

On 6/6/67 at Barnstable, Massachusetts File # Boston 166-629

by SA's [redacted] and [redacted]
[redacted] CAR:po'b 6 Date dictated 6/8/67

He said he had never been in this bar prior to this time and would be unable to adequately describe it but was of the opinion that bar was either on the left or right side; that the booths would be on the opposite side of the bar.

He did recall that when they left this bar they walked across the street where they entered a small type restaurant, which was another hangout for WILLIE MARFEO. He described this restaurant as having the counter on the right and the booths or tables were on the right side and a telephone was on the rear wall with possibly a kitchen in the rear.

He also recalled that this restaurant could have had one or two cement steps in front of the door to enter as it was going down the hill.

On his second visit to Providence, Rhode Island, he did not visit any places in that he was told that HENRY TAMELEO had been questioned by the police concerning WILLIE MARFEO; that the "heat" was on and that they would postpone the killing of MARFEO.

He was unable to furnish any additional descriptive data at this time, stating he has not been to these places since he was taken there by TAMELEO, which is some time ago.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 6/14/671

In conjunction with the statements of JOSEPH BARON made on June 6, 1967, on the places he visited in Providence, Rhode Island, when he came to Rhode Island to meet with RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO to talk about the "proposed killing of WILLIE MARFEO," the following was noted:

The only bar or club located between the Old Canteen and Coin-O-Matic, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, and being on the same side of the street is Joe's Bar, 148 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

The only restaurant located across the street in this same area is either Angelo's or Civita Farnese Restaurant, 141 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, which does not appear to answer the description furnished by JOSEPH BARON; however, Antonelli's Restaurant, 139½ Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, answers this description in that the counter is located on the left as you enter the building, the booths or tables are on the right, and the kitchen is at the rear.

Both Joe's Bar and Antonelli's were known hangouts of WILLIE MARFEO while he was alive.

When driving on Atwells Avenue in a westerly direction, going away from Providence, Rhode Island, a hangout of WILLIE MARFEO's was Smith's Restaurant, a bar located on the corner of Lilly Street and Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. This place has wine bottles in the window. Diagonally across the street and to the right was the Korner Kitchen, located on the east corner of Vinton Street and Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, where WILLIAM MARFEO was recently killed in gangland fashion.

It is also noted that this restaurant has a cement step that leads into the building; however, when this building was checked on June 7, 1967, the interior was being torn down and everything had been removed from the interior.

He recalled the interior as follows:

As you enter the restaurant, the counter was on the right, the tables and booths were on the left, the telephone was on the rear wall to the left, and the kitchen was at the rear of the building. This was a small restaurant.

Sergeant [] also stated that he is aware that WILLIAM MARFEO, prior to his death, had been a visitor to Joe's Bar, Antonelli's Restaurant, Smith's Restaurant, and the Korner Kitchen, all Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction. A general discussion was had with BARON wherein he said that he felt that his cooperation with law enforcement was creating numerous problems for him in that his confinement by himself was almost the equivalent of solitary confinement and that, as an example, he did not even have an opportunity to get any exercise, which all inmates are usually able to get.

BARON advised that as soon as RAYMOND PATRIARCA is indicted and the details of the indictment are made known to PATRIARCA, that PATRIARCA will, undoubtedly, try to con somebody into making an attempt to take his (BARON's) life, and he feels that the most probable way to do it would be through the poisoning of the food that he is served in the institution.

BARON was told that this situation will be brought to the attention of the Sheriff.

BARON said that he noted that [redacted] was arrested by the FBI in California and he believes that [redacted] should be a person that would cooperate with the FBI because "the office" murdered his friends, TOMMY DE PRISCO and "CHICO" AMICO, and "they" just missed him. He said he heard that [redacted] had told [redacted] that [redacted] was going to be OK with "the office" and nothing would happen to him because of his association with BARBOZA, AMICO and others; and then [redacted] later told someone that [redacted] went for the story that [redacted] told him.

BARON said that this was just another typical move of "the office" in that they were putting [redacted] off guard and would ultimately "take him out."

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON said that there were a couple of things concerning him about his incarceration. He felt that if any of the "office" people wanted to, they might be able to make a connection and have his food poisoned. He also said that he felt that they could come right in to the jail and kill him if they wanted to, but that the big people like ANGIULO, BAIONE, and PATRIARCA would not attempt this sort of thing but would have some of the "suckers" that they have working for them do this.

BARON made the comment that "the office" had had people doing "hits" for them for nothing inasmuch as the people were trying to ingratiate themselves and probably would look for favors in the future from "the office." He said that the only people who ever got payment for making "hits" for "the office" were the [redacted] and, in particular, [redacted] EDWARD. [redacted]

b7c

BARON said that in connection with the murder of JOSEPH LANZI, [redacted] probably got nothing from "the office" for doing it but where he had been operating a shylock business with JERRY ANGIULO's money, he was attempting to further ingratiate himself with ANGIULO and "the office." ANGIULO, BAIONE, and the other "office people" were greatly concerned about LANZI possibly hurting them at a later date by furnishing information as to the identities of the "office people" who were in the Nite Lite on the night that ARTHUR BRATSOS and THOMAS DE PRISCO were killed by these people.

"COUNT ONE

That commencing on or about June 15, 1965, and continuing thereafter up to on or about July 15, 1965, the exact dates being to the Grand Jurors unknown, in the District of Massachusetts, and elsewhere, Raymond Patriarca of Providence and Henry Tameleo of Cranston, both in the District of Rhode Island, and Ronald Cassesso of Somerville, in the District of Massachusetts, the defendants herein, and Joseph Baron of Swampscott, in the District of Massachusetts, named herein as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant, did knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree together and with each other to commit certain offenses against the United States of America in violation of the provisions of Section 1952 of Title 18, United States Code, in that the defendants and said co-conspirator would travel and willfully cause others to travel in interstate commerce between Chelsea, in

"the District of Massachusetts, and Providence, Rhode Island, and that the defendant Henry Tameleo would use telephone facilities in interstate commerce between Boston, in the District of Massachusetts, and Providence, Rhode Island, all of the above with the intent to commit a crime of violence, to wit: murder in violation of Title 11, Chapter 23, Section 1 of the General Laws of Rhode Island, to further an unlawful activity and to promote, manage, establish and carry on and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment and carrying on of an unlawful activity, said unlawful activity being a business enterprise involving gambling offenses in violation of State Law, to wit: Title 11, Chapter 19, Sections 14 and 18 of the General Laws of Rhode Island, and that the defendants and said co-conspirator would thereafter perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence, to wit: murder in violation of Title 11, Chapter 23, Section 1 of the General Laws of Rhode Island, to further a business enterprise involving gambling offenses and acts of promoting, managing, establishing, and carrying on and facilitating the promotion, management, establishment, and carrying on of said business enterprise involving gambling offenses.

1. It was a part of said conspiracy that the defendants, Raymond Patriarca and Henry Tameleo, would request defendant Ronald Cassesso and co-conspirator Joseph Baron to travel from Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, to Providence, Rhode Island.
2. It was also a part of said conspiracy that the defendants, Raymond Patriarca, Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassesso and co-conspirator Joseph Baron would agree among themselves to kill one William Marfeo as a means of furthering and facilitating a business enterprise involving gambling.

3. It was further part of said conspiracy that the defendants, Raymond Patriarca and Henry Tameleo, would arrange for defendant Ronald Cassesso and co-conspirator Joseph Baron to observe certain locations in Providence, Rhode Island, which were frequented by William Marfeo.

4. It was further part of said conspiracy that co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, would return from Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, to Providence, Rhode Island, to make further observations regarding the daily routine of William Marfeo and to obtain a photograph of William Marfeo.

"OVERT ACTS

"In furtherance of the conspiracy and to effect the objects thereof the defendants committed the following overt acts:

1. On or about June 28, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, in Boston, in the District of Massachusetts, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, had a telephone conversation with defendant, Henry Tameleo.
2. On or about June 28, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, in Boston, in the District of Massachusetts, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, conversed with defendant Ronald Cassesso.

3. On or about June 29, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, in Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, met with defendant, Ronald Cassesso.
4. On or about June 29, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and defendant, Ronald Cassesso, travelled from Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, to Providence, Rhode Island.
5. On or about June 29, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, defendants, Raymond Patriarca and Henry Tameleo, met with co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and defendant, Ronald Cassesso, in Providence, Rhode Island.
6. On or about June 29, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, the defendant, Henry Tameleo, showed co-conspirator, Joseph Baron and defendant, Ronald Cassesso, a certain establishment located in Providence, Rhode Island.
7. On or about June 29, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and defendant, Ronald Cassesso, travelled from Providence, Rhode Island, to Boston, in the District of Massachusetts.

- " 8. On or about June 30, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, travelled from Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, to Providence, Rhode Island.
9. On or about June 30, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jurors unknown, co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, met with defendant, Henry Tameleo, in Providence, Rhode Island.

"All in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371. The grand jury further charges:

"COUNT TWO

"That on or about the 28th day of June, 1965, the exact date being to the Grand Jury unknown, Henry Tameleo, the defendant herein, did willfully use a facility in interstate commerce between Boston, in the District of Massachusetts, and Providence, Rhode Island, to wit: the telephone facilities of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, which facilities operate between Boston, Massachusetts, in the District of Massachusetts, and Providence, Rhode Island, with the intent to commit a crime of violence, to wit: murder in violation of Title 11, Chapter 23, Section 1 of the General Laws of Rhode Island; to further an unlawful activity, namely, a business enterprise involving gambling offenses, in violation of state law, namely, Title 11, Chapter 19, Sections 14 and 18 of the General Laws of Rhode Island and thereafter said defendant did willfully perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence to further said business enterprise.

At approximately 12 noon, on June 20, 1967, HENRY TAMELEO was located in front of the Statler Colonial Motel, Route 128, Wakefield, Massachusetts. TAMELEO was advised by SA [] that a Federal indictment had been returned against him and a warrant was issued in the United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts.

b6
b7C

SA's [] immediately thereafter also advised him that he was under arrest, took him into custody and placed him in an FBI vehicle.

b6
b7C

After he was advised that he was under arrest by SA's [] he was searched for weapons.

b6
b7C

At that time, he was advised by SA [] that he did not have to make any statement or answer any questions if he did not desire to do so. He was also advised of his right to contact an attorney and have an attorney present with him, and that if he could not afford an attorney one would be provided for him. TAMELEO said that "By this time I am well aware of my rights."

TAMELEO was thereafter transported to the FBI office at Boston, Massachusetts, in the company of Agents []

No. 20429, was made out to HENRY THOMAS, of 1340 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts, for room number 261. It indicated arrival on June 19, 1967 and the number of persons for the room residence was listed as two.

Copies of the afore-mentioned slips of paper and motel receipt are attached herewith. It was also noted that TAMELEO had in his possession $212 in currency and $1.95 in change.

TAMELEO was fingerprinted and photographed. TAMELEO then placed a telephone call to his Attorney, [REDACTED]. TAMELEO advised Agent [REDACTED] desired to speak to him. Agent [REDACTED] advised [REDACTED] that arraignment had been set for 2:15 p.m. before United States District Court Judge FRANCIS J. W. FORD, Boston, Massachusetts. Attorney [REDACTED] thanked Agent [REDACTED] for the information, and the phone was returned to TAMELEO who had further discussion with Attorney [REDACTED].

TAMELEO had read to him and read himself a Waiver of Rights form. He said that he understood it but he did not want to sign anything. TAMELEO was told by Agent [REDACTED] that he would like to ask him a few questions, and TAMELEO replied, "OK."

TAMELEO was asked if he knew RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and he said he did. He added that he has known him for 30 to 40 years.

He was asked if he knew RONALD CASSESSO, and he said he knew CASSESSO and had known him for a couple of years.

He was asked if he knew JOSEPH BARBOZA, and he said he knew BARBOZA. He was asked how long he has known BARBOZA, and he said, for one to two years.

TAMELEO was asked if he knew WILLIE MARFEO, and he said, "Of course I know WILLIE MARFEO. I have known him for 25 to 30 years."

TAMELEO was asked if he had any business dealings with MARFEO, and he said, "No."

TAMELEO was asked if he had ever had any difficulties with MARFEO. He said, "I am not going to answer that question or any further questions." He then added, however, that he had not had any difficulties with MARFEO and said that this was the last question he was answering because one question would lead to another.

TAMELEO was thereafter transported to the United States Federal Building, to the courtroom of Judge FORD, in a government vehicle by SA's [redacted] and [redacted] arriving at the court room at 2:15 p.m.

The following physical description of TAMELEO was obtained from observation and interview:

On June 20, 1967, TAMELEO appeared before United States District Court Judge FRANCIS J. W. FORD at Boston, Massachusetts, and was represented by Attorney [REDACTED] He was ordered held in $25,000 bail, with surety.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date June 23, 1967

1.

At approximately 12:07 p.m., SA [] entered the location of the Nu-Brite Cleansers at 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. As he approached the counter area, DENNIS RAIMONDI walked from the rear of the store and inquired, "What can I do for you?". SA [] stated that he was Agent [] of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and desired to see Mr. RAYMOND PATRIARCA. Mr. RAIMONDI remarked, "Come on back here," and called "RAYMOND" to the rear area of the store. Mr. PATRIARCA appeared from the rear area and walked to the spot where SA [] was standing. This was adjacent to an office that was off to the right and in a darkened condition. The area from which Mr. PATRIARCA appeared was a kitchen area containing a stove, where a woman was preparing some food.

b6
b7C

At this point, SA [] was joined by SAs []

b6
b7C

Agent [] identified himself as did the other three Agents, and told Mr. PATRIARCA that a Federal Grand Jury sitting in Boston had returned an indictment against him and a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

SA [] told Mr. PATRIARCA that he was charged with violation of the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering and Conspiracy Statutes during the period of June and July, 1965.

b6
b7C

SA [] at this point, approximately 12:08 p.m., told Mr. PATRIARCA that he was under arrest as a result of the indictment and the outstanding bench warrant.

b6
b7C

SA [] told Mr. PATRIARCA that he had a right to remain silent; that anything he did say could be used against him in court, and that he had a right to consult counsel and anyone else that he wished. Mr. PATRIARCA stated that he had a lawyer.

Mr. RAIMONDI and Mr. PATRIARCA suggested that the Agents enter the office which was adjacent to that area and all entered this particular area.

Mr. RAIMONDI called Mr. PATRIARCA's [redacted] who was in the kitchen area, and asked him to enter the office [redacted]

b6
b7c

At this time Mr. PATRIARCA was furnished a form entitled, "Your Rights and Waiver of Rights Form," by SA [redacted] [redacted] which he refused to read or sign.

b6
b7c

Mr. PATRIARCA was then told by SA [redacted] that he had a right to remain silent; that anything he did say could be used against him in a court of law; that he had a right to talk to a lawyer of his own choice before making any statement, and if he was unable to afford a lawyer one would be appointed for him by the court.

b6
b7c

He said he had the services of [redacted] and [redacted] and told [redacted] to call Attorney [redacted] which he did.

b6
b7c

His son left the room and returned shortly thereafter and told Mr. PATRIARCA that he had called [redacted] and told him, [redacted] that the FBI was here.

b6
b7c

Mr. PATRIARCA stated he did not desire to answer any questions.

At about 12:24 p.m., Mr. PATRIARCA was taken from 165 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, to the Providence Resident Agency of the Federal Bureau of Investigation where he was photographed and fingerprinted.

He was then taken to the U.S. Federal Building, Providence, Rhode Island, where he was presented for preliminary hearing.

Reurairtel 7/28/67 captioned "Criminal Intelligence Program, Boston Division."

Furnish the Bureau details of the matters set forth in the last paragraph of re airtel.

With regard to the statement that the defense was to have filed motions prior to 7/20/67, advise as to the setting of that date, what motions were to be filed and the legal effect of the failure to file the motions.

Both facets of the requested information must be complete and precisely accurate in view of the fact that the Bureau desires to call these matters to the attention of the Department in order to urge that steps be taken to assure an early trial of this case.

As you know, Patriarca, "boss" of La Cosa Nostra in New England, and his two associates have been indicted in United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, for their involvement in a plan to murder Providence, Rhode Island, gambling figure William Marfeo. The principal prosecution witness is Joseph Baron, a coconspirator but not a defendant, who is incarcerated in the Barnstable County, Massachusetts, House of Correction following a conviction in state court. Our Boston Office has advised of strenuous attempts being made by the defendants through two attorneys to induce Baron not to testify.

United States Attorney Paul Markham advised that during the past weekend he received a telephone call from [redacted] Baron.

[redacted] said he would be in to see Mr. Markham on Monday, August 7, 1967, as he had been asked to deliver a message to Baron for two people "from out of state" as to what they would do for Baron if he did not testify in this case. [redacted] did not visit Mr. Markham's office as he said he would.

On August 7, 1967, Attorney [redacted] engaged Special Agent [redacted] in conversation during a chance meeting and asked Special Agent [redacted] to tell United States Attorney Markham that [redacted] did not intend to see Markham as he had talked to someone upon whom he leans for advice and was advised that he would be making problems for himself if he talked to Markham and might end up appearing before a Federal grand jury.

[redacted] also told Special Agent [redacted] that through Attorney [redacted] that he had met one Louis Grieco, characterized as a Revere, Massachusetts, hoodlum and close associate of defendant Henry Tameleo. According to

In addition, Grieco is reported to have told [redacted] including [redacted] money alleged to have been taken from the person of Arthur Bratsos, a murder victim and associate of Baron who is said to have had in his possession a large sum of money raised for the purpose of making bail for Baron. Grieco also is said to have told [redacted] that [redacted]

[redacted] Baron, would not testify at any trial in the same manner that he had done before the Federal grand jury which returned the indictment in this case.

On August 7, 1967, Baron told an Agent that [redacted] b7C [redacted] and had written out a message to Baron in his presence. This message in effect quoted Louis Grieco as promising a [redacted] [redacted] testify against Patriarca and Tameleo.

b6
b7C United States Attorney Markham has been advised of the above matters and he said he will confer with State District Attorney Garret Byrne who has jurisdiction of the state charges pending against Baron. Mr. Markham said that he would be sure to bring to Mr. Byrne's attention the implied threats against the life of [redacted]

Our Agents are maintaining close contact with United States Attorney Markham in this situation and will take whatever action is necessary.

The facts discussed above highlight the vicious character and the extreme and desperate steps that will be taken by Patriarca and his associates. It also highlights the necessity of a prompt and vigorous prosecution of this case in order to defeat the obvious attempts to keep the case from going to trial by whatever means these vicious hoodlums might find will serve that purpose.

Enclosed are two Xerox copies each of twelve motions filed by subject PATRIARCA at U. S. District Court, Boston, Massachusetts. Identical motions were filed on behalf of subjects HENRY TAMELEO and RONALD CASSESSO.

According to Assistant U.S. Attorney [redacted] these motions were filed on July 26 and July 27, 1967. He said there would be no legal effect for failure to file the motions within the prescribed period.

According to [redacted] the hearing date for these motions has not been set by the judge but he expects the hearing will be held late September or early October, 1967. The Government intends to answer these motions and submit to the court a few days prior to the actual date of the hearing.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA
HENRY TAMELIO
RONALD CASSESSO

DEFENDANT RAYMOND PATRIARCA'S MOTION FOR SEVERANCE

Now comes the defendant in the above entitled Indictment, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, respectfully moves this Honorable Court to order a severance and separate trial of Count One and Count Three of the Indictment.

In support hereof the defendant states that he will be unfairly prejudiced by the trial of a conspiracy count joined to the trial of a substantive count which appears to have been the subject matter of the alleged conspiracy.

In support thereof the defendant says that his co-defendants have been the subject of massive, prejudicial publicity which has been calculatedly issued, generated, stimulated and maintained by employees of the Government and by private news media, which publicity will unfairly prejudice the defendant, if he is tried with his co-defendants.

Further, the defendant states that in the presentation of his own defense he contemplates calling as witnesses the named co-defendants, and that unless the defendant is tried separately and subsequent to the trials of the co-defendants, it is unlikely that the testimony of the co-defendants will be available to the defendant, thereby depriving him of witnesses material to his defense.

Respectfully submitted,

By his attorney,

Charles A. Connor

MOBION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, TO BE FURNISHED WITH EXCULPATORY EVIDENCE

Now comes the defendant in the above entitled matter, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, moves this Honorable Court to direct the United States Attorney to furnish the defendant with all evidence of an exculpatory nature within the possession, custody, control or within the knowledge of the prosecuting officer during the pendency of all matters in regard hereto.

And the defendant further says that said evidence is material and necessary in order that the defendant be fairly tried in accordance with due process of law.

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA TO STRIKE

Now comes the defendant in the above entitled matter, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, respectfully moves this Honorable Court to strike that portion of Count One of the Indictment that reads as follows:

"... and Joseph Baron of Swampscott, in the District of Massachusetts named herein as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant

And the defendant further says:

1) The aforesaid designation of the said Joseph Baron, who is also known as Joseph Barboza and Joe Barboza, was improperly induced, encouraged and inserted in the Indictment by officers or agents of the United States Attorney's Office, and is not the result of independent, objective or impartial consideration by the members of the Grand Jury returning said Indictment.

2) The aforesaid designation was calculated to unfairly distinguish and set apart the status of the said Joseph Baron in his relationship to the accusations and charges contained in the Indictment to the prejudice of the defendant.

And the defendant further says that upon a hearing of this motion he will offer evidence and arguments in support of same.

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE
PRIOR TO TRIAL

Now comes the defendant, pursuant to Rule 17(c) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, respectfully moves this Honorable Court that the United States Attorney be ordered to produce the following papers in advance of trial and to make said papers available to the defendant for inspection, copying and photographing at a reasonable time and place prior to trial:

1) All documents, books, papers, statements, objects and transcriptions thereof, obtained by the Government in any manner other than by seizure or process, that are presently in its custody, possession or control, or which, prior to trial, may come into its custody, possession or control.

2) All documents, books, papers, statements, objects and transcriptions thereof, which constitute evidence as to the guilt of the defendant, or innocence of the defendant, which are material to any defense which the defendant might have to the Indictment herein, whether or not the Government has used this evidence before the Grand Jury or intends to use it at the trial.

In support hereof the defendant says:

- 1) The documents are evidentiary and relevant.
- 2) The documents are not otherwise procurable by the defendant reasonably in advance of trial by the exercise of due diligence.
- 3) The production of these documents will not interfere with or in any way impede the Government's preparation for trial or presentation of its case.
- 4) The defendant cannot properly prepare for trial without such production and inspection in advance of trial, and the failure to obtain such inspection may tend to unreasonably delay the trial.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA
HENRY TAMELEO
RONALD CASSESSO

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, FOR DISCOVERY AND INSPECTION

Now comes the defendant, pursuant to Rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving same, moves this Honorable Court to order the United States Attorney to permit the defendant to inspect and copy or photograph

1) All statements or confessions made by the defendant which are written, recorded, have been copied or will be relied upon by the Government, or the existence of which is known by the Government, or by the exercise of due diligence may be found by the Government;

2) Results or reports of physical or mental examinations and of scientific tests or experiments made in connection with the particular case, or copies thereof, within the possession, custody or control of the Government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known to the Attorney for the Government; and

3) Recorded testimony of the defendant before a Grand Jury.

The defendant further moves this Honorable Court to order the United States Attorney to permit the defendant to inspect, copy, or photograph all books, papers, documents, tangible objects, buildings or places, or copies of portions thereof, which are within the possession, custody, control - or are within the knowledge of with an intent to rely upon - of the Government.

And the defendant further says that the foregoing requests are fair and reasonable and the information sought is necessary and material to the proper preparation of the defense.

Respectfully submitted,

By his attorney,

CRIMINAL NO. 67-193-F

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA
FOR RELIEF FROM PREJUDICIAL JOINDER OF DEFENDANTS

Now comes the defendant, pursuant to Rule 14 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, respectfully moves this Honorable Court to grant him relief from a prejudicial joinder of trial together with one Joseph Baron, named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant in Count One of the Indictment.

And the defendant further says:

- 1) The aforesaid Joseph Baron is also known as Joseph Barboza and Joe Barboza.
- 2) The aforesaid Joseph Baron (and under the aliases of Joseph Barboza and Joe Barboza) has received wide saturation-type publicity in the District of Massachusetts as a depraved killer.
- 3) The weight of the evidence and its inflammatory nature against the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, will have an unfair prejudicial effect upon the defendant.
- 4) The deliberate unfair and improper designation of the aforesaid Joseph Baron as a "co-conspirator but not a defendant" will result in allowing the prosecution to manipulate evidence to the prejudice of the defendant.

And the defendant further says that upon a hearing of this motion he will offer evidence and arguments in support of same.

Respectfully submitted

FOR INSPECTION OF GRAND JURY MINUTES

Now comes the defendant in the above entitled matter, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, moves this Honorable Court for an order allowing the defendant or his counsel to inspect the minutes of the Grand Jury on which said Indictment against the defendant was based, and for an order directing the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts to furnish and make available to the defendant a copy of the pertinent minutes of the Grand Jury which returned said Indictment.

And the defendant further says that upon a hearing of this motion he will offer evidence and arguments to show a particularized need for said minutes.

Now comes the defendant, Raymond Patriarca, in the above entitled indictment, and pursuant to Rule 14 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, moves this Honorable Court to order the Government to elect for trial one of the "certain offenses" charged in Count One of the indictment, namely, that the defendant did conspire to use interstate facilities with the intent to (a) "commit a crime of violence... on that the defendant did conspire to use interstate facilities to (b) "promote, manage, establish and carry on and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment and carrying on of an unlawful activity..."

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, TO DISMISS

Now comes the defendant in the above entitled indictment, and moves that the several counts contained therein be dismissed, and in support thereof says as follows:

- 1) Count One fails to set forth facts sufficient to set forth an offense.
- 2) Count Two fails to set forth facts sufficient to set forth an offense.
- 3) Count Three fails to set forth facts sufficient to set forth an offense.
- 4) The indictment herein was not returned until June 20, 1967, approximately twenty-four months after the date of the alleged offenses, that substantially all of the alleged material facts were known to the Government at or about the date of the alleged offenses, that the delay in informing the defendant of the charges against him was unnecessary, not in furtherance of any legitimate interest of the Government, and has resulted in extreme actual and inherent prejudice to the defendant's preparation of his defense.
- 5) The publicity attendant to the Grand Jury consideration of the matters leading to the indictment, arrest and arraignment of the defendant, and since the arraignment of the defendant was in a large part instigated, stimulated and maintained by agents and officers of the United States Government with the express result that the defendant will not be able to obtain a speedy trial untainted by the prejudice resulting from said publicity and to the detriment of having effective assistance of counsel.

In addition to the foregoing, the defendant further says that:

A) Count One of the indictment should be dismissed as duplicitous in that it alleges the commission of more than one offense.

B) Count One of the indictment should be dismissed in that its prosecution is based upon Title 18, Sect. 371, United States Code, that unconstitutionally permits a conspiracy prosecution in violation of the process of law.

C) Count One should be dismissed in that it improperly sets forth the status of one Joseph Baron as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant.

D) Count One of the indictment should be dismissed in that its allegations are vague, indefinite and uncertain to the extent of preventing the defendant from properly preparing his defense.

E) Count Two of the indictment should be dismissed in that its allegations are vague, indefinite and uncertain to the extent of preventing the defendant from properly preparing his defense.

F) Count Three of the indictment should be dismissed in that its allegations are vague, indefinite and uncertain to the extent of preventing the defendant from properly preparing his defense.

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, TO TRANSFER FROM THE DISTRICT OF MASSACHUSETTS FOR TRIAL

Now comes the defendant, pursuant to Rule 21 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly reserving the same, respectfully moves this Honorable Court to transfer the trial of this Indictment from the District of Massachusetts to some other less prejudiced District.

And the defendant further says:

1) That prior to arrest, indictment and arraignment, and since the time of arraignment, he has been the subject matter of adverse saturation-type publicity from all media of communication in and about the District of Massachusetts.

2) That said publicity has been engendered, instigated and maintained by officers and agents of the United States Government for the purpose, and with the probable attendant result, of unfairly and prejudicially influencing the prospective jurors in this District.

And the defendant further says that upon a hearing of this motion he will offer evidence and arguments in support of same.

INDICTMENT
CRIMINAL NO. 87-193 F

MOTION OF THE DEFENDANT, RAMOND PATRIARCA FOR BILL OF PARTICULARS

Now comes the defendant, Raymond Patriarca, in the above entitled Indictment, and says that the Counts therein are so incomplete, uncertain and vague that they fail to advise him with sufficient particularity of matters necessary to enable him to prepare his defense and to safeguard him from further prosecution for the same act or acts, and to inform him sufficiently of the nature and cause of the accusation and what he will have to meet upon the trial of this action, and that the said charges in said Counts are presented in language that will cause the defendant unfair and prejudicial surprise at the trial of the Indictment.

Wherefore, without waiving his Motion to Dismiss, but expressly insisting upon the same, the defendant moves that the Government be ordered to file and furnish the defendant with a written Bill of Particulars specifying the following:

AS TO COUNT ONE:

(1) The days and, to the extent possible, the times of day between June 15, 1965 and July 15, 1965 the defendant did

"knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree together . . ." with the co-defendants, Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassesso, and the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

2) A description of any act, acts or statements made by the defendant on the days between June 15, 1965 and July 15, 1965 that the Government intends to rely upon in support of its averment that the defendant did "knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree . . ." to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

3) A description of the place or places where the defendant is alleged to have performed acts or made statements which the Government intends to rely upon in support of its averment that the defendant did "knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree . . ." to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

4) The days and, to the extent possible, the time of day between June 15, 1965 and July 15, 1965 when the co-defendants Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassesso, and the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, are alleged to have performed acts or made statements which the Government intends to rely upon in support of its averment that the co-defendants and co-conspirator did "knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree . . ." to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

5) A description of the acts or statements made by the co-defendants, Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassesso, and the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, during the period between June 15, 1965 and July 15, 1965 that the Government intends to rely upon in support of its averment that the co-defendants and co-conspirator did "knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree . . ." to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

6) A description of the places where the co-defendants, Henry Tameleo and Ronald Cassesso, and the co-conspirator, Joseph Baxon, did perform acts or make statements that the Government intends to rely upon in support of its averment that the co-defendants and co-conspirator did "knowingly, willfully, and unlawfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree . . ." to commit the offense referred to in Count One of the Indictment.

7) A description of the locus and, if possible, the telephone number of the "telephone facilities" that the Government alleges would be used by the defendant, co-defendants or co-conspirator in pursuance of an intention to commit the offense referred to in Count One.

8) To the extent possible, a description of the locus of the "business enterprise involving gambling offenses" that the Government alleges in Count One was being furthered as the result of an "intent to commit a crime of violence".

9) To the extent possible, a description of the locus where the Government alleges the defendant, co-defendants or co-conspirator "would thereafter perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence" as referred to in Count One.

10) A designation by the Government of the individual the Government contends "would thereafter perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence" as referred to in Count One.

11) To the extent possible, a description of the locus where the Government contends the defendant, co-defendants and/or co-conspirator "would thereafter perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence" as referred to in Count One.

12) A description of the means by which the Government contends the defendant, co-defendants and/or co-conspirator "would thereafter perform and attempt to perform an act of committing a crime of violence" as referred to in Count One.

13) A description of the locus, giving the telephone number, if possible, in the District of Massachusetts, where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have had a telephone conversation with the defendant "on or about June 28, 1965".

14) A description of the locus, in the District of Massachusetts, where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have "conversed" with the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, "on or about June 28, 1965".

15) A description of the locus "in Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts", where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have met with the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso "on or about June 29, 1965".

16) A description of the locus in Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, where the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, and co-conspirator Joseph Baron, are alleged to have travelled from in going to Providence, Rhode Island "on or about June 29, 1965".

17) A description of the locus in Providence, Rhode Island, where the co-defendant, Henry Tameleo, and the defendant, Raymond Patriarca, are alleged to have met with co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, "on or about June 29, 1965".

18) A description of the locus of "a certain establishment" located in Providence, Rhode Island, that the defendant is alleged to have shown co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, "on or about June 29, 1965".

19) A description of the locus in Boston, in the District of Massachusetts, where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, are alleged to have travelled to "on or about June 29, 1965".

20) A description of the locus in Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have travelled from "on or about June 30, 1965".

21) A description of the locus in Providence, Rhode Island, where the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have met with the co-defendant, Henry Tameleo, "on or about June 30, 1965".

22) To the extent possible, the time of day the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have had a telephone conversation with the co-defendant, Henry Tameleo, "on or about June 28, 1965".

23) To the extent possible, the time of day the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, is alleged to have "conversed" with the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, "on or about June 28, 1965".

24) To the extent possible, the time of day the co-conspirator,

Joseph Baron, is alleged to have met with the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, "on or about June 29, 1965".

25) To the extent possible, the time of day the co-conspirator, Joseph Baron, and the co-defendant, Ronald Cassesso, are alleged to have travelled from Chelsea, in the District of Massachusetts, to Providence, Rhode Island "on or about June 29, 1965".

A conference was held this date between SAC JAMES L. HANDLEY, SAS [redacted] and U. S. ATTORNEY PAUL MARKHAM, Boston, Suffolk County District Attorney GARRET BYRNE and [redacted] Investigator for Mr. BYRNE regarding captioned matter. b6 b7C

According to BYRNE there is an immunity statute before the Massachusetts Legislature but upon checking, he ascertained it would not be voted upon for several weeks and, therefore, Attorney General RICHARDSON would not be in a position to grant BARON immunity. The statute in its present form does not allow either the district attorney or attorney general to offer immunity but this must come from the presiding justice. This is further reason why RICHARDSON would not be able to carry out any promises along this line.

Regarding the pardon, District Attorney BYRNE advised it would have to be acted upon by the Governor's Executive Council and the Governor, and all RICHARDSON could do would be to make the recommendation to the Governor.

RICHARDSON would be in a position to not prosecute the present cases pending against BARON but District Attorney BYRNE believed that RICHARDSON would be subject to severe criticism if such were done.

It was agreed that SAS [redacted] would recontact BARON this date and point out to him that the immunity statute has not been passed by the Massachusetts Legislature. It is believed that BARON, then realizing that the Attorney General is in no position to make any promises at this time, will contact his attorney and instruct him that he will not speak to anyone from the Attorney General's Office until such time as the immunity statute is passed and any promises could be carried out. b6 b7C

MASS District Attorney BYRNE contemplates bringing BARON before the grand jury on or about August 7, 1967, in connection with his testimony regarding the DE SEGLIO murder in which [redacted] and [redacted] were involved. b6 b7C

As of July 31, 1967, BARON has agreed to testify before this grand jury regarding the murder.

BS 166-629

BS 166-629 180P

District Attorney BYRNE feels that once he obtains an indictment against the above-named four individuals, he might possibly be able to revoke BARON's present sentence pending appeal to the Massachusetts Supreme Court [REDACTED]

BS 166-629 180P

U. S. Attorney MARKHAM advised he would contact the Department in an effort to determine the possibilities of having [REDACTED] transferred to a military installation, providing the above can be accomplished.

SAS [REDACTED] contacted [REDACTED] this date, after which [REDACTED] telephonically contacted Attorney [REDACTED] telling him that he had seen an article in this morning's newspaper reflecting that the immunity statute has not been passed through the Legislature and that until such time as it is passed, he did not desire to talk with Attorney General RICHARDSON or his representative. Attorney [REDACTED] agreed with [REDACTED] thoughts.

District Attorney BYRNE recontacted this date. He is making immediate plans to subpoena BARON to testify before Suffolk County Grand Jury concerning the DE SEGLIO murder.

Rebostel, 8/7/67.

On 8/10/67, the Supreme Judicial Court denied the request of GENNARO J. ANGIULO for bail and he is presently incarcerated at the Charles Street Jail, Boston, awaiting trial in Suffolk County.

On 8/9/67, JOSEPH BARON advised that Monday afternoon, 8/7/67, [redacted] visited him at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Mass., and relayed the information concerning what will be done for him if he does not testify against PATRIARCA and TAMELEO. (This information is set forth in retel).

BARON, after [redacted] had relayed this information, told [redacted] that he does not trust the word of these people and that putting money in escrow for him does not mean anything. He said he wants $25,000 given

ADMINISTRATIVE

On 6/22/67, JOE BARON advised SA's [redacted] and [redacted] that he had been in touch with Attorney [redacted] and that [redacted] had asked him to have the Agents contact him, and BARON said that he could be reached at telephone [redacted].

Atty. [redacted] was telephonically contacted on 6/26/67 by SA [redacted] and, by pre-arrangement, was thereafter met by SA's [redacted] in Dedham, Mass.

Atty. [redacted] advised that he is still attached to [redacted] law office and that [redacted] is listed as JOE BARON's Attorney, but he wanted the Agents to know that [redacted] is very close to HENRY TAMELEO, LOUIS GRIECO, and has practically assured these people that he can control JOE BARON and that BARON will not testify. MASS

Atty. [redacted] stated that he has been in contact with BARON and that he feels that BARON is positively going to testify and go "all the way" with the Government, but that BARON is trying to play a game with these people. He advised that BARON sends messages out, through [redacted] and through he, himself, [redacted]. He said that BARON had told him that he wanted these people to realize, namely, HENRY TAMELEO, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, JERRY ANGIULO, [redacted] and [redacted] that he was going to testify against them and put them all in jail. MASS

[redacted] said that BARON had told [redacted] to contact these people and tell these people to get him "bailed out" on the street and take care of his pending cases, and he will not testify against them.

[redacted] stated that BARON told him that if he was bailed out, "the office" would think he would go on the street, but that he wants to go with the Federal Government as a material witness and, regardless of what "the office" does for him, he still wants to testify against them.

BS 166-629
DMC:HPR:po'b

ADMINISTRATIVE (Continued)

He feels that he would like to double cross them for some of the double crosses that he has received from them.

[redacted] said that the fact that BARON keeps sending out messages to these people through [redacted] he feels, may hurt the trial, and he wanted the Agents to be aware of the fact that this might "muddy up the water."

[redacted] said that JOE BARON told [redacted] that he listened to tapes the FBI played for him of conversations that [redacted] had with HENRY TAMELEO, LOUIS GRIECO, and others. [redacted] advised that [redacted] since that time, has been checking out all his electrical wiring system in his office and has had him, [redacted] as well as [redacted] himself, conducting business in the hall outside of the office rather than in the office.

information:

During the period of January, 1965, to March, 1965, he was in charge of the Gambling Squad of the Rhode Island State Police; that he was aware of the investigation concerning the large-scale crap game being operated by WILLIAM MARFEO at the Veterans Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

During the night of the raid at this club he was detailed to handle the radio in the State Truck. After the Detectives gained entrance to this club via the window, he, [redacted] then rushed up to the second floor, at which time he assisted the other Troopers in the search of various individuals.

One of the persons searched by [redacted] was WILLIAM MARFEO, born October 10, 1922, who gave his address as 238 Waldo Street, Providence, Rhode Island. MARFEO's pockets were full of money. At this time he was told to empty his pockets, and he was ordered to count same, which he did, and the money amounted to $6,832.27.

This count was witnessed by Sergeant [redacted] of the Rhode Island State Police.

[redacted] stated that he had known WILLIAM MARFEO prior to this raid, and he was most certain that the person he searched and who had this money was actually WILLIAM MARFEO who was later killed in gangland fashion.

Detective [redacted] Rhode Island State Police, North Scituate, Rhode Island, furnished the following information:

b6

During January, 1965, a confidential informant advised WILLIAM MARFEO of Providence, Rhode Island, was conducting an organized crap game at the Veterans Social Club at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. The game was reported to be in progress several nights per week and the game was on the second floor. Access to the game was gained by ringing a buzzer at the outside entrance and then a lookout allows the player to enter by a mechanical locking device. The entrance to the second floor was heavily barricaded.

Lengthy surveillances were maintained and the above information furnished by the confidential informant was noted. It was also explained that by calling telephone number 621-1574 it could be determined if the crap game was to be operated on a certain night.

On March 3, 1965, information was received that a big crap game was in progress. A surveillance was conducted and known gamblers were observed entering this club, and all used the buzzer signal in order to gain entrance, and a lookout was observed in front of the window.

A call was made to telephone number 621-1574 and it was determined that a big crap game was in progress at this club.

On the basis of the above information a search warrant was obtained from Judge EDWARD PLUNKETT, Sixth District Court, Providence, Rhode Island, for this establishment.

Upon gaining entrance and prior to gaining entrance, a crap game was observed when three State Police Officers were in a boom type barrel of a truck that raised it to the second floor window of this club. These three Detectives, namely, Detectives [redacted] and Trooper [redacted], were in this boom type barrel and observed the gambling operation.

These same three men saw WILLIAM MARFEO on the right side of a pool table on which a crap game was conducted. MARFEO was observed to be passing players cards, picking up dice, and passing the dice to the other players around the table who would shoot the dice. MARFEO was also observed handling the money as it went on the table and he had a sum of money in his hands prior to the actual raid.

[redacted] stated that the following Detectives were part of this entire operation, from January, 1965, to the time of the raid in March, 1965:

Corporal [redacted]
Sergeant [redacted]
Detective [redacted]
Detective [redacted]
Detective [redacted]

1. Detectives assigned to check for a possible crap-game on either 373 or 391 Atwells Ave., Providence, R.I. A check of this location revealed that 373 Atwells Ave is listed to Andrezzi's Liquor Store, this is a two story building with the liquor store on the first floor.
2. 391 Atwells Ave. is listed to Smith's Inc., Liquor and there are several building in this block. The White Rock Tap is the other suspected location for this game, this is a three story building. The second floor of this building was in darkness throughout the surveillance. The third floor is apparently divided into two apartments, the front was in darkness and the rear appeared to be occupied by a family, clothes line, etc. observed.
3. Periodic checks were made at 373 Atwells Ave., second floor. The only windows that could be found to this building were in the front of the building and it was observed that there was a pool game going on. Several subjects could be seen walking in front of the windows with the cue sticks and going through the motions of a billiard game. At approximately 7:55 P.M. [Redacted] was observed exiting from R.I. Reg. A-673 and entering either the liquor store or the second floor. This car is registered to [Redacted] Providence, R.I. a 1964 Pontiac Tempest, dob [Redacted]
4. At 9:30 P.M. two male subjects were observed leaving R.I. Reg. [Redacted] registered to [Redacted]. These two men went to the doorway of the entrance to the second floor and the door was locked. Shortly after a buzzer was heard and the door opened and both men went upstairs.

HEADQUARTERS BARRACKS DETECTIVE DIVISION
MARCH 4TH, 1965

SUBJECT: Raid conducted at the Veterans Social Club, second floor, at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, in regards to a crap game.

TO : Lieutenant [redacted] Detective Division.

1. Last night at 10:15 P.M. Sergeant [redacted] Detectives [redacted] went to Hartford Avenue @ Killingly Street, Providence and met Trooper [redacted] who was waiting there with a State Department Service Truck (Cherry Picker).

Detective [redacted] took the wheel with Sergeant [redacted] handling the portable radio. Detectives [redacted] were assigned to one bucket with Trooper [redacted] assigned to the second which he was to operate the forklift from.

Detectives went to the Expressway off Hartford Avenue and at 11:05 P.M. were met by Lieutenants [redacted] who advised to proceed to Atwells Avenue, Providence to the vicinity of 375 and to await further radio instructions.

2. At approximately 11:15 P.M. Sergeant [redacted] received word via radio to start the operation with the truck. At this time Detective [redacted] drove the truck with Detectives [redacted] & [redacted] along with Trooper [redacted] in position in the buckets on the forklift.

At approximately 11:16 P.M. the truck was opposite the second window on the second floor of 375 Atwells Avenue. At this point Trooper [redacted] operated the fork lift and buckets to a position in front of this second window of the second floor. While approaching the window a subject later identified as [redacted] dob: [redacted] of [redacted] was observed by detectives in the buckets as peeking out the window. (this subject is the known lookout for the game).

At 11:19 P.M. Detective [redacted] smashed the window using one blow of the axe. - Detective [redacted] was the first inside, followed by Detective [redacted] and Trooper [redacted]

3. Once inside detectives observed WILLIAM MARFEO, DOB: 10-10-22 of 283 Waldo Street, Providence along with [redacted] DOB: [redacted] of [redacted] Providence and numerous other male subjects standing around a pool table located on the right center part of the room. A crap game was in progress at this time and once these subjects released that a raid was taking place ran from the table. Some of the subjects ran to the mens rooms, located at the far end of the room, while other subjects scattered throughout the room in various directions.

Detective [redacted] started hearing the subjects in the room while detective [redacted] took six subjects out of the two mens rooms. Trooper [redacted] at this time was opening a re-inforced iron door to allow other members of the detective division to enter. The entire division was in at approximately 11:20 P.M.

4. At this time detectives proceeded to obtain identification of the subjects present at the game and to take their traps. Trooper [redacted] retrieved dice from the toilet bowl in the in the second mens room, being the last room on the left off the main room on the second floor. Detectives then proceeded to remove the pool table from the second floor to the State truck used in the raid.

5. Upon arriving at Headquarters Detectives [redacted] assisted in taking statement from the following subjects arrested in the raid:

a. [redacted] dob [redacted]
b. [redacted] dob [redacted]
c. [redacted] dob [redacted]
d. [redacted] dob [redacted]
e. [redacted] dob [redacted]
f. [redacted] dob [redacted]

All subject gave statement but would admit to nothing in regards to playing dice themselves or implicating any other subjects in the game. Subjects [redacted] signed statement, [redacted] refused to sign after giving statement.

6. All subjects involved mugged & printed. Stand ups taking of all. BCI check in progress on all subjects. Pool table stored in big garage at rear of Scituate Barracks.

SUBJECT: Activity report regarding Dice Game Raid conducted at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, R.I., at 11:19 A.M. on March 3rd, 1963.

TO : Lt. [REDACTED]

Sgt. [REDACTED] was detailed to handle the radio (walkie talkie) in the State truck. We took our positions and had the test with the bucket at the street light just east of 375 Atwells Avenue. Lt. [REDACTED] was notified that we were ready, and we were advised to hold. We then received the word to roll and the truck was pulled into position in front of 375 Atwells Avenue, the buckets were at the second floor windows, they were broken and the men entered into the second floor.

I then went into the street door that was broken at a panel up the stairs to the second floor. I assisted in the search of the prisoners. When I came to William Marfeo DOB 10-10-22 who listed his address at 283 Waldo Street, Providence, R.I., I found his pockets filled with money.

He was taken to a table and he emptied his pockets and took the bills out. I ordered him to count it, I asked Sgt. [REDACTED] to sit with me and to witness this.

He counted $6,832.27 cents. Sgt. [REDACTED] and I then recounted the money and arrived at the same total $6,832.27. The money was put in a brown folder, recorded outside of same with his name and put in a box with the other prisoners money.

After this was done, I assisted in searching the building but it was negative, all the evidence had already been recorded.

[REDACTED] Sergeant.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON was asked if he knew a girl by the name of [redacted] who was with HENRY TAMELEO on June 20, 1967, when he was arrested by the FBI. b6 b7C

BARON advised that this girl's name was probably [redacted] and she resided in East Boston, Massachusetts. She has a couple of children and is now separated, or divorced, from her husband. He said that she is a "call girl" who operates for about $100 a night and that she has been in the company of HENRY TAMELEO on numerous occasions in the past. b6 b7C

BARON said that in reflecting upon the request of RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO to him to kill WILLIE MARFEO, he recalled that while he (BARON) was confined to the Charles Street Jail, Boston, that an inmate by the name of [redacted] (phonetic), who was from the Dorchester, Massachusetts, area, told him that he received information from a cellmate of a plot to kill BARON. He was told that the MARFEO brothers from Providence, Rhode Island, had been informed that he killed their brother, WILLIE MARFEO, and that they were up in this area trying to revenge their brother's death by killing him. b6 b7C was contacted at the Norfolk County Jail, Dedham, Massachusetts.

BARON advised that, of course, this was simply another false statement made by some member of "the office" to try to get him "whacked out" by the MARFEOS and take some "heat" away from them.

 advised that he had read the newspapers and had seen where HENRY TAMELIO, RAYMOND PATRIARCA, and RONALD CASSESSO had been arrested by the Federal Government for a conspiracy to murder WILLIE MARFEO. He said that he enjoyed seeing them being brought to court and that he hopes that he will be able to contribute to their being convicted at the trial. He advised that it would give him satisfaction for all the misery they have caused other people to see them serve some time in jail.

 stated that it really would make no difference to his life expectancy if he did or did not testify because he knows these people well enough to realize that they would kill him because of his association with JOE BARON, no matter what he did; and, at least, this way he feels "Justice is being done."

 advised that he had been locked up in isolation for three days down at the Deer Island House of Correction because had notified the authorities that his life was in danger. He said that those three days were very rough, physically, because of the "heat" and continual confinement. He advised that since he has arrived at Dedham, conditions have improved and the food is the best he has had in any institution so far, and he expects to be released into the general population in the near future.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts, with [redacted] Investigator, Suffolk County District Attorney's Office, and former Deputy Superintendent of the Boston Police Department.

[redacted] was introduced to JOSEPH BARON by SA [redacted]

[redacted] explained to BARON that he was a representative of District Attorney GARRETT BYRNE's office and BYRNE had instructed [redacted] to interview BARON relative to statements he had made to FBI Agents as to specific crimes committed within the jurisdiction of Suffolk County.

[redacted] explained that Mr. BYRNE had instructed him to inform BARON that whatever statement or information was given to [redacted] by BARON would be strictly voluntary on his part, and the District Attorney wanted BARON to understand that he would make no promises or commitments to him in connection with BARON's pending cases in exchange for information given.

BARON told [redacted] that he wanted to talk to him about the murder of ROCCO DI SEGLIO, whose body was found shot to death in his automobile in a remote wooded area in Topsfield, Massachusetts, near the Danvers line, June 16, 1966.

BARON said he wanted to talk about this case and wanted Mr. BYRNE to know about it. He gave [redacted] 10 pages of handwritten notes which he said he had prepared to show [redacted]. These notes contained BARON's description of the circumstances surrounding the motive and murder of ROCCO DI SEGLIO on June 15, 1966. At [redacted] request, he loaned the notes to [redacted]

BARON also made available a diagram which he had drawn, purporting to show the location of the DI SEGLIO murder in East Boston, near the gasoline tanks on Chelsea Street.

These notes which BARON made available to [redacted] involve the murder of DI SEGLIO by [redacted] and [redacted] on the instructions of JERRY ANGIULO.

BARON, thereafter, went into a lengthy and bitter harangue against Lieutenant [redacted] of the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office alleging that he, BARON, was framed by Lieutenant [redacted] in the gun possession case for which he is now serving time. BARON told [redacted] that he had first met ROCCO DI SEGLIO in a Friend Street gym sometime in 1960 or 1961, as BARON was doing some boxing and DI SEGLIO was a fighter. He said that he thought a lot of DI SEGLIO and felt that he was a "good kid."

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON wanted to know if it would be possible for him to be "bailed out" as a material witness and be held in some sort of custodial care. He made the comment that there will be attempts to kill him, probably by poisoning him, and he is up against a multi-million dollar combination and that JERRY ANGIULO and RAYMOND PATRIARCA had both put up a million dollars in a gambling casino in Las Vegas.

In response to questions by [redacted] BARON said he had been in the office of JERRY ANGIULO on Prince Street about 30 times and had seen [redacted] (whom he described as a shylock and bookie) there on a number of occasions.

BARON said that [redacted] with him in East Boston, should be very much afraid of what BARON could disclose relative to [redacted]

BARON, thereafter, talked at great length about the [redacted] stabbing for which he is presently under indictment, and about Lieutenant [redacted] intimidating witnesses. He said that Attorney [redacted] had a 12-page statement from girls relative to being paid money and promised trips by Lieutenant [redacted] and also had some kind of testimony from the Doorman at the Tiger's Tail, Revere, to the effect that this Doorman was offered inducements to testify by Lieutenant [redacted] and was ultimately thrown out of Lieutenant [redacted] office.

BARON said that Attorney [redacted] was trying to set up an appointment for Attorney [redacted] to visit BARON, but BARON said that he would not agree to them and he would "break up [redacted] if he ever showed up to interview him.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

At the time of initial contact with BARON, he was present with Attorney [] of Boston, Massachusetts. [] said that he was a personal friend of BARON and had been discussing the possibility with BARON of conducting a series of meetings with a so-called "top notch author" for the purpose of publishing a book based on BARON's life and experiences. [] agreed that he would discuss this situation with District Attorney GARRETT BYRNE of Suffolk County and United States Attorney PAUL MARKHAM.

BARON was advised that Detective [] was present for this interview and indicated that he knew Detective []

He proceeded to address most of his comments to Detective [] and talked about the case for which he is presently serving time, and that he believed that he was there serving the time on false testimony.

He also talked at length about the stabbing of [] for which he is presently under indictment and told [] he was not guilty of this offense and, thereafter, read a number of statements which his Attorney had obtained from people indicating his innocence.

BARON said that [] had invaded a home at Hamden County, Connecticut, sometime last year with [] and [] and pistol-whipped a woman in this house.

BARON said that he had learned from Attorney [] that Attorney [] was going to try to keep him from testifying.

In response to some questions from Detective [redacted] and [redacted] he said that DI SEGLIO was shot at the gas tanks at East Boston and it was possible that a .45 caliber weapon used in the murder may have been one of the guns hidden in the toilet at Chambi's Bar in East Boston. He said that both [redacted] and [redacted] had access to the place where the guns were concealed.

BARON reiterated that Detective [redacted] of East Boston could verify that he called him as to the location where DI SEGLIO's body could be found. BARON made the comment that LOUIS GRIECO of Revere had met with Attorney [redacted] and told [redacted] that they would take care of JOE's cases.

BARON said that [redacted] was also involved in the murder of [redacted] of Tyngsboro, Massachusetts, who had been the victim of a kidnaping and robbery. He said he also heard that the group of [redacted] and [redacted] were responsible for the murder of [redacted] whose body was found in Randolph, Massachusetts, during the Winter of 1967.

He also advised that in his conversation with [redacted] had told him that he had obtained $1500 from JERRY ANGIULO for putting the pressure on three guys who owed ANGIULO money.

[redacted] was contacted at the Norfolk County Jail, Dedham, Massachusetts.

[redacted] stated that since he was last contacted by the Agents, Sheriff [redacted] has refused to allow him to go into the general population and he has been kept by himself in a cell for 23½ hours a day. He said that his food is served to him underneath the door, "like an animal to be fed." He said that he definitely wants to get out in the general population or return to Deer Island, or go any place so that he can have some freedom.

[redacted] was told that he is a prisoner of Suffolk County and that this situation would be brought to the attention of District Attorney GARRETT BYRNE.

[redacted] said that he wanted to co-operate with authorities but that it did not seem right that he should be subjected to this type of solitary confinement and treatment as a consequence of co-operating with authorities.

JOSEPH BARON was interviewed at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

[redacted] showed BARON a photograph of an automobile found in Topsfield, Massachusetts, on June 16, 1967, containing the body of ROCCO DI SEGLIO. BARON identified the body of DI SEGLIO and also identified the Ford Thunderbird shown in the photograph as the same car that DI SEGLIO, [redacted] and [redacted] were in and in which they drove away the night of June 15, 1967. b6 b7C

BARON said that [redacted] had told him that the office would promise BARON everything to stop him from testifying. He said that [redacted] mentioned to him that Life Magazine might be interested in his disclosures and would pay a great deal of money for these. b6 b7C

He said that he was still greatly concerned that "the office" would go to all lengths to eliminate him and keep him from testifying and he was very concerned about the security at the jail between 12 midnight and 8:00 a.m. and wished that they would tighten the security up during those hours. He felt that his safety was in the most jeopardy during that particular shift.

He said that he had received a message from Attorney [redacted] who told him that he contacted [redacted] Bondsman, and he told [redacted] that BARON's bonds on his cases were discharged. b6 b7C

Re Boston airtel, 8/11/67.

During the evening hours of 8/11/67, Attorney [redacted] telephonically contacted SA [redacted]. [redacted] advised that he was disturbed over the fact that the USA would even consider that he could be a defendant in a OOI case in connection with this matter. He said that after being contacted by SAs [redacted] and the USA, he had consulted with some people. [redacted] gave the definite implication that he has been working under the guidance of Attorney General ELLIOT RICHARDSON for sometime and that Mr. RICHARDSON would visit USA MARKHAM at the Federal Building on Monday to discuss [redacted] situation with Mr. MARKHAM. He requested that Mr. MARKHAM be advised that the Attorney General would contact him on Monday. MARKHAM was so advised.

E

As the Bureau is aware, [redacted] has been in contact with JOSEPH BARRON, inasmuch as [redacted] is a law partner of [redacted] BARRON's Attorney of record. There have been indications in the past that [redacted] has been trying to have the Attorney General take over the BARRON matter, but in the course of the telephone conversation with [redacted] he gives the definite impression that he is acting under the Attorney General's guidance.

[redacted] admitted to meeting with LOUIS GRIECO and Attorney [redacted] on last Sunday night, and with GRIECO on last Monday night, but states TAMELEO was not present. He advised that there is no current threat to the life of [redacted] as after BARBOZA testified before the Suffolk County Grand Jury, it was obvious to these people that they could no longer negotiate with BARBOZA.

b7C

In short, [redacted] agreed to keep this office completely informed of any contacts from other members of the underworld in an effort to interfere with the federal or local prosecutions presently pending. He stated that if, at a later date, OOJ action was initiated from another source, such as BARBOZA, and he was summonsed as a witness, as an officer of the court he would be obliged to tell the truth and he would do so. As the Bureau is aware, BARBOZA is not of a mind to testify against [redacted] and would not testify against [redacted] until BARBOZA's physical situation has been changed.

b6
b7C

USA is holding in abeyance any OOJ action against [redacted] and GRIECO at this time. District Attorney BYRNE was advised of the above concerning [redacted] and stated he would not pick up [redacted] at the present time, as apparently there is no danger to his life, according to this source, and the Bureau will be kept advised.

DETAILS:

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 7/31/67

Lt. [] C Squad, Providence, Rhode Island Police Department, advised his squad handles all gambling and vice matters for the City of Providence, Rhode Island.

He furnished the following information:

In January and February, 1965, Sgt. [] and Detective [] members of his squad, conducted an investigation into the activities of WILLIAM "WILLIE" MARFEO in that information had been obtained that MARFEO was operating a "crap game" at a building located at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, particularly the second floor.

On the basis of the investigation conducted by these two officers, Detective [] prepared an affidavit in order to obtain a search warrant for the second floor of 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. This affidavit and search warrant were prepared to be executed on February 3, 1965.

The affidavit and search warrant were presented to Judge IRVING WINOGRAD of the Sixth District Court, Providence, Rhode Island, who refused to issue the search warrant and stated that this would be a trespass on private property as shown in the affidavit.

He stated his men attempted to show Judge WINOGRAD that a club is not private property; however, he refused to sign the search warrant.

Lt. [] stated that since Judge WINOGRAD would not sign the search warrant his department was unable to conduct its raid on the second floor of 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, where MARFEO was operating his crap game.

On 7/27/67 at Providence, Rhode Island File # Boston 166-629

by SA [] /gm 2 Date dictated 7/27/67

2.
BS 166-629

He said that either the same day or the next the Rhode Island State Police were able to obtain a search warrant for this establishment without the knowledge of his department and they raided this place.

He made available a copy of the affidavit and search warrant that had been prepared and which was not signed by Judge WINOGRAD.

It is as follows:

[COMPLAINT AND WARRANT TO SEARCH FOR GAMBLING INSTRUMENTS.]

To Irving Winograd, Justice, Carl Testa, Esq., Clerk of the District Court of the Sixth Judicial District, in the County of Providence, in the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

Howard A. Handwritten note: This warrant was not used for the purpose of searching for gambling instruments on subject named above. It was issued for the purpose of searching for the same.

March 1, 1965

Providence, R.I.

I, Detective Calicchia, an elector of the State of Rhode Island and Providence

Plantation on said date and says:

That I have reason to believe and do believe that within the building located at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island and more particularly the second floor, said second floor being occupied by a club known as the Veteran's Social Club and is being used as a common resort for gamblers for the purpose of gambling: said gambling being card and dice games. This building located at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island is a two story wooden frame with a brick front with a business establishment on the first floor and with fire escapes located on the east and west sides of the building.

The reason for so believing are founded on the following facts: That I have been a member of the Providence Police Department for ten years and I am presently assigned to the office of the C-Squad, so called, and during the course of my regular duties on February 10, 1965 I received information from a confidential informant whom I have previously found to be reliable that William Marfeo is using the second floor premises at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island to conduct card and dice games. The informant further told me that these games are held during the weekdays at night and on Sunday afternoons and that the men who play in the card and dice games park their cars some distance away and walk to the club and enter by-way of a back door on Atwells Avenue which leads to the second floor and the club.

My informant told me that on February 18, 1965 a dice game was to be held on the second floor premises and as a result of receiving this information I personally placed 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island under surveillance from 9:30p.m. until 2:15a.m. February 19, 1965 and during this period of time I saw nine men enter the building at 375 Atwells Avenue by-way of a front door color green and climb the stairs to the second floor. I recognized three of the men who entered the building as men who have previous police records relating to gambling offenses.

On March 2, 1965 I again met with my confidential informant and he told me that a dice game was to be held this night in the club on the second floor at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island the game to be started at about 9:00p.m.. I personally placed the location under surveillance from 8:30p.m. on until 10:30p.m. and during this time I observed eight men enter the building at 375 Atwells Avenue by way of a front door which I saw and I saw them climb the stairs to the second floor.

I again at about 10:45p.m. went to the building at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island and entered by way of the front door on Atwells Avenue and climbed the stairs to the second floor where I listened at the door at the head of the stairs and at this time I heard the voices coming from within the second floor and the following statements, "Come on nine, I'm laying thirty--twenty, who is laying, come six and three, Seven, four out next shooter". After hearing this I left the building and the area.

In my belief that dice and cards will be found in this second floor club at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

Subscribed and sworn to before me on this 3rd. day of February, 1965

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON said that he had written a letter "To Whom It May Concern" that he would like to have shown to United States Attorney PAUL MARKHAM and District Attorney GARRETT BYRNE. He said that he felt that enough concern was not being shown for his situation, and he was not so sure that he would testify if something was not done to improve his situation. He said that he feels that he is a "sitting duck" and could be easily killed in the Barnstable County Jail.

BARON said that through his Attorney, [redacted] he was given to understand that the Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts would pay him a visit and the Attorney General was going to give him a pardon on the case for which he is presently serving time, dispose of his two pending cases, and grant him immunity so that he could speak on six capital offenses. He said that he could talk on the murders of CARLTON EATON, JOSEPH FRANCIONE, ROMEO MARTIN, EDWARD DEEGAN, RAYMOND DI STASIO, and JOHN O'NEIL.

BARON said that he had not had any contact with the Attorney General's Office but that Attorney [redacted] indicated to him that he was in touch with the Attorney General and they were willing to do all these things and would even put this agreement in writing in a safety deposit box and turn over a key to BARON's attorney and one would be kept by the Attorney General.

In response to questioning from [redacted] BARON said that [redacted] had reversed his position and refused to testify because he had been reached by "the organization" and there was no question that a sum of money was probably turned over [redacted] He said that it was his understanding that BARON said that there is no question that [redacted] will be killed by "the organization," even if he does not cooperate and testify against them. He said that as they usually do, they will [redacted] some money and make all sorts of promises to [redacted] but will ultimately end up killing him.

There follows herein a copy of the letter which BARON requested be displayed to United States Attorney PAUL MARKHAM and Suffolk County District Attorney GARRETT BYRNE:

"To Whom It May Concern:

"Why is it that because of doing something nobody has dared to do am I being punished? You people spent hundreds of thousands of dollars checking on Raymond & came up lame. But I came forward 'not denying to help myself too' & for coming forward & putting my life in out & out danger, also having to run for the rest of my life with my family, I still from the same people I am working with have been put away so tight that I am being punished. I am here 24 hours a day with all kinds of pressure all alone. I might add too that I am like a sitting duck up here because I am not too hard to be

"had, in fact it is easy. But you people don't want to be bothered. The food at Walpole was 100 times better than here. I could [redacted] at Walpole for 2 1/2 hours. But because of the [redacted] for [redacted] for 1 hour that the rule allows. Because of maybe testifying & with all the newspaper talk I can't sell my house & if I do I lose 3 or 4 thousand dollars. The people [redacted] sit in my dining room worth $3,000.00 & make it their club house. An then after [redacted] to move to the Cape & the Feds would pay all expenses, now it can't be done. Every thing I have been promised in the start turned out to be lies. Ask [redacted] if I am guilty of the 4 to 5 years I am doing & the talk he heard all over the city concerning how I got framed. Also I haven't been promised anything were these cases are concerned. So I get a break, what 2, 3, 4 years where I'll either be killed or will kill to save myself. Maybe you'll put me again in isolation for protective custody alone again.

"I put my faith in you people, in the begining with all the promises that were made me. I showed my faith in you people, but not one single iota have you people lived up to. Except [redacted] Mr. Markham knows after [redacted] what trouble that has brought her! Well I am going to protect myself too. Because I know soon as trial times start you'll have agents down here for hours every day, & I'll go along with them. But whether I get on the stand is up to you people. ~~You~~ broke every promise you made me, caused me to be punished, let me stay here like a sitting duck, & so many other things.

"Remember this I was framed on this 4 to 5 I am doing, never even wanted [redacted] stabbed. So what favors are being done me? Sure I know, if I don't testify, you'll make sure I get buried for the rest of my life. But anytime in the Can might mean the end of my life, or life in prison because of helping you people. You people want help & people to come forward & testify against these people, but don't want to give nobody any incentive or hope. I don't know about other people? But where I [redacted] The way you people have played with my life. Yes played because like I said I am a sitting duck here, but you can chance it because it is my life not yours. Is this how your going to [redacted] I after it is all over? It is just in its basic stages now & you people have made me lose all faith in you. Well I've always been considered a cuckoo anyways, & believe me before I'll be used & played for a Mickey the dunce I'll refuse to testify. So give me 10, 20 years for perjury or contempt add it on to the 75 years I face! Then you can go on spending 100's of thousands of dollars checking out the office.

"You people read books & practice law, but I question your knowledge in human nature. You take everything away from me. Leave me alone with my thoughts, make me lose money on my house, punish me, [redacted] break promises & yet you expect me to testify because you have me fenced in. While some people you can do that with, & some you can't. I'll rip my nose off myself & spite myself. But before I'll be used like this, I will not testify. So put me in the can framed, & get somebody else.

5.

"I thought I could trust you people, & put faith in you, where I had lost faith in anybody & everybody except [redacted] But everybody wants something for nothing & cheap as possible.

b6
b7c

"My life is ruined, even if I was freed. Because I have to run all my life. I am no threat to the law in New England in or out because I'll be too busy running.

"I am up here alone & I am going stir crazy, with all this pressure more than I have ever known in my life. Now to add to it, I think I made a mistake with you people too, because of all the lies, & ways [redacted] & I have been treated.

b6
b7c

"You can put me in the Can for 75 years but who says I'll live 1 month out of the 75 years if I don't want to.

"I don't think I am asking for too much. But you people don't want to be bothered. Well neither do I!

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County Jail, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON was advised that he knows that Agents [redacted] have dealt with him in good faith and have never made any promises to him.

He said he realized that the FBI Agents have dealt with him in good faith but that nothing seems to appear being done for him and he is locked up in solitary confinement. The Marshals have [redacted] that [redacted] and then, at the last minute, said that there were [redacted] by which this could be arranged.

BARON was advised that in spite of what his lawyer had told him, the "Immunity Bill" had not been passed by the Massachusetts Legislature. BARON, thereafter, said that maybe there were some cases where he did not need immunity, where he could cooperate with Attorney General ELLIOT RICHARDSON and get more consideration from the Attorney General than he is now getting.

BARON, thereafter, used the telephone and called his lawyer, Attorney [redacted]. He told [redacted] that he understood that the Immunity Law had not even been passed. [redacted] said that he had only found out that day that the Immunity Law is still in the House of Representatives but that when it passes, they are going to put a special Preamble on it so that it will not take 90 days to go into effect.

BARON said that [redacted] told him that he would not bring the Attorney General down to see him at this time inasmuch as the Immunity Bill had not been passed.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County Jail, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

BARON was asked by [] if he would be ready and willing to testify before a Suffolk County Grand Jury on Tuesday relative to the murder of ROCCO DI SEGILIO.

BARON said that he had said previously that he would so testify and he was still ready and willing to do so.

BARON said that he is not getting any sleep at the jail until the early hours of the morning because he is afraid that someone could kill him from the front of the jail. He said he wondered if it was possible that some kind of a police car could be posted outside the jail between about nine at night and five in the morning, when he is in most danger. He said he realizes that the jail probably has a personnel problem but he is not able to get any sleep and would probably be in better condition if he felt there was some extra protection during the hours when he was most susceptible to being reached by "the organization" or some people working for "the organization."

He said that if JERRY ANGIULO is indicted as a result of his testimony before the Suffolk County Grand Jury, his life will be in more danger than it is right now.

JOSEPH BARON was contacted at the Barnstable County House of Correction, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

He said that Attorney [] had contacted him the previous day and [] told him that he had seen [] and [] told [] not to go up to Attorney [] office as [] had been looking for [] to kill him.

Detective [] mentioned to BARON the possibility of BARON furnishing information relative to the murder of EDWARD DEEGAN in March of 1965. BARON said that he would cooperate in regard to the DEEGAN matter but did not feel that he wanted to do so at this time. He said he did not know why the DEEGAN matter had to be pursued so abruptly as he, BARON, was going to be around for a long time and the DI SEGLIO murder still had to be tried.

BARON mentioned to [] that [] had blood on him when he was talked to by the Police the night that EDWARD DEEGAN was killed.

BARON said that he recalled that Attorney [] told him that [] had seen RAYMOND PATRIARCA and PATRIARCA told [] tell BARON that no one would bother [] and that BARON should come down and see PATRIARCA when he gets out of jail. He said that although [] told him that he saw PATRIARCA, he is convinced that he only spoke to him on the phone.

In response to a question from [] BARON said that he had talked to JERRY ANGIULO a number of times at the Dog House Restaurant at 96 Prince Street, Boston, and that [] are hanging around there all the time. He said he recalled that they have a bad check from [] hanging on the wall in there.

BARON said that Detectives [redacted] and his partner, one [redacted] would have seen him at JERRY ANGIULO's during the Summer of 1964 as RONNIE CASSESSA was having an argument in there with Detective [redacted]. He said that the Dog House has booths on the right hand side, a juke box, and a telephone on a beam and that ANGIULO has a clothes rack and a desk on the left hand side as you walk into the back room.

He said that he also had conversation with ANGIULO for about one hour outside the Pizza Regina in the North End, while ANGIULO was seated in his black Cadillac.

He said that Attorney [redacted] has been in the vicinity when he met with Attorney [redacted] but did not participate in any conversation.

He said he also recalls going to the Dog House Restaurant during the period of time when they had a police car parked practically outside the door during the afternoon hours. He said it was his recollection that he spoke to ANGIULO on Monday, June 13, 1967, in connection with his dealings with ANGIULO relative to "CHICO" AMICO being suspected of being involved in holdups of crap games.

BARON told Detective [redacted] that relative to the murder of EDWARD DEEGAN it was brought about for numerous reasons and said that DEEGAN was involved in "taking" a big bookmaker in Everett by the name of [redacted] for a large sum of money; that DEEGAN killed ANTHONY SACRAMONE; that he was affiliated with the [redacted] faction; and that he and [redacted] pulled guns out at the Ebb Tide and were "throwing their weight around" down there.

Attorney [redacted] asked BARON if he had ever received any money from HENRY TAMELEO, and BARON narrated that he had. He spoke about getting $100 a week from the Blue Bunny in Nantasket as a result of some people putting the pressure on the ownership there and he being hired to keep people from bothering the owner.

Attorney [redacted] asked BARON about his interviews with the FBI and how the MARFEO matter came into the discussions. BARON told [redacted] that he had discussed numerous things with the Agents the second time he was interviewed and, at that time, he brought up the fact that he had been asked by PATRIARCA and TAMELEO to kill MARFEO. b6 b7C

BARON was asked by Attorney [redacted] how he established the time that he was in contact with these people relative to the proposed murder of MARFEO, and he said it was his recollection that it was about the time that JIMMY FLEMMI was shot and after BARON had returned from Florida. b6 b7C

SGT.

DET.

February 10th. 1965 Received information that Willie Marfeo was contacting a dice game at the Veteran's Social Club, second floor, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. The informant stated that Willie Marfeo is running the games three nights a week and some weeks every night but Sunday nights.

February 11th. 1965 Placed surveillance at the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence and observed Willie Marfeo entering the club in the company of several known gamblers at about 8:30p.m.. At about 11:00p.m. went to the alley-way next to the club and could hear terms used in a dice game (eight's the point) (four the point) and many other terms could be heard. Observed Willie Marfeo leaving the club in the company of his brother Alfred Marfeo at 12:45a.m.. 2/12/65.

February 24th. 1965 While parked in private auto observed Willie Marfeo in Smith's Restaurant, Atwells Avenue, Providence in the company of known gamblers (dice players) and later while visiting the club observed Willie Marfeo in the club.

March 1st. 1965:

Went to the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence and after pushing the buzzer waited for several minutes before being admitted. The look-outs were on duty at one of the front windows and one at the top of the stairway. Willie Marfeo was standing around with about 30 male subjects. We had a short conversation with Willie as to the look-outs and the locked doors and then left the club. We returned to the alley way next to the club about an hour later and again heard the terms used in a dice game coming from the club. At about 1:20a.m., March 2nd. 1965 observed Willie Marfeo coming out of the club in the company of his brother Alfred Marfeo who locked the door as he left.

March 3rd. 1965:

Accompanied the State Police on a raid of the premises at 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Veteran's Social Club, at which time Willie Marfeo was charged by the State Police with having a Gambling Nuisance.

May 5th. 1965:

Received information that Willie Marfeo was again running a large dice game at the Veteran's Social Club, second floor, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence. After receiving this information placed surveillance at this location and observed about 20 male subjects leaving the club at about 1:30a.m., May 6th. 1965, Willie Marfeo was in this group.

May 14th. 1965:

At about 10:15p.m., went to the alley-way next to the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence and heard the conversation coming from the club, again. It was the terms used in a dice game. Went to the front door of the club rang the buzzer and after waiting several minutes was admitted to the club, found Willie Marfeo on the premises and about 25 male subjects all standing around the room. It was noted that the T.V. was off and two men were playing games, no money on the table for chips.

May 17th. 19th. & 21st. 1965:

On these dates had surveillance at the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence and observed a large number of known gamblers entering the club also observed that a look-out was seated in an auto that was parked in front of the club. In a window in the front of the building a look-out was seated in the window. Willie Marfeo was observed on each date in the club.

June 4th. 1965:

Upon checking the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence observed that Willie Marfeo was on the premises and a large number of known dice players were in the club with him. It was noted that the windows had new bars on them also the side windows had plywood with extra steel bars.

June 21st. 1965:

Received a telephone call that a dice game was taking place at Marfeo's Club (Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence) and that there was over $7,000.00 in the game. We went to this location and observed that a large number of cars were parked in front of the club and on the rear streets near the club. After ringing the buzzer and after several minutes wait we were admitted at which time it was noted that around a large table were a number of cigarette butts, showing that the group of men that were in the club made been standing around the table. The light was on over the table and one other small light was on. Willie Marfeo was on the premises.

June 30th. 1965:

Checked the Veteran's Social Club, 375 Atwells Avenue, Providence and found Willie Marfeo standing in front of the club, a short time later found the club locked with a look-out in the front window also a look-out seated in a car that was parked in front of the club.

In addition, he stated that the investigation was not discontinued because MARFEO had ceased operations, but rather because of the summertime when there were more people hanging around the streets, and investigation at this address was almost impossible due to the fact that both he and [redacted] were known to the majority of the people who hung around this area and who frequented the crap game being operated by MARFEO.

He said his information was that the crap game was in operation up until the time that MARFEO was killed on Atwell Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

He also stated that whenever he and [redacted] were observing the crap game of MARFEO, they noted many persons who were known as gamblers, going into the entrance leading to the Veterans Social Club, second floor, 375 Atwell Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. Some of the persons mentioned as known gamblers were listed as [redacted] [redacted] also known as "Browner". He could not recall the names of the others at this time but had a list of the names of the individuals observed going to this crap game, these individuals having been arrested for gambling violations.

Sergeant [redacted] said his investigations would have taken place between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and 12 midnight.

On July 13, 1966, immediately after receiving the report that WILLIAM MARFEO had been shot at the Korner Kitchen, he proceeded to this establishment and was the third police officer to arrive at the scene. He stated that Sergeant [] and Patrolman [] of the Uniform Department were there ahead of him, as they were the uniform men patrolling that area.

b6
b7C

He stated that he was the person that identified the person slumped in the telephone booth, and who was shot, was WILLIAM "WILLIE" MARFEO. He said that shortly after he arrived, a female doctor, [] from the Rhode Island Hospital appeared on the scene and requested that the body be removed from the telephone booth, as she was unable to examine the body in the position that it was in.

b6
b7C

Captain [] stated that, shortly thereafter, other Commanders from the Police Department, and Colonel [] of the Police Department arrived. He said some of the chairs were moved around at the time so that the body could be taken from the telephone booth. He recalled that MARFEO's body was taken to the Accident Room of the Rhode Island Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

b6
b7C

He stated that photographs were taken of the interior of the Korner Kitchen and were taken by Sergeant [] and Patrolman FRANCIS O'CONNOR of the Identification Division.

b6

He again stated that he made the identification of the person slumped in the telephone booth, and who had been shot, as being MARFEO. He said the two uniform men did not know who this person was.

Captain [redacted] stated that upon his arrival at the restaurant there was a large crowd outside of the establishment; that there were three people in the restaurant who were later interviewed. [redacted] [redacted] and a juke box was to the left of the telephone booth.

He also stated that Doctor [redacted] Pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital, Providence, Rhode Island, performed the autopsy on the body of MARFEO at the State Morgue. He also stated that Detective [redacted] was sent to the morgue while this autopsy took place.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 12/18/671

Sergeant [] Providence, Rhode Island, Police Department, made available the following information:

At about 11:45 a.m., July 13, 1966, he and Patrolman [] responded to the Korner Kitchen, 376 Atwells Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, in regard to a report that a man had been shot at this restaurant. He was advised that this incident may have happened at about 11:35 a.m., July 13, 1966. Upon arrival at this restaurant, a male was observed slumped in the telephone booth and appeared to be shot. The man was not known to him; however, he was later identified as WILLIAM MARFEO. This person was bleeding from wounds on his body and head.

The Rescue Squad of the Providence Fire Department and an ambulance from the Rhode Island Hospital were summoned.

Captain [] a member of the Detective Division, along with the Police Commanders and Colonel HOWARD FRANKLIN, Chief of Police, appeared on the scene.

He stated he had nothing to do with the investigation as it was taken over by Captain [] who was in charge of the Detective Division.

[redacted] advised she is presently a Resident Physician at the Rhode Island Hospital and, in July, 1966, was an Intern at this hospital.

She recalled that in July, 1966, she was on duty as an Intern when she responded to an ambulance call for Atwell Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island. She also recalled that she was taken to a restaurant where she met the Providence Police. She recalled that a man was slumped in a telephone booth on the floor; that she observed that this person was bleeding and that when she felt him, he still felt warm. She said she was unable to examine this person, adequately, and requested that he be removed from the telephone booth and placed on a stretcher, which was done.

When she examined the individual she felt that she may have heard a slight heart beat and instructed that he be placed in the ambulance and taken to the Rhode Island Hospital. While en route to the hospital, she gave this person cardiac massages, and this was continued for about 15 minutes. Upon arrival at the Accident Room of the hospital, the cardiac massages were still being given to this person; however, he did not respond and was pronounced dead. She did not recall the name of the Doctor that pronounced this person dead.

She stated she did not make out any Medical Report on this incident, but felt certain that a record would be maintained showing that this person was pronounced dead.

She said that when she arrived at the restaurant to examine this person, she had no idea who he might be, but she said that while they were in the ambulance, someone told her that this person was named WILLIAM MARFEO. She was unable to recall who had given her this name.

MASS JOSEPH BARON advised that on Friday, November 17, 1967, while meeting with Attorney [redacted] placed a telephone call to Attorney [redacted] and BARON spoke to [redacted]. He, BARON, felt that some harm might come to [redacted] as a result of [redacted] connections with "the organization," and he told [redacted] that if anything happened to [redacted] he, BARON, would hold [redacted] responsible.

He said that [redacted] in his usual way, squirmed and once more said that he was with BARON and would not do anything to hurt him.

BARON said that it was his feeling that [redacted] has really antagonized "the organization" by his association with BARON, and he is afraid that they may take some action to hurt [redacted].

BARON said that [redacted] Massachusetts, had been trying to instigate [redacted] to do away with BARON [redacted]. He said that [redacted] had done time for murder, was released and is presently under indictment for the murder of [redacted] in Middlesex County.

Attorney [] was interviewed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, Charlestown, Massachusetts, in a Bureau automobile, after having previously telephoned Special Agent [] at the Boston FBI Office.

[] advised that [] of convicted murderer, [] had contacted [] at his home one evening and asked to see him, as a friend of hers needed legal counsel. [] advised that he went out and met [] at the Domino Cafe in Dedham, Massachusetts, and that as he walked into the cafe and met [] one individual remarked to [] "I see you are in bad company."

He asked [] who those two people were, and she told him that one was [] who owns [] at the corner of [] Massachusetts, where [] is the bookmaker, and that the other individual was [] who is a bookmaker. [] said that she stops into this barroom on occasion to see her former husband, and [] asked her some questions about him. [] He wanted to know where [] lived and where his office was and how close she was to him.

[] advised that this bothered him because he feels that the Cosa Nostra is going to try to eventually kill him.

[] was told by the Agents that this possibility definitely does exist; that the fact that the trials are now close at hand and the first trial starts January 3, 1968, may cause these people to "make some startling move." [] was also told that it is believed that after JOE BARBOZA testified at a hearing and he evidenced how he handled himself on the stand, they may be more concerned over their ability to discredit BARBOZA and, therefore, it may be that they will be more inclined now to hurt []

[] indicated that with this "organization" now considering him as their enemy, he may as well testify federally if he can be of help to the government's case against RAYMOND PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO.

[] stated that he had met HENRY TAMELEO through [] and, with [] on May 21, 1967, they went to the Bayside Club and had dinner; that TAMELEO asked him why JOE BARBOZA would ever testify against him because he had been so close with BARBOZA and had always talked problems over with BARBOZA and gave him TAMELEO's advice.

[] said he read from his notebook the reasons why JOE was testifying and he enumerated to TAMELEO these reasons and that if he testified to the reasons that JOE was testifying, this would hurt the Cosa Nostra. TAMELEO told him that WILLIE MARFEO was running a game in Providence but that they had no trouble with MARFEO over this game and, as a matter of fact, MARFEO had come to him and RAYMOND PATRIARCA and offered them a piece of the game and they had turned it down.

[] advised that he could get his report that he filed immediately after the meeting with another agency and give an accurate account of what transpired at this meeting. [] was told that this would be brought to the attention of United States Attorney PAUL MARKHAM and the Agents would recontact []

[] was again cautioned to be extremely careful, for his life may be in danger.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 1/11/68

Attorney [] was interviewed in the office of the United States Attorney, PAUL F. MARKHAM, Boston, Massachusetts, and he advised as follows:

On or about July 11, 1967, he received a call from [] who asked him to meet him at Cottage Street in Everett, Massachusetts. He went to the designated spot and [] pulled up in an automobile, and with [] was HENRY TAMELEO. They drove to the Bayside Lounge, which is operated by a relative of []. TAMELEO asked "What is the story on JOE?" (meaning JOSEPH BARON). TAMELEO asked, "Why is BARON doing this to me?" He said he then read a message to TAMELEO wherein BARON had said that they were calling him a Portuguese (obscene), and trying to set up [] that he, BARON, knew who killed his friend, "CHICO" AMICO; that he also knew who was in the Nite Lite when they killed his friends, ARTHUR BRATSOS and THOMAS DE PRISCO; that BRATSOS had JOE BARON's money on him and they grabbed it and it was split up with [] and JERRY ANGIULO, each getting a piece. He narrated to TAMELEO a list of people that JOE said he was holding responsible for the murders of his friends in the Nite Lite.

TAMELEO told [] that he was not responsible for what happened in the Nite Lite, and he could not understand why JOE BARON would want to hurt him and RAYMOND PATRIARCA. TAMELEO said that BARON was his friend and used to discuss problems with him.

TAMELEO thereafter said that WILLIE MARFEO was a gambler and had a card game going in Providence, Rhode Island. MARFEO had even offered TAMELEO and PATRIARCA a piece of this game but they refused and had no objection to his running the game.

TAMELEO said that he had nothing to do with the killing of WILLIE MARFEO. He then asked [] what evidence the government had in his, TAMELEO's, case.

Statement of [redacted] in the presence of Detective [redacted]
Sgt. [redacted] Detective [redacted] Suffolk County District Attorney's Office, special agents [redacted] and [redacted]
Office of the F. B. I.

Q. Now, [redacted] I'm going to ask you a few questions here and then I'll let you relate your story. First of all, give me your full name.

b6
b7C
b7D

A. [redacted]

Q. And are you presently a prisoner assigned to this institution?

A. Yes.

Q. And you were sentenced out of [redacted]
Court, is that correct?

A. Yes.

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Now, [redacted] did a series of incidents take place in which you were involved at the Massachusetts Correctional Institute at [redacted] in the early part of September?

A. Yes.

Q. Please relate, in your own words, what took place, who approached you, what was said to you and the result of those conversations?

A. About the first part of November, I was approached by [redacted]

[redacted] and asked if I would consider [redacted] that was [redacted] and that someone [redacted] and I was told at this time to think it over. About two days

b6
b7C
b7D

later, I was approached by the same person and asked the same question and I was told that my background was checked out and I was suited to this job, saying that [redacted]

I couldn't get too much more time out of it and said it was [redacted] to do this. Then around Thanksgiving sometime, I told [redacted] and he contacted F. B. I. Agent [redacted] and told him the story as far as I was approached and he told me I should get in touch with Agents [redacted] I saw them around the ninth of December in the Motel way back [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Was this [redacted] set up by the Department of Correction?

A. Yes. It was set up for this meeting with the F. B. I.

Q. That was the purpose of it?

A. Right.

Q. Not that you had anything mentally wrong with you?

A. No.

Q. Continue.

A. When I saw the two agents I talked to them and told them what the story was and that I had been offered this money and that I was supposed to [redacted]

I told them that [redacted] who was indicted for [redacted] and about my talks with [redacted] and that after my talks with the F. B. I. Agents he told me to go along with it. So I approached [redacted] me that I would get [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

and told everything about the crime, what had happened, where it happened, what had happened, what I did and what I didn't do, the whole story. But, I was also told at this time that the money I was supposed to get [redacted]

b7C

[redacted] who

[redacted]
[redacted] so it was kind of a stalemate. Now, at the Motel, I went into it completely what I knew about the alleged crime, what I had been told, which wasn't much, and I was told by [redacted] and that I would relate it to them by some way. They didn't have a way worked out yet.

Q. Now [redacted] who was present with you when you had these conversations at [redacted]

A. [redacted]

Q. Do you know [redacted] by any other name?

A. [redacted]

Q. Do you know [redacted] by any other name?

A. [redacted]

Q. [redacted] who is doing a sentence in [redacted]
[redacted]

A. Yes.

Q. Is that correct?

A. Yes. Right.

Q. Where did these conversations take place in [redacted]

A. They took place in two different places. One was in the [redacted] and one was in [redacted]

Q. What was [redacted]

A. [redacted]

Q. Were you in a special room there? Describe what part of the building you were in?

A. It's in [redacted] has an office. He's the [redacted] and he has an office there.

Q. When you say [redacted] what does that mean? b6 b7C b7D

A. Well, he's the [redacted] and [redacted] the group.

Q. And the second conversation took place in another room?

A. In another building.

Q. How did you happen to get to that building?

A. Walked. Well, I was told to.

Q. Who told you?

A. [redacted] b6 b7C

Q. [redacted] told you to go to this room in another building?

A. Yes.

Q. When you got to the room who was there?

A. [redacted] and myself. b6 b7C

Q. That's it?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was the conversation that took place this time?

A. That was

Q. [redacted] going back to the first conversation you had [redacted] [redacted] would you tell us the conversation that took place at that time, between you and these three people and who said what to whom? b6 b7C b7D

A. There wasn't three people there at that time there was just [redacted] and myself.

Q. Alright, what did [redacted] say to you? b6 b7C b7D

A. He asked me the same thing [redacted] asked me, if I would be interested and I said that maybe, if the price was right and he told [redacted] that he had talked with [redacted] a guy I know

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] and he squared away my background, I needn't go into detail, and the financial arrangements that he would make concerning things I had to do, and he assured me that everything would be done for me financially and that when a new administration or a new change came into being in the Commonwealth, that they would do anything and everything

[redacted] They know

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. You mentioned a change in the administration of the parole Board?

A. Yes. That's what I mean. He told me that if I decided to take this thing that [redacted] When I say [redacted] I mean that I would [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] because [redacted] and he reassured me it would be a real good move for me because I was [redacted] and I could [redacted] and I could.

Q. Well, at that time you agreed then to go along with their plans?

A. Yes.

Q. Did anybody else come to that office while you were there?

Did anybody see you in the office with him?

A. Probably. I don't recall.

Q. Do you know whether or not any guards saw you in that office with him?

A. I don't think so. One of the reasons that we went there was because [redacted] just [redacted] and he is [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Who is the [redacted] Part of the Administration

Personnel?

A. Right.

Q. When you entered the building, did you have to check in with anybody?

A. No.

Q. Do you have a system of passes at [redacted] where you need a pass to go from one section to another?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Not so much to go . . . [redacted]

Q. What job did you have?

A. I worked in [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. [redacted]

A. Yes.

Q. You don't require a pass to go from one part of the institution to another?

A. [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. And you went to [redacted]

A. Yes.

Q. What happened after you left his office?

A. I went home.

Q. You went back to your particular section in the Institute?

A. My barracks, right.

Q. When were you next contacted and by whom?

A. I was being contacted off and on by [redacted] about . . .

[redacted] at the time was [redacted] and

b6
b7C
b7D

I was being contacted every day because I saw him every day.

Q. Do you know what [redacted]

A. [redacted]

Q. That [] can be confirmed because I happen to know that he was confined, supposedly [] of some kind. When did you last have a meeting with the three people, parties, involved?

b7D

A. That was after I saw []

Q. That would be sometime after December. [] this meeting that you had with [] did it take place before you met with Agents [] on []

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember how soon before that?

A. About four days.

Q. So it would be sometime on or about []

A. Right.

Q. And this meeting took place, would you tell us again where?

A. This took place, I don't know [] but it took place []

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Were any of these principals housed in that unit?

A. [] was.

Q. Would you tell us now, when you first arrived at this unit, who was present when you arrived, and were all three principals there?

A. Yes.

Q. Who initiated the conversation?

A. It was already going on when I came in and they talked to me about

Q. You say they talked to you, who spoke to you first?

A. [] about had I made the decision, what was it going to be. I said yes and this was only talk about

b7D

the money and when they told me that [REDACTED]

Q. This is the word he used?

b7D

A. Yeah. [REDACTED] And then [REDACTED] and they [REDACTED]

Q. To be [REDACTED] what did you take that to mean?

A. That it would be [REDACTED] of my testimony in Court.

Q. Now, during the preliminary stages of this, when they asked you...., did they ask you if you would testify in Court after [REDACTED] did they ask you that?

b7D

A. Well, yes, this is what I was going to do.

Q. This is important. They asked you if you would testify falsely and you would, [REDACTED] as they put it, in the details of [REDACTED]

A. Yes.

Q. Did you at sometime prior to meeting them, learn that [REDACTED] among others, was indicted for [REDACTED]

b7D

A. Yes.

Q. Now, will you please continue with the conversation between you [REDACTED]

A. Well, it was just that I wasn't too happy with it, and I told him that this money that we were talking about was, all of a sudden, you know, [REDACTED]

b7D

[REDACTED] He said that there was too much at stake and that they weren't going to foul me up because I could in turn foul them up. I had no worries about that, all his dealings would be honorable. That was the extent of it.

Q. Was there a conversation that took place between [] and yourself at this time?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Well, we were all talking, you know what I mean.

Q. Was there a conversation between you and [] at this time, if so, what did he say to you?

A. [] volunteered [] which I can't remember in Boston to [] I said no. [] said, well would you want me to put it in to [] who is [] you know, and I said definitely not that it would stay there. And then [] was another Attorney that I didn't know, I didn't want this money to go to. I wanted [] He wasn't satisfactory [] and then I mentioned [] an attorney that I know and he [] So it was kind of like a stalemate and nothing was solved, it was left hanging up in the air. And it was definitely going to [] he was not going to get it.

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Now, did [] enter this conversation at some time?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes, he wanted to know, the question wasn't directed to anybody, at [] how he wanted to know who impressed this guy, meaning me ...

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Was [] sitting down now or was he pacing back and forth?

A. No. He was sitting down. In the meantime they told him, I don't know if this was for my benefit or not, they told him

[] he was going to have to

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. On what case?

A. On the . . . I can't even thing of the . . . name.

Q. Just take your time?

A. On . . .

Q. Does the name DeSiglia ring a bell to you? Did they mention the name of a case?

A. Yes.. Jerry Angiulo.

Q. The Jerry Angiulo case? Do you know, do you remember who said that to [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

A. [redacted]

Q. [redacted] that he would have to get somebody [redacted] or did he give him an alternative?

A. He said, well [redacted] said it, where the hell will we get someone to pick up, you know, you just don't find people like this every day, meaning [redacted] I guess, but

[redacted]

[redacted] And at this point of the

b6
b7C
b7D

conversation, [redacted] I mean out

[redacted] and, you know, saying that he is not going to do it, he took a

[redacted]

b6
b7C

said you guys are crazy, [redacted] you know, this is the type of conversation that was going on. He was racing back and forth and he said he [redacted] and he was promised that he was [redacted]

b6
b7C

and he [redacted] and he was really carrying on. He really looked like he was affected by it, but, like I said,

I don't know if it was for my benefit or not. It looked real to me, I don't think he could be that good of an actor.

Q. Now, did one of the three tell you how his story was going to be, this [redacted] was going to be brought to the attention of the officials?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes, [redacted] when I was talking to him, I said to him if I did take this one, how would I go about confessing to it, you know, I'm in the can and everything and he said not to worry about that because what most likely would happen would be that [redacted]

[redacted] that while there was b7D no one indicted for this thing it wasn't bothering me, it was just something that I got away with, but now that there was [redacted] and that I b7D would talk to the, assuming that [redacted] [redacted] that that's how it would be brought out.

Q. Was there any talk about the [redacted] and the warden would notify the District Attorney's office?

b7D

A. No. But it was just right, you know, I would have to do that right? That would be the course of action I would have to take.

Q. Was there a further conversation between [redacted] and [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yeah. [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] just said like, put up his hand and said like he didn't care one way or the other he just delivered the message and, you know, take it for what it's worth.

Q. Did the conversation end at that point or was there anything else said?

A. I can't say if it ended right there, but there was nothing more of any consequence, like I say, you would have to see it to believe it. He was running around like a madman.

Q. Now, at a later date, namely [redacted] did you relate this information to Agents [redacted] of the F.B.I.?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes I did.

Q. And where did that take place?

A. In a motel on the way back from prison.

Q. Now, did something happen to you after your return to the Institute at [redacted]

A. Yeah, when I came back on Saturday with . . . my trip to [redacted] but it seemed to pass over alright [redacted] Then Sunday I had to meet with [redacted] and he told me that he had somebody he wanted me to make a hit on.

b7D

Q. Where did you meet him?

A. We went [redacted] but then we left [redacted]

b7D

Q. Where did you have the conversation with him?

A. We took a walk, one walk around the quad.

Q. So while walking around the area he asked you to make a hit on somebody?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he mention a name?

A. Yes. [redacted]

Q. [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes.

Q. And what did [redacted] say?

A. I said what do you want me to make a hit for, I'm going to do this other thing, how many murders do you want me to commit for you. Just by confersing to one, it's like committing one and he said this would be no problem, what's the difference if you're in for one or if you're in for four and that this hit wouldn't be . . . actually it's not like you're using a gun or anything cause we're in jail, but it would be easy becuae thisguy, this [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. [redacted] right?

A. Right.

Q. Is this while you were [redacted]

A. No. They would [redacted] at his house and, you know, on

b7D

[redacted] that's in there. [redacted] so he wouldn't know [redacted]

Q. What took place after that?

A. Well, I told him I wasn't really wild about it and he said it had to be Wednesday, and he said, you know, I knew myself that I wasn't going to do it but now I didn't know what I was going to do so that was Sunday and then we went into Monday [redacted] who I am not going to name, told me I should watch out on this hit because it was going to backfire and then I asked this guy what do you mean backfire, you know, he said just watch out because you're going to probably end up, wind up, the guy that's hit so, you know, I thought about this and what he was saying . . .

and I went back to my house and there [redacted] b7C

[redacted] you know, [redacted]

[redacted] as far as I'm concerned, calls me over to his room, I go over and he takes a swipe at me with a knife. So, we had a little tussle. I took the knife away and I left the house. I took a walk around the quad, got rid of the knife and I went for some stitches.

Q. As a result of this swipe of the knife, were you injured?

A. Yeah. I just got a scratch along my stomach.

Q. The scratch, is that the six inch scar that's on your stomach at the present time?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know what they call [redacted]

b6
b7C

A. Yeah, [redacted]

Q. Now, you say you went to [redacted] and did you ask him to do something?

A. Yes. I told him that . . . I told him that I wanted to talk to [redacted] and he said he'd call and this was up at the main office building. So, I left and then I bumped into the same fellow again that told me previously to watch out,

b6
b7C

[redacted] and b7D

I figured there's got to be something to this so I grabbed an officer. That was one of the ones who transported us down

[redacted] that I want to see b6
b7C
b7D

him and I want to get out of population, and he did.

Q. At that time you were placed in isolation?

A. Yeah, right.

Q. Now, [] while you were in isolation, did you receive a newspaper? The []

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yeah, right. I received it every day.

Q. Now, was there some kind of message on it?

A. Yes, on this particular paper.

Q. What did it say?

A. In red pencil, it looks like it said "Your next" and [] and then it's printed and like it's circled in red. Then it's on the obituary page, the part that says obituaries, it's printed.

b6
b7C
b7D

Q. Who was []

A. She's a friend of mine, you know, a close friend of mine.

Q. What, if anything, took place after that?

A. Well, then I sent my cloths to the laundry, and when they came back, on my shorts and T-shirts, they were all ripped and I got a white sweat shirt back that had written rat all over it, you know, all over the front and back.

Q. Printed?

A. Right, yeah.

Q. Then, subsequently, what happened?

A. I came down here.

Q. Did you meet Agents [] again after that?

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Oh yeah, I talked to [] and I talked to [] in fact, I talked like almost every day telling him that I wanted to see [] because these were the two men I talked to in the first place and I trusted both so they finally came down to see me and I told them what had happened like I said here. They told me the reason that they hadn't come down was because they wanted to make sure that they wouldn't foul me up any more than I was fouled up and I assured them that I was at that point now that nothing worse could happen to me and they made arrangements with me you know, [redacted] so I could come down here and talk to you. b6 b7C

Q. At that time you requested a transfer from the population at Norfolk?

A. Well, I was out of the population but I requested . . .

Q. Out of the institution at Norfolk to a safer place?

A. Right.

Q. And, as a result of that request, you are now in [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

A. Yes.

Q. Now, has this statement been given by you of your own free will?

A. Yes it has.

Q. There's been no threats by the people present here?

A. No.

Q. And any promises or rewards offered to you?

A. No.

He is assigned to the Federal Hill area of Providence with Detective [redacted]. He recalled that about March 3, 1965, he was ordered, along with Detective [redacted] to go to RAYMOND PATRIARCA's place of business, 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, and ask PATRIARCA if he would contact Captain [redacted] Providence Police Department. He carried out this order and recalled that PATRIARCA contacted Captain [redacted].

A few weeks subsequent to June 9, 1965, he, in the company of Detective [redacted] contacted RAYMOND PATRIARCA at 168 Atwells Avenue, Providence, at which time they told PATRIARCA they were aware of a "beef" between PATRIARCA and HENRY TAMELEO with WILLIE MARFEO. He and [redacted] told PATRIARCA that they did not want any harm to come to WILLIE MARFEO because of this "beef" as they wanted conditions to remain quiet on the Hill.

Date January 24, 1968

Captain [] Detective Division, Police Department, Providence, Rhode Island, furnished the following information:

Detectives [] and [] of his division are assigned to the Federal Hill area of Providence, in which area the headquarters of RAYMOND PATRIARCA at 168 Atwells Avenue are located and were so located during 1965.

He recalled that he ordered Detectives [] to see RAYMOND PATRIARCA the day after the Rhode Island State Police raided the crap game of WILLIE MARFEO on March 3, 1965, which raid took place on Atwells Avenue, Providence. He had instructed [] to contact PATRIARCA at 168 Atwells Avenue and tell the latter that he [] wanted to see him.

RAYMOND PATRIARCA thereafter contacted him and in the presence of Lieutenant [] Detective Division, Providence Police Department, he talked to PATRIARCA. During this conversation, he said to PATRIARCA, "Tell WILLIE to shut that game down or if he does not, I will move more men up to the Hill than you have ever seen." PATRIARCA then responded to him, "I've already told WILLIE to shut down but he is a fresh bastard. I can't control him. I want nothing to do with him because he may say something and I'll have to do something about it."

Boston Attorney [redacted] who was victim of bombing, interviewed as a result of his request by Boston Agents. He requested that Agents advise local police of his involvement with Joe Baron who was developed by Boston as a witness against representatives of the New England La Cosa Nostra in cases involving murder and gambling. [redacted] has represented Baron and cooperated with the Bureau. He advised, however, that he does not want to talk to local police concerning possible testimony in bombing matter. Liaison being maintained with local authorities heading bombing investigation.

Attorney [redacted] was interviewed at his office, 1 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

[redacted] was asked if he would explain any negotiations he has had with JOSEPH BARON relative to BARON providing material for a book.

[redacted] said that he met JOSEPH BARON through BARON's [redacted] years ago. BARON's [redacted] and he was doing some [redacted] for them. A few years ago BARON changed his name from BARBOZA to BARON, [redacted] BARON in this matter.

Sometime in 1966, when JOSEPH BARON was confined at the Suffolk County House of Correction at Deer Island, Winthrop, Massachusetts, [redacted] came to see Attorney [redacted] on some matter. [redacted] told [redacted] that he thought that [redacted] JOE would have fantastic information for material for a book, and [redacted] at that time, was considering a novel. Thereafter, [redacted] saw JOSEPH BARON when BARON was in Suffolk County Court to be tried with [redacted] and [redacted]. He told BARON at that time that he felt he could provide information for a fictional book, but no agreements were made, and he next saw BARON at the Barnstable County House of Correction in Barnstable, Massachusetts.

He has not signed any contract on behalf of BARON with any publishing company, nor does he have any kind of a signed contract with BARON himself. He [redacted] has never been offered so much as five cents for any written material provided with BARON as the source of this material. He [redacted] talked with several people in New York about the possibilities of a book, and even wrote to TRUMAN CAPOTE in this regard. He never heard back from CAPOTE.

Some individual, whom he cannot recall, telephoned him and indicated that he was an agent for CAPOTE, but that there was never any offer of money made, nor was he sure that this individual actually represented CAPOTE.

[] said that he had an oral agreement with JOSEPH BARON, Attorney [] and [] of the "Boston Record-American" that they would share in the proceeds from any material that was written based on the information provided by JOSEPH BARON. [] indicated that this was contingent upon BARON furnishing the information to [] and that if they were able to receive any monetary compensation for these efforts, it would be divided amongst the four of them. b6 b7C

[] was asked if he had been approached by any defense counsels for any of the defendants in trials in which BARON has been or is expected to be a witness. b6 b7C

He said that he had not been approached by any defense counsels. He did say, however, that he did get a telephone call on one occasion from an individual that he did not want to identify, but who was not an underworld character. This individual told [] that he understood he, [] was going down to see JOSEPH BARON. [] immediately shut the individual off and did not pursue the conversation because he felt that it may be leading up to asking him to use his influence with BARON, and he did not want to get involved in this type of activity. b6 b7C

[] advised that there is no one presently writing a book. There has only been speculation concerning the possibility of writing a book, and this would only be further explored after the culmination of the pending trials. b6 b7C

At 5:14 p.m., January 30, 1968, [redacted] Attorney for JOSEPH BARON, was critically injured as an explosion occurred when he attempted to start his parked car in Everett, Massachusetts. [redacted] was brought to the Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, Massachusetts. His right leg was amputated below the knee, and it was the opinion of Doctors at that time that he would survive the explosion.

On February 2, 1968, on a motion of the defense, in the United States District Court, Boston, Massachusetts, Judge FRANCIS FORD granted a continuance of the trial in this case until March 4, 1968. The basis for the motion was the publicity in connection with the bombing of Attorney [redacted]

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 2/12/68

[redacted] was interviewed at the Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, Massachusetts.

[redacted] indicated that he had arrived at his law office, Broadway, Everett, shortly before noontime on January 30, 1968, and parked his car on Mansfield Street, adjacent to the Catholic Church and on the same side of the street as the church in Everett.

[redacted] said that he normally parks in a parking lot near his law office, and this lot was full.

[redacted] stated that he left his office at 5:15 p.m., January 30, 1968, and as he entered his automobile and inserted the key in the ignition, there was a tremendous explosion, and he ended up on the street with both legs severely damaged.

[redacted] was despondent over the fact that his right leg had been amputated just below the knee and was concerned about whether or not he would eventually have to lose his left leg, also. [redacted] wanted to know how JOE BARBOZA had taken the news.

[redacted] said that he did not notice anyone following him or on the street when he left his car or when he returned to his car.

[redacted] stated that he asked for Agent [redacted] when the police arrived because he did not want to get involved trying to explain to the local police all the ramifications concerning him being of assistance to the federal authorities and being a witness, later, in Suffolk Superior Court, and he wanted the FBI to advise the local police of his relationship with the Suffolk County authorities and with the FBI.

Attorney [redacted] was contacted at the Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, Massachusetts, during the evening hours. [redacted] was contacted in response to a telephone call which he had placed to Agent [redacted] asking that he be contacted at the Whidden Memorial Hospital.

Attorney [redacted] was, at the time of this contact, in surgery after having just been seriously injured by a dynamite blast in his automobile after having left the [redacted]

At the outset of this contact, Attorney [redacted] was advised by Special Agent [redacted] that being a practicing criminal lawyer for many years in this area, he was well aware of the fact that he did not have to talk to the FBI if he did not wish to do so and that anything he said could be used against him in a court of law. Attorney [redacted] said that if he did not want to talk to the FBI, he never would have called Agent [redacted] and asked him to contact him at the Whidden Memorial Hospital.

At the outset of the interview, [redacted] was saying that he was fortunate that he was dynamited in his automobile, rather than [redacted] and that he could very well [redacted] some female employee. [redacted] might also have been in the car with [redacted]. He said he was greatly concerned over this bombing and had been very careful himself of late. He said that he did recall that on one Sunday morning there was a suspicious car on his street.

[redacted] was told that the FBI does not have jurisdiction in the matter of this bombing and would not have jurisdiction over any attempt on his life. What the FBI is interested in is when [redacted] had last seen HENRY TAMELIO.

[] stated that it was a long time ago since he had seen HENRY TAMELEO and that this car that was parked on his street was occupied by an individual who identified himself as [] connected with a Simmons Detective Agency.

[] was told that any information concerning any suspicions of his regarding cars parked in his neighborhood should be turned over to the proper local authorities.

[] was then asked if he can estimate how long it was since he had last talked to HENRY TAMELEO, and [] said it was a long time ago, and he could not recall definitely when. He said that he had also talked to Captain [] at the Lynn, Massachusetts, Police Department about another suspicious automobile that had been seen in the vicinity of his home and reported to him by a neighbor.

He was told that that was fine, but when had he last talked to HENRY TAMELEO, and he said, "Oh, it was months ago."

He was asked, "Well, was it since the FBI had been talking to JOSEPE BARON," and he said, "Yes, it was."

He was asked to relate where this was that he had contact with TAMELEO, and he stated that he had talked to him in the Everett City Hall parking lot. He was asked if he met him there by any pre-arrangement, and he said that [] had come up to his office one evening and told him that HENRY TAMELEO wanted to talk to him and that he was downstairs in the car. [] said he did not want to talk to HENRY TAMELEO in his office, and [] asked him if he would come down and talk to him.

[] advised he went down and met HENRY TAMELEO who was in [] automobile, which car was parked on a side street near his office, and that he told him to drive on because he did not want to talk to TAMELEO in that location, and he said, "You people were probably following me at the time and you must know that we went to the City Hall parking lot."

[] was asked specifically what was the reason for this meeting. He said that they wanted to know what JOSEPH BARON had said before the grand jury.

[] was asked if he told them what BARON said before the grand jury, and he said, "I told them I don't know," and HENRY TAMELEO asked him to find out.

[] was asked if TAMELEO indicated that he would do anything in return for this information, and [] said that TAMELEO indicated that he would talk to [] a witness against JOSEPH BARON in a stabbing matter, so that [] would change his testimony to make BARON look good. TAMELEO also told [] that they would get BARON's money back for him that had been taken from his associates, ARTHUR BRATSOS and THOMAS DE PRISCO, in the Nite Lite.

[] was asked if TAMELEO or [] had ever said to him during this contact that they would give [] or JOSEPH BARON any money if BARON did not testify. [] responded by saying, "I never recall them saying they would give JOE any money for not testifying."

[] was asked by Special Agent [] and TAMELEO are going to do all the things for BARON that he narrated simply to find out what he had said before the grand jury, and [] said, "Yes, that's right."

[] was asked if he had told JOSEPH BARON about his conversation with [] and TAMELEO, and he said that he had not.

[] was asked that as a result of his conversation with TAMELEO and [] was there some arrangement whereby he was supposed to return and talk to them. He said that [] was supposed to contact him after [] had seen BARON. He said that after having seen BARON, he again saw []

BS 166-629

[redacted] was asked what he told [redacted], and he said, "I think I lied to him a little bit and told him that BARON would not tell me what happened before the grand jury." [redacted] said it was his feeling that [redacted] did not believe him, and he then told [redacted] that BARON had more confidence in [redacted] than in [redacted] and that since that time [redacted] has been in contact with [redacted]

[redacted] was asked, "Where was it that you saw [redacted] and he responded by saying, "Has [redacted] ever been up to my house?" He was told that that was not the question but since he put it in that light, had [redacted] ever been up to his house. He said that [redacted] had been up to his house alone but he did not recall when.

[redacted] was asked, "Did he want to leave it that when he met HENRY TAMELEO and [redacted] in the parking lot of the Everett City Hall; that they were going to give JOE BARON back his money and were going to straighten out the assault case against [redacted] and all they wanted was the knowledge of [redacted]"

[redacted] and [redacted] said, "That's my memory and you people must know everything." "You people had me under surveillance. My phone has been tapped; my office is bugged and I know the jail at Barnstable was bugged; and every move I made was known to the FBI."

[redacted] said that, "When you get a chance to see [redacted] tell him not to be concerned about his hospital bills; that he would take care of them."

The interview was terminated because of the arrival of Assistant District Attorney [redacted] of the Middlesex County District Attorney's Office, and Lieutenant Detective [redacted] of the Massachusetts State Police, who wished to speak to the Agents.
